The census returns show a population of nearly 1400 in Tawas City; 420 in the township outside of the village and 19 deaths during the year ending June 1st 1884. Four years ago when the census was taken there was a population of 840 in Tawas City giving an increase of over 500 in four years.

Several schemes for the purchasing and refitting of the McBean mill are being considered. It is hoped that the property may be put to some use ere long. There is no reason why it should not be made a profitable investment. In connection with the justification is one of the very best salt blocks in the state, which in itself would be a bonanza in the proper hands. There are persons in our village competent to make a paying business out of the concern and why making a good thing themselves help the town considerably. Let some of our enterprising citizens make a move.

As Conductor Oliver was going south Monday afternoon, as is usually the custom, he cut loose part of his train and went in on the side track at Sterling to do the switching, leaving two brakes set and a brakeman on the rear end of the train. While they were coupling on the cars on the siding, the rear end of the train, consisting of 20 cars came crashing into them, knocking the running gear from a flat and landing the flat car in the ditch and knocking a box car off and turning it crosswise of the ditch and badly demoralizing the tender, knocking it into the ditch, and causing the engine, to leave the track on the side toward the main track, it leaning over so as to obstruct the main track, but fortunately being opposite the other siding so that there will be no delay with the pas-

To-day the sun shines upon the pathway of our friend and worthy citizen, S. G. Taylor, for the 16,071st time, bringing with it 44 years of joy and sorrow, whose passage over his head have worn a wide and even course over which the succeeding years will glide smoothly on.

The Bay City Tribune says Seidnitz powders and blue pills are now considered a requisite in the outfit of lake voyagers, bromide of sodium having been almost discarded as a remedy for sea sickness. The rich foods, nuts and pastry of a propeller's bill of fare are tempting to the sharpened appetite of the voyager, they overeat, and the pitching of the vessel completes the round. But it is asserted that Neptune can be cheated of his tribute if the intending lake passenger will begin to fortify himself or herself a week in advance with a five-grain blue pill every other night, alternating with seidlitz powders.

Roscommon Oil.
No change in local affairs can be reported this week in oil matters, but from the correspondence which has been had with the companies negotiating for the control of the well put down by the Roscommon Oil Company it would appear that the present quiet is but the lull before the storm, and it will be but a few days now before something definite will be done by one or the other of the companies. Affairs are now so situated that action by either company will be the signal for commencement of operations by not only the companies herein named but also by numerous private individuals as well as other companies.

Mr. Schweitzer favored us with a reading of a letter received by him from President Harris, of the Cream City Oil and Coal Co. of Milwaukee, which contained $1,000 in stock which he was instructed to deliver to the owner here.

The company is fully organized with a capital stock of $100,000, and officered by well known Milwaukee capitalists, as follows: President—L. Harris; Treasurer—W. C. Williams; Secretary—V. J. Turner. Their stock is now ready for issue with a large number of shares already sold.

Mr. Harris in his letter mentions the fact that in a few days a representative of the company will be here to start a business office and look after the interests of the company and oversee the work. They have made leases for land with N. L. Saulsbury and others and the prospect is good for almost immediate commencement of operations.

The St. Louis & Roscommon Petroleum Company are working quietly perfecting their arrangements for commencing work and state that whether they secure the present well or not will soon have another one down to the rock. They have no stock ready yet for issue, but have application for upwards of $20,000 in St. Louis, Iowa and various other places throughout the State.

They received a letter from the Cream City Oil & Coal Company during the week inquiring as to whether they had secured the Roscommon Oil Company's well.

From this it will be seen that although no excitement exists the oil interest is not yet dead and work now being done is likely to prove more lasting and beneficial than that resulting from the biggest kind of a rush or boom. A short time now will tell what is in store for this section.—Roscommon News.

The July number embraces a variety of reading well calculated to entertain and instruct. Some of the articles most interesting being "Through Normandy on Wheels"; "Glimpses of German Society, seen through American Eyes"; "How we Live in New York"; by Jennie June; and "The True Story of Amy Robsart". The stories are excellent, especially "Mary Webster, the Witch", and "The World's Progress", "Home Art and Home Comfort", and the various departments make up a very readable number. The steel engraving, "The Storm", is very fine, and the illustrations generally good.

The N. W. Lumberman mourns the fact that "the Chicago trade is to be robbed of the choice lumber it should have, in a new manner. Doctor David Ward is preparing to ship 4,000,000 feet of Manistee logs to Saginaw, there to be sawed. These logs are to be only those that will run 80 per cent. to surface clear lumber. The cause of this unusual movement of logs is that, as Manistee mill men have all the logs they wish to handle this season, they will not saw Capt. Ward's logs as cheaply per thousand as the work can be done in Saginaw. The average of good logs in eastern Michigan is diminishing, so that the eastern requirements is reaching over on to the west side of the state for a supply. What with the recent habit of selecting out the good lumber at the mills and separating it from that which is shipped to this market, and the disposition of Saginaw, Tonawanda and other eastern points to gobble up the better grades, Chicago handlers will have to look sharp or they will lose the best of their pickings.

The writer, more than a dozen years ago, published the statement, derived from a source known to be entirely authentic, that while the lumber manufacturers on the Saginaw river, and Saginaw stock was much better at that time than it is at present, were realizing about $17 per M in gross, calculating at straight measure for their lumber the late Governor Crapo had for several years previous to that time realized from the lumber manufactured by him at Flint over $33 per M. This was on account of finer manipulation, all lumber being dressed, and much of it worked into flooring, siding, moulding and the different sizes and lengths for inside and outside finish, such as sash, doors, blinds, etc., and also on account of handling in car lots and saving the expense incurred through the intervention of the "middle man", which as Muskegon has demonstrated may in a majority of cases be dispensed with. To be sure Governor Crapo did not retain all the additional price mentioned, but he retained a fair share of the profit thereon, and the remainder went to the laborers employed, helped to augment the general accumulations as well as his own, and helped to build up the country where labor is fully employed and promptly paid, and wages are good, the times are always good for the wage earners or those who keep the wheels of trade moving. Saginaw valley saves millions of dollars, double her force of wage earners, and give such an impetus to business as will assure the development of all her resources if she will but take

The examination showed that the scholars had made rapid advancement in all their studies for the short term they have been favored with Miss McCarthy as a teacher. The entertainment was a complete success, it was opened by an address from Miss Orphey Goodwillie. All the children spoke their pieces. Excellent music was given by Miss Scott of Hale Station and Mr. Payne, late from Ont., Canada. The trustees gave Miss McCarthy great credit for the advancement the scholars had made under her teaching and they hope to secure her for the next term. A short time ago through the energies of Mrs. Scott and daughters Miss McCarthy was presented with a teachers easy chair, a magnificent article. Murdered on his Doorstep.
The citizens of the township of Richland, Ogemaw county, were startled by the discovery of the dead body of Hugh McKinnon a resident of that township, last Sunday at his house. McKinnon was a widower and had resided there about six years. His house was about two miles from any other and not on a much traveled road. A few rods distant was found his rifle with a rope attached to it. In the house was found the table set and on the bed was found his pocket book and beside it a small amount of money. The act must have been done fully a week ago. He was not known to have any great quantity of money at the time. Prosecuting Attorney Thomas, Sheriff Turner and Dr. Cochran started for the scene of the tragedy Monday morning, where they are now holding a post mortem examination. He was about 40 years old, and not known to have any enemies. He was shot through the eye, the ball entering near the head.

As a bait for Ohio's 23 electoral votes the Democracy favor a protective tariff on wool, but leave Michigan's salt and lumber out in the cold. Probably Michigan's 13 votes is not large enough game.

The Oscoda strike has had the effect to develop one more congressional candidate—John C. Gram, of Au Sable—and although he is a republican and a United States official he is a rattler at whatever he turns his hand to, and personally one of the most wholesome gentlemen in all the shore region.—Bay City Daily Call.

The Evening News has the following from Lansing:

LANSING, Mich., June 26.—The petition to the governor for the removal of the troops from Oscoda was unique in construction and original in design, there being about 600 signatures, which were in the same handwriting. As a poll list it was a success, but as a petition it was a dismal failure.

TROUBLE IN WALL STREET.

New York has been treated to what is known as a panic in the Stock Market. Stocks have been declining for several years. Indeed the shrinkage in all kinds of property, except land, amounted in three years to fully $3,000,000,000. These losses fell mainly upon the very rich, that is, the persons who owned securities other than land. The great mass of our population have been in an unusually prosperous condition. Wages have been high, and clothing and food never so cheap. But the very rich have been stripped of much of their wealth, due to depreciations of railway and other securities owned by them. The crisis was precipitated by dishonesty in banking circles. A firm, of which U. S. Grant was a partner, was found to be conducting a most dishonest business. Ferdinand Ward the junior partner, had sole charge of the firm, and he made away with $12,000,000 to $14,000,000, ruining not only the entire Grant family, but scores of other innocent people. Three banks were shown to be dishonestly managed, and so a panic raged in Wall Street for several days. A disaster such as this means that everybody wants to sell securities, and no one can get money to buy them or keep their good margins. Convulsions in business such as these are sometimes wholesome, as they reveal hidden corruption, and force a resort to more honest methods of conducting business. We have passed through an era of inflated speculation, not only in stocks but in cotton, grain and all merchantable commodities. This Wall Street disturbance will force tens of thousands of speculators to seek some more legitimate employments. One painful result of this panic has been the shadow it has cast upon the fair fame of ex-President Grant: His great reputation was made use of by an unscrupulous scoundrel to swindle honest people out of their money. He ought to have kept out of Wall Street, as he had an abundance of means to live not only comfortably but luxuriously, without running any business risks.—Demorest's Monthly for July.

BEGOLE AND THE STRIKERS.

Our distinguished chief public servant has succeeded in bungling the job of sending the troops to Oscoda and getting them away again rather worse than could have been expected even from him. The dispatch of the men in the first place was upon a proper representation of the local authorities, but it became tolerably evident as soon as the two companies of state guards arrived on Saturday evening that their presence was irritating and unnecessary. On Monday the Sheriff of Iosco county telegraphed the governor that in his opinion there was no need for the troops to remain, but that dignitary responded the next day: "I can not remove the troops until order is fully restored, and the mills and other industries in operation, if they so desire. All your efforts to secure such results have my hearty approval. You will see that all of the leaders of this revolt are arrested at once. Soldiers will remain until this is done and order fully restored."

This stilted and grotesque message must have seemed strangely out of place even to Begole himself yesterday when he gave an order of withdrawal, although the situation at Oscoda remained practically unchanged. The talk about not removing the troops "until order is fully restored" was just as silly on Tuesday as it would have been on Wednesday. The lofty command directing the sheriff to "see that all of the leaders of this revolt are arrested at once" could have no proper application to any state of affairs existing there at any time. There was no "revolt" or anything that by possible strength of language could be called such, and we are permitted to hope that Begole is the only person in the state whose brains are so muddled as to make such an exhibition of stupidity.—[Post and Tribune].

The Call is aware that Governor Begole is sometimes away in his expressions, and that his modes are not as mathematical, nor his demeanor as high-toned as that of some of the blue-blooded republican executives with which Michigan has been favored, but the writer knows whereof he affirms when he says to the Post and Tribune that if republican newspapers attempt to make political capital out of this Oscoda business they will find themselves fortunate belligerency at Oscoda rather than that some political point should be gained, they might have utterly demolished more than one prominent republican in the Tenth congressional district.

"The gun, though aimed at duck and plover, Bore wide, and knocked the owner over." Is the reading of the old couplet and the Post and Tribune will find that in this Oscoda matter the action of Gov. Begole, though prompt, has been prudent and philosophical, and it has been his aim from the first to quiet the matter down without serious trouble, and especially without violence or bloodshed. Possibly THE CALL, never an ardent admirer of Gov. Begole, is mistaken in its view of his action, but having much decidedly authoritative information in the premises, its opinion is that his head was about as level during all the excitement incident to the original rumors which were set afloat at the commencement of the troubles as that of any prominent man whose name is connected with the affair, and that his plans, purposes and acts in the premises will bear the most rigid scrutiny.—Bay City Daily Call.

SENDING HOME THE STARRY BANNER.

The 23d Michigan was a Saginaw valley regiment, and the following correspondence relative to the return of the lost flag by the regiment in the late war of the rebellion, and first made public by the press yesterday meaning, will be read with interest by scores of that organization, who are readers of the HERALD:

McCOMB CITY, Miss., May 10, 1884.

MY DEAR SIR: I write to inform you that during the late war between the north and south the Twenty-third Michigan regiment lost its flag.

Thinking that those who fought under its folds, and who are the proper owners of it, would be glad to secure its return, I would say that the flag is in possession of a friend of mine who is willing to return it to its proper owners at any time they may desire it. It is a beautiful silk flag, inscribed upon it: "Twenty-third Michigan regiment."

I will take pleasure in giving you any information about it you may desire. With high regard, I am yours truly,

Geo. M. GOVAN,
Late Major Confederate Army.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,
EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
FLINT, May 13, 1884.

Geo. M. GOVAN, Esq.:

MY DEAR SIR—Your favor of May 19th was duly received, and in reply would say that nothing could afford me greater pleasure than to receive, on behalf of its former owners and defenders, the flag of the Twenty-third Michigan regiment.

My oldest son, a lieutenant in the Twenty-third, was wounded at Lookout Mountain and died in the hospital at Lookout Mountain. Many of my dearest friends were members of this regiment and would with me rejoice in the restoration of the flag as another evidence of that fraternal feeling which has come to prevail both north and south prompting to such exhibitions of good will as is foreshadowed by your letter.

Waiting your further action in the matter I remain your obedient servant,

JOSIAH W. BEGOLE.

McCOMB CITY, Miss., June 16, 1884.

To his Excellency, Josiah W. Begole, Lansing, Mich.:

MY DEAR SIR—Your favor of May 13th has been received. I take favor in forwarding to you per express the flag of the Twenty-third Michigan Infantry, captured during the late war. I have no personal knowledge of its history, or would be glad to relate it to you. It was in possession of the late Col. Kinloch Falconer, A. A. general, army of Tennessee, and at the time of his death secretary of the state of Mississippi. It was Col. Falconer's intention to return this flag to its proper owners and defenders, but he fell a victim to the yellow fever at Holly Springs in 1873. His brother, H. J. Falconer, has been in possession of it since that time, and desires that it should be returned.

You will please therefore deliver it to its gallant defenders, the Twenty-third Michigan, and express to them the pleasure I feel in being the medium of returning to them their lost flag.

With the hope that each year that passes may bring to our common country better feelings of friendship and fraternal relations,

I am with high regard,
Your obedient servant,
Geo. M. GOVAN,
Late Major Confederate Army.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,
EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
FLINT, June 25, 1884.

Geo. M. GOVAN, Esq.:

DEAR SIR—Your letter of the 16th inst., informing me that the flag of the Twenty-third Michigan Infantry had been forwarded to me by express, came duly to hand, and flag has since been received in good order.

Allow me through you to thank the patriotic donor for this generous and fraternal act. I shall at the coming reunion of the Twenty-third regiment [which occurs in my county] present the restored flag, and have no doubt its members will in some appropriate way acknowledge the spirit of brotherhood and devotion to our common country which prompted its return.

Please except my sincere thanks for the interest you have taken in seeing carried out the intentions of the deceased Col.
