LET EVERY Republican cast their vote as they did four years ago and victory is ours.

FISHER'S MONEY CAMPAIGN having failed to pan out as well as the party expected, the leaders in the 10th district are now circulating throughout the district all manner of lies in regard to Charles F. Gibson.

Laboring Men, Why Vote for S. O. Fisher?

Like a flower nipped by the frost, S. O. Fisher's pretensions as a friend of the laborer have fallen before the touch of the frozen facts. No sooner was he set up on his money pedestal and hailed by his purchased flatterers as the benefactor of labor, than there arose all over the district a great sound of protest. Men who had been in his employ responded with one accord: "Away with him, he is not the friend of labor; we know him by a far different name." Word came from Crawford county that he was a hard master; from Midland and Gladwin that he had taken advantage of the necessities of laborers to insist upon a discount on their time, and that many suits were pending there in which he was seeking to prevent laborers recovering their pay by liens upon the logs they had cut. And from every county in which he has conducted lumbering operations there came voices saying, "We have never found him the friend of labor. Let him do justice by us under existing laws, before asking us to elect him to pass others in our favor." Many reports reach this office of his discounting time of laborers under circumstances which would have made any "friend of labor" anxious to accommodate an employe without exacting a discount. But Mr. Fisher's relation to labor heretofore are so well known that his pretensions to being the friend of laborers only provokes derision from the working people. Let a knot of men collect on the streets of West Bay City and the subject of Fisher's candidacy come up, and if the crowd be large enough a dozen voices will be raised in testimony that their dealings with him have convinced the owners of the voices that his first from every part of the crowd will come corroborating responses of "S have I," "And I," "And I," "And I." Assenting to a few resolutions as the price of receiving a nomination goes for nothing when a man's instincts and disposition, become fixed and immovable by long indulgence, give denial of sincerity of motive. We echo the query of the Call: "Why vote for S. O. Fisher."—By City Tribune.

Some Questions and Answers.

When voters come to consider whether they will support Mr. Taylor or Mr. Elliott for register of deeds, they will reason somewhat as follows:
Who is Mr. Taylor?
He is a man who has lived in Iosco county for years, who has bought property here, who has made it his home here, who has all his interests here, and who for the last few years has served the county as register of deeds.
Has he made a good officer?
He has.
Is he always in his office?
Nearly always. If he is not there, either his wife, his daughter or his son is there to see to any business.
Is Mr. Taylor accommodating?
Always very accommodating.
What about his abstracts?
His abstracts are always found to be correct. He has been to big expense and trouble in building up the only correct set of abstracts there ever was in the county.
Does he ever neglect the business of his office?
He does not.
Who is Mr. Elliott?
He is a man who moved into the county only last spring.
What is his politics?
A few weeks ago he was a Republican and wanted the Republican nomination for prosecuting attorney. He didn't get it and now he is a Fusionist.
Is he known in the county?
Very little.—Saturday Night.

Laid Himself Wide Open.

Our most amiable and consistent contemporary the worthy editor of the Iosco county Gazette, says in his last issue, "The TAWAS HERALD has laid off its 'Independent' cloak and comes out an advocate of Republican principles. We are glad to see the change, but its motives are too obvious to be considered a genuine conversion, or to be commended." Now friend Jackson do you really understand how great a fool you have made of yourself by that statement? Do you think that the people of Iosco county are such mumb skulls that they do not see the "motive" which compelled you to flop back to the Republican party after you had kicked on several of its candidates and endeavored to injure one of its most prominent ones, Mr. Charles F. Gibson, and have done more injury, coming as it did from a Republican organ, than you can offset by years of penance. How is it that as soon as several prominent Republicans informed you that you had cut your own throat and injured your prospects that you cried out "Oh! what can I do to be saved" and whined around to find some way that you could get back into the fold and to do so you came out under a plea of an investigation. Why did you not have the decency to give Mr. Gibson a chance of an investigation before you threw him overboard? Have you by the imaginary investigation found any more in favor of Mr. Gibson or less in favor of Mr. Webster? In an editorial in your last issue you say, "The Shore towns, and not unlikely every town in the Tenth Congressional District, are being strewn with circulars intended to injure Charles F. Gibson, now prominently before the people as the Republican nominee for congress. In considering the truth or falsity of campaign documents, voters should first look to the origin." Now friend Jackson would it not have appeared more reasonable in you to have looked into the "origin" a little more thoroughly before you hoisted the name of Mr. Webster, doing so under the plea that you had been "informed" on a good authority that Mr. Gibson was not a man worthy of the office? You return to the fold like the Prodigal Son to eat a little more of the fattened calf and give for an excuse that "the charges were refuted to our satisfaction by a thorough investigation by Mr. E. B. Spileman of Tawas City." Taffy, beautiful taffy. Don't you suppose that Mr. Spileman could have given you the desired information or made an investigation before you bolted had you requested him to? Are you so blind as to think that any sensible person in Iosco county for a moment entertains the idea that yours is a "genuine conversion," or that you will cast a ballot for C. R. Henry, Chas. F. Gibson or S. G. Taylor? Undoubtedly there are those in the Republican party who have a right to question our "motives" and decide whether our course is commendable or not, but how a person who has flopped and dodged and turned over as often as you have in the past month, disgusting the Republicans with your course and making yourself the butt of ridicule and laughing stock among the Democrats, can have the immaculate cheek and audacity to question our "motives" is indeed a mystery.

Suffering from all complaints peculiar to their sex will find in Dr. HARTER'S IRON TONIC a safe and speedy cure. It gives a clear and healthy complexion. The strongest testimony to the value of Dr. HARTER'S IRON TONIC is that frequent attempts at counterfeiting have only added to the popularity of the original. If you earnestly desire health, do not experiment—get the ORIGINAL AND BEST. (Send your address to The Dr. Harter Med. Co., St. Louis, Mo., for our "DRINK BOOK.") Full of strange and useful information. Dr. HARTER'S IRON TONIC is now sold by men who have succeeded in deluding themselves into the belief that an annual vacation is something born of evil and too frivolous to be considered. We humbly submit that this is a mistake. What does it avail a man to save two or three years in a lifetime that might profitably be spent in vacations and die ten years too soon?

The man who doesn't take a vacation loses half the fun of life. After a time he only begins to have a glimmering perception of a joke, and eventually he forgets how to laugh.

The man who doesn't take a vacation by-and-by neglects to kiss his wife, and the lips whose honey in former days he was wont to hang upon until he threatened to wear them out shrivel and take on the flavor of sawdust, and part only in fast-increasing asperity.

The man who doesn't take a vacation after a season begins to be jarred in his soul by the laughter of a child, and it is only a question of time when he shall take to wearing a shawl and carrying a potato in his pocket for rheumatism.

The man who doesn't take a vacation waxes prematurely old. Dust accumulates upon his coat collar, his trousers shrivel from the foot and bag hopelessly at the knee, and he begins to exhibit an aversion to taking a bath oftener than once a month and then only in warm weather.

The man who doesn't take a vacation is a failure. His neighbor's hens scratch up his early seed, the Assessors tax him for double what he is worth, his horse breaks through the stable floor and snaps a leg, he goes to the polls and votes the wrong ticket through mistake, his daughter elopes with a sewing-machine man while a book-agent is detaining him in the parlor with a campaign life of the opposition candidate, and a raspberry seed gets under the plate of his false teeth when the minister is present at supper and he creates a scandal that convulses the parish to its very periphery. The life of that man is sorrow and vexation of spirit, and his life goes out and leaves no radiated beam.

But the man who annually lays off the cares of business as a cloak, and gets him away even briefly to other scenes—ah, that man is blessed. Prosperity attendeth all his ways, he buys pasture-land and finds a coal-mine in it, a relative dies in foreign parts and leaves him money, he grows stronger and heartier as the years go by, everybody admires him, children love to imitate the music of his laugh, his family reverence his every wish, the tax-collector loves him, when he is nominated for office the other side turns to and votes for him to a man, and the career of that man is happiness and his end is peace.

Therefore, dearly beloved, this epistle is unto you, and we do adjure you by the longest hair of the prophet's beard that thenceforth you slun the way of the unwise one, and be no longer as the man who doesn't take a vacation.

The Mule's Superior Intelligence.

During a chat with the foreman of the street car stables, James E. Barry, the subject turned to a discussion of the characteristics of horses and mules. He has been a close student of both, and the result of his experience is that the mule is entitled to the higher rank in sagacity.

Mr. Barry went on to say that the superiority of the mule is shown in his absolute refusal to put his foot in a hole in a bridge or crossing. Horses seem to endeavor to find a hole, if there is any lying around, and break their legs. This a mule will not do, nor can he be forced to advance if he thinks there is danger. "The horse," said Mr. Barry, "has more courage, the mule more sense."

It has been an amusing study at one of the stables to watch a sly, mischievous little mule that is rather too fond of liberty. It seems that the mules are fastened to their stalls by a chain, on the end of which is a crosspiece of iron, which is slipped lengthwise through a hole in the stall, and when extended across over the hole prevents the chain being withdrawn. This mule, when standing in his manger, with his teeth and tongue manages to slip the crosspiece attached to the chain out of the hole, and then cautiously backs out the full length of the chain and surveys the field. If there be a stableman in sight he re-enters the stall and waits demurely until the coast is clear, when he comes out quickly and makes a dash for liberty and the street. Sometimes it requires all hands to catch him and bring him back.

In the yard of one of the down-town stables there is a post to which four mules are generally tied after being curried. There was recently one mule there that was fond of slipping its chain-tag through the ring in the post, and then, to allow its mates to share in its liberty, he loosened the others. This he did so often he had to be closely watched.

Wanted Australia.

A man was standing on a street corner in Bloomington, bragging about his broad acres, the other day, when a stranger walked up to him and said: "Say, mister, what will you take for an undivided half-interest in Australia?"

"Australia!"

"Yes; and if your terms are reasonable, may be I'll take a third of South America and four shares in Africa."

"South America! Africa! What do you mean, sir?"

"I mean that I'm on a trade, and if you've got any bargains to offer, here's a chap that'll take 'em every time. Come, now, set your price. I'm on a dicker, you bet."

"Well, sir," said the booster, drawing himself up pompously, "I guess about forty acres is all you could buy. I'll sell you a forty for $2,200."

"Forty acres! Bah! I don't want anything less than a continent!"

"Well, sir, I do not own a continent."

"You don't? Why, I thought from your talk you owned the world." The booster is now asking every body he meets if he was insulted.
