A school teacher says that pupils who have access to newspapers at home when compared with those who have not, are better readers, better spellers, grammarians, better in punctuation and read more understandingly, and obtain a practical knowledge of geography in almost half the time it requires others. The newspaper is decidedly an important factor in modern life.

W. H. ALLMAN.

Scarcely a day passes without an account of loss coming to some frightened individual who has drawn his or her money from the bank to put in hiding. One of the latest is the case of a Pittsburg woman who got afraid of the banks and drew out a thousand dollars and hid it under the mattress of her bed. When she looked for it the next day it was gone

Somebody had removed the deposit, and now she wishes that she had left it in the bank. A good many other people will be in substantially the same fix before this senseless distrust of the bank ceases.

The most dangerous element with which society has to contend is the promiscuous gossip. From their slanderous tongues no one has any assurance of escape. Their chief delight is in breaking up families, ruining personal reputations which it has taken years to build up and sowing the seeds of discord among their neighbors. They grab with alacrity at every morsel which will in any possible manner furnish food for their venomous tongues in weaving falsehoods calculated to blast the hopes and ruin the prospects of others far more honorable than themselves. Their chief pleasure lies in listening to stories derogatory of their neighbors, and without stopping or caring to investigate the source from which they arise or their truthfulness they hasten with lightning like rapidity to scatter them broadcast. From this execrable class Tawas City is by no means free. Indeed at times it seems as if we had more than our share. By the side of such individuals the murdered or the highwayman is a gentleman.

Circuit Court.

The following cases have been disposed of in the circuit court during the past week:

In the liquor cases against Louis Klinger, Alfred Bradley, and Alex Wickland the defendants each plead guilty and will receive their sentence later.

In the case of the people vs. Robert Aikens, an appeal from justice court, the defendant was discharged.

Mary Buckley vs. Margret Burke, assumpsit, judgment for plaintiff.

The ejectment case of William McCulley vs. William Wilkinson occupied the attention of the court from Friday until Tuesday, when a judgment was rendered for the plaintiff.

A judgment for the plaintiffs was rendered in the case of Walkers vs. English.

In the case of Hartingh vs. Eastman a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff.

The defendant was given a judgment in the case of Simeon Walker et al vs. W. L. Hawkins.

Fitzpatrick vs. Hoffman, trespass, verdict for plaintiff.

The jury was discharged Wednesday afternoon, and chancery causes have occupied the attention of the court since that time.

Entered at the Postoffice at Tawas City, Michigan, as second-class matter.

THE Republicans are given themselves a lot of unnecessary worry about the tariff. The people decided last November that a democratic Congress should attend to this matter, and in due time it will do it, notwithstanding republican bluffing and squealing.

Those who have money stowed away in safety vaults would better get it out and invest it in some of the cheap property that is on sale everywhere. For inside of six months, if congress repeals the Sherman law and agrees upon a free coinage act or extends the national banking law, money will be a drug seeking investment at a low rate of interest.—Times Press

Why cannot the business of repairing country roads be conducted like any other business in a business-like way? The old method of letting the tiller of the soil spend a day or two in absorbing the rays of summer's sun, or in wooing sweet Morpheus in the convenient shelter of a snake fence, with a bull thistle for his pillow, and calling it that he has worked out his road tax, is about played out.—Ocean County Herald.

WHEN the democrats in 1892 warned the country whither its affairs were tending under the Sherman and McKinley laws, they were derided by the republican press as calumny howlers. Now that the trouble foretold has come the republican papers have taken up the calamity howling in earnest and are charging the democratic administration with bringing the calamity, although the laws are unchange and only a few office holders have been displaced. The first administration of Grover Cleveland was unusually prosperous, and the only changes in the laws since then have been made by the republicans in enacting the McKinley and Sherman laws. The natural inference is that the laws and not Cleveland have caused the change in the conditions under his second administration. When Mr. Cleveland's first administration closed he left $100,000,000 of surplus money in the treasury. Every cent was gone last March, for a second time $130,000,000 in gold had gone across the ocean during Harrison's intervening administration. These are facts that should be remembered.—Northern Democrat.

Equitable Pension Reform.

If some of the heavy pensions paid to rich men in public life and out of it could be taken away and given to crippled soldiers who are poor and deserve and need aid from the Government, an ideal feature in pension reform would be achieved. We have no doubt there are soldiers who get no aid from the government, yet who merit it far more than many who receive such aid. Pension reform means the doing away with pensions to unworthy recipients, and men who take money from the Government in pensions while they have abundant means of their own for support come very near being in this class.—Ex.

The Way To Do It.

The most effective way to restore confidence and easy conditions is for each individual to do with the money in his possession as he would if no scarcity of money existed—that is, buy and sell and pay bills as though no panic was dreamed of. If this were done for one week there would be no more bank suspensions and no more premiums paid for the use of bank money. As Horace Greely said of the resumption of specie payments that the way to resume was to resume, the way to restore financial confidence and easy money is to be confident. This applies alike to wage-earner, employer and capitalist. Confidence will be restored and the money stringency measurably relieved just as soon as everybody stops hoarding and allows the currency to flow in its accustomed channels.—Philadelphia Times.

Wool.

The price of wool is the best object lesson we have of the effect of republican legislation. Not what is going to happen, but what has happened, causes present dullness. Restricted trade and monetary stringency have brought on low prices. With free trade and plenty of money wool would be higher. Nothing is surer. Give open markets and two or three hundred million dollars extra, and prices would respond as if by magic. The last Boston Herald market report says: "Prominent dealers are withdrawing buyers from the fine wool sections in Ohio and other states for the reason that they would rather have the money than the wool under the present outlook of financial affairs." And yet fine wool can be bought in Ohio, this third year of McKinleyism at 20 cents a pound. Congress will meet soon. It is impossible to determine what influence will predominate. If eastern prices will not be any better. Probably wool will be put on the free list. No hope of better prices need be entertained until this is done. Farmers have seen that with a tariff raised on wool the price has gone down, down. The high tariff of 1890 has made the lowest prices ever known. If congress shall repeal the tariff and provide for an ample supply of money prices will go up, up. No sales of Michigan wool are mentioned as having been made last week, but quotations for X and above remain unchanged at 20 to 22 cents a pound less than the duty. Nothing in this world has ever been tried that is such a teetotal failure as a protective tariff. It has made wool cheaper than shoddy.—Jackson Patriot.

The Basis Of Improvements.

In support of our prophecy about the prospects for money, we have the statement of the New York World that the gold already received from abroad, together with what now afloat, exceeds $25,000,000 and there is a prospect that as much more will come before the end of the month. Also, that the increase of national bank currency has recently been at the rate of about $1,000,000 a day. Since January 1, when the distress began, there have been deposited with the treasury, as a basis for circulation, about $190,000,000 in government bonds. This provides for an increase of about $170,000,000 in banknote circulation. Much of this has already come into the market as a relief. More of it is yet to come and is coming as fast as the notes can be prepared. All of it will be issued if there is demand for it. The employees in the bureau of engraving and printing have been put on ten hours time, to better accommodate the demand for banknotes. As soon as this new supply of money begins to affect business, which it is already doing, the hoarded money will begin to flow forth and soon come with a rush. Fear is already giving place to confidence, under the conviction that the corner has been turned.—Times Press.

On The Mend.

For the past few days it has been forcibly impressing itself upon the people of the country that the stringency of the times was being relieved and that the outlook for the future was growing brighter. Depression is prone to look on the gloomy side and when it yields to the suggestions of an improved condition of affairs they can be relied upon as of a substantial form. The favoring evidences are of a character that permit of no mistake as to their import. The great iron and steel interests of the country are among the most sensitive to financial change and are a safe index to the trend of monetary affairs. They were among the first to close their doors against the danger of a disastrous crisis and as speedily respond to the assurances of restored prosperity. Pittsburg in the center of this industrial interest and at the first indication of financial difficulty, the iron and steel mills with allied interests shut down. Some "closed for repairs," while others made no such pretext, but candidly admitted that they could not command the ready capital necessary to carrying on their immense business.

Many of the New England mills took alarm when the pressure of an unusual financial state was apparent and perferred temporary idleness to the taking of chances with which they were unable to estimate. These great interests in Pennsylvania and New England have largely resumed. Tens of thousands have been recalled to active employment and that without reduction of wages. What is true of these representative industrial enterprises in largely true of all. All the productive interests are more active, confidence is reasserting itself the purse-strings of the timid are loosening there in a more liberal concession to the demands of business and a normal state of general prosperity is being approached.

These are the evidence of relief, and from the causes back of them it is only surprising that still more satisfactory results have not been reached. Since July the actual importations of gold have been $24,452,230. Every important country of the old world has been a contributor, and the tide is still in this direction. Within that brief time the national bankshave added $5,000,000 to their total issue of currency, and should the Voorhees bill become a law $19,000,000 more will be made subject to the demands of trade. That we will continue to call upon the surplus funds of Europe is also apparent. In England, France, Russian and Germany, to say nothing of minor powers, there is a shortage in the wheat crop. If this country can spare 120,000,000 bushels in this staple it should all find a market in Europe, making due allowance for the prospective amount which India can furnish. With plenty of money and good crops, with industries resuming and labor finding employment, with the prospect of a speedy settlement of the financial question in Congress, and with confidence following the lead of reason, the country can look forward very hopefully.—Detroit Free Press.

Self-Control.

Allowing excitement and losing one's temper takes all sweet and pure feelings out of life. You may get up in the morning with a cheerful and joyous heart, and start out for the day as happy as a bird, but if at some slight provocation you give way to your temper, the joyous feeling vanishes, and a load as heavy as lead is rolled upon the heart, and you go through the day disturbed and feeling like a culprit. The only way to be a comfort to yourself or others is to keep self-control, and in all circumstances cherish a cheerful spirit.—Abbott.

The Home.

The home is the most ideal of creations. It has its pattern on the mount only beheld by eyes that are clarified from caprice and wilful indulgence of the factious spirit. Nor are its blessings won simply by good things and good fortune, popularity and smooth sailing. They are more often won by the holy experience of sorrow, loss and chastening that has sanctified a common, united life and made it blessed even to endure together. Some people's lives will be sunny whatever betides. They are often mothers with small means, whose memory in their children's hearts makes scared all the poor chances of their laborious lives. A tender care a sublime patience, followed where they were. Though they were bowed with labor, oppressed often with pain and sickness, not physically strong to endure, but still enduring, taken the burden of others upon their shoulders, taking the troubles of others into their capacious hearts, yet they won sunshine and harmony for the home by the loving and wises spirit that was in them.—Ex.

Says HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., who certifies as follows:

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc., none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old

EAST TAWAS NEWS.

Little Trixie at the opera house tomorrow night.

Sam Anker was in Cleveland on business a few days during the past week.

C. Curry & Co. will furnish you with the finest livery rigs to be found in the town.

Engineer C. Simmons is the proud pa of a young daughter, who arrived at his home Aug. 15.

There will be a special examination of teachers at the high school room in this village September 1-2.

Next Wednesday evening the great comedy "Blunders" will be at the opera house. Don't miss it.

The W. R. C. of this village, will serve a 15 cent supper at the G. A. R. hall tomorrow, Saturday evening. All are cordially invited to attend.

The Strong house is enjoying one of the best patronages of any hotel on the shore and is well worthy of it. Mr. Boutyette spares no pains to give his guests a first class service.

Mrs. Chas Bonney and family are at Delhi, Ont., for a six week visit with relatives. Mr. B. will take in the World's Fair about Sept. 1, and join his family on their return home.

A few of the much need side walks are being repaired. Too much of this work can not be done, and it may save the village from paying a big judgement for a broken limb.

Dr. Smith, W. E. Mowery, John Wanzer and Charles Curry went out last Saturday and caught 56 trout and several times that many sand fly bites, in about three hours.

This town is cursed with a number of loafers whose principle occupation is to stand on the street corners and make insulting remarks to and about ladies who pass by. If some one would give the coroner a job the village would be much better off.

The Chinese pay their doctor only so long as he keeps them in health. They believe in preventing rather than curing disease. This is sound sense, and one of the strongest recommendations of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, a medicine which not only cures diseases but prevents them.

Manager Bristol proposes to give theater goers some first class shows during the coming season. The following are billed at present. Next Saturday night "Little Trixie," August 23, "Blunders;" August 30, "A Cracker Jack;" and Sept. 8, "Ole Olson." There are several other companies with whom he expects to make dates in the near future.

May Smith Robbins, who appears in the musical comedy success "Little Trixie," is a most versatile artist. She is a funmaker, in her particular line. "One of the finest." At every performance her audience are delighted. One whirlwind of laughter and applause. Miss Robbins, in her assumed characters, commands the admiration of everyone. Splendidly educated, without a peer in her line, she is fast advancing to the foremost rank in this her chosen profession. At the opera house Saturday night.

It must be a blooded animal in deed, that is entitled to a body guard of four men. Such a sight was witnessed on Water street yesterday. A Holstein bull with four men attendants passed up from Third street bridge to the Alpena steamboat landing where the propeller Lora was taking on freight. The animal was laying down with ropes about the horns to direct his course, ropes around his forward feet to trip him if he went to fast, and a rope leading to a ring in his nose with which to start or stop him. The animal came from Henry Boutyett's farm, seven miles from the city, and was shipped to Mr. Boutyett at East Tawas.—Bay City Times Press.

Plainfield Items.

Plainfield is a common now for the want of fences, and if we do not have rain soon some more will suffer:

The loss of property from fire in this township in the past two weeks is over $900, and this does not include the fences.

Where is our saw mill now? We are all in need of lumber and fencing, and the man who plants a saw mill in this township is a lucky individual.

Forest fires have done considerable damage in this township. Eli Graves lost his house and barn. Thomas Reed lost his barn and contents; G. M. Moore lost his orchard and fences; Frank Baker a wagon. Forty cords of tan bark and thirty cords of wood belonging to Frank Troy was also destroyed. Pat Fagon also lost some tan bark. James Morrison's house and contents went to help the destruction, as did that of J. Aythart Warren Hodgis lost his barn and Thomas Adams a stack of hay. It was quite hard on the batchelors, as five of the unfortunates come under this head.

THE FLINT & PERE MARQUETTE RAIL AND WATER LINES offer the public a way to reach Chicago, that for comfort, far surpasses the all rail lines, to say nothing of the difference of fare in it favor, an item well worthy of consideration.

Passengers are landed in Chicago in the morning after a night's refreshing and invigorating rest in a commodious state room on a first-class steamship. The experienced traveler need not be told of the advantages of a rail and boat route, for summer travel, over the all rail route with its crowded, dusty sleeping cars, and very little thought on the part of the inexperienced, will convince him of the same. ### The Filthy Cigarette.

"If a case recently cited," said a physician, "of a young man who died from cigarette smoking, leaving as evidence of the incentive 986 empty cigarette boxes of the 1,000 necessary to send to the manufacturer in order to secure a certain prize, lies proof of one of the most insidious evils which threaten youth. That its effect on any one who indulges in the habit is deleterious can not be denied, but especially on the immature is it pernicious in the extreme. If the statistics of reported cases of death, insanity and kindred evils could be collected for one it would be an appalling revelation. The law, which is supposed to exercise some vigilance over the sale of poisons which endanger human life, should interfere very vigorously with the sale of cigarettes, at least to the young. The cigarette offers a hundred fold the temptation to boys that liquor does and often leads to drinking as an accompaniment or sequel.

"Manufactures should have no more right to offer prizes for the number of drinks of whisky or doses of morphine bought. They are equally a menace to life and should be equal illegal."—Ex.

Neighboring Notes.

Cheboygan has added 400 new books to the city library.

The pickle factory at Chesaning is doing a good business.

The First National Bank of Cheboygan sent to Detroit the other day for $15,000 in currency, the mills there wanting that much for pay day. They got only $2,000, instead of $15,000.

If the present stringent times continue not much lumbering will be done in this locality the coming season. Firms along the Gladwin branch are already hedging and are making no plans for the coming season's work.—Gladwin Record.

Bay City is no longer the great lumbering market that it has been in years gone by. A decrease in the valuation of personal property of $517,531 is due to the scarcity of lumber on the docks. The valuation of real estate, however, shows an increase of $101,075.

In the matter of Ira Case, who has brought suit against T. E. Tarsney, laying damages at $20,000, for alleged libelous talk, an order has been made by the circuit court requiring the plaintiff to file a bond of $100 for security of cost, or show cause why he should not do so.—Bay City Times-Press.

The Gratwick, Smith & Fryer Lumber Co. yesterday paid under protest the taxes for which Marshal Blakeley recently seized lumber on the company's docks. The taxes in question were those levied against lumber on the company's docks which was marked up as sold to parties residing elsewhere.—The Press.

To-day is the regular time for Pack Woods & Co.'s pay day, but the company posted notices this morning that it would not pay until next week when the mill closes down. One reason for the action is that it is more convenient to have one pay day than two, another is that the company could not get the currency to pay to-day.—The Press.

Between 200 and 300 men on the Mackinac division of the Mich. Central were laid off last week. The New York Central, the Mich. Central, and in fact all of the Vanderbilt lines, have been reducing the number of employees about 20 to 25 per cent. Slack business is given as the reason. Several trains have been taken off.

The injunction restraining A. Backus, Jr., from re-laying the iron on the railroad spur running into Kilmaster has been dissolved and the laying of the rails had been nearly completed. On Friday or early Saturday morning, however portions of the road were blown up by some person or persons exploding dynamite or other explosives in several of the culverts along the line. We have been unable to learn anything further concerning the affair, but an effort will undoubtedly be made to bring the dynamiters to justice.—Harrisville Review

Monday evening the village was again alarmed by the whistle of the shingle mill on the upper pond, which blew on alarm about 8:30. A crowd soon gathered and it was discovered that there was fire in the sawdust which had been carelessly allowed to accumulate around the pulley underneath the boiler. The smell of fire prevailed the mill during the day, but no effort was made to locate or extinguish it and when the workmen left at night the watchman was warned to be on his guard as there was fire under the mill. Part of the flooring was taken up and the fire was than easily put out.—Harrisville Review.

L. Stranahan, of Midland, has five acres of raspberry bushes from which he expects to get 1,500 quarts of berries. He raised 1,200 quarts of strawberries this year from only one fourth of an acre of plants. According to these figures the five acres if planted to strawberries would have yielded 24,000 quarts of the lucious fruit, which fairly demonstrates, even if his raspberries did not do as well as they might under more favorable circumstances, that strawberries are by far the best paying crop of the two. The difference in price, cost of cultivation and of picking would not make up for the difference in yield, which is as sixteen to one.

A Washington special says Representative Weadock called on the Commissioner of the Land Office today relative to the recently discussed consolidation of the Grayling and Marquette land offices. Mr. Weadock says as a result of his conversation that he does not think it at all probable that the consolidation will be made. He very strongly urged the retention of the office at Grayling, where about 200,000 acres are still undisposed of and where are all the records for the Lower Peninsula of Michigan. Mr. Weadock says that the appointments for register and received at the Grayling land office will soon be made.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the village council held Monday evening, Aug. 24, '93.

Meeting called to order by President C. D. Bennett. The following trustees were present: Kelley, Nisbet, Biglow and Curry. Absent: Watson and Gale.

Minutes of regular meeting of July 24, read and approved.

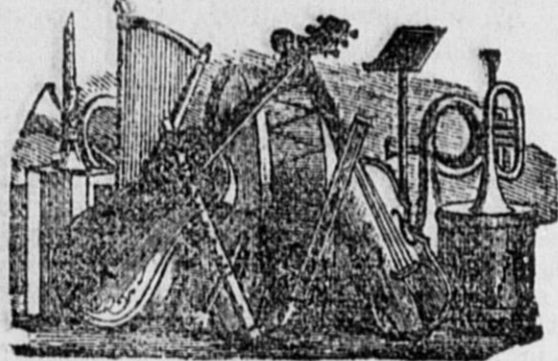

An advertisement for street lamps was presented and read, and on motion of Kelley supported by Curry, the clerk was instructed to write for a sample lamp, also a catalogue and price list.

The following bills were presented, referred to committee on claims and taxes, and were favorably reported on. On motion of Kelley supported by Biglow they were allowed and the clerk instructed to draw orders for the several amounts:

K. Moore, salary, ..... $25 00
C. Johnson, team work on sts. .... 31 50
J. Johnson, " " ..... 15 75
Wm. Pheon, " " ..... 7 88
J. Brabon, team work on sts. .... 7 50

On motion of Kelley supported by Biglow the council adjourned.

By stimulating the follicles, it stops falling hair, cures dandruff and grows hair on bald heads. Keep the scalp clean, healthy and free from irritating eruptions, by the use of Skookum Skin Soap. It destroys parasitic insects, which feed on and destroy the hair.
