Wm. West, who purchased the Hamilton farm, in Grant, last spring, did a bushels of roots.

The latest fad is for the girl to take little bow that fastens the binding of a man's hat and wear it inside her shoe.
 She will then have an offer of marriage from the man within the month. This may be fun for the girls but it is spoiling
 the hat of many a man—Ex.

J. W. Milliken has thus far baled and shipped nine car load of hay from this place. This is but a small portion of what he will ship from this county.
 Mr. M.'s arrival here has been a great benefit to our farmers in furnishing them
 a cash market for their hay, a large portion of which they would otherwise have had to hold until spring.

Here is the way some men support a newspaper. The editor presented a bill for eight years back subscription.
 The man was at first amazed, then indignant. He put on his spectacles, scrutinized the bill, and assuring himself it was genuine exclaimed: "I've been supporting" this yere paper for nigh onto eight years, and I never had no sich thing flung at me afore." He not only withdrew his valuable support, but failed to pay his bill.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. Mc-Lean, the pulpit at the M. E. church was filled by Prof. Osgerby, Sunday morning. In the evening, Herbert L.
 Cope, of East Tawas, conducted the services. Although but a young man Mr.
 Cope delivered one of the ablest and most eloquent sermons ever listened to in this village. That he is destined to be a leader in his chosen field, no one who heard his address last Sunday evening has any doubt.

FOR SALE:—I will sell my place in Porterfield's addition in Tawas City, for $200 cash, one lot, good house, and barn,
 and well. Also a quantity of household goods cheap.

RUDOLPH HILLER.

Rev. H. H. VanAuken, of Alpena, recently devoted a sermon to the press.
 He spoke of the great work the newspapers were doing to benefit civilization, also of what a vast amount of work the publishers of newspapers did freely for society, parties, individuals and the community in general. There was no profession or business that donated more for the public benefit than did the press.
 They were always ready to give freely,
 and no society ever asked favors of the press and did not have them cheerfully granted. It was give all the time of their labor and space. The reverend gentleman merits the thanks of the press
 for his eloquent statement of the work and services rendered by it.

There is no doubt that Congress will pass an income tax law. This is one of the most just and popular measures, and will receive the hearty approval of all.

No one expected that the few thousand people, who have been growing rich at the expense of the rest of us for the past thirty years, would endorse the Wilson tariff bill.

The state treasury is empty, and the treasurer has to borrow money for current expenses. Another republican legislature like the last and he would have to mortgage the capital.

There appears to be a few men in Congress who were elected as democrats, that entertain republican ideas in regard to the tariff. It is safe to say that all such are serving their last term in Congress.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND sent a special message to congress Monday regarding the Hawaiian difficulties. It is one of the strongest state papers ever written, and shows conclusively the great wrong done a peaceable and friendly government.

The republican press which has been criticising President Cleveland's Hawaiian policy, must feel a little sick since his special message of Monday last, as it proves clearly that they have been "shooting off" about something which they knew nothing about.

The difference between the republican and democratic parties is illustrated by the McKinley and Wilson bills. The McKinley bill puts the highest tax upon articles used by the poor; the new Wilson bill puts the highest tariff upon expensive articles which are consumed by the rich.

With wages at $16 to $20 in the woods around here, and wages from 10 to 33 1/2 per cent higher in Canada, it is rather cheeky for a few monopolists to talk about reducing wages as a result of free lumber. We say it is cheeky but it is not strange. When the laborer gets over the idea that he gets any protection, there will be a new deal. Not until then.—Cheboygan Democrat.

The purely partisan reason that led the Republicans to hustle the sparsely populated territories into the Union, in 1890-91 was shamelessly revealed in the filibustering in the House Friday against the bill for the admission of Utah. According to the notion of Reed, Dingley and their associates, it is only Republican Territories that are qualified for Statehood. Every consideration, except that of party advantage, which excused or justified the admission of Idaho, Washington, Wyoming and the Dakotas, applies with equal force to Utah, New Mexico and Arizona. The Democratic leaders ought to have sufficient force to ride down and run over these bigoted and brazen obstructionists.—N. Y. World.

AVOIDING POMP.

Gov. McKinley does well to "dispense with all pomp and ceremony" on the occasion of his second inauguration. "With the present suffering and starvation," he says, "it would be criminal to spend a large sum of money in inaugural demonstrations." His plan, it is said, is "to walk into the senate, take the oath of office and return to his old quarters."

This is a very proper performance on the part of McKinley, and shows more humility than we should have expected of him.

Before McKinleyism, Harrisonism and Reedism got in their destructive work there was no starvation in the country. When Campbell was inaugurated Governor of Ohio in 1889 it was amid general rejoicing. "Pomp and ceremony" were the natural expression of popular feeling.

Four years of democratic administration at Washington had placed the treasury in an enviable condition. There was an available surplus of over $60,000,000. The annual revenues were nearly $100,000,000, in excess of the government's needs. There had been accumulated $98,000,000 of gold above the reserve of $100,000,000. Business was prosperous. Labor was well employed.

But the party of McKinley came into power and ran riot for four years. A compulsory silver-purchase law was passed in 1890, McKinley voting for and glorifying it. In the next year the country lost $68,000,000 of gold to Europe. At the end of Mr. Harrison's term the treasury free gold had been reduced to $970,000.

The tariff of 1893, which was 25 per cent higher than a republican tariff commission had reported to be necessary, was taken in hand by Mr. McKinley. The rate of duty was raised to every schedule save two. The beneficiaries of the tariff were permitted to write their own selfishness into the law. For the first time in the history of civilized governments the policy was adopted of reducing revenues by raising taxes.

The Reed-McKinley congress, by extravagant appropriations, converted a surplus into a deficiency.

A crippled treasury and a gravitation towards a silver standard combined to produce a monetary panic the results of which are still felt. Gov. McKinley and Secretary Foster were among the victims. The change from four years ago is indeed momentous. Gov. McKinley does well to avoid pomp in his second inauguration.—N. Y. World.

POLITICAL DESPOTISM.

The Free Press has watched its long list of Republican exchanges with a view to finding some condemnation of the course pursued by the Norwalk iron works in discharging its democratic employees. This action was taken in the great state of Connecticut, and was published from one end of the land to the other; yet we fail to find a single organ in the party which poses as the champion of the weak and oppressed that has entered the faintest protest against this outrage. The firm in question claims that it will suffer because of the proposed change in the tariff laws of the country, and with this assertion as its excuse proceeds to have the means of livelihood from those of its men who conscientiously believe that tariff reform will advance the general prosperity of the country, and have voted in accordance with their convictions.

In this appears one of the many evils that have been fostered by the nefarious system which the party of the people is pledged to overthrow. It is an evil, too, that strikes at the very vitals of the government established when our national independence was secured. It is one of the most pernicious forms of political despotism. It denies that we are a nation of American freemen. It arrogates for capital the right to dictate the duties of citizenship to those whom it employs. It authorizes the employer to say to his men that they must vote his will, not their own. They must yield their independence of thought, character and conviction to him. They cease to be freemen, and must vote as he directs or pay the penalty by being thrown out of work.

This is but one of the results of a pernicious system; but is sufficient to condemn it in the judgement of all who indorse the spirit of our institutions, or take pride in their perpetuation. The conferment of special legislative privileges is wrong in principle, and, in the light of the instance quoted, as well as others that might be added, it has led to the danger line in its practical results. It tends to an oligarchy of capital. It is even worse than the state of affairs in the Upper Peninsula, when the bosses marched the men up to the poles, examined their tickets and held a threat over the heads of those who did not exercise the highest privileges of our citizenship by voting with the g. o. p. This is the only solicitude that organization of false professions has ever shown for the mass of toilers. It wants them in the party to insure its majorities, and make possible the attainment of its selfish ends. Its sole desire is to use them, and when that cannot be done they are promptly notified to shift for themselves. This probably accounts for the profound silence on the part of the organs of that party, as to the Norwalk outrage.—Free Press.

A Racking Cough

Cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Mrs. P. D. HALL, 217 Genesee St., Lockport, N. Y., says:

"Over thirty years ago, I remember hearing my father describe the wonderful curative effects of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. During a recent attack of La Grippe, which assumed the form of a catarrh, soreness of the lungs, accompanied by an aggravating cough, I used various remedies and prescriptions. While some of these medicines partially alleviated the coughing during the day, none of them afforded me any relief from that spasmodic action of the lungs which would seize me the moment I attempted to lie down at night. After ten or twelve such nights, I was

Nearly in Despair,

and had about decided to sit up all night in my easy chair, and procure what sleep I could in that way. It then occurred to me that I had a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I took a spoonful of this preparation in a little water, and was able to lie down without coughing. In a few moments, I fell asleep, and awoke in the morning greatly refreshed and feeling much better. I took a teaspoonful of the Pectoral every night for a week, then gradually decreased the dose, and in two weeks my cough was cured."

With many clergymen, public speakers, singers, and actors, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the favorite remedy for hoarseness and all affections of the vocal organs, throat, and lungs. Its anodyne and expectorant effects are promptly realized.

An exchange tells the story of a tramp who rang a doctor's bell and asked the trim, pretty woman who opened the door if she would kindly ask the doctor if he had a pair of pants he was willing to give away. "I am the doctor," replied the plump and pleasing young woman and the tramp fainted.

Manager H. C. Bristol, of the opera house, makes the following very liberal offer for a good cause: He will furnish the use of the opera house, lighted and heated, free of charge one night each, for any entertainment the citizens of either village may give for the benefit of the poor in the Tawas, the only requirement being that the entire proceeds are to go for that purpose. He also offers it one night each month for the purpose of creating a fund to be used for the purpose of burying strangers who may die in our midst, without friends or money. These are two very worthy causes, and Mr. Bristol's very liberal offer should be taken advantage of by citizens.

The social and bazaar sale, to have been held by the Ladies' Aid and Mission Circle, of the Plainfield Baptist church, was postponed from Friday until Tuesday evening, Dec. 19, on account of the storm on Friday. It was a success both socially and financially, the proceeds being $18.

The sleighing is immense.

Fraak Rollin and Preston & Brown are lumbering at this place for Richards & Nisbet, of the Tawas.

The rail road seems to be doing a good business at this place, judging from the quantities of wood, shingle bolts, etc., that is being shipped out.

Armstrong is making good use of the sleighing and is getting out a fine line of telegraph poles. He has five or six teams on the road every day.

There is to be a Christmas tree at the M. E. church next Monday evening, preparations for which are now in progress. Look out for a big time.

Mr. Herbert L. Cope, of East Tawas, is to give an entertainment at the M. E. church, this village, on Friday evening, Dec. 29. The reputation of Mr. Cope Caricaturist and Impersonator, is of the highest orders. And we look forward to his coming with interest, anticipating a great treat.

The following is going the rounds as the production of an amateur railroad poet:

The summer is gone.
The autumn is past.
The winter is here
With its chilling blasts.
But the question of importance,
Which confronts us to-day,
Is when will the R. R. Co. pay.

Those who have seen the bridge say it will be as good a wood bridge as there is on the Rifle River.

and the water span is only 62 ft., which is nearly all of the good water at that point.

The approaches are substantial, the bridge is covered with three inch hemlock plank and wide enough for teams to pass.

Attorney McNamara left Thursday morning for Detroit, where he had an important case before Judge Swan Friday.

The case grows out of the life insurance held by the late Judge Shields. Mrs. Shields is suing the Equitable Life Insurance company for the amount held by her husband in that company.

The whole matter rests on the word "not" which the company hold should have been in a telegram sent by their agent in answer to a telegram asking if the policy had been paid up.

Mrs. Shields sent a message to the agent if the amount had been paid. The agent answered that it had, now he claims that he intended saying it had not been paid.

and she presented her claim the company refused to pay it and she brought suit to recover the amount.

Lake Raft Towing. The report of the board of engineers appointed by the secretary of war to investigate the subject of raft towing on the great lakes and their connecting waters, says that raft towing, as now conducted, is a serious impediment to navigation, and is a menace to life and property.

That the towing of logs in what are known as "bag" or "sack" rafts on the open waters of the great lakes shall be permitted; but that every vessel having a raft in tow shall carry between sundown and sunrise, in addition to the colored signal lights prescribed by treasury regulations, two white lights showing all around the horizon.

For use in thick and foggy weather said vessel shall carry what is known as a screeching whistle, the use of such screeching whistle upon vessels not having rafts in tow being declared illegal except for fire or police boats engaged in their duties.

In and through connecting and connected waters of the great lakes, such as harbors and rivers with narrow entrances and channels, no big rafts shall be permitted. For entering and navigating all harbors with narrow channels, all rivers navigated by vessels other than rafting tugs, except in the rivers St. Mary, Detroit and St. Clair, and for entering and passing through the Portage Lake ship canals across Keweenaw point, Michigan, logs shall be made into crib rafts.

For the willful violation of any of these restrictions the towing vessels shall be liable to a fine of not less than $100 and not more than $1,000; and the master or other person at the time in charge of the towing vessel shall be imprisoned for not less than one month and not more than six months for each offense, at the discretion of the United States court having jurisdiction.
