There are several who have promised to bring us wood on subscription that seem to think we won't need it until next July. You are mistaken, gentlemen!

Deputy Game Warden N. Henniger, of Oscoda, was in the village yesterday. Mr. H. has spent the past week in looking over the county for violations of the game law and promises to make it very interesting for some of the violators.

The Cosmopolitan for February introduces a famous European author to its readers—Valdes of Madrid, and the artist Marold, of Paris, well known as a French illustrator.

If you are thinking of purchasing a new carriage or road wagon this spring, it will be to your advantage to call on E. D. Schermerhorn at once and see what he has to offer. He will give you a good bargain and on easy payments.

The postoffice department has a printed circular to send to correspondents who write to ask how much the government pays for canceled stamps. This became so necessary on account of the large number of people who seem to think that there is value in such stamps.

Last Saturday afternoon the ice went out of the bay very suddenly taking Percy Jones with it. He was soon discovered about four miles from shore, running toward town. A couple of boats went to the rescue and soon brought him in safely. Percy says it is better to be born lucky than rich.

An Iowa woman sent her husband to Sioux City, to buy a motto for the Sunday school, but neglected to tell him what kind of a motto she wanted or the size. The next day he was paralyzed by the following telegram from his wife, purposely made brief to save expenses: "Mr. Blank Blank, Boogie Hotel, Sioux City: "Unto us a child is born, eight feet long, two feet wide. Mrs. B. B."

Many of our shrewd real estate speculators have their pockets full of tax titles, which, when the description come to light will create a huge sensation. Several are said to have titles to some of the best property in the county, and worth small fortunes. We hope none who cannot afford to loose will get caught.

Read our offer in another column of the HERALD and Chicago Weekly Times one year for only $1.50. The Times is one of the leading papers in the country, furnishing all the news both foreign and domestic, each week, besides a large amount of miscellaneous reading. The offer we make of the both papers HERALD and Times, for one year for the price of one is the most liberal ever made by a country weekly and our readers should take advantage of it at once. The two papers will be sent to all new subscribers renewing their subscription, paying up all arrearages and a year in advance. This offer is only good for a short time.

Chicago newspapers have lately gone into merchandising in connection with their efforts to increase their circulation, to such an extent as to involve them in some difficulty with their large advertisers who object to the low prices and good values offered. The most notable instance of this is The Inter Ocean, which was compelled to dispense with its very popular Book Department for no other reason. It continues its World's Fair Portfolio Department, however, which is delivering about 11,000 per day at present and has just added a comprehensive series of "Views of the World," and a book of music called "Harmonized Melodies" on the same plan. They are sold at a certain price provided the purchaser presents a certain number of coupons cut from the paper.

The secret of the great success of The Cosmopolitan is not so hard to find, if one looks carefully over the number for February. A story by Valdes, the famous Spanish novelist, the first from his pen to appear in any American magazine, is begun in this number. Arthur Sherburne Hardy's story, "A Rejected Manuscript," is charmingly illustrated by L. Marold, who we believe makes his first appearance in the magazines on this side of the water. A profusely illustrated article on the designing and building of a war ship appeals to the interest taken by all in the new navy, and a thrilling description of a naval combat under the significant title: "The Meloban and the Pentheroy" describes after the manner of the Battle of Dorking, a possible sea-fight, the outcome of which is watched by the entire naval world. "Gliding Flight" is an interesting contribution to the problem of aerial navigation by one who has studied the flight of soaring birds in the East for twenty years. Elaine Goodale, who married a member of the Sioux nation, has some interesting information of Indian Wars and Warriors. T. C. Crawford, the Washington correspondent, gives the first half of a startling story, under the title of "The Disappearance Syndicate." The poetry in this number by Sir Edwin Arnold, Graham R. Tomson and William Young, is unusually good. The Departments, "In the World of Art and Letters" and the "Progress of Science" continue to have as contributors men famous in both continents.

DUNN'S REVIEW reports a steady and decided improvement in all lines of business throughout the country.

THE latest developments in the salary amendment steal of 1893 comes from Wayne county where the returned were doctored to the amount of 4,750. The alterations were all made in the returns of twenty-eight precincts.

THE reports to the secretary of war relative to the strength of the militia of the several states show an aggregate of 8,223,000 people in the United States who are available for military duty. Michigan reports 2,810 men now in the militia.

THE hat factories of Danbury, Conn., are crowded with orders and are running with a full compliment of men. This fact goes to prove that when the mill owners made loud protests against the Wilson bill they were using their hats for telephones.—Chicago Herald.

THERE would perhaps be more confidence in the poll of the senate which indicates the defeat of the Wilson bill if it were not published on the authority of ex-Census Commissioner Porter, whose ability to collect accurate statistics has been shown to be more than doubtful.—Providence Journal.

Gov. RICH has grown tired of waiting for Secretary of State Jochim, Treasurer Hambitzer and Commissioner Berry, to hand in their resignations, and has preferred charges against them, charging them with gross negligence, and gives them until February 15, to file their answers. The defendants do not propose to give up without a fight.

Our republican friends seem to have been very much mistaken in sizing up the sentiments of the democrats in congress toward tariff reform. They are now telling us the Wilson bill will never pass the senate, and expect that after it has passed that body, they will then claim President Cleveland will veto it. But one would expect nothing more from such sources.

ACCORDING to the erratic Editor Dana there are 204 bogus democrats in the house and only seventeen real ones. This rather suggests the story of the eleven obstinate jurors. When it is further discovered that of the seventeen "sincere democrats" nine are New York Tammanyites and four Louisianans who voted against the Wilson bill because it abolished protection on their sugar the country will be inclined to dismiss Mr. Dana with a contemptuous "Go to!"—Chicago Times.

ANYONE who thinks the path of a supervisor is strewn with roses should try it himself. A supervisor is the book-keeper, general guardian and governor of the town which he represents. When his complicated task is done, to the best of his ability, half of his constituents cuss him for what he has done, and the other half cuss him for what he has not done. He is blamed for high taxes. Any petty difference in valuation is charged directly to his ignorance or partiality. He gets cussed on the right hand and on the left hand, verily there are times when he devoutly wishes he was not in it.

It requires no particular political astuteness to discover that the breach in the republican party in Michigan is widening, and that deeper plots are working than ever before in its history. The party has been run from Washington for so long that the people are in a mood to follow the counsels of some honest political workers in the ranks and assert their independence. These evidences of unrest have made the managers of the machine wary and now cunning intrigue has been substituted. Some unaccountable things are happening which time and events will explain.—Free Press.

THE next time Congressman Burrows picks out a man to have some fun with on the wool tariff question, he won't select Spencer O. Fisher, of Bay City. He has $50,000 invested in wool growing in Colorado, and insists that free wool is what is needed to enable him and others to realize a profit on their investment. American woolen goods manufacturers require large quantities of Australian wool to mix with the domestic, and the idea is that if it is admitted free of duty the manufacture of finer and better goods will be engaged in on a more extensive scale, thereby increasing the demand for and likewise the price of American wools. Such practical arguments as Mr. Fisher uses are quite dazing to the mere theorist.—Grand Ledger Independent.

MR. WILSON'S SPEECH.

The speech with which Representative Wilson closed the debate on the tariff measure which bears his name was a noble contribution to congressional eloquence. It was an address which touched the fiber of patriotism in every breast, which appealed to the higher instincts of every auditor, which, not denying to antagonists purity of purpose and conscientious conviction, punctured their argument with well-directed satire and overthrew their painfully constructed sophistries with a touch of common sense.

Under such a telling stroke as this the whole fabric of protection hypocrisy crumbles:

I will tell you what your tariff laws are doing and what your tariff laws have done. You cannot prevent the accumulation of wealth in this country, but you can take that wealth from the men who made it and bestow it upon some men who did not make it. You cannot deal out prosperity to all the people, but you can deal out wealth to a part of them and poverty to all the rest. Daniel Webster said in a speech in 1850 that five-sixths of the prosperity of the North belonged to the workingmen of the north. Can any of the representatives of the commonwealth of Massachusetts make such a glorious boast today?

What could more swiftly bring up before the eyes of the people the bloated figures of the Steel Rail trust, the Sugar trust, the coal combines, the well-fed manufacturers of Pennsylvania and the mill magnates of Massachusetts than this sharp stroke at legislation for private gain:

This is a very old world, Mr. Speaker; but long before human history began to be written the fatal secret was disclosed that there is no easier, no quicker, no more abundant way of getting wealth and getting power than by exercising the power of taxation over the masses of the people.

From a speech full of the pith of politics it is useless to attempt much quotation. Phrase after phrase might be culled from this closing oration of the tariff bill ringing with true democracy, clanging with homely common sense. From first to last it was an assertion of democratic doctrine and a promise of still more radical application of that doctrine in days to come.—Chicago Times.

THE bill repealing the notorious federal election law passed the U. S. senate Wednesday, and only awaits the president's signature to become a law. Thus one by one the wrongs of thirty years of republican mis-rule are being righted.

A Little Daughter

Of a Church of England minister cured of a distressing rash, by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Mr. RICHARD BIRRS, the well-known Druggist, 207 McGill st., Montreal, P. Q., says:

I have sold Ayer's Family Medicines for 40 years, and have heard nothing but good said of them. I know of many performed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, one in particular being that of a little daughter of a Church of England minister. The child was literally covered from head to foot with a red and exceedingly troublesome rash, from which she had suffered for two or three years, in spite of the best medical treatment available. Her father was in great distress about the case, and, at my recommendation, at last began to administer Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which effected a complete cure, much to her relief and her father's delight. I am sure, were he here to-day, he would testify in the strongest terms as to the merits of

LA GRIPPE.

A physician who has just passed through an attack of this distressing disease thus writes to a friend, who communicates it to the New York Medical Journal:

"Did you ever have this infernal disease that they call the grippe? If not, don't. I have been through it for the last six weeks and am ready to give my friends the benefit of my experience. It is certainly the most diabolical malady that ever got out of Pandora's box. If the old girl has anything worse in reserve, I trust she will keep the lid of her Saratoga safely locked, and then kindly sit on it. Sneeze, freeze to death, burn up, have your energy sapped, let all the clouds of heaven lower over your head, get on familiar terms with all the blue devils that ever escaped by volcanic exit from equatorial eternity—do all this and keep it up for six weeks, and then you can intelligently listen to lecture on la grippe. Cerebration becomes altogether of the too conscious sort for literary work."

RIPENING BANANAS.

Gas Makes the Only Heat That Will Take the Place of Nature.

Few people outside of those directly interested in the fruit business know exactly how the large quantities of bananas which come to Boston are cared for by the dealers. Two or three large steamer loads of the yellow fruit come to Boston weekly. When they arrive about nine-tenths of the bunches are perfectly green. In fact all of them were green when they left Jamaica, the yellow ones having ripened on the passage up.

The green bunches have to be handled and ripened with great care, and it was for the purpose of seeing this done that the writer visited one of the oldest fruit and produce commission houses in the city.

"You see," said a member of the firm, "bananas are divided into four classes or grades, the finest bunches being known to the trade as 'golden veils.' These are the very best fruit grown, and in a cargo of say 15,000 bunches there will be only from 200 to 400 bunches of 'golden veils.' Next to these come No. 1, then come eight hands, and the small bunches are styled No. 2's and are the cheapest. These are the kind that are sold by street hawkers.

"The moment we receive our fruit we hang the bunches up in our hot room." He then led the way to his fruit ripening room, which is a double-decker, and is built into the left wall of the store.

"These two rooms are heated by gas," he continued, and the temperature is kept at about seventy. There is no heat that will perfectly ripen bananas or other fruit but that from gas. We have tried every thing else, and we found that all but the gas shriveled the fruit, ripened it too quickly, or ripened it unevenly; therefore, everybody in the business now uses gas."

"This heat-ripening process is, of course, only for the winter time, for as soon as the weather begins to get mild we take away the gas heat, allowing the fruit to ripen in a natural manner, and when the hotter months are reached we are obliged to hang up our fruit in the cellar."—Boston Globe.

Pretty Cotton House Gown.

For house gowns in the morning nothing can be prettier than the one-piece dresses of percale or gingham, made to open low at the throat over a chemisette and broad collar of tucked nainsook. The front breadth is gathered on each shoulder, opens in the middle to button below the waist line, continues to the feet, and is held to the figure by a pointed belt coming from the sides and widened at the back into a corselet, which receives the fulness of the back of the waist. The corselet and the hem at the foot are finished with the narrow white ladder-stitched beading so much used by French needle-women. Three straight breadths, forming the sides and back of the skirt, are gathered with a standing ruffle on the edge of the corselet. The full sleeves are gathered to buttoned wristbands. Large pearl buttons fasten the front from throat to belt.—Harper's Bazar.

HE WAS SAT UPON.

and So Was Bobby After Mr. Millikin Had Departed.

"I don't altogether like this young man Millikin, who comes to see you so often. I hear he is nothing but a poor clerk," is what the head of the family said to his daughter one day at the dinner table.

"He is a very nice young gentleman," replied the daughter; "besides, he is something more than a poor clerk. He gets a large salary, and is manager of one of the departments, and expects some day to have an interest in the business."

"I hope he may," responded the old man; "but he strikes me as a very flip-pant, impertinent young person, who in my opinion should be sat down upon."

"Well, I have invited him to take tea with us this evening," said the daughter, "and I hope you will treat him politely, at least. You will find him a very different person from what you supposed him to be."

"Oh, I'll treat him polite enough," he said.

That evening Mr. Millikin appeared at tea and made a most favorable impression upon the old gentleman.

"He is a clever young fellow, after all," he thought. "I have done him an injustice."

It was just here that Bobby spoke out. Bobby was a well-meaning little boy, but too talkative.

"Papa," he ventured, "you know what you said to-day at dinner about Mr. Millikin, that he was an impertinent young man, and ought to be sat upon—"

"Silence, sir!" shouted the father, swallowing a mouthful of hot potato.

But the boy wouldn't be silent. "It's all right," he continued, confidentially, in a whisper loud enough to be heard out of doors, "he has been sat upon. Sister sat down on him last night for two hours."

After this tea went on more quietly, owing to Bobby's sudden and very jerky departure.—Jury.

Price, and yesterday they were before the court, but the case was adjourned till to-day.—Times Press.

The Detroit Evening News have started two "booms" for congressional aspirants in this 10th district. The gentlemen named by the News are W. L. Churchill and Green Pack. Mr. Churchill belongs to Alpena, and the Mr. Pack referred to, lives in the "Deserted village" of Oscoda. The democrats of Alpena would, no doubt, be highly pleased with these two candidates for the next congress. Mr. Albert Pack of Alpena, would be a much stronger crepublican candidate than Greene Pack. They may be about equal in ability but Albert Pack has the advantage of location. But, of course the democrats of this end of the district would prefer Greene Pack as the candidate for the republicans. If Mr. Churchill should be the candidate on the democrat ticket.—Northwestern Review.
