CHURCH NEWS.

Never let any fault you have committed go by until you have frankly confessed it and asked forgiveness.

Next week we will publish the program for the coming 10th district C. E. convention to be held in this city June 28-30.

The preacher is on dangerous ground who is beginning to be more concerned about what men will say than about what God will think.—Ram's Horn.

It is interesting to note that in Scotland they have established Christian Endeavor Societies among the blind. The first blind C. E. Society in the world, to our knowledge, exists in the Glasgow Blind Asylum.

Give not thy tongue too great a liberty, lest it take thee prisoner. A word unspoken is like the sword in the scabbard, thine, if vented, thy sword is in another's hand. If thou desire to be held wise, be so wise as to hold thy tongue.—Quarles.

The interest in the national C. E. convention grows as the time for the meeting draws near. The city of Boston presents attractions which are hardly equaled elsewhere in the United States. The last number of Leslie's Weekly is almost entirely taken up with a description of different places of interest and those intending going will find much of importance in it.

The annual county convention of the Christian Endeavor society which was held at the Presbyterian church last evening, was largely attended. A number of delegates from the Tawas societies were present. After a very interesting and instructive program, the following officers were elected; President, Thos. H. Pugh; Vice President, Mrs. Bots; Secretary, Maggie McGilvray; Treasurer, Miss Schermerhorn. After the adjournment of the convention, a reception was tendered the members and friends of the society at the residence of Mrs. C. V. Chevier, at which all present report a very enjoyable time.—Oscoda Press.

BURNED!

Gale & Ramage's Planing Mill Destroyed by Fire.

LOSS ABOUT $3,000, WITH NO INSURANCE.

About 1:30 last Friday afternoon the planing and feed mill of Gale & Ramage caught fire, and so rapidly did the flames spread that it was impossible to save the mill or any of its contents. The alarm quickly drew a large crowd and the fire apparatus was soon on the grounds. The fire was kept from spreading to any of the adjoining buildings.

The loss is a severe one on the owners as they had just got a nice business worked up. The mill and contents are a total loss as the firm carried no insurance. They estimate their loss at about $3,000. The loss is not only to Misses Gale & Ramage but to the community as well, as this was the only planing mill in this locality that was running.

It is with much pleasure however, that we announce that the enterprising firm have already commenced the erection of a new plant and will soon be ready to again accommodate their patrons.

Resigned.

Rev. C. A. Terhune, who has been pastor of the M. E. church, in this city, since last September, has resigned that charge and withdrawn from the M. E. denomination. He has accepted a call to the Standish Congregational church, and will remove his family to that village within the next two weeks. Mr. Terhune is a very able and pleasing talker and a gentleman of fine attainments. During his residence in our city he has made a large circle of friends who regret the departure of he and his estimable wife.

EAST TAWAS.

Mrs. C. P. Riley returned Monday from Alpena.

Mrs. Routier, of Saginaw, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. Leaning.

Rev. C. T. Jack, of Bad Axe, has been visiting his numerous friends here during the past week.

J. B. Dimmick left Thursday to join the surveying party, that is now engaged in surveying a line to Bay City.

Died, at their home in Grand Rapids, on May 31st, the fourteen month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas Fuller, formerly of East Tawas.

Miss Bessie Sharpe, of Niles, who has been the guest of her brother, A. E. Sharpe, left Monday for West Branch, to visit relatives.

Children's day will be observed at the M. E. church one week from next Sunday. An elaborate program is being arranged and the little folks are expecting a fine time.

The Kindergarten entertainment under the direction of Mrs. Keavy, at the opera house last Friday evening, was largely attended and much enjoyed. The 60 little folks who took part showed the efforts of careful training.

"Little Trixie" at the opera house last evening was fairly well attended. The play is one that cannot fail to please lovers of good music and pretty dancing. May Smith Robbins is supported by an exceptionally good company this season.

G. K. Warren Camp No. 233, Sons of Veterans, was mustered at this place Wednesday evening, by J. M. Walker. The new camp starts out with a membership of eighteen. The officers are as follows:

Captain—L. J. Patterson.
1st Lieut.—Jas. LaBerge.
2nd Lieut.—Herbert Hill.
1st Sergt.—R. H. Walker.
R. M. Sergt.—N. W. Urquhart.
Chaplain—W. S. Whorton.
S. of G.—Frank Fleck.
Col. Sergt.—J. J. Holmes.
Prin. M.—Chas. Fleck.
Corp. of Gd.—Fred Hill.
Camp Gd.—Burr Hayes.
Picket Gd.—John North.
Camp Council—G. W. Frazier, Henry Goodale, Henry Wright.

"SENSATION!"

"A Genuine one in East Tawas, and Mother Grundy is Agitated."

"THE REMAINS OF A DEVELOPED INFANT FOUND ON THE BEACH."

Under the above headings last week's Gazette contained the horrible account of the finding of the remains of a fully developed infant, tied up in a sack of lime. The poor child's head and skull were entirely missing and it was impossible to ascertain the sex, or whether violence had been used to put the poor unfortunate out of the way, but enough was left to create the sensation, and Justice Bristol, acting as corner impaneled a jury and proceeded to "set the remains." The sensation was the talk of the town all day Friday and Saturday, but when the jury had completed its investigation the "sensation" was busted.

The poor "babe" proved to be the remains of one of the numerous useless carriages that roam the streets of East Tawas. The county will be called on to pay the expense of the coroners jury; East Tawas is minus her sensation; the reporters of the daily papers see dollars go glimmering, and the poor old gossips bow their heads in sorrow at the loss of so sweet a morsel to roll beneath their foul tongs.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO.

How to Cure Yourself While Using It.

The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco, is an inveterate user becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. Baco-Curo is a scientific cure for the tobacco habit, in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Berlin Physician who has used it in his private practice since 1872, without a failure, purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want, while taking Baco-Curo, it will notify you when to stop. We give a written guarantee to permanently cure any case with three boxes, or refund the money with ten per cent interest. Baco-Curo is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew or smoke. Sold by all druggists, with our ironclad guarantee, at $1.00 per box, three boxes, (thirty days treatment,) $2.50, or sent direct upon receipt of price. Send six two-cent stamps for sample box, booklet and proofs free. Eureka Chemical & Manufacturing Company, Manufacturing Chemists, La Cross Wisconsin.

THE past few weeks has seen more increases in wages than was ever known under McKinley protection.

THE farmers will please note that wheat is higher under the "free trade" Wilson bill than it ever was under McKinley's protection.

It will be remembered that during the campaign last fall, that Senator Burrows told the people that the Wilson tariff bill would be the cause of keeping the wages of the laborers, which had been lowered under the McKinley law, down and even lowering them. The laboring men to a certain extent believed him and voted the republican ticket. On the other hand the democrats claimed mills would start up and wages increase. Will the laboring men please tell us who told the truth?

New Peddler's Law.

The act relative to hawkers and peddlers recently passed and given immediate effect by the Legislature, will deprive the state of an annual revenue of about $10,000 and divide that or a greater sum among the various townships of the state. Under the act of 1846 and amendments thereto, the State Treasurer has always issued licenses to hawkers and peddlers; the act grading the license according to the extent of the business pursued. The new law repeals that act and permits each township through the township board to fix the license in each case, the only condition being that the license shall in no case exceed $100 per year, and that peddlers of meat and fish shall not be required to pay a license. In many townships this will amount to a virtual prohibition, as the Board has it in its power to fix the license at a figure none can afford to pay.

The law is all right and should prove a benefit to the people of this part of the state, where peddlers are very numerous in the summer, and bring some money to the townships.

Wanted--Confidence.

The following from the Cheboygan Democrat, so aptly applies to Tawas City that we publish it with hopes that ever reader of the HERALD follows the advice given:

The lack of confidence show in the future of Michigan lumbering towns, in view of history, is one of the phenomena of the times.

There is no industry that has founded towns in the west, not even mining, that has created so many rich men in such limited populations, thus furnishing a wonderful leverage for future prosperity, as has lumbering.

Away back in 1870 Flint, a lumber town pure and simple, had two men who were worth a million dollars each; the late Governor Crapo worth $2,000,000 and William Hamilton worth at least a million while a dozen others were worth hundreds of thousands, the Atwoods, Begole, Fox, Walker and others. Port Huron had several men worth millions, so did Lansing, while the Bay Cities and Saginaws are among the richest cities of their size in the world. Alpena and Oscoda are very rich, but comparatively few of the people of these towns ever had faith in their future. Still Port Huron, Flint, Lansing, Saginaw, Bay City and Alpena are as prosperous as ever, more so in fact, and it is a positive fact that new resources spring up faster than the lumber is depleted.

In Maine, which has been lumbered for a hundred years and more; the standing timber, almost worthless a few years ago is now of more value than the original pine forests of twenty-five or fifty years ago, owing to the discovery of paper pulp making processes that can utilize the fir, balsam, spruce, and other woods.

The recent discovery that makes jack pine the best of all pulp wood makes the forests of this state today of greater value than ever. It practically is a greater benefit than a miracle that would restore the original pine forests.

What Cheboygan needs, as well as other lumber towns, is confidence. Its future is very bright, and if her people would get together and say so and think so, it would have 25,000 people in ten years from now, if not double that number.

Reports an Average Wheat Crop.

The New York World has published telegraphic reports from nearly 300 points in the wheat belt, showing the exact condition of the wheat crop. "These reports," the World says, "show that on the vast wheat farms of the Northwest, in Minnesota and the Dakotas, the wheat crop is not only uninjured, but actually it is better than the average condition. 'Never better' is a significantly frequent expression of the correspondents from that section of the country. From the southern section of the wheat belt there comes a different story. Kansas reports indicate less than half a crop. In Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio chinch bugs, rust, and other ills have aided the frost in doing extensive damage to wheat. Missouri and Michigan also report heavy losses. On the Pacific slope, which is becoming one of the largest wheat-producing sections of the country, all reports agree that the crop is above the average. Taking the whole wheat belt, together with the Pacific slope, it seems clear from these reports that the present prospect is for at least an average crop. Favorable conditions and an increase crop in the vast fields of the Northwest will easily make up for the lessened crop in the diminished wheat area of the Central States."

Preparing Small Fruits For Market.

Preparing our small fruits for home and distant markets is a subject which deserves the attention of both the larger and smaller growers of this product. Cleanliness should be strictly observed in all the processes of preparing the fruit for market. From beginning to end this one point should be watched closely. Strawberries especially should be carefully attended to. To guard against dirty strawberries, mulch between the rows of vines with a heavy mulch of straw or marsh hay. This prevents the berries from becoming dirty during a rain, and also prevents the boxes from being soiled. As the fruiting beds of strawberries are cultivated but little during the fruiting season, this mulch tends to keep down any weeds which have had occasion to start. When the pickers are at work watch them carefully. See that the vines are not trampled upon; that no bad or dirty fruit is placed in the boxes; that all imperfect specimens are thrown out; that the berries are just the right ripeness to pick; that boxes are neither too full nor too scant, and that boxes are free from strains. Strawberries should be picked with a short stem and calyx left upon them. This gives them a much nicer appearance in the box, and they ship much better. Pick strawberries with the thumb and finger, cutting the stem off with the thumb nail. Never expose the fruit after it is picked to the hot sun and winds. If a pickers stand or case is used see to it that these all have covers.

Never mix varieties of berries in one box; place each variety by itself. Be sure all boxes and cases into which fruit is placed are clean and well made. Covers should fit tightly, so no air or dust will strike the fruit. In hauling to place of shipment cover load with canvas to guard against sun, wind, and dust.

All cases should be neatly directed on top and both ends of cases. Place the names of the consignor as well as that of the consignee upon every case and package in a neat manner. Ship only to reliable and trusty dealers and commission men.

Place fruit upon the market in a dirty condition and in dirty cases with covers half nailed on and you will receive, if anything, half prices. Place berries on the market in a neat manner and you will receive good prices, good patronage, and a good reputation. —Prarie Farmer.

Evils of Tempting Children.

One of the most cruel and short-sighted actions in the world is that of tempting children. A mother thinks it necessary that her children should learn to resist temptation. Accordingly, instead of helping them to overcome those temptations that offer themselves every day unsolicited, she purposely arranges bait by means of which the children may be entrapped, and then punishes them if they do not prove strong enough to conquer in the unequal struggle. There is sometimes almost demonical in the idea of forbidding a small child to eat sweets and then leaving it in the room with an open box of confectionery, yet mothers who consider themselves tender and devoted have done this and similar things, apparently with a quiet conscience. If a temptation of half the strength had befallen them, they would have inevitably yielded it, in spite of mature reasoning powers and self-control, yet they expect their inexperienced little ones to be incorruptable.

The most sheltered condition offers to the infantile mind continual temptation to steal, to lie, to rebel against proper authority—in short, to indulge in miniature in nearly all the evil of the great world. To put additional stumbling-blocks in the path of the child is not only thoughtless—it is morally criminal. The road to genuine goodness is difficult enough to men and women. How much more rough is it for the little untried feet of children of whom natural impulse works as yet unchecked by the moral sense.—Ex.

Growing Walnuts.

The black walnut is a beautiful tree. Why are they so seldom found in our lawns or so near our dwellings? The timber is also very valuable, so much so that, in many parts of our country, one large walnut tree on an acre of land would be more valuable than the land, if it were well grown. And the walnut tree is not hard to grow in Canada, more especially in the southern part of Ontario. It is a tree that does not bear transplanting well. But there is no necessity for transplanting it. If a walnut tree is wanted as a shade, or for any purpose around the steading, why just get a couple of nuts when matured, and plant them in the fall in the spot where the tree is wanted to grow. Put them only a few inches in the soil, so that the nuts will freeze, and then when the growing season comes, they will put in an appearance. Plant more than one nut to make sure of a tree. If more than one grows, of course those not wanted can be pulled out. If the soil is fairly good, the tree will want no other protection than such as will secure it from injury by domestic animals in summer, or by wild animals in winter. Of course, if the ground is stirred around it for a few years in the summer season, and if it is enriched, the tree will grow more quickly than under the opposite condition. But in a short time it will be a beautiful tree, and so far advanced that it will be able to take care of itself. In a few years after planting it will bear nuts, and the crop will increase with much regularity from year to year. Will not every boy and girl who reads this paper try to grow at least one walnut tree.—Household Companion.

Helen Keller.

That remarkable child, Helen Keller, is in New York, and it was my good fortune to meet her at the house of a friend. She is a young girl in her teens now and is much better informed than most girls of her age, though she is blind and deaf. She was dumb as well, but has been taught to speak. Her articulation is slow and strange, but it is perfectly distinct. Of course her one sense is that of touch, and she has developed it to the highest capacity.

A death mask of Keats was laid on her lap, and passing her hands over it she expressed her admiration for the evidences of intellect that she found in it. She even detected the smile that parts the lips of the dead poet. A bust of Napoleon was also given to her. After passing her hands gently over it she recognized the features and said that she thought it must have been made during his victorious days, for the expression was less anxious than in one she had "seen" a day or two before. Not only has this child a most remarkable mind, but she must have had the most careful training, for she is not merely well informed, but cultivated. —Critic Lounger.

The Household of Princess Alix.

Shortly after the arrival of Princess Alix in Livadia she was given a large album, containing more than a thousand photographs of members of the Russian aristocracy, some of whom were eventually to be chosen to form the household of the princess on her becoming empress. With every picture was a biography and a short description of the character and disposition of the original. It is said, however, that Princess Alix immediately returned the book, accompanied by a letter in her own handwriting, to the effect that she preferred to submit to the guidance of her future husband in all such matters rather than trust to any passing impression she herself might receive from mere portraits.—London Queen.

A long lawsuit has lately been concluded, having for its main point the liability of a city for damages when a horse became frightened at a steam road roller. The party suing won the case. A horse that has been properly educated will not be frightened at any form of steam engine. Pains should be taken before a horse is sold for saddle or driving to make him perfectly familiar with hissing and escaping steam and moving railway trains. Put him in a place where he must stay and look at them and acquaint himself with them.

Stella J. Tibbets of Boston has successfully passed the examination required by the board of registration in pharmacy. Her name was first on the list of the nine who received certificates out of the 42 applicants examined.

Two English writers, well known this side of the sea as well, are seriously ill from overwork in a literary way—Mme. Sarah Grand and Mrs. Lynn Linton.

Do You Want To Stop Tobacco? You Can Be Cured While Using It.

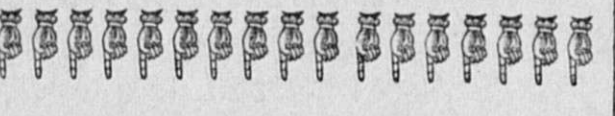

The habit of using tobacco grown on a man until grave diseased conditions are produced. Tobacco causes cancer on the mouth and stomach; dyspepsia; loss of memory; nervous affections; congestion of the retina, and wasting of the optic nerve, resulting in impairment of vision, even to the extent of blindness; dizziness, or vertigo; tobacco asthma; nightly suffocation; dull pain in region of the heart, followed later by sharp pains, palpitation and weakened pulse, resulting in fatal heart disease. It also causes loss of vitality. Quit, before it is too late.

To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco—to an inveterate user, becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. "Bacco-Curo" is a scientific and reliable vegetable remedy, guaranteed to be perfectly harmless, and which has been in use for the last 23 years, having cured thousands of habitual tobacco users—smokers, chewers and snuff-dippers.

You can use all the tobacco you want while taking "Bacco-Curo," it will notify you when to stop. We give a written guarantee to permanently cure any case with three boxes, or refund the money with 10 per cent interest.

"Bacco-Curo" is not a substitute, but a reliable and scientific cure—which absolutely destroys the craving for tobacco without the aid of will power, and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine, as the day you took your first chew or smoke.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO

IT'S INJURIOUS TO STOP SUDDENLY and don't be imposed upon by buying a remedy that requires you to do so, as it is nothing more than a substitute. In the sudden stoppage of tobacco you must have some stimulant, and in most all cases, the effect of the stimulant, be it opium, morphine, or other opiates, leaves a far worse habit contracted. Ask your druggist about BACCO-CURO. It is purely vegetable. You do not have to stop using tobacco with BACCO-CURO. It will notify you when to stop and your desire for tobacco will cease. Your system will be as free from nicotine as the day before you took your first chew or smoke. A iron-clad written guarantee to absolutely cure the tobacco habit in all its forms, or money refunded. Dear Sir:—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being, at least. I tried the so-called "Keeley Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Bacco-Curo." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation, and to-day I consider myself completely cured; I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Bacco-Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it.

Yours very truly,
C. W. HORNICK.

Miss Emaline Mader, of East Saginaw, is the guest of Miss Vina Curry in Tawas township.

FOR SALE:—Tricycle, nearly new, can be bought cheap. Inquire at C. H. Prescott & Sons.

Don't delay, but call at the HERALD office at once and examine our fine line of wall paper.

Mrs. Will Alnoch, of Bay City, arrived on the steamer Ossifrage, on a visit with Miss Nellie Brabon.

All persons indebted to the HERALD are requested to call and settle at once, as we are in need of the money.

A job lot of window shades, and finest line of wall paper in the county at King's furniture store, East Tawas.

C. H. Prescott & Sons have a new advertisement in this issue. You can save money by following the advice given therein.

Extension tables $2.50 to $18; sideboards $10 to $30. A new line of parlor goods just received at King's furniture store.

The 4th of July meeting held at the city hall Wednesday evening was adjourned to this, Friday, evening. A full attendance of the business men is requested.

From the San Diego (Cal.) Union, we learn that Col. E. B. Spileman is now commanding the first brigade, C. N. G., consisting of the 7th and 9th infantry.

An exciting game of base ball is reported from Alabaster last Sunday, between the Western Plaster Works team and the East Tawas Standards. The W. P. W.'s won by a score of 23 to 22.

Alpena is experiencing an enthusiastic religious revival. Rev. Pierson is conducting the meetings, and large numbers of business men are closing their stores at 7:30, in order to attend.

The schooner John R. Noyes, pounded a hole in her bow while getting out of the Alabaster harbor, last Friday, and was towed to East Tawas where repairs were made and the boat left for Chicago Monday, in tow of the steamer J. E. Hall. Both boats are loaded with plaster.

Will E. Waterbury spent a few days during the past week with friends in Pinconning.

New side walks are being built in all parts of the city, besides a large amount of repairing. Let the good work go on.

There appears in this issue an advertisement for the Lexington Woolen Mills. Those having carding to do will do well to read it.

FOR SALE.—Forty acres of land, 14 acres cleared with good fences, log barn and root house. Can be bought cheap for cash. Address, Martin Stuls, Alabaster, Mich.

Children's day exercises at the Congregational church Sunday evening. The church will be handsomely decorated, and a good time is expected. A general invitation is extended to all.

Simon Kujawa, formerly of this city, but now of Black River, was on Monday last united in marriage at Alpena, to Miss Gusta Zaborna. The happy couple called on friends here, Tuesday.

After an hours deliberation the jury in the Pope murder case at Detroit, brought in a verdict of guilty against Mrs. Nellie Pope, for the murder of her husband, and she was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Mrs. L. D. Temple, of Lansing, will lecture in the Baptist church, on the evening of June 12. Mrs. Temple is a woman of much culture and has an extended reputation as a lecturer. A rich literary treat may be expected.

There are a few men in this city of whom an example should be made. A man who is so mean that he will stand around with his hands in his pockets and refuse to work at all fire, when called upon to do so, has but very little patriotism in his worthless carcass, to say the least.

The school board have tendered the various positions in our school for next year to the following persons: Superintendent—John Campbell. Principal—Frank F. Stevens. Grammar—Miss Bessie Brown. Intermediate—Miss Ida Funk. Primary—Miss Ida Taylor. Ward School—Miss Eva Drake.

Last week we forgot to announce the marriage of a couple of the popular young people of this city, which occurred at the Evan. Zion church, May 26. The contracting parties were Mr. Charles Cholcher and Miss Bertha Fashelt. The HERALD joins the happy couple's many friends in congratulations.

One of the funny bills before the late legislature was an act compelling newspaper publishers to discontinue sending papers at the expiration of the time to which the subscriber has paid. There would be about as much sense in enacting a law forbidding a merchant to allow his goods to go out without spot cash, and yet if the author of that bill thought he was aiming a blow at newspapers he was very greatly mistaken. Every publisher will be glad to have the law step in between him and the credit his subscribers are constantly asking. In no other business is the credit system more vexatious and more productive of ill feeling and loss and yet every publisher knows how almost impossible it is to refuse when a man of good repute and honest intention says "let my paper come right along and I'll hand you the money in a few days." The publisher knows that in three cases out of four the subscriber will either forget all about it or will soon get the impression that he has paid because he "always makes a practice of paying such bills promptly," and the result will be a dispute or loss of the subscription. The new law would be more convenient for the publisher than for the subscriber.—Ed.

Plum trees generally come into bearing early and are usually not very long lived, therefore the grower should expect to set new trees in season to have them ready to take the place of the old ones.

County Clerk Galbraith and Mayor Murphy made a trip out in the country the fore part of the week and took dinner at the farm of Thos. Curry. They report Mr. Curry's farm as one of the modern improvements.

Twenty-six years ago last Thursday Geo. F. Lewis issued the first number of the Saginawian, and for over 20 years, continued to publish one of the ablest weeklies in Michigan. The present proprietors, Brothers Smith & Stoeker, have kept the paper up to its high standard and are well worth of the liberal patronage they receive.

It cost Au Sable $155 to demonstrate that jack pine would make paper, and they are now threatened with a suit for $209.75, the amount Mr. Neuman claims to be yet due. It has also been shown that a well known process will make just as good paper as Neuman's $25,000 secret. The Au Sable paper mill bubble has burst, and it has again been proven that newspaper talk is cheap, but that it requires more than wind to build a city.

The Detroit & Mackinaw railway has engaged in the laudable undertaking of systematically advertising whatever advantages this section of the state offers to the immigrant. C. M. Garrison has charge of this special work and his duties, says The Alpena Review, will be confined to directing immigrants to this locality and assisting them in the selection of farming lands. The business men's association of Alpena looks with such favor on this new departure that they have endorsed it by suitable resolutions and they will co-operate with Mr. Garrison in every way possible to advance the settlement of the wild lands adjacent to Alpena.

BREED BIG CARRIAGE HORSES.

The Demand For Them Is Brisker Than Ever.

One remarkable feature of the present unprecedented depression in the horse market is the active and increasingly keen demand for horses of the coaching or carriage type. English and Scotch buyers, French and German buyers, New York and other eastern city buyers have all been quietly but constantly picking up every desirable horse of this class that presented itself during the past year. As business men these buyers very naturally wish to purchase as cheaply as possible, but it is an open secret that if the horse is only good enough—possessing the size, the form, the quality and the action desired—very handsome prices, and in some instances extravagant prices, are being got for them, prices that would seem incredible to the average breeder of ordinary horses.

Now, assuming that those good prices are obtained on account of the scarcity of this class of horses, the question naturally arises, Why this scarcity? How comes it that with the multitudinous herds of almost every conceivable kind of equines which meet us on all hands—many of whom are "fearfully and wonderfully made"—there are really so few specimens fit for carriage purposes? The problem is an interesting and highly important one to consider and does not by any means reflect favorably on our ability and intelligence as breeders.

In conversation with some foreign buyers at the Chicago stockyards recently I could the following facts—viz: That the demand for certain kinds of American horses is better than ever; that price cuts little figure if only the horses are good enough; that the ones which best fill the bill are produced in various different ways—some from trotting bred sires, some from hackneys and other imported coach breeds, while some of the very best in point of quality have a large infusion of thoroughbred blood. It is of course only natural to suppose that in a country so vast as ours, with mares of such extremely varied types and qualifications, no one stallion or one breed will give uniformly good results. This, in my opinion, is why many otherwise intelligent breeders have become discouraged in the business by want of success, whereas the primary fault lay in their own inability to discriminate and make the proper connection.

For instance, a farmer has two brood mares, both good individuals, but of quite different types. He breeds them both to a certain trotting bred horse with perhaps a good reputation. One raises a good colt, the other rather an inferior one. He sells the dam of the latter, and the new owner breeds her to a good hackney, we shall say, and obtains a carriage horse. Now, where the first mare failed the second easily succeeds, and this knowledge of how to "nick" or blend certain individuals to obtain a desired result is the highest attainable aim of the scientific breeder. Without this knowledge or inspiration our breeders only work in the dark. Their operations are haphazard and in the highest degree uncertain. Most of the discouragements and heartburnings which breeders have experienced in recent years are only the natural result of mistaken ideas or a want of knowledge of the proper essentials of mating. Just as a well balanced ration of feed is indispensable to the highest development of the young animal's physical frame, so an experienced, well balanced judgment, coupled with the requisite knowledge of the science of breeding, is required to make any kind of success in that line. The question of the demand for coach horses resolves itself into the following:

First.—That coaches are wanted and in all human probability will continue to be wanted, at good figures, for many years to come.

Second.—That they are today the only kind of horse in America for which the demand is greater than the supply.

Third.—That the production of such horses offers probably better prospects of remuneration than that of any other kind of live stock.

Fourth.—That quality, style, size and action are indispensable qualifications of good coach horses.

Fifth.—That with the material which this country already possesses and the requisite knowledge in mating, feeding, handling and fitting such horses there is today a most profitable field for the farmer and horse breeder of America.

—Alex Galbraith in Horseman.

Will Succeed In Time.

The minister of instruction at St. Petersburg has presented a scheme to the council of state in favor of permitting women to practice medicine. This is the third or fourth attempt of the same kind; but, as in the present instance it is strongly supported, it appears to have a chance of success.

Another Revolution In Hats.

The latest hats are not perched on the extreme back of the head as they have been all winter, with an effect of being about to glide off backward. On the contrary, in the present headgear the pendulum has swung to the opposite extreme, and the dainty little confections of lace and jet are tipped down over the eyes. Even theater bonnets are to be worn in this way—till a newer fancy strikes the maids and matrons who wear them.—Fashion Journal.
