The Ladies' Guild wish to extend their thanks to all who assisted them in the presentation of their minstrel entertainment last week, and especially those who were not members of the Christ church. The Junior League will repeat their "Hymn Social" at the M. E. church next Wednesday evening, by special request. Considerable change will be made in the program. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend. While laying at the docks in Bay City last Friday night, the tug J. V. O'Brien, of this city, was discovered to be on fire. An alarm was sounded and the fire department and two or three boats soon had streams of water on. The fire caught in the partition between the engine room and pilot house, and did considerable damage to the upper works of the boat. The loss is fully covered by insurance. The tug arrived home again Saturday.

THE CELEBRATION!

East Tawas Properly Observed the Nation's Birthday.

The East Tawas celebration was a very successful affair. The city was handsomely decorated and large numbers of people were present to enjoy the occasion. The day was ushered in by the proper booming of cannons and explosion of fire crackers. The parades were good, a large number taking part therein. Music was furnished by the three local bands.

Many good representations were made in the calathumpian parade, the judges awarding the first prize to Frank Dease, for his representation of "the beauty and the beast." The second prize went to some of our Swedish citizens, whose names we did not learn, for a presentation of the "Flax Makers." Johnnie Forsee captured third money on his bicycle.

The games in the afternoon were warmly contested and the following awards made:

One hundred yard foot race—Albert Ash, 1st; Will Dean, 2d; W. Murry, 3d.

Three legged race—Dease and Dean 1st; Tapp and LaBerge, 2d.

Sack race—Dave Kennedy, 1st; Fred Marsh, 2d.

Wheel barrow race—Frank Copeland, 1st; Herb Sims, 2d.

Potato race—Will Dean, 1st; A. Ash, 2d.

Tub race—F. Copeland, 1st; Harry LaBerge, 2d.

Standing jump—Al. Swazy, 1st; Albert Ash, 2d.

Running jump—Albert Ash, 1st; Tom Dean, 2d.

Hop, step and jump—Al. Swazy, 1st; C. M. Davis, 2d.

The tug of war was won by the team under the captancy of Fred Hanscum, while Frank Dease succeeded in capturing the greased pig.

The bicycle races were held at the fair grounds at 7 o'clock in the evening. Fred Chamberlain won first, Lewie Whittemore, second, and Will Langworthy third, in the free for all race.

The race for boys under 16 was won by Rich Hartingh; Arthur Jackson taking second, and Frank Sedgman third money.

5,000 ACRES.

Will be sold at the State Land Office.

A Lansing dispatch says: Land Commissioner French has received a patent for 5,000 acres of upper peninsula land, which will be sold Aug. 13, at not less than $8 per acre. If not sold, they will be subject to homestead entry and private sale thereafter.

The records showed the above amount due the state under the swamp land act. Commissioner French made the selection as provided by acts of congress of 1855 and 1857. Subsequently the general land office commissioner decided that the act of 1855 was abrogated by the act of 1889, which reserved government lands in Michigan for homestead entry only, and refuse to confirm the selection.

Commissioner French, in company with Senator McMillan, appeared before the secretary of the interior, securing a reversal of the commissioner's decision and a patent for the land.

Commissioner French says the lands are among the finest in the upper peninsula.

SILVER WINS

At the National Democratic Convention, in Session at Chicago.

As we go to press, the National Democratic Convention is in session at Chicago, but no nominations have been made. The silver men control the convention and have adopted a 16 to 1 platform. The indications are that Richard P. Bland, of Missouri, will receive the nomination for the presidency.

Sudden Death.

Last Saturday morning William M. Perry, of Tawas township, went to the barn to attend to his stock and not returning when expected, his wife went in search of him and found him dead. Heart failure was the cause.

Mr. Perry is an old resident of this county, having worked in the mills in this city and East Tawas, before moving to his farm, where he has resided for a number of years. The deceased was 58 years of age and leaves a wife and son, besides a large circle of friends to mourn his loss.

The funeral services were conducted at the residence, by Rev. A. C. Kay, of East Tawas, assisted by Rev. Schermerhorn, of this city, at 2 o'clock last Monday afternoon. The remains were interred in the Tawas City cemetery.

Kitchen Chat.

All cooks do not understand the different effects produced by hard and soft water cooking meats and vegetables, says the Home Queen. Peas and beans cooked in hard water containing lime or gypsum will not boil good and tender because these substances harden vegetable caseine. Many vegetables, like onions, boil nearly tasteless in soft water, because the flavor is boiled out. The addition of salt often checks this, as in case of onions, causing the vegetables to retain the peculiar flavoring principles, besides such nutritious matter as might be lost in soft water. For extracting the juice of meat to make a broth or soup, soft water, unsalted and cold at first, is best, for it much more readily penetrates the tissue; but for boiling where the juices are to be retained, hard water or soft salted water is preferable, and the meat should be put in while the water is boiling, so that the pores may be sealed up at once.

The republican state convention to nominate candidates for state officers has been called to meet at Grand Rapids, August 6.

The new National party, made up of the bolters of the Prohibition party, held a state convention at Lansing last Saturday, and nominated a bull state ticket, with John Gilbertson, of Clare, for governor.

It has long been the custom of Republican newspapers to prate about the pleasure with which British journals hail the utterances of the Democratic party on the tariff question, but we fail to observe that they are saying anything about the pleasure manifested in that quarter over the financial ideas of the Republican platform. In reality it makes no difference to intelligent and honest people what the foreign papers say on any matter pertaining to American politics.—Saginaw News

LAST Saturday the newly designed flag of the United States, containing the forty-fifth star for the new state of Utah, was displayed for the first time at the mast-heads of ships of the navy and arsenals, barracks and other stations, where the war department at Washington is wont to fly the stars and stripes. The new arrangement of the stars was a difficult problem to solve and caused no end of hard thinking on the part of Secretaries Herbert and Lamont. The stars are arranged in six rows, the first, third and fifth of eight stars each, and the second, fourth and sixth of seven stars each. The admission of the present territories to the statehood would not disturb this design, as additional stars can be added to the second, fourth and sixth rows without disturbing the uniformity of the design.

HAS BEEN FAVORABLE.

The Weather Recently Good for Haying.

Lansing, Mich., July 7.—According to the state weather bureau, the weather of the past week has been generally favorable for haying and harvesting. Haying has been general in all sections of the lower peninsula and considerable has been cut in the upper peninsula. The wheat and rye harvest has been rapidly pushed in the central and southern sections of the state and in a few localities in the northern counties. In the southern counties the harvest is about completed and much of the cut has been secured in stack and barn. The hot, humid weather of the last four days of the week advanced corn very rapidly, and in the southern counties it is tasseling. There is some complaint that corn has been curling on account of the dry weather, but the complaint is far from being general and most correspondents report the condition of this crop very good.

Oats have made fine growth in all parts of the state, are in excellent condition and turning.

The dry condition has effected pastures the most and they are short and brown and some correspondents report that on uplands they afford no fodder at all. In many localities there is still great complaint of the ravages of grasshoppers, although these pests were checked by the cool weather of the early part of the week.

Garden truck, potatoes, beans and other crops are generally reported in good condition, but in need of rain. Fruit continues to hang well, and in Van Buren county early peaches are reported ready to pick.

Well Known Weed Pests.

Professor Bailey says: "Until farmers till for tillage sake, and not to kill the weeds, it is necessary that the weeds shall exist, but when farmers do till for tillage sake, then weeds will disappear with no effort of ours."

This is true to a certain extent, for there are weeds that spread and crowd into unwanted places where cultivation is not desirable. Such weeds become dangerous to meadows and pastures. It is claimed by Prof. Bailey also that there are farmers who would never till the soil—do any cultivating of growing crops unless forced to do so by the encroachment of weeds. No doubt this is also quite true, for the majority of farmers appear to conclude cultivation means keeping down the weeds only.

A farmer was once seen heartily laughing at a market gardener, who was running a cultivator through the rows of a sweet corn patch that did not show a sign of weeds. The market gardener answered that cultivation keeps the soil in a healthy state, and two proper cultivations is as good as a dressing of manure. Keeping the soil loose puts it in a porous condition and helps it retain moisture, lets air into the soil and enable the plant to obtain more nutriment or plant food. The meadows and pasture fields in many sections are becoming literally overrun with various weeds. Early spring shows the yellow bloom of Charlock (wild mustard, "water cross") in abundance. It is crowding out the grasses. Seed retain their vitality a long time and come up in the grain fields and there become a great nuisance. One of the best methods to keep it in check is to carefully cut when it becomes in bloom and rake up into piles, and as soon as it is dry enough burn it.

Wild carrots, also called "Devil's Plague," is another weed that gets a strong foothold in uncultivated places—meadows, pastures and waste spots. Cutting off when in bloom is not a very effective way to get rid of this plant, as laterals start out and bloom even on stubs a few inches from the ground and mature seeds. Pulling them up after soaking rains is a good way, but the plan is too tedious for large fields when the pest has gotten too free a start. The wild carrot can certainly be classed as a very aggressive weed. It is said as many as 50,000 seed have been counted on a single plant of average size.

The ox-eye daisy has become a very dangerous pest on many farms. This pest spreads from both seed and roots and will crowd out all grasses and soon take quite complete possession of a field—if some means are not used to check its career. In Baltimore county there are many meadow and pasture lands that are nearly completely white when the daisies are in bloom. If farmers really knew how difficult it is to exterminate the ox-eye daisy, they certainly would use extra vigilance to dislodge it. It is claimed sheep will, in time, rid the fields of the pest, as they appear to be quite fond of it. In fact, sheep are great destroyers of the most objectionable weeds that grow on the farm. It is a fact, very noticeable to a keen observer, that farms where sheep are kept are remarkably free from weeds. The dandelion is also getting to be too promiscuous an intruder on many meadows and pastures. Sand brier, or horse nettle, is another pernicious pest on bottom lands. When once it becomes established it is a great sticker—in more sense than one. It soon prevents cattle from browsing in a field. The weed should be grubbed up on sight. It can be kept from spreading if cutting several times a year is resorted to. Fight it every way possible until it is completely eradicated. Ragweed grows in nearly every state east of the Rocky mountains. Some farmers claim ragweed makes good hay for sheep and that cattle will also eat it. Starving animals, when they have no choice, have been known to partake of poisonous plants. With stock where it is a case of ragweed hay or nothing, they will probably eat the ragweed. The farmer who tries to sell butter made from cows eating ragweed hay will make a very serious mistake if he cares to keep his customers. To eradicate ragweed from infested fields it will be necessary to omit from the regular rotation such crops as ripen or mature about the time ragweed ripens its seed. Clover fields that are infested with ragweed should be plowed and crops that require cultivation should be planted. These crops, must, however, be kept cleanly cultivated until frost, for ragweed is very persistent in maturing seed and if it cannot be accomplished on a long-growing, tall plant, it makes strong endeavors to mature seed on a late short-growing plant.

Where it is growing in fields that are not in cultivation it should be mowed down several times during the season—every time, in fact, that it is noticed the seed have commenced to form. Keep the fence corners clean, for many weed pests start from these sources and spread over the whole farm.

Some idea may be formed of the cause of the very rapid spread of weeds by the following from an authority showing the number of seeds a natural plant will produce: Wild carrot, 1,200; dandelion, 1,500; chickweed, 2,000; cockle, 3,200; campion, 3,425; chess, 4,500; dock, 3,700; ragweed, 4,372; groundsell, 6,500; ox-eye daisy, 9,600; mallow, 16,500; motherwort, 18,000; foxtail, 19,500; sow thistle, 19,000; mustard, 31,000; Canada thistle, 42,000; red poppy, 50,000; burdock, 400,328; purslane, 500,000; lamb's quarters, 825,000.

These are some of the old or well known weeds.

Yesterday's Alpena Argus says: Engineer Simmons, of engine No. 6, Detroit & Mackinac railroad, had a very narrow escape from death last Saturday. He was engineer of the train which left here at 2.35 p. m., and when between AuSable and Tawas, the right side-rod broke, and as is usual in such cases it goes plowing through the side of the cab, dealing death to the person who happens to be in the way, but luckily in this case the only damage done was to the rod and road bed. The engine was stopped, disconnected, and run to Tawas where another was substituted and the train continued on its way, arriving at Alger only about thirty minutes late.

Among the passengers on the steamer Arundell last Saturday, was a denified gentleman, who is said to be a prominent Police Justice in one of the shore cities. The passengers noticed that the Judge carefully guarded a covered basket, which, all supposed, contained his lunch. As the steamer neared Point Lookout, a boat came along side to take some passengers, including the Judge, ashore. As the Judge was getting into the boat, the top of his lunch basket became loose, when to the surprise of all, out jumped a large white cat, and from all reports, the dignity of the Judge was considerably ruffled in his efforts to catch that cat to the tune of "Slide, Kelly, Slide."
