THE FIRST TRAIN,

Into Bay City over the D. & M. Ry. Yesterday Morning.

The connections of the new extension of the D. & M. road with the F. & P. M. belt line at the east end of the new steel bridge at Bay City was made Wednesday and connections are now complete from Alpena to Detroit.

Thursday morning, the first train into Bay City left East Tawas at 5 o'clock in charge of Conductor Percy Hackett, and consisted of the parlor car "Alpena," and Supt. Luce's private car, No. 95, engine No. 19, with Engineer Charles Bonney at the lever, and Fireman Wm. Marquette, making the steam. On board were General Manager J. D. Hawks, Supt. C. W. Luce, Advertising manager C. M. Garrison, W. P. Shook, G. J. Kellogg, Dan Cutting, of the Alpena Echo, H. C. Hamell, of the Alpena Pioneer, C. S. Pierce, of the Oscoda Press, G. M. Hanna, Alpena Argus, L. J. Patterson, of the Tawas Herald. At Omer, Frank Taylor, of the Omer Progress joined the party. The F. & P. M. depot at Bay City was reached at 8 o'clock.

Hear the private car of General Manager Crapo, of the F. & P. M., was attached to the train, and taking the members of the Michigan Passenger Agent's Association, a number of the F. & P. M. official and several newspaper representatives the train started on its return trip to Alpena, at which place the Passenger Agent's Association held a meeting yesterday afternoon.

The following members of the Agent's Association were present: President A. Patriarcho, of Saginaw; secretary Joseph Houston, of Detroit; Ben. Fletcher, of the G. T. lines; H. F. Moeller, G. P. A. of F. & P. M.; J. Simpson, of Detroit; H. P. Dearing, of Jackson.

The following F. & P. M. officials were aboard: General manager Crapo, master machanic, T. J. Hartswell; general supt., W. F. Potter; car supply agent, D. Crombie; contracting agent, Wm. Henderson; traveling passenger agent, W. C. Tousey; director W. H. Tousey; chief clerk of freight department, Frank Klienfeldt; train master, S. D. Gage, and E. M. Wratter, agent at Bay City. W. J. Martin, division superintendent of the M. C., chief engineer McCassey of the D. & M. and T. G. Winnett, G. P. A. of the D. & M.

The following representatives of the press also joined the party at Bay City: H. E. Gustin, Times Press; Mr. Barker, of the Tribune, and a Detroit Free Press reporter.

The entire party were most agreeably surprised at the very fine condition of the new road. It runs through fine farming lands and opens up the best portion of Northern Michigan.

The road bed is as smooth as a race track, and makes but one curve between Emery Junction and Bay City, and is beyond question the finest piece of railroad in Michigan.

The fine steel bridges at Omer and Bay City are the best that can be had.

Neat new depots have been erected at Turner, Omer, Pine River and Saginaw, while the Pinconning station is being rapidly pushed to completion.

There is now but little doubt that the road will be completed through to Mackinaw before 1898.

The regular train service between Alpena and Detroit, via the F. & P. M. from Bay City, will be commenced next Sunday. There will be three trains daily each way.

BY THE WAY.

Sterling, the West Bay City photographer was along and took a photo of the party at Emery Junction.

W. P. Shook, representing the National Lead Works, and G. J. Kellogg, representing the Detroit Cigar Manufacturing Co., have the honor of being the first two commercial men to ride over the D. & M. between East Tawas and Bay City. The boys were more than pleased with the road and predict that it will be very popular with the traveling men.

Advertising Manager C. M. Garrison showed the excursionists a sample of the fruit raised in Isosco county, by presenting them with a bushel of very fine apples from Dr. Gates' orchard.

The run from Bay City to Tawas City was made in about two hours and fifteen minutes.

On leaving Emery Junction going down Editor Hamell, lost his hat, and the train was backed up to recover it. Dan Cutting was mean enough to insinuate that the cause of the accident was the swelling of Hamell's head, but no one would believe him.

A business men's excursion will be run from Saginaw and Bay City to Alpena, Oct. 1.

FOR GAIN.

McKinley Has Cast Honor Away.

It was an armor-plate shell that William J. Bryan sent into the camp of William McKinley at the Toledo meeting last Wednesday night, when he quoted a speech made by McKinley in the same hall, not seven years ago, in which the latter then posed as the champion of silver against Grover Cleveland. There is no possibility of mistake on this point, because the Toledo Blade of Feb. 13 published the speech from manuscript furnished by McKinley himself. The extract from the Blade is as follows:

"CLEVELAND'S CRIME

Was His Warfare on the People's Dollar."

"During all his years at the head of the government he was dishonoring one of our precious metals, one of our great products, discrediting silver and enhancing the price of gold. He endeavored, even before his inauguration to office, to stop the coinage of silver dollars, and afterward and to the end of his administration persistently used his power to that end. He was determined to contract the circulating medium and demonetize one of the coins of commerce, limit the volume of money among the people, make money scarce and therefore dear. He would have increased the value of money and diminished the value of everything else—money the master of everything, everything else the servant. He was not thinking of the poor then. He had left their side. He was not standing forth in their defense. Cheap coats, cheap labor, and dear money! The sponsor and promoter of these professing to stand guard over the welfare of the poor and lowly. Was there ever more glaring inconsistency of reckless assumption?"

Following upon the exposure of this piece of inconsistency comes the dissection of McKinley's letter of acceptance, by Gen. E. B. Finley. It was in 1885 that Cleveland sent a message to congress advocating the cessation of silver coinage. McKinley was a member of the house, and it refused to pass a repealing bill as requested. Gen. Finley has resurrected a copy of that message and has drawn the deadly parallel on the republican nominee, showing most conclusively that he (McKinley) had cribbed the arguments advanced by the man whom he denounced for advancing them.

A more damning record was never produced against a candidate. It goes to show that there was a violation of conscience and a betrayal of conviction when Mr. McKinley signed his name to his official letter of acceptance. The Memorial hall speech delivered by McKinley, the private citizen, will prove a plague to McKinley, the time-serving candidate. With the latter vanished the last vestige of hope in the hearts of the silver republicans that McKinley would stand between them and Wall street, and they have sorrowfully surrendered him forever as a candidate. Taking in connection with the Lincoln banquet speech that document convicts him of duplicity at least, whatever else may be charged in connection with it. Mr. Bryan will not have a more effective hot in his locker during this campaign.—Toledo Dispatch to Cincinnati Enquirer.

Calumet Baking Powder

has turned the tables on high price baking powders. The directions on High Price cans are the same as on Calumet cans, viz.: 2 teaspoonfuls to a quart of flour, but they say that one can of High Price will go three times as far as any other. Can any claim be more ridiculous? The frantic cry of adulteration, danger and poison made by the high price baking powder people is a blind to intimidate the public and induce them to pay fancy prices for their goods—also to divert attention from this defect in their own goods.

Calumet Baking Powder is safe. Food baked with Calumet is absolutely free from Rochelle Salts, Alum, Lime, Ammonia or any injurious substance.

M. MURPHY,
Chairman, Co. Campaign Com.

Why do people persist in saying that the silver dollar is redeemable in gold, and why do advocates of the single gold standard persist in saying that in the event of the free coinage of silver, the silver dollar will be worth only 53 cents? They may not know any better, but they know no fact that justifies the statement. Do they not know that the 390,000,000 of silver dollars are worth 100 cents each, and are not redeemable or redeemed in anything under the sun? If they do not it is time they found it out. The fact that the present silver dollar is worth more than its weight in bullion silver, shows that it is backed up by something. What is that something? Take a silver dollar in one hand and the same quantity of silver bullion in the other hand. Look at them. The bullion in one hand is a commodity, has a certain commodity value and is saleable as a commodity, and therein lies its value. The silver dollar in the other hand is as different as can be. It bears the sovereign stamp of the people and of law. Its value to the holder is as a legal tender for debts, taxes and a medium of exchange. It is not now, however, a measure of value, as that function is given by law to gold only. The struggle is to give it the same power in all respects as the law gives to gold. As coin it is as sacred as gold. It is a crime to counterfeit it. The government reserves the right to make it, dictates what it shall be used for, and by law makes 37 1/2 grains a dollar. Now all the people want is free coinage. There is no other way to get more money and relieve the pressure on business. There is no other way to relieve an overburdened people. There is no other way to revive business.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

The Gold Standard and Civilization.

One of the favorite arguments of the gold people is that all of the more advanced and progressive nations have adopted the gold standard, while the more backward ones have clung to silver. This is regarded as proving the superiority of gold as a medium of exchange and standard for the payment of debts.

If the highly civilized nations had placed themselves upon the gold standard by the combined and educated judgement of their people the argument would have much force. If, further, the people of those countries were now united substantially in believing that gold monometalism is a good thing for the great body of the people the argument would be almost conclusive. But neither of these things are true. In the adoption of the gold standard the "people" of these "highly civilized" nations had literally no voice, not only this, but in every country now upon that standard it is conceded that business conditions are bad, and a very large proportion of the people ascribe those conditions to the demonetization of silver. In England, in Germany, in France, in Austria, in Italy, and in every leading European country the feeling against the gold standard is intense, and in every country on earth the best economic thought of the age is opposed to it. Almost everybody is or claims to be in favor of bimetalism, which is itself equivalent to declaring that the gold standard is not a true or desirable one. Whether this country shall proceed to act alone or await the co-operation of others is about the only point of difference, and this question is the one great and over-shadowing issue in the campaign now before us. Briefly stated, the issue is this: Both parties admit that the gold standard is an injury to the country, and that bimetalism should be restored. The one says, "Let us restore it." The other says, "No, we must wait for international co-operation." In view of this fact alone, which is indisputable, the talk about gold being the money of civilization, etc., is the veriest drivel.—National Bimetallist.

What Caused It.

A newspaper clipping is going the rounds in which it is sought to be shown that the issue of $262,000,000 of bonds during the present administration was caused by a deficiency in the receipts of the government. As has frequently been pointed out, the total deficiency in the revenue does not equal in amount one half of the bonds issued. It is, therefore, hard to see why, on this theory, $2 of bonds had to be issued for every $1 of deficit in the revenues. This should be sufficient to dispose of the argument, but to refute it altogether there is the remarkable fact that from July 1, 1890, to June 30, 1893, the receipts of the government exceeded its expenditures by more than $39,000,000, and yet the withdrawals of gold by the holders of greenbacks and treasury notes amounted to $117,212,258. It was during these years that Charles Foster secretary of the treasury under President Harrison, made his celebrated ruling whereby he waived the government's option to pay these obligations in silver or gold, and gave the option to the holders thereof. The raid on the treasury gold then began, not because of a lack of revenue, because there was no such lack, but because bankers and speculators saw a chance to force the issue of bonds, by which they would reap a large profit. So successful were they in this that the Morgan-Rothschild syndicate reaped a profit of about $9,000,000 on one issue of $62,000,000 alone. It is now a well known fact—publicly and recently admitted by him—that Secretary Foster had plates prepared for an issue of bonds during the closing year of Harrison's administration, although the net surplus for the year ending June 30, 1893, was over $2,000,000, excess of receipts over expenditures. Looked at firmly and squarely, there is no escaping the conclusion that what caused the issue of bonds was the raid on the treasury gold; that what caused the raid was the decision of Secretary Foster to redeem greenbacks and treasury notes in gold alone, instead of exercising his legal right to pay in silver also. It is absolutely certain that had Foster and Carlisle exercised this option in favor of silver, not a single bond would have been issued, and we and our children would have $262,000,000 less of debt to discharge.—Saginaw News.

In Striking Contrast.

In marked contrast to Mr. McKinley's letter of acceptance is the letter which Mr. Bryan sent to the notification committee. Mr. McKinley appeared as an apologist for the national platform of his party. He came not to defend it, but to soften it, and smooth it and make it the more palatable to the vacillating partisan. It was a labored letter which Maj. McKinley sent to the American people—labored because the Buckeye Napoleon was forced to defend a financial policy which he is not in sympathy with; which he has never advocated, and which he has denounced times without number. Every public utterance made by Wm. McKinley on the question of finance previous to the convention which nominated him for the president was squarely in opposition to the Cleveland policy, which the convention indorsed. Yet, in order to be the candidate of his party Mr. McKinley was compelled to eat his own words, and, if, his letter was not so spontaneous as some might have wished, it is not because the major is incapable of framing a document which would appeal to the hearts of the members of his party. It is as an aggressive fighter that Mr. McKinley is at his best. In the role of an apologist he is without heart or courage.

There was nothing in the democratic platform for which Mr. Bryan was forced to apologize. There was nothing to palliate, or deny, and Mr. Bryan's letter is a frank, fearless, dignified indorsement of the pronouncement of principles of the national democracy. He enters into no long, labored discussion of the financial question, and such a discussion is unnecessary. Every voter in the country knows just where Mr. Bryan stands. He has had no change of heart since he secured the nomination; he has no words to eat, no sentiments to counsel, no language to retract. He took his stand firmly for the free and unlimited coinage of silver and declared it to be the supreme issue. Even this was but a repetition of what he has been saying three and four times away to ten of thousands of listeners ever since the Chicago convention. Mr. Bryan discussed each plank in the national platform briefly, but sufficient length to express his convictions clearly and logically. The letter is not one which requires any location or any annotation. It speaks for itself, and in itself is both defense of the national democracy and a refutation of the extravagant charges which have been made up by the single standard press, if the sentiments uttered by William Jennings Bryan in that letter are "anarchistic," "revolutionary," "socialistic" and "communistic," as the advocates of gold would have us believe, then the sooner we have more of such "anarchy," "repudiation" and "communism," and less of the Wall street brand of "patriotism," the better will it be for the country and for the men who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow.—Evening News.

A successful experiment was made with the Myers diving apparatus at Alpena. Capt. Myers, the inventor, made the first descent, being lowered somewhat over 100 feet. The apparatus worked perfectly with the exception of the leaking of one of the valves, which extinguished the lights. Repairs are being made and the apparatus will soon be ready for the trip.

The Root with the Smith wrecking expedition, using patent diving bell and marine search light, has given up the search for the Pawabic wreck, off Alpena, and cleared for Milwaukee. She has been most of the summer there, having two crews and has expended a large amount of money. She has been greatly hindered by having her buoys carried away by steamers and rafts.

Wm Tough, of Bay City was arrested on the charge of stealing a turkey. The testimony brought out the fact that the turkey, which belonged to a neighbor, had voluntarily flown the fence and taken lodging in one of Tough's trees. The justice discharged Tough and advised him if the turkey ever came into his yard again to cut its head off and throw the carcass back into the neighbor's yard, where it belonged.

The Oscoda Lumber Co.'s mill will probably never be run again. The Company had about 1,500,000 feet of logs to cut for Salling, Hanson & Co. and some logs belonging to Judge Simpson, but arrangements have been made this week whereby these logs will be sawed by the Loud Co. The Oscoda Lumber Co. has also disposed of what shingle timber it had on hand to the Loud Co., and the mill will not be started up this season at all, and probably never again.—Oscoda Press.

The Evening Echo, of Alpena, in a write-up of the new D. & M. line, says that anyone can leave Alpena in the morning, connecting at Bay City with the F. & P. M., at Flint with the Chicago & Grand Trunk, one may land in Chicago at 9 o'clock p. m. the same day, remain two or three hours in Chicago, and leaving for the west, wake up the following morning at any prominent city on the Pacific coast, or if one desires to get east, the connections are equally as good. Leaving Detroit in the evening by a Central flyer, one may wake up the following morning at any prominent city on the Atlantic coast.
