No make believe that a thing is what it isn't.

No make believe that our goods are better than they are.

No make believe that things are special when they're not.

No make believe—no shams—no false pretenses. Right things called by their right names and sold at right prices.

No make believe that our prices are the lowest, but an absolute certainty that such is the case.

We have grown up under the above good mercantile rules. The same rules still govern us—and we are growing, and will continue to grow, win trade and gain the confidence of our patrons by adhering strictly to these sound business principles.

Manuring in the Fall or Winter.

After all that has been said and written on the subject of manuring, it does not seem to be well understood that it should be done some time before the crops are to grow. There are five things that are especially needed by the soil—humus, nitrogen, potash and phosphoric acid with water to permeate and dissolve them.

Humus is the decayed and decaying vegetable matter in the soil. It gives it that dark rich color, as we call it. It makes it light and porous so that it will hold large quantities of water, just as the sponge does. And in it live the little "invisible friends" the myriads of bacteria which fix or hold the nitrogen that certain plants gather from the air, and make it available for the coming crops. Stable manure will make this humus. So will crops that are plowed under, such as the clovers, cow peas and soja beans. And the nitrogen which they at the same time bring to the soil is much cheaper than that brought at a big price in fertilizer bags. Indeed nitrogen is far the most costly of the manures when it is bought. The merchant bases his price for mixed fertilizers more on the nitrogen they contain than on any other ingredient. Moreover, when it is in the structures of these plants it is in a much less dangerous condition and is more easily appropriated by the succeeding crops than in the form of mineral nitrates or animal refuse. These latter really do considerable harm if applied directly to tender seeds or rootlets, and should be well mixed with the soil at about the time the plants will need the nitrogen to stimulate their growth, for it is very volatile when turned into ammonia by union with water.

Phosphoric acid and potash must also be applied properly. Many persons fail to get the good effects from them which they might reasonably expect. This is one point that should be thoroughly understood by farmers, fruit-growers and gardeners. The preventive measure is to apply potash and phosphoric acid in the fall or winter and let the rains and melted snows thoroughly dissolve these mineral manures and mix them with the soil. Then when the crops are sown or planted the next spring, the potash and phosphoric acid will be in condition to do only good work. If a crop of clover of any kind is on the ground, they will gradually reach the roots as they permeate the soil and stimulate them to greater action than would be possible without them. They will gather more nitrogen, and this with the other manures will together be in condition to be taken up by the following crop. It takes time to digest and prepare it for use. If you cannot have all the winter and early spring to prepare them have all that is possible. We do not feed a horse and have the strength from the self same food ready for use the same hour. And so with the food in the soil except nitrogen, which it almost immediately available. Nitrogen in the soil is like a whip to the horse it acts almost at once or is gone by evaporation as ammonia.

Furthermore, do not waste money on freight, sacking and handling of a lot of useless materials. Buy concentrated manures such as dissolved bone or acid phosphate and muriate of potash. Mix them to suit your needs, unless you can get some reliable merchant who has machinery to do it for you at reasonable rates. And do not be afraid to apply them liberally. It does not pay to half-feed the soil, any more than it does to half-feed fattening stock. This half-feeding often leads to discouragement and disbelief in mineral fertilizers.

A little will do some good, but it takes about 300 pounds of dissolved bone, and the same amount of potash or twice that amount of phosphate rock to give a crop of almost any kind a good annual meal. Full feeding means net profits, while half-feeding only keeps things running at cost or a little below it.—H. E. Van Deman in Country Gentleman.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

JANUARY 10th, 1898.

Mr. McKinley, by working overtime and by using a shovel on the pie, managed to send more nominations to the senate since Congress re-assembled than have before gone in any single week since he took charge of the pie counter, but it has not lessened the pressure on him for pie even a little bit. For every hungry mouth he has filled there are a thousand asking to be filled.

There is a suspicion that Mr. McKinley, instead of being opposed to the warm fight that is being made in the house for a modification of the civil service law, is really in favor of it. Lacking the backbone to use his authority to modify the rules under the present law, he will do nothing. But if congress adopts any legislation he will allow it to become a law, probably without his signature. The ground for this suspicion is ample. Many of Mr. McKinley's warm friends are engaged in this fight, and every member of his cabinet has gone on record as favoring some modification. The bill now before the house civil service committee limits the law to those positions paying from $900 to $1300 a year.

The senate has taken up the Hawaiian annexation treaty and, if its supporters have their way, will consider it daily until a vote is reached.

Senator Butler of North Carolina, has offered a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment that would revolutionize the U. S. judges, including those of the supreme court, shall be elected by the people, for terms of eight years, and provides for a division of the country into circuits for their election. Speaking of his resolution, Senator Butler says: "There was a time when all the states, thought it incumbent upon them to appoint their judges for life. Now the life tenure of a judge in a state is the exception. I believe in placing the power over the judiciary in the hands of the people. If the system of stated terms is good in the states it ought to be equally good for the Federal government."

Many democrats in congress favor beginning the congressional campaign of next fall at once, on the floors of congress, and keeping up a red hot, aggressive fight upon the republicans from start to finish. Among them is Representative De Armond, of Missouri, who said on the subject: "We ought to be aggressive. We went to force the fighting. We ought to lose no time in exposing the hypocrisy and cowardice of our political opponents. We can lose nothing by being aggressive. Those who followed the standard of democracy and Bryan in the last campaign are as enthusiastic and as earnest as ever, and we are here in congress representing that sentiment ought not to lag."

Senator Chilton, of Texas, says of the civil service hubbub in republican ranks: "In my opinion, if Mr. Bryan had been elected instead of Mr. McKinley, the fly specks which republican orators in congress now imagine to be blood spots on the civil service system would have escaped their attention altogether. Their sudden realization that the idea of civil service reform has been carried too far is due solely to their purpose to get republicans into places now filled by equally capable democrats, and no democratic senator and representative should give them aid or comfort in their designs."

Czar Reed is the one republican in congress who has never buckled down to Boss Hanna. On the contrary, he not long ago made Hanna eat a big chunk of humble pie. It all came about in connection with the appointment of a light house keeper in Mr. Reed's district, a place Mr. Reed had asked for one of his constituents. Instead of the appointment Mr. Reed got a letter from the headquarters of the republican national committee, signed M. A. Hanna. That made him mad. He isn't a profane man, but his demand for an explanation from the Treasury Department as to what M. A. Hanna had to do with appointments in his district was as "hot stuff" as anybody on Secretary Gage's staff cared to hear about. An apology quickly followed, as did the appointment of Reed's man. But that didn't mollify the Czar. He went after Boss Hanna and made him apologize also.

Senator Teller made a manly and able speech in reply to the numerous newspaper stories alleging that some of the silver men in congress have no proper conception of the financial question, and are trying to force it to the front merely to make a breach between Mr. McKinley and his secretary of the treasury. He said that it was ridiculous to suppose that Mr. Gage would remain in the cabinet an hour if he and the President were not in financial accord; also that the republican party was today fully committed to the gold standard. Every eye in the senate was upon Mr. Teller when he uttered these ringing words: "I attack the republican party because it is the party of the gold standard. I hope to see it go down in 1900, and I pledge you that I will do everything in my power to drag it down. Its policy is not such as it demanded by a great and free people. I have no quarrel with the President, but he stands for the gold standard, a policy which in my opinion will impoverish and wreck our people."

The profit from a farm may be larger than supposed if the family is credited with all that is received. Profit is not altogether that which is sold from the farm, for the farm itself is to a certain extent a market for the products grown thereon. Every article consumed by the farmer is equivalent in value to the sum that would be received for it if sold, and a strict keeping of accounts, in which the farm is credited with everything taken therefrom, may show a fair profit. If a farmer supports his family, and also has something left, he is more fortunate than many.—Ez.

WE CURE STRICTURE
Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with this disease—many unconsciously. They may have a smarting sensation, small, twisting stream, sharp cutting pains at times, slight discharge, difficulty in commencing, weak organs, emissions, and all the symptoms of nervous debility—they have STRICTURE. Don't let doctors experiment on you, by cutting, stretching, or tearing you. This will not cure you, as it will return. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT absorbs the stricture tissue; hence removes the stricture permanently. It can never return. No pain, no suffering, no detention from business by our method. The sexual organs are strengthened. The nerves are invigorated, and the bliss of manhood returns.

WE CURE GLEET
Thousands of young and middle-aged men are having their sexual vigor and vitality continually sapped by this disease. They are frequently unconscious of the cause of these symptoms. General Weakness, Unnatural Discharges, Failing Manhood, Nervousness, Poor Memory, Irritability, at times smarting sensation, Sunken Eyes, with dark circles, Weak Back, General Depression, Lack of Ambition, Varicocele, Shrunken Testes, etc. GLEET and STRICTURE may be the cause. Don't consult family doctors, as they have no experience in these special diseases—don't allow Quacks to experiment on you. Consult Specialists, who have made a life study of Diseases of Men and Women. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will positively cure you. One thousand dollars for a case we accept for treatment and cannot cure. Terms moderate for a cure.

The Cheboygan Tribune says that parties who have been working on the extension of the D. & M. railroad were in that city last week, and said that it had been decided to push the road on to Cheboygan, and that many of the laborers who had been discharged had been re-engaged, and the contractors were looking for more men.

There is a large amount of rotten work being perpetrated on the taxpayers of Iosco county, in various places, which will receive an airing before many months that will make some people hustle to get out of the wet. Laws are being willfully violated and officers neglect or refuse to perform their duties, even when requested to do so by responsible citizens. This is a state of affairs that will not be tolerated much longer and steps are now being talked of to stop it.

About 1 o'clock last Saturday afternoon, the residence of Lafayette Colby, of Tawas township, was destroyed by fire together with nearly all its contents. It is supposed to have started from a defective flue, and when discovered had gained such headway that but a small portion of the furniture on the lower floor could be recovered. Mr. Colby loses besides his household goods, 250 bushels of potatoes and winter provision. He is the township treasurer, but fortunately the books and money of that office were saved. The loss will not be far from $700 and comes very heavy on Mr. Colby as he is in poor health.

A pretty state of affairs have been developed in the township of AuSable during the past week. It was discovered last week that supervisor A. F. Dugeon had failed to spread on his tax roll both county and state taxes, thus defrauding the county and state of their portion of the taxes. The entire proceedings look at this time like a deep laid plot on the part of certain parties to escape the payment of taxes. The board of supervisors are investigating the matter and will see what steps can be taken, and for that reason we will hold further comment until next week. Supervisor Dugeon has left the county and is supposed to be in Nevada. His assessment roll is also missing.

Through the kindness of the Agricultural College we are in receipt of a handsome calendar of the College, which we would like to have our readers call and examine. The authorities of the College state that it was never before in so prosperous a condition. There entered, this fall, 226 new students in the regular courses, this being by all odds the largest class in the institution. There are also about 75 special course students; making a total enrollment this year of nearly 500. The street car line from Lansing has been extended into the grounds, so that it is very easy for the students to board in town and attend the College. We advise young people who are thinking of going away to school to send to Pres. J. L. Snyder, Agricultural College, Michigan, for a catalog.

The following, clipped from an exchange, contains enough good advice to warrant its publication: "There is always a story in circulation about someone. There is always a confidential lie being whispered through some citizen, and every one is admonished not to say anything about it, and finally everybody knows it but the person in question. If you have a friend that is being the target for town gossip it is your duty to tell him about it. If you keep it still and allow your friend's reputation to be stained and tampled under foot without some chance to defend himself, you are doing him a grave injustice. We don't believe in hatching up trouble for any one, but we hate to see a man convicted of a crime in the mind of the public without some chance to explain the matter. It would be a good thing if lies were left printed on the atmosphere in which they were told and the liar's picture attached to them for if they were there wouldn't be so many told, but the atmosphere would be full of words and pictures. And what a beautiful collection it would be."

A prominent republican was heard to remark, one day this week: "There seems to be considerable discussion as to whom the republicans of this district will nominate for congress next fall. What's the matter with Geo. A. Prescott? They cannot find a better man in the party, nor one who can get more votes."

"Why can the city not have an electric light plant at a very small cost?" is a question asked by a prominent business man a few days ago. Continuing he says: "There is in our city a man who has put in two current water wheels, who says he will guarantee, with a two foot head, to furnish 35-horse power, which is sufficient to run an electric light plant. With this saving in machinery and cost of running same, a plant will almost pay for itself in two years."
