CLASS OF '98.

The Commencement Exercises of Our Schools were held Wednesday Evening.

The annual commencement exercises of our public schools were held at the high school room last Wednesday evening, and were attended by a large congregation. The school room was handsomely decorated with the class colors—red, white and blue—and many beautiful plants and flowers. The program consisted of a number of excellent musical selections, essays and addresses by the members of the class and the junior class and an address by Hon. Perry F. Powers, of Cadillac, a member of the state board of education.

The essays were all rendered in an excellent manner and showed the effects of careful study and preparation on the part of the students. The graduates and titles of their papers were as follows:

Miss Ida Redhead had for the topic of her essay, "Life is What We Make It." Theodore Gaul took as his subject that present popular expression, "Remember the Maine," and Miss Barbara J. McRae took as a title for her valedictory, "The Close of a Century." Each member of the class were the recipient of many exquisitely arranged bouquets.

Hon. Perry F. Powers, member of the state board of education, gave a very able address, taking for a text, "The Home and the School." Mr. Powers held the large audience at close attention and gave them many thoughts that, if once instilled in the minds of the rising generation will be felt for the good of the land in future years. The address was much enjoyed by all.

Thus another school year closes.

Death Claims Him.

Albert Ash died at the home of his mother in East Tawas, at 2.30 o'clock last Tuesday morning, after a illness of nearly two years. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock this forenoon.

John Albert Ash was born at Port Huron about 27 years ago, and came to East Tawas with his parents when one year old, and has been a resident of that city since. He was universally respected by all who knew him, and by strict attention to business had become known as one of the most reliable young men of the city. Until his failing health required him to give up he has been manager of Holland Hotel, and was very popular with the traveling public. He leaves a mother, one brother and one sister, besides a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn his most untimely death, cut down as he is in the prime of young manhood.

OUR COUNTY SCHOOLS

At the exhibit held in connection with the recent meeting of the Iosco County Teachers' Association, eight schools had exhibits. Tawas City won eight first and eight second prizes; Whittemore, four first and three seconds; Townline, Dist. No. 3, two firsts and two seconds; Tawas, Dist. No. 5, one first and one second; Townline, Dist. No. 2, one first; Hemlock Road, Dist. No. 9, and Plainfield, Dist. 5, one second each.

The following is from the language work in the Wilber school, Miss Maggie Murphy, teacher.

THE PLAINS.

Surrounding the greater part of Wilber there is a vast portion of land called plains. They are covered with long ranges of hills and the land is quite barren. About the only products that can be raised on the plains are potatoes, buckwheat, apples, pumpkins and watermelons. The land is unusually covered with all kinds of flowers such, as may flowers, blue flags, tiger lilies, wild pinks, butter cups, and many other kinds. But one of the most curious is known as the pitcher plant. It may be seen with tall flower stalks, and dark brownish flowers rising erect from the soft moss which always grows around it and surrounded by clusters of pitcher shaped leaves. They all colors from a dark brown to a light green and the pitcher is always full of water. Around the mouth of the pitcher is lined with sharp hairs so when insects crawl in they can't get out. They plains are usually covered with trees, such as jack pines, shrub oak and norway. There are also a great many different kinds of berries, huckle berries, winter green berries, and cherries and choke cherries. There are some pretty little lakes and creeks on the plains. Two years ago my Aunt's family and all of our family went up to grandmother's across the plains. It was very warm but we had a nice time. We started about three o'clock in the morning and got there about five o'clock in the afternoon. We ate our dinner in a pretty grove of trees the other side of the Tompson Farm, and while the horses ate their dinner we picked flowers. When we got to flat rock about ten miles from McKinley we could see the AuSable river and the smoke from the engines. I counted sixty hills going and it is probable that there was as many more I did not count.

The expose of fraternity life and the drinking habits of the students at Ann Arbor as given in the New York Voice of the 9th inst, is very unsavory indeed.—Michigan Christian Advocate.

The beer business still flourishes. In Cleveland, Ohio., one day last week, deeds covering nine brewery plants were transferred to one trust. The brewery is a bulwark of intemperance, the creator of the saloon, the trainer of men and women toward drunkenness.

The W. C. T. U. at its recent state convention adopted the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, As a non-sectarian organization, we declare our unflinching purpose to take no steps which will have a tendency to loosen one of the bulwarks of American institutions—the civil Sabbath. Therefore,

RESOLVED, That we stand unalterably opposed to any movement, by any organization, that tends to the abolition of civil Sabbath laws; and further,

RESOLVED, That we will make greater effort to discourage Sunday excursions, games, open business houses, theaters, the Sunday newspaper, and everything that tends to Sabbath desecration.

That is a touching sentence that opens Miss Willard's will, dated Nov. 15, 1895: "This is my last will and testament, after fifty-six years of my Heavenly Father's discipline and blessing to prepare me for better work hereafter (as I believe) in wonderful worlds unknown."

In St. Louis, 1,505 young men visited a single pool room within four hours, a few months ago, and during the same time 750 young men were seen to enter and leave an Olive street saloon. Chief of police Harrigan says that 10,135 young men between the ages of 20 and 30 years were arrested in twelve months.

A PATRIOTIC but uninformed Cuban, says Gen. Shafter, should have taken no siege guns with him, because there "are no bridges over the creeks and rivers near Santiago." How he will wonder at the pontoon bridges our men will build over which an army of artillery can march! He has no conception of that Yankee engineering and Yankee enterprise which during our civil war carried with every army complete duplicates of all the parts of every bridge in front, and rebuilt such structures in less time than it had taken to destroy them.—N. Y. World.

The resolution tendering the thanks of congress to Lieut. Hobson and the volunteer crew of the Merrimac, and authorizing the President to advance Hobson to the rank of lieutenant commander, offered in the senate by Senator Morgan and in the house by Representative Underwood, will be promptly adopted by congress. There has been a hitch in the exchange of Hobson and his men, but officials are confident that the exchange will shortly be accomplished, as it has been officially stated at Madrid that the Spanish government had authorized Gen. Blanco to make the exchange.

THE Detroit Tribune of June 4th, contained a very interesting article from the annual report of Circuit Court Commissioner Hurst, of that city, relating to the foreclosure of mortgages in chancery. The report shows that in 143 sales where the mortgages amounted to $715,453 the property was not sold for enough to cover the face of the mortgages which originally intended to be only a third of the cash value of the property. This shows how the value of property has depreciated under the gold standard, and it also indicates how mortgages are being "cleared up" under a depreciated currency.

THE manner in which the people are being plucked and plundered under cover of war emergencies, is indicated by the fact that the Merrimac, the old tub which proved to be absolutely worthless and was finally used to block the harbor of Santiago, cost the Government $350,000, only about six weeks ago. She was certainly bought for more than ten times her actual value and it is doubtful if she could have been sold to a private individual for one-twentieth of what was paid out from the public treasury. It is absurd to suppose that such purchases are due to ignorance on the part of government agents. It is plain that they are paying fictitious prices in order to share in the swag.—Pestosey Democrat.

NOTHING better shows increase of business than railroad earnings. The year 1896, when everything was depressed, when the crops were light, when the political campaign for six months disturbed business, has been continually pointed to as one of "business depression." Yet the year 1887 showed less receipts for both the Michigan Central and the Lake Shore, than did 1896. By reducing expenses, the Lake Shore had a net gain of a few thousand dollars. This, after all the howling of the prosperity shouters, about the awful prostration of 1896, is the best answer to the claims that business has been so very much better, even if the big crop of grain furnished more freight for railroads during the year 1897.—Adrian Press.

Although Secretary Alger has positively denied the story that owing to quarrels between himself and Gen.

Miles, who is now in Washington, the latter had been virtually deposed from the command of the army, the talk of friction between them continues, and even goes so far as to say that Mr. McKinley intends directing the movements of the army himself. The change of plan by which Gen. Miles is to go to Porto Rico in command of the invading army now being prepared for that expedition is said to have been caused by this disagreement, and to have been the proposition of Gen. Miles himself, who preferred being responsible for one army over which he would have absolute control to being held responsible for the movements of all our troops and being hampered by civilian control. It is announced that the invasion of Porto Rico is to take place before the Spanish fleet alleged to have sailed from Cadiz can get to Porto Rico. If the reported starting of this Spanish fleet results in hurrying up things a little, it will be an almighty good thing. Similar reports in the past have resulted in hanging up things.—Washington Correspondent.

blossom, but when the blossoms have fallen, spray again, choosing rather a cool day, if possible. If any of the leaves turn brown and die after spraying, it means that the spray was too strong. In such cases, add more water to the mixture next time. A second way of treating this insect is by spreading a large, white cloth, tacked on a light frame, under the tree at morning or evening and jarring the tree suddenly. The insects at these times do not fly readily, but drop into the cloth and can be killed. This will dispose of many and it should be done about the same time in the spring as the spraying. A third way to handle the curculio is by picking up and burning the fallen plums every day, beginning about a week after spraying for the last time. This will catch the young grubs in the plums which the other methods missed and will reduce the number of insects the following year. These methods have all been tried, and work well, the frequent result being that instead of saving one plum of every twenty-five that form, about twenty are saved.—The Prairie Farmer

REV. G. H. MACLACHLAN.

Rev. G. H. MacLachlan, of Watford, Ont. will begin a series of gospel meetings at the M. E. church, of this city, Sunday, June 26, both morning and evening. Rev. Mr. MacLachlan is a noted singer as well as evangelist. He had charge of the music at the Bay View Camp Meeting for three successive years, and no one should miss this opportunity to hear him. Everybody urged to come.

The Plum Curculio.

This insect is a serious pest to persons raising plums, as it often destroys half the crop. It must be treated in a different way from the apple worm, as its habits are different. It is responsible, says Germantown Telegraph, for the loss of many thousands of dollars each year to the fruit-growers of the state. The curculio is a little beetle, less than half an inch long. It passes the winter in any protected place it can find, and comes out in the spring about the time the leaves first appear. At this time it is a little beetle rather less than a quarter of an inch long, and with a snout on its head. It feeds on the leaves of the plum and also on apple, pear, peach and cherry. When the plums are set the insect cuts a little curved slit in the plum, and close to it, in a little hole, lays an egg. This egg soon hatches into a little grub, which eats into and around the stone. When the grub is full growth (after about three weeks) it leaves the plum, which has usually fallen off by this time, goes into the ground, where it remains quite for a time, then comes out as the full grown insect again, to go into hiding until the following spring. Thus, there is only one brood a year. It is not possible to reach and kill the grub, as it is inside the fruit, but, fortunately, there are other times in the life of the insect when it can be attacked with success. The first of these is before the eggs are laid, when the insect is eating the young leaves. Before the flower buds open, therefore, spray the trees with London Purple. To make this, mix a pound of the London Purple with a pound of fresh lime and add water at the rate of one pound of the Purple to 150 gallons of water. Add enough of this water first, to slake the lime, afterward the rest. If peach trees are sprayed, 250 gallons of water should be used. Do not spray while the trees are in

Cut out the Rye.

During the past two or three years there has been considerable trouble in this state caused by rye getting mixed in the wheat. A large quantity of wheat that would otherwise be of fine quality is utterly ruined for milling purposes by the rye that is mixed through the grain, and many a dollar is lost to the farmers that might easily and readily be saved by the exercise of a little care during the next thirty days to cut the clusters of rye out of the wheat fields.

Michigan millers require the best grade of perfectly clean wheat in order to produce flour of as fine a quality as they have been making the past ten years or more. Michigan first grade flours are justly celebrated in the most discriminating markets both at home and in foreign countries. This reputation cannot be maintained except by the use of first-class grain. Wheat mixed with rye brings only a low price in any market. It is a well known fact that the growing of rye deteriorates the quality of wheat creating a mongrel or hybrid variety. If we desire to improve the grades and varieties of our wheat we must keep it absolutely pure and free from rye. Farmers cannot spend a little time to better advantage than to go through the wheatfield in the early part of June and cut the rye out clean.

From Chickamauga.

Chickamauga Park, Ga., June 2, 1898. The following letter was received by John Demsey, of Grant, a few days ago, from Theodore Allen, son of Wm. Allen, of that township, who is a member of Co. H., 2d Wis. Vols., now camped at Chickamauga Park:

Dear Friend:—As I do not have to go out on drill today I will answer your letter, which I received yesterday. I wrote Father yesterday and told him I would write you tomorrow, but as I have time I will do it now. I was on guard for 26 hours and just got off today noon. Have this put in the Tawas Herald so that my friends can know just what we have to go through. If I ever get back to Tawas you can bet I won't leave it again. I have got the best mark in the army yet. I have not drunk a drop, missed a roll call, or been in the guard house, and what is more, I do not intend to.

Tell Mrs. D. not to worry about me, as they can't kill an Irishman, although I thought the "jig was up" with me last Monday when I had the cramps so bad that the doctor had to inject morphine into my arm three times to keep me quiet. My feet and head had a meeting.

Our camp is about as much out of the world as any spot in the U. S. could be. We cannot buy meat or potatoes at any price and milk is as scarce as diamonds. Our government rations are as poor and as cheap as any county would furnish tramps or prisoners. Our meals are as follows: Breakfast, hard tack, bacon, coffee; dinner, bacon, coffee, hard tack, coffee; supper, coffee, hard tack, bacon. Yesterday we had review and inspection, and stood in the open field for an hour and a half, the sun burning us at a 97 in the shade clipp. Twice a week we march up Lookout Mountain, eighteen miles, and back the next day. We sleep out all night with nothing but a rubber blanket to cover us. When in camp we have a tent, which is all the difference, as we have no straw and have to sleep on the ground. Our regiment receive much praise on every hand. On our arrival here the Chickamauga Times said, "The 2d Wis. Reg't are the best looking and best behaved soldiers who were ever in our city. They behave and look like regulars." While on review we receive more praise and presented a better appearance than any regiment in the brigade.

Government Seed Testing.

The act of congress making appropriations for the department of Agriculture for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1899, under the heading "Botanical Investigations and Experiments. Division of Botany," contains the following clause:

The Secretary of Agriculture is hereby authorized to purchase samples of seed in open market, test same and when found not up to standard here may, at his discretion, publish the results of these tests, together with the names of the seedsmen by whom the seeds were sold.

The purchase of seeds for the tests authorized under this act will begin July 1, 1898. It will be the aim of the department of Agriculture in carrying out this law to put a stop to the sale of seed so poor as to make probable a positive injury and loss to the purchaser, thus giving protection on the one hand to the farmer and gardener and on the other hand to the honorable seedsman and seed dealer.

Further information, including a table of the standards of purity and germination and a list of the most injurious seeds likely to occur in commercial seed, may be obtained from the department upon application.
