Two Ordinances Introduced in the City Council.

At the adjourned meeting of the common council held Thursday evening of last week, two ordinances were introduced and passed to the first reading. One relative to the riding of bicycles on the side walk and the other for the adoption of what is known as the dry earth vault system. Both have caused considerable discussion. As to the bicycle ordinance, it is to be regretted that the acts of a few reckless riders require the enactment of such a measure. The majority of the bicycle riders have judgement enough to ride on the sidewalks without threatening the safety of pedestrians, but there are a few would-be "scorchers" who should be taught a lesson, and the "road-hog"—whether bicyclist or pedestrain—should be thrown in the bay.

As to the ordinance, requiring the adoption of the "dry earth vault system" there is an opportunity for honest discussion. There can be no doubt as to the system being one of the best sanitary systems known. As to the practicability of its forced adoption in this city there is much question. In the first place, it is our opinion, that should the city go to the expense of passing the ordinance that is would not be successfully enforced. We base this opinion on the fact that there are now several ordinances which are practically "dead letters." In the second place we believe its adoption and enforcement would be forcing an expense on many of our citizens which they can ill afford. It would require the appointment of a public scavenger and other expense to the city which are impracticable considering the financial condition of our city funds. We do not wish to oppose anything that is for the best interests of our city, but under the present conditions we do not see the benefit of the adoptions of ordinances which will be expensive and of no practical use. The columns of the HERALD are open to a discussion of this question, and the tax-payers of the city are invited to use them in any reasonable manner.

ALABASTER.

Miss Lizzie Hill of Detroit is visiting Mrs. B. F. Slingerland.

Miss Maggie Barron left Saturday for Detroit where she will remain indefinitely.

Miss Rosa Hohisel who has been spending a few weeks with relatives here returned to her home in Saginaw the first of the week. Miss Lena Poppan accompanied her and will make a visit with relatives and friends there.

The steam barge M. T. Green loaded plaster here Wednesday.

N. C. Niblack was quite ill the first of the week.

Adelaide, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Fraser, was quite ill the first of the week.

Mr. Alex Barron is again able to be about after a long and severe illness.

IDLEWILD.

The Chief Burgess of Milesburg, Pa., says DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills he ever used in his family during forty years of house keeping. They cure constipation, sick headache and stomach and liver troubles. Small in size but great in results. Dr. G. S. Darling.

OUR COUNTY SCHOOLS

School begins Tuesday Monday being Labor Day.

Voters, forget the Maine and remember free text books.

Bertha Pringle goes to the upper Wilber school, vice Miss Hyslop, resigned.

Miss Ada Egerton, of Twining, took the examination here. She is with the AuGres schools.

Miss Sarah Western, formerly of the East Tawas schools, and latter of the State Normal, will be principal at AuSable this year.

W. A. Morse, former Supt. at AuSable, is teacher of mathematics in the Detroit High School. Miss Blanche Barney, who was his assistant in AuSable, is in the same school.

The annual list of qualified teachers is out. If the teacher's name is not in this list, the teacher is not qualified to teach, and the district that has an unqualified teacher will lose the primary money. A copy can be obtained from the Commr. by dropping him a card.

The Comm'r will leave the first of next week for a short business trip through the southern part of the state. He will begin the visitation of schools after they have been running a month thus giving the teachers a chance to get their schools in shape. Any mail for him sent to Tawas City will receive prompt attention.

The following teachers received certificates at the last examination: Third Grade.—Annie Tait, Delisa LaBerge, Allie Brennan, Wm. Kehoe, Harriet Adams, Sue Benton, Nellie Howell, Lila Sandall, Theo. Gaul.

Second Grade.—Ada Egerton, Teresa Shaver, Celia Martin, Vic. Nesbitt, Winnie Mack, Maona Mason.

First Grade.—May Ash. Supt. W. M. Gregory, of East Tawas schools, arrived on Tuesday night.

The Institute closed yesterday. Attendance ran up to forty-eight, and the interest shown was good. The trial of the two week institute has been a success in some ways, and in some ways it has not been a success. Teachers in some cases do not seem to see the value of the institute, and do not turn out in force enough, and do not make their attendance regular enough to get the best results. The teachers have been pleased with the work of the instructors, and feel repaid for all it has cost them.

Mr. C. H. Horn, of the Traverse City Schools, delivered a lecture in the East Tawas M. E. church last Wednesday evening, of a character and depth that probably has never been reached in our towns before. Mr. Horn spoke for an hour on "Beauty and Sublimity," and there was both in his lecture. Mr. Horn is so young an appearing man that his audience was taken by surprise. It is a certain thing that nothing of so much scholarly value has ever been given before the Teachers' Association. It takes a deep insight into the beauties of life and literature to get as much out of them as he did, and to many the words of the Psalmist took on meanings never before known, as they fell from Mr. Horn's lips. He seemed to be able to transform the common place into the beautiful at once. It was probably because he could see the beautiful where his listeners could not. Every one of his hearers were delighted.

Democratic Representative Convention.

The Democratic electors of the Iosco Representative District, by their duly elected delegates will convene at the Court House in the city of Tawas City, Iosco county, Mich., on Tuesday, Sept. 13, 1898, at 10 a. m. sharp, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for representative in the State Legislature; the appointment of a representative committee and the transaction of such other business as may come before them.

The several counties will be entitled to delegates as follows: Iosco, 12; Alcona, 4; Rosconmou, 2; Ogemaw, 6.

By order Representative Committee.

JAMES LA BERGE, Chairman,
East Tawas.

It would naturally seem that the Dingley tariff bill, with the aid of the war revenue bill had ought to raise wheat above 65 cents per bushel. Perhaps some of our republican friends can explain why it does not.

THE other day, in conversation with Senator Bacon, President McKinley gave expression to this generous sentiment: "This has been a war of no party and no section. One thing is certain, the south has been in it up to its eyes."—Bay City Tribune. And yet the long eared editor of the Gazette insists that the g. o. p. are entitled to all the credit.

In his speech of acceptance of the congressional nomination Judge R. J. Kelly stated plainly and emphatically that he was a supporter of the Chicago platform. He said: "If you ask how long I will be a democrat, I will answer, just so long as the democratic party advocates the principal adopted by its National convention at Chicago in 1896," or words to that effect. What the Bay City Tribune means when it says, "He did not commit himself to any of the tenets of the true democratic faith," is beyond the understanding of anyone who heard Judge Kelly's speech of acceptance. This assertion of the Tribune is about as near as its editorial columns usually comes to facts.

The Gazette editor showed his patriotism and love for the soldier boys last week by publishing contemptible slur on Herbert E. Dove a member of Co. B., of Alpena, and a young man who has many friends in the Tawas. Those who saw Herb as he passed through here Wednesday on his way home can imagine some of the hardships which our boys in the army have had to suffer. When Co. B left on April 26, last, no finer specimen of young manhood than Herbert E. Dove marched in their ranks. On his return, after a little over four months service, few would recognize him as the same active, healthy soldier. The burning sun in fever stricken Cuba, together with the lack of proper food and medical attendance have wrought sad changes in his appearance. And he is but one of the thousands.

Advice to Milkers.

One reason why it has become almost a world-practice for the women to milk, is that they treat the cows with uniform kindness. There is "good morals" as well as good sense in this plain talk to milkers.

Never begin to milk a cow unless you are in good humor. A cow is a very delicate piece of machinery at all times, but more so at milking time, for then there is some process going on in her internal machinery that we know very little about. But what little we do know shows most conclusively that the amount of cream or fat in the milk is a variable quantity, and may be affected by the cow herself. It is not meant that the cow at will may give milk with four or five per cent of fat in it, but the process of giving milk is in some way connected with the cow's nervous system, and anything that acts upon the amount of fat that she puts in the milk.

It is hard to realize, when the cow is struck or sworn at, that such action on our part means so much less butter at the next churning, but such is undoubtedly the case. Making money in the dairy is not as easy as rolling off the proverbial log, and it is only by attention to such little things as this that we can get all there is in the dairy business out of it—which is, or ought to be what we are here for.—Ec.

Live Stock Improvement.

The hard times and low prices of sheep and cattle of a few years since, proved potent factors in the securing of a united effort toward improving herds and flocks. When it was hard to make ends meet in these pursuits, says Live Stock Review, owners sought to make their stock profitable by breeding the best, in order that they might get top prices. top prices having always been remunerative. When wool was lowest it was sought to make up for the loss in price by the increase in pounds and the same has been the case in the production of beef and mutton. During the past ten years there has been a marked improvement along this line, and as the years advance herds and flocks will steadily decrease in size and improve in quality. We are aware that the idea is prevalent among many people that if no attempts to do any thing with cattle he must have two or three hundred head, but this is a mistake. A nice profit can be made from forty head of cattle, or even less. The farmer, for instance, with a dozen milk cows, who can fatten five or six beef steers every winter, will find that it will pay and the time is coming when, instead of a man standing aloof from sheep because he cannot own two or three or a dozen flocks, and land in princely possession, owners of single flocks of not more than 2,000 head will multiply rapidly. There are hundreds of places where this number of sheep may be summered on the high mountains, and dozens of small ranchmen produce enough feed on 360 acres of land to winter such a flock. It is true that in the days of small herds and flocks which must come sooner or later, it will be different from the small owners of ten years ago. Then all sought to keep their increase and become large owners. The man with a few milk cows husbanded his herd until it became large, and the small owner of sheep so manipulated things as to keep his increase and soon owned a number. Other men will follow the industry of raising cattle and sheep and will dispose of their increase every year. They will, in fact, be so situated that they will not have the facilities for caring for increased numbers, one will therefore be content with just what they can care for. But even then, the pursuit will pay and their bank accounts will grow even more rapidly in proportion than when all their profit went into their increase. Just now, of course, there is strong tendency towards large flocks and herds, but this will be of short duration and in the new order of things, of small flocks and herds. We may look for better breeding and far better results since stock handled in a small way can have better attention than can be given when one has vast possessions to see after and more profit will accrue to the country.

Sick headache, biliousness, constipation and all liver and stomach troubles can be quickly cured by using those famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They are pleasant to take and never gripe. Dr. G. S. Darling.

The ladies of the W. R. C. will give an ice cream social at the millinery parlors of Mr. Swayzie, East Tawas, Saturday evening. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the volunteer soldiers. The public are cordially invited.

The annual fair is but four weeks distance. Are you preparing to attend and take something to aid in its success? The officers are making a special effort this year to have a successful exhibition and they should receive the support of all citizens of the county.

A Harvest Home supper and entertainment will be given at the Town line M. E. church, Friday evening Sept. 9. Supper will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock, followed by an excellent program of music and addresses. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Sheriff P. E. Shien was called to Pontiac last Saturday by a telegram announcing the death of his mother. He returned Tuesday and on Wednesday received word that his father was dead. Mr. Shien's parents were undoubtedly the oldest couple in Michigan, his father being 101 and his mother 97 years of age. They have been residents of Oakland county for many years.

Editing a newspaper is pretty good fun—sometimes. If a fellow goes down to look around for a few stray news items, someone is always sure to salute him with, "Hello! is loafing all you've got to do?" Or, if we are sitting in the office trying to read proof or get some ideas of news out of our exchanges, somebody comes in and ventures the remark, "I'd like to be an editor and have nothing to do but sit and read papers." Oh, it's easy to wrestle one's brain around his think tank to write up a lot of news when there isn't any, and the "devil" yelling in his ear. No wonder the editor grows bald-headed and absent minded and sometimes cranky.—Ex.

It is not necessary for us to use any space to defend our reputation against the attacks of the jackass quill-pusher of the Gazette. His dyspeptic disposition is so well known that his squeal is entirely harmless. We beg leave to inform the aforesaid however, that he is mistaken when he says we complain of his "criticism" He hasn't brains enough to criticize anything, and when he talks of "ridicule" it will be necessary for him to lable it that people will know what it is. What few readers he has have grown use to reading a column or so each month telling them what a "pink of perfection" the Gazette editor is. In his own estimation he is the only moral example to be found. It is a good thing he has a good opinion of himself as no one else has. Our advice to this long-eared gent is to carry out his threat of last week, devote no more attention to us. We never had any desire to waste space on things of so little importance and for that reason have let the majority of his "redicule" (?) go without notice.
