D. &. M. Employe Probably Fatally Injured Saturday Night.

William Noble, an employe of the D. & M. Railroad company, met with a horrible accident in the F. & P. M. yards about 8 o'clock Saturday night. He was standing on the end of a box car near the Wadsworth street crossing and as a number of cars were backed toward it, lost his balance and fell upon the rails, the wheels passing over both legs. which were frightfully crushed. He was put upon an engine and taken to the Saginaw General hospital. Drs. Wilson, Sample and Watkins amputated the right leg just above the knee, and the left leg half way between the knee and thigh. Before being placed under the influence of anaesthetics, though in a very weak condition, the injured man asked for his wife. He was unable to tell how the accident happened. His home is at Linwood, where he has a wife and young child, -Saginaw News.

Mr. Noble was formerly a resident of this city, and for a number of years a member of the firm of Shaver & Noble. in the mest business. The many friends of Mr, and Mrs. Noble sympathize with them in their great misfortune.

It was reported vesterday that Mr. Noble had died from the shock but we have as yet failed to learn whether the report is true or not,

Value of Good Roads.

Good roads leading to any town or city are one of the best trade drawers that is known. No tax is as great as one of bad roads and the worse the road the heavier the tax. Improved roads bring better prices for farms and farm products. Double roads cheapen transportation. But there are other benefits to be derived from shape of an engraved card, the work good roads. There is comfortable room on either side of any of our regular street cars for ten people. Five women will spread themselves out over that entire space, and if another woman enters the car, no matter if she is feeble and aged, not a single one of the five women spreading themselves over so much space will make room for her unless the conductor requires her to do so. If there should happen to be a lady in the car she would, of course, make room for the aged, the infirm, or for one of her own sex. For my part I have never yet seen a woman in any street car in Washington make room for another of her own sex, or recognize the presence of a man hanging to a strap, even where there was plenty of room for all. Moreover, when I was first a reporter in Washington I used to give up my seat whenever a woman entered the door, but I found that none of them were ladylike enough to offer me even a bow or a smile, much less a 'thank you,' so I have ceased giving my seat to women in street cars.

"I entered the rotunda of the capitol this morning, after walking up the grand marble staircase on the east front. To my right, as I came up the stair, I noted the figure of Daniel Boone and the Indian in mortal combat, and the entire group was so covever with dust and begrimed that it was simply disgraceful. To my left was the figure of Columbus, holding aloft a globe in his right hand, and the figure was so disgracefully dirty that it almost made me blush for my country. As I stepped upon the sandstone platform at the head of the stairs I noted the figure of Mars to my right hand, and a similar statue of Minerva to my left, both of them so extremely dirty and filthy that I almost felt like calling for the hose and a scrubbing brush in order to ameliorate the disgraceful

"As I passed through the costly bronze door into the rotunda, my blood boiling with rage at the carelessness which produced this shameful result, I noticed upon my right hand and upon my left hand, and at convenient intervals all around the spacious rotunda, small square wooden boxes filled with by some good descriptive writer, it sawdust for the benefit of tobacco would surprise the American people to chewers. These filthy receptacles have learn the facts concerning real life in probably been there ever since Charles | Washington. The national capital they Dickens visited the capitol and wrote usually read about is a fictitious afhis scathing denunciation of the expectoration habit of the American people. There is no dirtier place in this city than the capitol rotunda and its approaches. Some one is responsible for this condition of affairs, but it would probably take a Lexow investigating committee to discover the responsible party.

"I do not suppose any paper in this city would publish the fact that the central office of the telephone company is practically without discipline. in order to call another party. I rang probably 20 times, but the girl at the central office paid no attention to the bell. Finally, when she did give attention to the ringing, I requested an interview with the chief operator.

"In a very short time by conversation with him over the wire I ascertained that he deemed it to be his duty to defend the girls under his direction, no matter whether they were right or wrong, and therefore I found it necessary to make a report to the general superintendent in order to get proper attention to the demands of subscribers for the telephone service. No matter how the girls may delay or hamper the desires of people who want to talk over the telephone wires in this city, if you simply call for an interview with the chief operator, the girls at the central office flippantly reply: 'Oh, yes, if it will do you any good;' and an interview with that official does not do any good, apparently, so far as my experi-

"Last Sunday morning a colored woman endeavored to secure admittance to a hospital with a child sufferadmittance at half a dozen hospitals and finally went to police headquarthree women riding to one man, and ters. She carried the poor child in her arms all day, and it was not in the power of the police officials to secure a harbor of refuge for her, except in a little unused upper room at the precinct station house. Late at night, just before church time, when the bells were ringing, calling our people to worship under the forms of the religion of love, the health officer of this city was discovered somewhere, and, by the exercise of unusual official energy, he found some means of caring for the unfortunate woman and her child. That is a sample of how we are governed in the District of Columbia.

"No lady can visit the department of agriculture in the national capital without humiliation. Between Tenth and Fifteenth streets, on Pennsylvania avenue, there is a cordon of crime through which every person must pass who wants to go to the department of agriculture, the bureau of engraving and printing or the Washington monument. Seven solid blocks of residences are occupied by fallen women; and they receive police protection, or en couragement.

"No lady or gentleman can go to the top of the dome of the capitol building without being intercepted by beggars or disreputable characters. The dome is not properly policed, and many a crime of a venal nature has been committed there. But conditions have recently somewhat improved.

"People who read the daily news from Washington do not realize how difficult it sometimes is to ascertain bare facts from officials who seem imbued with the belief that they are custodians of great state secrets, and that they must withhold from the public all information concerning public affairs.

"Then again, it is exceedingly exasperating to be obliged to stand out in a corridor and send in a card, begging an audience of a man who sits behind closed doors mainly for the purpose of magnifying his own importance. Too many doors are thus guarded in the public departments. Moreover, many a man in this city is drawing $60 a month for doing nothing but sit in front of the door of some man who thinks he is great because he holds a little brief authority, when the same man, if he were not a messenger to some supposedly great man, could not earn a dollar a day chopping wood or working on the streets.

"But there is another thing which ought to have public attention. The white people are encouraging the crime of miscegenation. The black men and women who abound in Washington are no longer regarded as desirable servants. The people who have but little colored blood in their veins are taken in preference to the pure African. Moreover, in our barber shops the black men are not as popular as they used to be, and their places are being taken by the light-colored mulattoes. This condition of affairs is encouraged by our white people, and it produces crime. Moreover, strange as it may seem to you, light-colored girls no longer associate with black men, nor accept them as beaux at any of the church meetings, or any of the other entertainments of colored people.

"This city is a nondescript community, which cannot be called cosmopolitan, and if it were written up as it ought to be written up, or down, fair. Any newspaper man who might have the foolhardy courage to write actual facts concerning this city might seon find himself out of a job, because all manner of influences would be brought to bear to wreak his ruin. It will not do to tell the truth on all occasions, particularly concerning this SMITH D. FRY.

THE REAL ISSUE CONCEALED.

Attempts of Goldites to Divert Pubblic Attention from Damaging Facts.

There is no defense of the gold standard that can be based upon "good common sense" unless we approach it from the standpoint of the man whose interests in money preponderate over all of his other interests. Of course, the gold men dare not do that. They are forced to conceal the real issue, and therefore the plainest principles of common sense are frequently violated by them. The moment a man admits the "quantitative theory," the philosophical defense of the gold standard is gone. If prices depend upon the quantity of money then the shutting off of the supply of new money in 1873 and subsequent years by the demonetization of silver certainly had a tendency to lower prices, and is the responsible cause of a part, at least, of the great fall of prices, which "Sound Money," the organ of the money lenders, concedes to have been 45 per cent. since 1873. In this view of the case the gold standard is indefensible. "Sound Money" attempts to obscure the issue and divert attention from it by stating that "statistics show that while there has unquestionably been a decline of 45 per cent. in the general level of prices since 1873, there has been in the same period an increase of 60 per cent, in the amount of money in circulation, so that the facts completely explode the theory." We do not deny that some such "statistics" may be found. Statistics can be manufactured to meet the exigencies of any case. A great many have been fabricated in the interest of the gold standard. Any statistics showing such an increase are of very recent origin, and put the amount of money in circulation in 1873 very much lower than it was placed at by any authority at that time, or for 15 years thereafter. For many years after 1873 the amount of metallic money then existing was placed at 3,500,000,000 in gold and $3,-200,000,000 in silver—$6,700,000,000 in all. At the present time, by the most extravagant estimates, which make no allowance for unknown losses, the total is about $8,400,000,000, an increase of $1,700,000,000—only 25 per cent., instead of 60 per cent. as claimed. But of this something like $1,200,000,000 in gold is lying idle in the treasuries of Russia, Austria, Italy and the United States, where it has no more effect upon prices and business than if it had never been dug from the bosom of mother earth. But, all this aside the statement of "Sound Money" proves nothing against the "quantitative theory" because it leaves out of consideration the increased demand for money. It merely states that the money has increased 60 per cent. leaving the reader to suppose that population and business have stood still. The simple fact that prices have confessedly fallen 45 per cent. means that money has risen 83 per cent., showing conclusively that the money supply has not kept pace with the supply of other things. Consequently, the demand for money is relatively stronger than the demand for commodities and property in general, which is only another way of saying that it is rel-

Gold as a Standard.

The monetary commission appointed at Indianapolis, in presenting its currency scheme, assumes the invariability of gold as a standard, and then proposes to open wide the doors for the issue of paper money. It says: "The standard must have a market value as a commodity independent of any government flat and of all legal tender laws. That is, it must have the same value as a commodity, independently cf any value derived from its use as money, that it has both as a commodity and as money." That is simply impossible. There never was a time and never can be when the value of gold as a commodity was separable from its value as money. Its value results from the demand for it not only as a commodity, but for money, and the greater demand has always been for money, for that is from everybody and for everything. To say that demand for gold for money does not contribute to its value, but only demand for it as a commodity, is as absurd as it would be to assert that the value of pig iron is determined entirely by the demand for it for making iron and not at all by the demand for making steel. The value of gold, like everything else, is determined by the total demand for it for all uses ing Weakness of the Party.

When viewed as a whole, the 1898 election was favorable to the democrats. While the democrats in congress and out of congress forced the administration into the war they knew that it would give it a tremendous political advantage, for they knew the war must be successful, and a successful war always strengthens the party in power. The republicans should have received much larger majorities than two years ago. Instead of that they have lost 40 congressmen and a large number of others had their majorities almost wiped out. One more such a republican victory will destroy that party, and forever end the hypocrisy and false pretense now reigning in Washington. The democrats have not lost a single state that they carried two years ago, but, on the contrary, have elected a governor in Minnesota, which is equal to a miracle. That element of the democratic party which has favored the abandonment of all principle, and has urged harmony for the sake of spoils has had a chance to try its scheme, and has utterly failed. In Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and one or two other states, where they refused to indorse the national platform, they have suffered humiliating defeat, although in some of these states the conditions favored the democratic victory. I understand that nearly every democratic congressman elected in these states was successful because he told his constituents, if elected, he would support the national platform. That fraudulent sideshow called gold democracy will now pass out of existence, and the democratic party from the Atlantic to the Pacific, will line up on higher ground. It will assume the aggressive, and not only fight for the mighty principles enunciated in 1896, but will make itself the champion of struggling humanity. It will pull this country out of the pool of corruption into which the republicans have dragged it, and it will lead our people toward a higher civilization. Tuesday's election will make Mr. Bryan more formidable than he ever was, because it is going to bring to the front the great principles which he has advocated. JOHN P. ALTGELD.

EVIL OF FALLING PRICES.

Discourage Industry and Reduce Wages But Pile Up Money in the Banks.

Falling prices are an industrial, economic, political and social evil of almost unparalleled proportions. They discourage industry, drive money from activity into idleness, from the channels of trade into the bank vaults, reduce wages and throw laborers out of employment, make property unproductive, and therefore worthless, destroy equities, increase the burden of taxes and all fixed changes, ruin debtors, pile up wealth in the hands of the few, excourage the formation of trusts, monopolies and combines, make producers the prey of middlemen, strengthen the hold of the merely rich upon the political machinery of the state, stifle the spirit of liberty among the masses, multiply immorality, and, if long enough protracted, inevitably lead to the overthrow and demolition of the fabric of popular government. Time will not permit a citation of the almost innumerable examples confirmatory of this view afforded by the history of nations. Hume sums up the lesson of the past on this point as follows: "Falling prices and misery and destruction are inseparable companions. The disasters of the dark ages were caused by declining money and falling prices." Allison, Horton, Brooks Adams and numerous other historical writers, besides most of the great economists, have borne unvarying and authoritative testimony to the same effect. On the other hand, stable or rising prices have always been associated with prosperity and progress. To quote Hume again: "With the increase of money, labor and industry gather new life." Our opponents are respectfully requested to cite to us in the course of these debates some instances where falling prices were associated with advancement and happi-

A LIVING QUESTION.

It Will Engage the Attention of the People During the Next Two Years.

The currency question will probably cugage the attention of our statesmen and the public generally in the next few years more than any other subject. It therefore behooves everybody to study both sides of it, because each voter has a voice in determining whether the United States shall have a single standard of gold or whether it shall have the bimetallic standard of gold and silver adopted by our fathers in 1792 and which was the settled policy. of this country until the 12th day of February, 1873. This is all important because our very existence as a nation depends upon a normal supply of money. This question is too important to be studied with a view of sustaining the platform of any political party. It should be studied with the single idea of determining whether bimetallism is best for the people. If so, then it ought to be adopted, and anyone who opposes it through selfish or sinister motives is a tratitor to his government and an enemy to mankind. It is conceded by some writers that money has three functions. It is a medium of exchange, a measure of value and a standard of value. Stability of value and portability are two important qualities of money. If this be true, the question then naturally arises: Do gold and silver, or either of them, possess these two qualities? Both possess portability, but are they stable in value? Jevons, who was a gold standard writer, says: "Gold fell in value from 1789 to 1809 46 per cent. From 1809 to 1849 it rose 149 per cent." From 1849 to 1873 it fell at least 20 per cent., and from 1873 to 1897 it has certainly risen in value 85 per cent. Both metals are subject to the great economic law of supply and demand. Their value constantly fluctuates according to the uses to which they are put.

WE see by the various papers, says the Cheboygan News, that men are wanted in the woods and that wage in some instances as high as $26 p month are offered. There is no more desirous than the News to see these good wages, but in the light o past experiences we are led to doubt the report. Every winter and fall just such reports are sent out by the lumbering operators and the men are told they can have these good wages if they stay "all winter," but no "jumpers' may expect it. Before the winter is over, almost all the men are forced to jump and then are paid off at any wage rate which suits the operator. These reports of high wages draws men to the woods and makes it easy for the operator to do as he desi: es with the wage rate.

An Important Decission.

The Supreme Court has denied the motion asked by the city and by the township of Inverness to compel the board of supervisors to meet and make a faire and just equalization. The Mending Habit.

"Let a man once fall into the habit of pottering, of tinkering at his house his body, his character, and always there is danger that he will become a confirmed cobbler," writes Robert J. Burdette. "Where he should rip off a rotting roof from ridge to cornice, he will stick in a shingle, a piece of slate, scrap of tin, amid ever-increasing leaks, dry rot and general decay. He braces, and bolsters, and patches walls and fences until his farm looks as though it had a combination of Saint Vitus' dance and delirium tremens. He tinkers at his poor, perishing frame with cure-all and lotions, pills and plasters. He braces up his decaying virus with good resolutions. and poultices his vices with good intentions. He fences his follies with certain-or rather, uncertain-limitations. And, after all, he is the same old man. Decayed and decaying, weak here and warped there; out of plumb, disjointed and covered with patches that do not renew him not mend him at all, but merely emphasize his degeneration."

Good Roads.

The matter of "good roads" is now RA Howey, being discussed in connection with a policy is largely based on the ground dust the older and more improved tes, already well supplied with such and well afford to contribute their hare to the provision of the same to sections now without them. AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Board was called to order by George Sutherland, chairman pro tem. Quorum present.

To the Hon. Board of Supervisors:
Your committee on Public Buildings, Supplies and Repairs. to whom was assigned the duty of making repairs and buying supplies as needed for the county, beg leave to report, to wit: 1st, we have bought a certain lot of pipes, hydranst, and other fixtures to put in a system of water works to water lawn at a cest as follows: at one o'clock standard time.

Oct. 10, 1898, Labor for laying sewer, plowing and working lawn, painting tower, and setting tank,
Material for the above. 110 00 20 tons of coal at $5 60 per ton,

Total, Your committee further report that they have run a separate pipe from well to the basement of court house to feed boiler for leating court house; the same pipe leads to a water tank for watering purposes. Your committee investigated the matter of placing a vault in jury room, but are in doubt if a system of that kind would give satisfaction and warrant the expense. Your committee would respectfully suggest that other members of the Board wil view the premises, and if found feasible the vault could be built at very little expense. The yard in front has been plowed, cultivated to kill grass and weeds and obtain a good seed bed, but up to date it was not deemed in proper condition to seed. The seeding will no doubt be done in a few days, Your committee has also purchased 20 tons of egg coal for furnace at a cost of $5 50 per ton, delivered on track in Tawas City, and let contract for hauling same and placing in bin at 30c per ton, Your committee suggest, if funds warrant same, to buy 20 tons in Mich. College of Mines, Industrial school for boys, Industrial school for girls, addition thereto, believing thereby that money can be saved.

Respectfully submitted, George C. Anschuetz, Thos. Davidson. Barner M. Long, John Westervelt, John A Grant. Com, on Public Bld'gs, Supplies and R'prs.

Whereas, at the present session of said Board the township of Alabaster has been equalized at the sum of $1.75,000; and whereas, it is our fair and candid judgment that such equilization is not relatively proportionate with the other townships and cities of the county, and will result in saddling upon this said township an unfair and unequal proportion of the state and county taxes for the year 1898. Therefore, we, the Township Board of said township of Alabaster, in behalf of the taxpayers of said township, do most earnestly protest against such an unfair and unjust equalization; and we ask that such steps be taken before the Board of Supervisors finally adjourns as shall remedy fore the Board of Supervisors finally adjourns as shall remedy the error thus made and shall place us upon a fair and equal footing with the rest of the county; we would say further that the property owners in Alabaster township have always paid their taxes cheerfully and they now stand ready to do so if such taxes are at all fair and reasonable, but insist that to equ-alize our township at double the amount for which property was assessed by the supervisor and board of review is a rank injustice to our taxpayers, and we make protest in order that our township and the county may be saved from useless, expensive, and unnecessary litigation. of a few years when the telephone through Saugatuck, and thirty farmers and fruit ways the victor. growers built the line and maintain it, and the annual assessment upon each is about $10.

Every township in Oceana county has telephone connections with Hart, the county seat, and this system is essentially a farmers' exchages, and is owned and maintained chieffy by the farmers and fruit growers. The Oceana county system, as also the Allegan county fruit growers' line, is being connected with a state exchange, and now the peach season is fairly open the farmers, in both sections will be in easy talking range of the commission and railroad men here and the steamboat men at lake ports.

Gratiot county has another farmers' exchange which, with Ithaca es the center, has connections with every township and many farmers. The system gives free service throughout the county to its subscribers and will soon be connected with the outer world. It is a a great advantage to the farmers in marketing their products.

Farmers living near the cities are having the telephone wires extended out to them, though the movement is still in its infancy. The Citizens' Exchange in Grand Rapids has about a dozen farmers on its list, and that it has not a hundred or more is dbe to the rush of construction work in the city since the exchange was established. The first country telephone was to a farmer about a mile west of town. With di rect connection with town, he could soll his stuff in advance, arrange for his deliveries, and easily keep his finger on market conditions. It gave him a big PAINTING, bulge upon the other farmers and it did not take his neighbors long to find it out. The line now runs out about five miles, and all HTC., ETC., the substantial farmers along the line have hitched on. The farmers north and northeast of the city are clamoring for connections and in another year they will probable be accommodated. The lettuce growers just south of the city all have connection, but they are so close to the city they are hardly called farmers.

Milking.

Milking should be done with clean, dry hands, and as the cow is making the most of the milk while it is being drawn from the udder, it is very important that she should be kept as quiet and contented as possible. The milk. ing should be done as rapidly as can be without hurting the cow. The first part of the milk contains less than one per cent of fat, while the last portion has as high as 10 per cent of fat, hence the importance of thorough work in milking. Change of milkers is detrimental, as well as are all other abrupt changes in feeding or handling the good dairy cow.

The materials to form the milk are found in the udder untransformed to milk before milking. But by a sort of harmony existing between the milker and the cow, and by the stimulus excited upon the glands by the milker, the milk is largely caused to form .-
