20,138 Marriages.

There were 20,138 marriages returned by the county clerks to Secretary of State Stearns for 1898. This is the largest number ever recorded for a single year and represents a marriage rate of 19.9 per 1,000 population. The largest number of marriages took place in November—2,264, while the smallest, 1,302, was in February. Next to November, June and then October seem to be the favorite months for marriage. Of the total 12,935 were natives of the United States and 2,686 were between persons of foreign birth.

The favorite ages were between 20 and 25 for both brides and grooms. There were 3,911 marriages in which both parties were between these ages. Next to this period in frequency come marriages of males 20 to 25 and females under 20, of which there were 3,393. There were 11 couples in which the groom was over 30, in only one of which, however, the bride was equally aged.

Probably the oldest age at marriage on record occurred in a case reported from Washtenaw county, in which the age of the groom was given at 110 years, while the bride was 57. This seemed so extraordinary that special inquiry was made of the county clerk as to the accuracy of the report, with the result that he stated that an affidavit to that effect was on file.

Will Not be a Candidate.

Col. George A. Loud, of AuSable, was in Detroit last Monday on his way to New York to attend the Dewey reception, where he will be the personal representative of Gov. Pingree. To a reporter of the Tribune he said:

"No, I shall not be a candidate for congress in the tenth district next fall," said Col. Loud in reply to a question. "A man to be a successful candidate for congress in that district must live either at Alpena or Bay City, and as I happen to live about half way between them, I couldn't get the nomination if I wanted it. Besides that, I don't want it."

The Ledger Monthly For October.

A handsome portrait of Admiral Dewey, in colors, is given on the cover of the October number of the Ledger Monthly. The Dewey Triumphal Arch, erected in New York for the Dewey celebration, showing the magnificent sculptured ornaments by J. Q. A. Ward and others, from a drawing by Warren B. Davis, forms the frontispiece. Accompanying these pictures in this Dewey number of the Ledger Monthly are articles on the "Return of the Victors," by Rowan Stevens. "How the Admiral Left Manila," and an illustrated article entitled, "In Old Manila," a very interesting sketch of the city and its people. George Ehelbert Walsh's article entitled "Yacht Designing and Designers," gives an interesting account of the Herreshoffs, the famous yacht builders of Bristol, R. I. Among the miscellaneous articles of this number are "The Cultivation of Physical Beauty," by Stella Stewart, "The Fall Fashions," by Grace Margaret Gould, with five illustrations. All the usual departments are maintained, and nowhere in the periodical world can so much be had for five cents a copy or 50 cents a year, as in the Ledger Monthly. THE latest presidential ticket for 1900 is Reed, of New York, and Bradley, of Kentucky. They are being boomed by the anti-expansion wing of the republican party.

It is generally believed that the chief difference between the Hanna and Foraker wings of the republican party in Ohio is that the former comprises the office-holders and the latter the office-seekers.

THE first number of the Alpena Weekly Farmer made its appearance last week. It is published from the Evening Echo office and is a very neat publication and worthy of the support of the farmers of northern Michigan.

ADMIRAL DEWEY arrived off New York at dawn Tuesday morning, two days ahead of schedule time. He gave the New Yorkers almost as big a surprise as he did the Spaniards at Manila bay. While the Olympia has been anchored inside Sandy Hook since Tuesday morning, the "Hero of Manila" did not go ashore until yesterday, when the og reception in his honor began. All American citizens may well be proud of the greatest naval hero of modern times, and although not in attendance at New York, should join in a celebration in honor of his safe arrival home.

The law only passed relative to the change in the percentage of interest, legal and allowed, in the state of Michigan, is now in effect. Probably there are many among business men who are not aware of the fact and some odd complications may result. Under the old law, in force up to September 22, the legal rate in Michigan was 6 per cent with 8 per cent allowed by consent. On and after the 22nd, the legal rate is reduced to 5 per cent, while the allowed rate is but 7 per cent. All paper, therefore, which was executed before the 22nd bears a legal interest at the old rate, while that executed since the 22nd, will bear the new.

For mechanical effect no expense or pains have been spared, and the highly finished paper, the beautiful illustrations, the excellent type and press work and the handsome cloth binding makes these books models of the printer's art. Strength of the Boer Army.

The report that General Piet Joubert will be able to count on a Boer army of 50,000 men ought to stir Mr. Chamberlain and the British war party to serious thoughts. It was this same General Joubert who met the British forces under General Colley at Majuba Hill in 1881 and administered one of the most remarkable drubbings in modern times. General Colley took his 600 men to the top of this small and precipitous hill and exultingly challenged the Boers: "Come up here, you beggars!" In broad daylight 150 picked Boer volunteers climbed from terrace to terrace, dodging behind boulders, and gained the top after five hours' climb, with the loss of only one man. At a range of 30 yards these brave men began a deadly fire from behind the rocks, and when a second party gained the summit and threatened to flank the English a wild panic spread among the latter. General Colley and several other officers were killed, and the survivors fled in confusion, dropping and rolling down the sides of the hill, pursued by a storm of bullets that seldom missed. When the casualties were counted it was found that the Boers had killed 92 Englishmen, wounded 134, and captured 59. The loss on the Boer side was one killed and five wounded. On this basis—150 to 600—the British will need 200,000 troops to meet the 50,000 Boers. If the British government forces the Transvaal into war on its present flimsy pretext it deserves to get the same treatment at General Joubert's hands that it got in 1881.—Chicago Tribune.

An exchange tells of a clerk who was showing a lady some parasols. He had a good command of language and knew how to commend his goods. As he picked up a parasol from the lot the counter and opened it, he struck an attitude of admiration, and holding it up, said: "Now, there, isn't it lovely? Look at that silk. Particularly observe the quality, the finish, the general effect. Pass your hand over it," he said, as he handed it to the lady; "isn't it a beauty?" "Yes," said the lady, "that's my old one. AGRICULTURAL.

Notes for our Farmer Friends
Gathered from Many Sources

Sheep on Rough Land.

There is common sense in pasturing sheep on rough land, if the term "rough land" applies to hilly, stony pastures that do not grow very much forage and that get pretty dry in summer time. It is one of the laws of nature that man as well as animals must work for a living if the highest degree of health and happiness are to be attained. If a man undertakes to live at his ease and does no work, sickness soon fastens its grip on him. If a hen is fed all she wants and does not have to scratch for a living she becomes fat and broody and will lay but few eggs. If a dairy cow is fattened in a stall and fed to repletion, tuberculosis soon gets a foothold in the breed. If the sheep is filled to repletion on the low lands, food rot, stomach worms and other troubles are not slow to develop. Keep the sheep hustling for a living. Feed them well, salt them well, and give them shelter and pure water, but remember that considerable exercise is necessary for their health. A constant change of diet is also of advantage. If the sheep gets a chance at the many weeds on the stony hillside they will be apt to flourish and do better than if kept on rich meadows.—Wool Markets and Sheep.

Improving Stock.

The stock that is kept on the farm is never at a standstill and it is either on the up grade or deteriorating. A great many farmers will buy a foundation for a herd of pure bred cattle, swine, sheep or horses and will then expect them, through sheer force of the pedigree that are behind them, to maintain the quality that they think the breed ought to supply, and would supply if properly cared for. In too many instances when improved stock is purchased they are given scrub care, feeding and scrub management, and with no attention paid to selection and mating it is not a great while until the flock or herd has degenerated so that it is easily eligible to registry in the pure scrub herd book. We all know instances where good stock has gone into herds on farms but all traces of same were lost in a few generations of breeding. The usual cry is that the breed is to blame for these shortcomings. It is a common human weakness to look around for a scapegoat to bear the blame for our own faults, but we oughtn't to be unjust to a breed because it has failed in our hands by reason of our own mismanagement. When we start out to improve stock there must be no weakening effort to get and have the best. Unceasing effort is the key note of the successful stock.—Farmer's Guide.

PICK-UPS.

A good remedy for blood fevers is flour of sulphur with butter, given in a pill the size of a pea a few times, until they molt.

Birds are of great advantage to the farmer in two ways. In the first place they destroy untold numbers of insects and they consume any amount of noxious weeds. How could we get along without the birds!

All attempts to save blighted pear trees will be useless unless the diseased limbs are removed, and the knife or other tool used for the purpose should be disinfected every time a limb or branch is cut, as the blight can be transferred from one branch of a tree to another by the instruments used in the work.

There is no better time to remove the old wood from raspberry and blackberry plantations than now. Cut it out with pruning shears, or if you object to getting down on the ground have a hook-knife put on the end of a four-foot handle and cut grown, should only be fed in combination with other grains. Fed alone it practically destroys the young animal's profitability, as it does not grow frame enough for later development, and is apt to cause disease in the animal. Corn produces too much fat and heat in their system and not enough muscle and bone.

The Massachusetts experiment station has made careful experiments in thinning fruits, keeping account of cost and gain over trees not thinned, which showed an average of over $1 profit per tree for thinning apples and $1 cents per tree for thinning plums, besides the advantage for decreasing the fungus and insect pests and of saving a more or less exhaustive strain upon the tree.

The only drawback to any intelligent country community enjoying educational and refining privileges is lack of co-operation between the farmers themselves. Whenever a farming community realize that in themselves lie the means of educating their sons and daughters to love the farm and the farm home, and that because one does not have the privileges of the town or large city there is no reason why he should stagnate either mentally or socially, they will have solved the problem of how to live happily and contented on a farm.—Mrs. J. B. Sims.

Chester H. Brown, of Kalamazoo, says: "Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cured me of a severe case of indigestion; can recommend it to all dyspeptics." Digest what you eat without aid of the stomach, and cures dyspepsia. G. S. Darling.

If the brood sow does not come in heat you may know that she is not in good condition. If a litter has just been weaned, feed her liberally, and in a few days she will breed. As a rule it is not best to breed her the first time she comes in heat after weaning the pigs. The probabilities are that she has not sufficiently recovered from the strain on her system to do well. The litter from coupling at this time would likely be few in number. The sow to give the best returns should be in fine condition when bred, making improvement each day. It is not reasonable to expect much from a sow running down in flesh and in low condition; yet sows are often bred that are but little more than walking skeletons, and are expected to produce thrifty pigs.

E. E. Turner, Compton, Mo., was cured of piles by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve after suffering 17 years and trying over 20 remedies. Physicians and surgeons endorse it. Beware of dangerous counterfeits. G. S. Darling.

What is Celery King?
It is a scientific combination of rare roots, herbs, bark and seeds from Nature's laboratory. It cures constipation, nervous disorders, headache, indigestion and liver and kidney diseases. It is a most wonderful medicine, and is recommended by physicians generally. Remember it cures constipation. Celery King is sold in 25c and 50c packages by druggists.

Help the Cause.
There has never been a political campaign that will equal in importance that of the one to be fought next year. The republican party, backed by the money power of this country and Europe, is alert and aggressive. Flushed with the victory of three years ago it will seek by every means in its power to maintain its supremacy.
Democrats must be up and doing. They must wage an unceasing war upon their enemies. In no better and more effective way can this be done than by the circulation of good, sound democratic newspapers. The publisher of the Chicago Dispatch, the great national democratic weekly, will send to every new subscriber for three months a copy of The Chicago Dispatch.
