FROM MANILA.

Interesting Letter From Dan McRae, With the 19th Infantry in the Philippines.

In Camp Mud, Manila, P. I., Old Fair Grounds, Aug. 28, '99. Dear Mother-I now write to let you know that I am all right and well, and arrived here safe and sound. We did not encounter storm, on the trip and arrived in sight of Manila, August 21, and anchored alongside of the Oregon. We did not go ashore until the 26th. Two of the boys died while we were waiting to go ashore and we had two crazy boys on board. Everything else went on very well. We landed on the 26th and went to our camp, which is the old exposition grounds, a march of about two miles. It is very muddy, but our houses are raised about three feet from the ground. They were built for the soldiers, and are made with bamboo frames, with a kind of husk roof, strung on a bambeo string and then laid on like shingles, one row over the other. The walls are made in the same manner and lined with a matting like you see on a tea chest, only coarser. The heuses are as large as a barn and divided to accommodate two companies. A smaller building at the side and connected by a covered hall is used to eat in, and has a Chinamen and natives are here every day selling fruit and soft drinks. Some have handkerchiefs and belts, but of a very poor quality. We have four Chinamen helping in the kitchen. A sergeant of Co. E has died since our arrival here.

I was in the city yesterday and saw a large herd of water buffalo; some of them were in mud holes and others were in the river, These animals are as large as an ox and of a mouse grey color. They have large horns which lay back flat on their neck. They are used for carting. They are hitched to a two-wheeled cart with a curved stick for a yoke. They are slow but strong. They use small ponies for eab horses, one on a two-wheeled cab and two on a larger one. They have horse street cars and the town is lighted by electric light. I was also in Old Manila, or the "Walled City," as it is called here. It has a high stone wall around it and the buildings are all built of stone. I was in an old church that was so old that it was mossy and rotten looking clear to the top. It is three stories high and open to the roof. It is a Catholic church.

The streets are narrow, paved with stone and smell bad. I went out by another gate which had a deep ditch Sempliner, James Teare. in front of it, crossed by a bridge, and a short circular wall a short distance Goodwille, Alfred St. Martin. from it for protection. Of course it is wet weather now and the ground is in bad condition. The old men are looking well. The worst feature is that the natives come up and fire and our men are not allowed to return the fire. If they make a charge they are stopped as soon as they get the least advantage over the insurgents. I heard a soldier say that they cap-

AGAINST MRS. ABBOTT.

Supreme Court Holds that She Cannot Act as Prosecuting Attorney of Ogemaw County.

In an opinion handed down last Tuesday the supreme court holds that Mrs. Marie Hoover Abbott cannot hold the office of prosecuting attorney of Ogemaw county. Justice Moore is the only dissenting judge.

This is the most important case brought before the supreme court in some time.

As will be remembered, Mrs. Abbott was elected prosecuting attorney at the general election last fall, duly qualified and has been discharging the duties of the office during this year. Quo warranto proceedings were commenced by the attorney general, charging that she was unlawfully holding the office, the question raised being that of the eligibility of a woman to hold office under the constitution and laws of this state. The supreme court now declares that she cannot hold the office. During the time Mrs. Abbott has held the office she has made an effort to bring to justice all criminals, regardless of their social standing, and in this way has brought the wrath of some of the "powers that be" upon her head, and great will be the rejoicing among this class. Mrs. kttchen at each end-one for each Abbott is a woman of exceptional ability, and without doubt the ablest attorney now practicing in Ogemaw county.

Among the many wise sayings of Ralph Waldo Emerson we know of none better calculated to instruct the present generation than the one quoted in a letter of William Lloyd Garrison: "The basis of political economy is non-interference. Do net legislate. Meddle and you snap the sinews with your sumptuary laws. Give no bounties, make equal laws. The level of the sea is not more surely kept, than is the equilibrium of value in society: by the demand and supply; artifice or legislation punishes itself by reactions, gluts and bankrupicies." If the legislators and congressmen would follow this advice, we would hear but little about trusts. for we would only have to deal with a few harmless combinations. Mr, Garrison wisely says that "the true safeguard against trusts is not new enactments, but the repeal of old ones which have established inin working at the roots rather than to waste time in pruning the branches son Graves last week. of the trusts. We commend his suggestions to the politicians who will have to deal with trusts in a practical way.

Worth Considering.

The Press expects in the near future to take up the question of this town was finished Wednesday. putting the village and city organizations in Iosco county back into townships, and then of uniting some of the counties with a view of reducing county taxes. There will be plenty of time between now and the the time the legislature will be in session again to discuss this question thoroughly. It may seem a little impracticable to some at first, but the Press believes that public sentiment will fayor it and that eventually it could be accomplished with a great saving to the taxpayers. Three counties-Alcona, Oscoda and Ioscocould be united and the county organization maintained at a much less expense. With the city and village organizations done away with, something could be saved in the way of salaries drawn by the officers of the present organizations, and the amount drawn by the board of supervisors would be materially reduced. With taxes reduced this section would offer inducements for many new industries, and the farming section would receive great benefit thereby. The Press invites discussion of this subject through it columns.—Oscoda Press.

The above article has some good Quick Service points and some that are not so good. The consolidation of the counties of Iosco, Alcona and Osceda would be impracticable and should not be considered. The idea of doing away with the three city organizations of this county is a question that should be considered carefully. We believe it would be a most desirable move. It would reduce our board of supervisors about one-half, which in itself would be a great saving, and would otherwise decrease the expenses. It is time some effort was made to reduce the heavy rate of taxation in in this county. It is the one thing which is retarding our rapid growth. We shall have more to say on this subject in the future.

High Water Advertising Mark. The New York Herald of April 17 printed an editorial statement that on the previous day (Sunday, April 16) its paid advertising reached the high water mark in that journal's history. "The Chicago Tribune" on that same day, last Sunday, April 16, printed not only more advertising than the New York Herald, but what is believed to be the greatest amount ever printed in a single issue of any regular main edition of a newspaper. Leaving out of account the twenty-two columns of advertising printed by the New York Herald on that day in the special section devoted to the interests of Brooklyn and New Jersey and appearing only in those editions, the record of "The Tribune" for April 16 surpassed that of the Herald for the same day by more than 10,000 agate lines of paid advertising. Even allowing the Herald all it claims, including its Brooklyn and New Jersey supplements, the New York Herald on that day still fell short of "The Tribune" by more than 1,000 lines in Mrs. Charles Withy, of West

New York Herald of April 16 printed in its main edition, exclusive of its Brooklyn and New Jersey supplements, 77,823 agate lines of advertisements. Including those supplements it claims 86,760. "The Chicago Tribune" printed that day 88,430 agate lines of paid advertisements. The comparison should be made in lines of agate measure, because the columns of "The Tribune" are longer and contain 305 agate lines, while those of the New York Herald contain only 288 lines of agate each.

For the four Sundays ending April 16, the number of columns of advertisements in the New York Herald, according to its own claims and including its Brooklyn and New Jersey special section, was 1,067.25. In the same period of time "The Tribune" printed 1,084.43 columns of ac-

A CORN SHOCK BINDER.

It Makes a Straight, Compact Shock and Saves Twine.

Take a round hard wood stick-hickory or ash is best-11/2 inches in diameter and 41/2 feet long and with a drawing knife sharpen one end to a tapering point.

On the other end fasten a stout hard wood crank. Exactly in the center of a piece of wagon felly bore a hole just large enough to permit the round stick

A SHOCK BINDING DEVICE. to turn freely when inserted. Round off the inner corner at both ends and bore an inch hole diagonally through the felly at each end. Plane the felly smooth and round off all sharp corners to avoid wearing the rope. Procure 12 to 15 feet of half inch rope and tie a knot in one end and wrap the other with soft wire.

Bore a small hole through the round stick about three inches from the crank and put a light iron ring about two inches in diameter on your rope. Double a piece of strong soft wire and insert it in the hole through the round piece. Put the rope through the loop in the wire, drawing the knot up to the loop. Then wrap the rope half way round the stick and fasten with the wire, leaving the ring between the two fas-

Now tie a ring about an inch in diameter on one end of a short piece of strong cord and tie the other end through the hole in the felly that comes on the left hand side when the binder is in use. This cord should be just long enough to reach the end of the crank handle, as its use is to prevent the crank from unwinding while the twine is being adjusted around the shock. Drive a small wire nail a short distance into the upper side of the felly near the left hand end and bend the top so as to form a hook. Your machin is now complete. Slip the felly piece on the round stick with the concave side from you, thread the rope through the hole in right hand end and thrust the sharp end through the shock at the height you wish the band. Take hold of the rope, walk round the shock with it, thread through the hole in the left hand end, and through the ring fastened to the round stick draw up all slack and tie with a bowknot.

Now turn the crank until you have squeezed the shock as tightly as you wish and slip the small ring attached to the cord over the end of the crank handle to prevent unwinding. Tie a loop in the end of your binding twine, catch it on the hook on top of the felly piece and walk around the shock, taking care to keep the twine close to and above the rope. When you have found the length required, cut the twine, slip the end through the loop, draw taut and tie.

This may seem a little complicated, About a few hours' practice will enable any one to do the work rapidly.

The correspondent who originally described this device, substantially as here repeated, in The Farm, Field and Fireside says its principal advantage lies in the quality of the work performed. Drawing equally from both sides, it makes a very compact shock, which keeps out rain and snow. It makes the shock stand up and saves twine.

· Testing Crimson Clover Seed.

The germination of crimson clover seed even when the seed is comparatively pure often leaves much to be desired. The seed deteriorates rapidly with age. There is, however, a simple quality test within the reach of any

A HOMEMADE SEED GERMINATOR. buyer, as shown in a homemade germinator illustrated in a circular of the department of agriculture.

A piece of moist flannel is laid upon | der the land hopelessly barren. a plate, and a certain number of seeds are counted out and laid upon the flannel, a second fold of which is placed ing. over them. Then another plate is inverted over the whole. The seeds are removed and counted as fast as they germinate. Good crimson clover will sprout 80 to 90 per cent of the seed within three days.

A HOMEMADE CORN CUTTER.

tory Arrangement.

The day for cutting corn by hand is almost past. There are a number of machines on the market, but we have not found one more satisfactory than a homemade cutter we have been using. The sled is made with runners 6 feet long and 21/2 feet wide. The platform is made of inch boards and extends 13 inches on the right or knife side. The sled is an easy load for one horse. The whiffletrees are attached to the iron rod C. Fig. 1. The sled is also fitted with shafts. These can be made of any light timber. Straight poles are what we use. Bore a hole through one end to pass the rod C through. These are to prevent the horse from backing into the knife.

The knife A is about two feet in length and is securely bolted to the sled at each end. It can be made of an old plowshare or a heavy scythe, or a blacksmith can make one. The ease in cutting lies in getting this knife on the sled at the right slant. The front end should be bolted to the 2 by 4 brace, B, shown by dotted lines; the other, 13 inches out from the runner to the other brace, D. The outer end should be a trifle the higher and the edge of the knife turned up a little, so that the weight of the sled will help cut the corn. A box, E, fastened on, serves as a seat for the one cutting the corn. The horse should be gentle and will need little attention, as it walks in the corn row. As the stalks are cut off

A SLED FOR CUTTING CORN. they fall back into the arms of the operator, who holds them until he has an armful, then stops his horse and carries the stalks to the nearest shock or lay them in piles to set up later.

This machine, like all fodder cutters, is a dangerous thing for men and beast, and too much care cannot be used in working around it. The device at Fig. 2 is used as a safeguard when the machine is not in use. It is made of a 2 by 6 plank three feet long. Holes are bored in the sled platform at F and H. Insert pins in the 2 by 4 plank and in the holes in the platform, and the knife will be covered so that nothing can come in contact with the edge, says a Kansas farmer, who describes this cutter in the Ohio Farmer.

Seeding and Pasturing Stumpage.

With a little scientific handling stumpage may be made excellent pasturage. In some of the heavily wooded sections of Wisconsin the cow is brought in about as soon as the timber has been hauled away. The stumps remain, and in the course of nature the spaces, around them would soon grow up thick with briers, berry bushes and underbrush. But the farmer puts in his harrow and perhaps his plow, and the land is roughly prepared for grass seed, which is at once sown. The grass quickly gets a firm hold, and there is no room for either underbrush or weeds. The whole land is soon occupied with grass, except that actually occupied by the stumps. The cows are then turned into this pasture and occupy it for years. Meantime the stumps, if they be of certain varieties of trees, are rotting away at the roots, and the rotting clears the way for the stumpage pasture to become a tillable field. This plan is worthy of more general adoption, according to Farm, Field and Fireside.

Land that has been cleared of timber is generally allowed to lie, practically waste for long years. If the cattle are turned upon it for pasturage, they simply browse the wild grasses that spring up here and there. Too often weeds get possession in such numbers that the whole area becomes a veritable thicket of weeds. In all such cases grass should be placed in possession of the denuded land.

The sentiment against the sale of poor seed is growing.

The department of agriculture is said to be engaged in the attempt to impart to Connecticut tobacco the flavor and aroma of Cuban or Florida leaf through improved methods of fermentation.

The phrase "tillage is manure" may be classed as one of the "half truths." From recent experiments it appears that the reason tillage seems to be manure is that it enables the plant to utilize completely the fertility that is in the soil, particularly potash and phosphoric acid, but if this process is carried on indefinitely without application of any kind of manure it will ren-
