It is said that a printing office in western Michigan is opened with prayer. This is a rare exception to the rule, as, from time immemorial it has been the custom for the office to be opened by the devil and closed by the sheriff.
It is said by a fashion journal that men's pants will be worn longer this season. That's what the printer has been looking for for years. Twenty-four months is as long as we have been able to wear them in the past without being arrested.

THE NEW SHOE STORE!

JOHN HUSTON, Prop.

I take this opportunity to announce to the People of Iosco county that I have opened a new Shoe Store, and have a complete line of

BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS,

Which I am offering at Wholesale or Retail. My stock is Complete and First-Class in every respect, and I am selling at prices as low as the same good can be bought for in any store in Michigan. I solicit your Patronage, and Guarantee Satisfaction.

Judge Sharpe has appointed E. M. Harris, the man whom Mrs. Merrie H. Abbott defeated for prosecuting attorney of Ogemaw county last fall, to succeed her in that office.

The scientific world is waiting with much interest the coming of November 13, on which date is due the great meteoric shower, a phenomenon which manifests itself only three times in the course of a century. The last event occurred Nov. 14, 1866, commencing at 3 o'clock.

The Farm Journal is cream, not skim-milk, and just the paper for the man who keeps cows. We give it for the balance of 1899, and all of 1900, 1901, 1902, and 1903, nearly five years to every subscriber to the HERALD who will pay a year ahead. Walk right up to the captain's office without delay.

Women will be obliged to give their correct age at the coming census. The new law says: "Women who refuse to tell their age or indulge in inaccurate statements thereof, as well as all other persons refusing to reply to questions or making false statements, shall on conviction be fined one hundred dollars."

"I had dyspepsia fifty years and never found permanent relief till I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure." Now I am well and feel like a new man," writes S. J. Fleming, Murray, Neb. It is the best digestant known. Cures all forms of indigestion. Physicians every where prescribe it. G. S. Darling.

Most women throughout the country make pin money out of their chickens. We have known of women who have clothed the entire family with the proceeds of the poultry yard, and some have paid off mortgages and others bought their homes by intelligent management of their flocks. Everybody interested in chickens should get Biggle Poultry Book. It is so full of helpful suggestions and short cuts to success, and has so many years of costly experience boiled down for its pages that it is poor economy to be without it. It will help increase the income from the poultry yard, and has started many an amateur or misguided professional on the right track. The price is 50 cents, free by mail, address the publishers, Wilmer Atkinson Co., Philadelphia.

When the Italian railroaders broke camp last week preparatory to their departure for Detroit, Tower furnished liquid accompaniment for one of the most outlandish breaks in Italian opera that ever twisted the English speaking atmosphere into corkscrew curves. Why, the wind crooning through the Norway pines in that burg in historical zig-zags hasn't got right with itself yet, and blows the natives' whiskers into hopeless snarls. Eighty lo-naw o-eaters, howling like dervishes in alleged song, each one straining his peanut compartment to the biler bursting point with ambition to be the brightest particular star of the occasion was the outfit which woke the echoes of Burkley avenue on the occasion referred to, and made the boss fiddle take a sneak, covered with a deep blush of the deepest enny.—Onaway Democrat.

Baptist Church Echoes.

Don't forget the entertainment at the Baptist church to night.

Wm. Hartley will lead the C. E. service Lord's Day evening. Topic "A New Name." Gen. 32; 24-29; Rev. 2; 17. At this service the pastor will have on exhibition the beautiful present which will be given to the one selling the largest number of tickets for the "Big Thanksgiving Dinner."

At the morning church service the Pastor will present plans for the future work. Theme for the evening service "The Prodigal Son." F. E. McGlone will conduct a song service and sing a sweet gospel solo.

All are urged to attend the Sunday School which convenes after the morning service. Mr. Jahraus has gathered about him a fine class of young men still there is room for more.

Subject for the Wednesday night prayer meeting "One Soul for Christ," Illustrated from the Life of our Savior.

F. E. McGlone's class in singing which meets every Saturday night is progressing finely.

The Ladies' Aid will serve a "Big Thanksgiving Dinner" at the Prescott building. The proceeds will go to wiping out the church debt. Meals for 400 will be furnished. Already there have been 245 tickets sold. We ask the friends and citizens of Tawas City to give us a lift in this good work. We present five reasons why every one should patronize this dinner.

1st. This is the day that we render our thanks to the Heavenly Father for all the blessings of the past year. Our act will speak to Him louder than words.

2d. Not only a favor to God but will benefit the church which is a blessing to the community.

3d. We can bring our family here and get a splendid dinner for 25c each; thus saving the great labor and expense of providing one at home for three times the cost.

4th. We can render our thanks to God by purchasing a few tickets and presenting to the poor who have not had a joyful Thanksgiving for many a year.

5th. We can come ourselves and for 25c get a great big dinner and make everybody happy.

Hunters Paradise.

The sportsmen's paradise is without doubt on the line of the Detroit & Mackinac Ry. running north from Bay City along the Lake Huron coast within a few miles from Cheboygan. Its popularity for game shooting is increasing every year among the sportsmen. Deer season opens Nov. 8th to 30th. Special rates made for hunters in parties. A copy of Michigan Game Laws may be had on application to J. D. Hawks, President, Detroit.

Six Frightful Failures.

Six terrible failures of six different doctors nearly sent Wm. H. Mullen of Lockland, O., to an early grave. All said he had a fatal lung trouble and that he must soon die. But he was urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. After taking five bottles he was entirely cured. It is positively guaranteed to cure all diseases of Throat, Chest and lungs, including Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup, Whooping Cough. 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at G. S. Darling's and J. E. Dillon's drug stores.

LaGrippe, with its after effects, annually destroys thousands of people. It may be quickly cured by One Minute Cough Cure, the only remedy that produces immediate results in coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, pneumonia and throat and lung troubles. It will prevent consumption. Dr. G. S. Darling.

Just at present the border towns in Africa are kept busy guessing which flag to hoist at sunrise.

"Shake well before taking" should be the label for all transvaal war news. It bears all the earmarks of expert censorship.

It is decided to equip the new battleships with quadruple "expansion" engines, a vigorous protest may be expected from Edward Atkinson.

It is now evident why Admiral Dewey's health would not permit him to accept invitations to visit western cities this fall. He had a severe attack of heart disease.

It has been remarked that the campaign literature used most in Ohio this fall bears a close resemblance to the product of Uncle Sam's money factory at Washington.

When the Ohio man starts out to live at the public's expense it is useless to try to head him off. He either lands the office, or, as one did recently, becomes insane brooding over the loss of it.

The experience of young Cornelius Vanderbilt in marrying the girl he loved, cost him about $50,000,000. Yet there are some people who argue that this age is given up wholly to material things.

The announcement of the engagement of admiral Dewey and Mrs. Hazen, widow of the late General W. B. Hazen, and sister of Hon. John R. McLean, was made at Washington Monday.

The German government is putting the land theory of the late Henry George to a practical test in New Guinea and in China, by selling the use of public land for three years. These experiments will be watched with interest by many.

A COURSE in marine engineering and naval architecture has been established in the engineering department of the University of Michigan. The course is a graduate one requiring five years' residence at the University. The students for the first three and one-half are the same as those in the regular engineering courses. The special work begins the second semester of the fourth or senior year and continues through the fifth year. At the end of the fourth year the student receives the degree of bachelor of science in engineering, and at the end of the fifth year the degree of master of science in engineering.

The day of the electric road is certainly near at hand, and is bound to be a strong competitor of the steam railway when completed. Already several such roads are in active operation in this state and many more are under construction and contemplation. The Michigan Central is being paralleled from Jackson to Kalamazoo.

tended to Chicago in the near future. The power for operating this road is developed from the great water power near Allegan. The great advantage of the electric road over the steam is the economy of management, effecting a great saving to passenger traffic in reducing passenger rates, and giving passengers the privilege of getting on the cars where they wish, and off where they wish. Electric roads will also doubtless become strong competitors for the hauling of freight when the system becomes more generally used and better perfected.

WHY do merchants encourage the credit system? You answer that they don't. Yes, but they do. If the system were not encouraged by the merchants it would not be in existence today. Did you ever stop to think that the mercantile community of a town is the only body of men that tolerate the credit system. Let's see, you buy postage stamps, postal cards, money orders, etc., on credit; try it and what will you be told? Go to the theatre and you pay money. Express companies demand cash, and railroad tickets are cash on delivery to the purchaser. Why should not the merchants demand cash? Simply because he encourages the credit system. It may be an impossibility to completely eradicate the system, but strict limitations on credit is a step on the right road, and its evolution will be practically a cash basis system of doing business. It is worth a trial and should be begun at once. It would quickly spread like measles in a country school, and when it does it will solve the great problem for all time. When sifted down it would be found that the credit system is the progenitor of and responsible for mere evils that effect the financial business world than all agencies combined. Not only this, but fosters extravagance the purchasing of goods which can be very well done without.

Editor Sees Wonders.

Editor W. V. Barry of Lexington, Tenn., in exploring Mammoth Cave, contracted a severe case of Piles. His quick cure through using Bucklen's Arnica Salve convinced him it is another world's wonder. Cures Injuries, Inflammation, and all Bodily Eruptions. Only 25c at G. S. Darling's and J. E. Dillons.

Dr. W. Wixon, Italy Hill, N. Y. says, "I heartily recommend One Minute Cough Cure. It gave my wife immediate relief in suffocating asthma." Pleasant to take. Never fails to quickly cure all coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Dr. G. S. Darling.

Know When They Have Enough.

The llama, that docile animal which was the beast of burden in Peru in prehistoric times and played the part that was assigned to his cousin, the camel, in Egypt and Arabia, is still seen in large numbers in the mountain districts, but he cannot live in the warmer latitudes along the coast. He is docile, enduring and sure footed. He can go a long time without water and food and chews the cud of contentment when other animals are in distress because of the temperature of the rarefied atmosphere found in the Andean plateaus.

A llama will carry 100 pounds and no more, and if you add an ounce to his load he will lie down and wait until it is taken off. He knows when he has enough, and there is no use in trying to argue with him. The native Indians have learned this by the experience of generations, and when a llama lies down they immediately unstrap and diminish his burden without making any fuss about it. Then, when he is satisfied that he has been given no more than his share, he climbs on to his haunches again and follows the mountain trail for days and weeks at a time without murmuring or slipping or forgetting his good manners.—Chicago Record.

Not long ago a French chronicle—Montmirail of the Paris Gaulois—encountered in a little village of the south of France a gardener who wore, pinned on his clean Sunday blouse, the ribbon of the Legion of Honor. Naturally, the newspaper man desired to know how he got it. The gardener, who, like many of his trade, seemed to be a silent man, was averse to meeting an old and wearisome demand, but finally he began:

"Oh, I don't know how I did get it I was at Baselles with the rest of the battery. All the officers were killed, then down went all the noncommissioned officers. Bang! bang! bang! By and by all the soldiers were down but me. I had fired the last shot and naturally was doing what I could to stand off the Bavarians.

"Well, a general came, and says he, 'Where's your officers?' 'All down,' says I. 'Where's your gunners?' says he. 'All down but me,' says I. 'And you've been fighting here all alone?' says he.

"I couldn't let 'em come and get the guns, could I? I says. And then he up and put this ribbon on me, probably because there was nobody else there to put it on."

Chesterfield's Wit.

Lord Chesterfield was never at a loss for a polite retort. Once he proposed a person as proper to fill a place of great trust, but which the king himself was determined should be filled by another. The council, however, resolved not to indulge the king, for fear of a dangerous precedent, and it was Lord Chesterfield's business to present the grant of office for the king's signature. Not to incense his majesty by asking him abruptly, he, with accents of great humility, begged to know with whose name his majesty would be pleased to have the blanks filled up.

"With the devil's!" replied the king in a paroxysm of rage. "And shall the instrument," said the earl coolly, "run as usual, 'Our trusty and well beloved cousin and counselor?'" At this repartee the king laughed and with great good humor signed the grant.

London Word Butchers.

Time is required by an American ear to accustom itself to English "as she is spoke" in London. The cockney who had no difficulty of corrupting the Norman French, making Route de Roy "Rotten row" and Marie le Bon "Marylebone" and Beauchamp, who was one of the principal lieutenants of the Conqueror and was rewarded with the lands at Warwick, into "Beecham" would readily call High Holborne "Ighobon" and Ludgate Hill "Lugut'll." Indeed the English of the cab and bus driver, bright as they are in their own employments, is not readily understood. One has to ask a bus conductor more than once as to the identity of the place to which he is bound, for in calling out the names there isn't the faintest resemblance to what he considers the proper pronunciation.

The Way Out.

"So you refuse to give me the money?" said the prodigal son. "Not another cent do you get," replied the stern parent.

"Then here goes," said the youth as he seized a silver mounted pistol from his father's desk.

"Unhappy boy!" cried the old man, "would you take your life?"

"No," replied the son, "I'm going to loan this to my 'uncle.'"—Chicago News.

Up to the New Standard.

"I understand you are looking for a servant," said the girl.

"Oh, dear, no," answered the lady of the house. "When I was first married I was foolish enough to occasionally look for a servant, but I got over that. I'm looking for a general supervisor of the household now."—Chicago Post.

Safely Stowed Away.

Mamma—Willie, did you eat that jam?

Willie—Why, mamma, I heard the rats in the closet, and I jest thought I'd move it out of their reach.—Philadelphia American.

"A great many people," says the Manayunk philosopher, "must believe there's luck in odd numbers judging by the way they look out for No. 1."—Philadelphia Record.

 The cable which was recently laid across the straits is said to be the longest telephone cable of its size ever put down. It will connect all the large upper peninsula towns with the long distance talking world. The cable contains 20 copper, wires cost $35,000 and weighs five tons per mile.
 A novel industry has recently been established in Walden, that of manufacturing fibre from elm wood for a substitute for hair in making plaster. The fibre is said to possess many advantages over hair, besides being considerably cheaper. The company is preparing to enlarge the plant at Walden.
 Northern Michigan offers more advantages to settlers than any other portion of the United States. If Horace Greeley were alive today, instead of saying, "Go west young man," he would say, "Go to northern Michigan, young man, and buy a farm for what it would cost you to go west."—Alpena Farmer.
 The first number of the East Tawas High School lecture course was held last evening, when the "Detroit Grand Concert Co.," supporting Harold Jarvis, gave a most pleasing entertainment. The remaining numbers of this course are, November 20, Hon. G. A. Gearhart, on "The Coming Man;" Jan. 17, "The Yankee Volunteers," by F. A. Kelly, of the 32d Michigan Volunteers; Feb. 1, "David Harum," by E. H. Frye, of Boston, and April 11, "Around the Stove," by Hoyt L. Conay. The course is composed of first-class attractions and should prove very attractive.
Hallow'een Party.
 About 50 young people, in response to invitation, gathered at the home of Miss Marie McDonald, in this city, on Tuesday evening, to celebrate "All Hallow'een." The house was tastefully decorated with jack-o-lanterns, evergreens and bunting. Three ears of corn, one of which was red, were suspended in one of the archways, and the hostess explained that they had the same significance as the mistletoe bough.
 The evening was very pleasantly spent—Hallow'een games, taffy and popcorn abounding. The leading attractions of the evening were the gypsy fortune tellers. One the "Black Witch," stationed behind her gypsy kettle, presented a very weird appearance, but made many hearts happy by giving to them the name of their future partner for life. The other the Fairy Queen, under her canopy of white and green "by pouring of tea" read to the several young people (we hope satisfactorily) the destiny of their lives. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted

TAWASA CITY MICHIGAN

There must be a good reason why the coffee lovers of America buy millions of pounds of ARBUCKLES' COFFEE in preference to any other kind. The reason is found in its rich drinking qualities; in its permanent goodness. The quality never changes. Whether you buy it of a big coffee dealer or at a little grocery store around the corner, you get the same coffee, the same goodness, the same value for your money. You can't be deceived if you buy

ARBUCKLES'

Roasted Coffee

It is prepared by an individual firm who value their reputation too highly to endanger it by lowering the standard of their coffee. It is hermetically sealed and put up in packages by people of many years experience and utmost reliability. It is not ground because ground coffee loses two-thirds of its flavor before reaching the consumer. It is not sold in bulk because of the possibilities of adulteration. It is not sold at a high price because it is better to sell millions of pounds of coffee at a small profit than hundreds of pounds at a large profit.

Every package of Arbuckles' Roasted Coffee contains information about many valuable articles that the consumer is entitled to receive.
 Ask your grocer for Arbuckles' Roasted Coffee.

AGRICULTURAL.

Notes for our Farmer Friends
Gathered from Many Sources

DRAWING MANURE DIRECT TO THE FIELD.

In our own practice we draw our manure to the fields in winter and spread it directly upon the land. We then incorporate it into the surface soil in spring. In order to get over any difficulty which we might otherwise have with the long straw portion of the manure, we cut much of the straw used as litter; in this way it can be spread evenly over the land and easily worked into the surface soil. I believe in retaining the manure as near the surface as possible. Many farmers are backward about spreading their manure upon the surface for fear of great loss through evaporation; but scientists tell us, and I believe correctly, that unless there is considerable fermentation there can be no escape of the valuable elements through evaporation. Now, too much fermentation cannot be produced without a considerable degree of heat, and this degree of heat can not be attained after the manure is spread broadcast upon the land. After the manure is thus applied in the green condition it starts up a fermentation in the soil, which tends not only to pulverize the particles of heavy land, but also liberate and render available elements of plant food which the soil contains in a tied-up condition.—Ed.

FIXING UP FOR WINTER.

On the approach of winter it pays to take a few days off and repair the buildings about the farm, so as to make them as comfortable as possible. There may be roofs to patch up, windows to tighten or doors to rehang. All old walls will need attention, especially foundations. The mortar with which stones or brick are cemented gradually dissolves by exposure to the elements, and unless repaired in time they will get rickety and allow cold air to get in when it is quite disagreeable, and in many instances is liable to do a lot of damage. The best plan is to get some cement and sand and mix mortar, as it can be used for making these repairs, and we can soon have walls in as good shape as they were when first constructed. In wooden buildings the boards will draw out the nails, cracks will open and knot holes will appear that need to be closed for the comfort of the lives inside as well as for the preservation of the house. There is little danger of getting rooms too close for health or comfort in this climate, for there is always some crack or cranny where air will be admitted in sufficient quantity to keep it pure.—Guide.

PICK-UPS.

What was the best acre on your farm the past season?

The man with the best stock doesn't have to hunt much for the best market. The buyer usually hunts him up.

Good partition fences between neighbors were never known to cause any trouble.

Some farmers have the neck of always having something to sell, while others always have a bill coming due.

It may be true that the lane is very long that has no turn, but as slow as some people move the lane has to be a very short one if they ever reach a turn.

The more brains a man uses in whatever labor he engages the less muscle he needs to expend. This is true of farming, too, than almost any other calling.

It seems that some farmers are always ahead with their work, and they are not rushed either. It's the man that is behind hand that is always rushed and worrying.

It's a very orderly farmer that can go out in the dark almost any night and lay his hand on any sort of tool he wants. A great many can't do it even in the very broadest of day light.

If you don't care about contributing to next year's increase of English sparrow crop, be sure to close up or destroy their winter resorts as much as possible. They get much more favor at your hands than they deserve.

It would seem that the kind of stock that some farmers are looking for are those that are capable of taking care of themselves, sort of self-feeders and rangers so to speak that will bring in maximum profits with minimum care. They'll never be able to find anything that will exactly fill the bill.

Now that the busy season is about over we should review the season's operations and not only decide what branch of the business has paid us best, but what has been least profitable as well. We should know what breakers we want to avoid as well as what deep waters we want to drift into the next voyage we make.

Beautiful Complexions

Come from pure, untainted blood. No complexion can be muddy, mottled or sallow if the blood is pure; no complexion can be clear of blemishes if the blood is not pure. More than this, disease cannot exist in a body supplied with pure blood. This is the secret of the success of Celery King. It makes pure blood.

Celery King cures Constipation, and Nerve, Stomach, Liver and Kidney diseases.
