Democratic Convention.

The democratic county convention met at the court house in this city Monday, pursuant to call. The attendance was small but the business was promptly transacted with the utmost harmony.

Delegates were elected to attend the state convention as follows:
Sylvester Vaughn.
Milo Eastman.
Henry Gale.
George C. Anschuetz.
William H. Hartley, of this city, was nominated for county school commissioner by acclamation.

Sampson Off on Facts.

An examination of the biographies of men of high rank in the navy shows that Admiral Sampson's theories do not hold good. For instance Admiral O'Neill, Sampson's successor as chief of ordnance, served before the mast and rose by sheer merit; Capt. Dyer, who commanded the Baltimore in Manila bay, also rose from the ranks; Admiral Hichborn, chief constructor of the navy, began as a ship carpenter; Admiral Melville whose superior engineering knowledge is known all over the world, also came up by the merit route. All these officers display just as much "social refinement" as Sampson does himself.—Minneapolis Tribune.

The Easy Saginaw Sucker.

Even in this age of electric lights and enlightenment there be those who still doubt the success of clairvoyance, but a recent test in Saginaw proves to the contrary. A clairvoyant lady has illustrated it to the entire conviction of many. The process was simple, but not within the reach of the humble. All that was required by the madam on the part of the investigator was to bring to her $100 in gold, which she placed in a belt and allowed the patron to wear for three weeks, at the end of which time would be ripe to listen to the unfolding of metaphysical science. The madam's departure before the end of three weeks caused some of her patron to rip open their belts. Prestogol dummie! The money had disappeared and then they remembered that Solomon said: "There's a sucker born every day."—Ec.

Night Was Her Terror.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 58 pounds." It absolutely guaranteed to cure coughs, colds, lagrippe, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at G. S. Darling, and J. E. Dillon East Tawas.

An Honest Medicine For LaGrippe.

George W. Waitt, of South Gardner, Me., says: "I have had the worst cough, cold, chills and grip and have taken lots of trash of no account but profit to the vendor. Chamberlain's cough remedy is the only thing that has done any good whatever. I have used one bottle of it and the chills, cold and grip have all left me. I congratulate the manufacturers of an honest medicine." For sale by, Dr. G. S. Darling.

The Girl of Today.

Every few days some orology for manhood with more brass than brains jumps up with an essay on girls. This abominable class of literature always begins with a sneer and ends with a kick. A distinct flavor of sourness permeates it. The genuine girl is absolutely unessayable. Nobody understands her; she doesn't understand herself. She is a delightful bundle of contradictions. As wise as a serpent, she is as innocent as a dove. She is modest as a violet and as sweet as a barrel of molasses. She is as rosy as a winter apple and as plump as an Indian summer part-ridge. She knows something about the piano and lots about making biscuit. She is tender with her sweetheart and sets the dog on the other fellow. She is an armful of delights and blessed is the youth she takes into partnership in wearing out the sofa. She is a daisy and a dumpling, and in all God's created creation there is nothing to be named in the same breath with her. Them's our sentiments and the man who differs from us has treason in his soul and bile on his liver.—Ec.

Strikes a Rich Find.

"I was troubled for several years chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H., "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50 cents. Satisfaction guaranteed by G. S. Darling or J. E. Dillon drug-gist.

Names for Farmers.

It is a wonder that the naming of farms has not been popular in this country, and that they have been left nameless and uninteresting from the early settlement of the land until to day. Of recent years the more intelligent farmers have recognized the value of having a farm name or trade signature. It is a first class advertising scheme to have a good name for a farm. It is really of more importance than a good name for the animals on the farm. A writer of the Country Gentleman discusses matter at length, and shows how the billboards erected on farms by live merchants advertise everything but the farmer and his products. He says the first thing on a billboard should be the name and postoffice address of the proprietor. People would notice the announcement of good butter or fruit for sale on such boards as quickly as they would soap clothes, or sarsaparilla.

The named farm is easier reached by letters, telegrams or express packages, and is of more interest to every person who lives upon it. To the this habit of naming places this writer thinks may traced why British families cling to such homes for generations. He warns farmers against applying their own names to places, as that is not a lasting method, as the Jones farm may become the Smith farm in a few years, and in a few years more may be known as the Brown farm. Names such as "The Oaks," "Sunslope," etc., he commends. To some extent this naming of farms has obtained in eastern Connecticut, but it ought to be more prevalent because it is of advantage to business. A fitting and worthy name really adds to the value of a farm. It does not cost anything to name a farm, but it does make it more widely known if it is well named.—Norwich Bulletin.

Like Oliver Twist, children ask for more when given One Minute Cough Cure. Mothers endorse it highly for croup. It quickly cures all coughs and colds and every throat and lung trouble. It is a specific for grippe and asthma and has long been a well known remedy for whooping cough.

Got Them All In.

The superintendent of schools at Spokane, Wa., desirous of testing the powers of composition existing in a class of 8-years-olds, requested that three sentences be written, each to contain one of the three words, "bees," "boys" and "bear." A small girl laboriously concocted the following sentence: Boys bees bare when they go in swimming.—Ec.

A Widow's Love Affair.

Receives a setback, if she has offensive breath through constipation, biliousness or stomach trouble, but Dr. King's New Life Pills always cure those troubles; clean the system, sweeten the breath, banish headache; best in the world for liver, kidneys and bowels. Only 25 cents at Dr. G. S. Darling's or J. E. Dillon's drug store.

Plant Shade Trees.

Trees add much to the comfort and beauty of the home, whether it be located in the city or in the country. They should be set out in large holes that have been filled into the proper depth with good, rich, soil. Elm, soft maple, black locust, catalpa, box elder, ash, in the order named, are desirable trees. Every planting should include some elms because they are long lived and more permanent than the others mentioned. Continuous shallow cultivation is necessary for success, and if this is neglected, failure is almost certain.

The editor of the Vindicator has had occasion to test the efficacy of Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice with the most remarkable results in each case. Second, in rheumatism in thigh joint, almost prostrating him with severe pain, which was relieved by two applications, rubbing with the liniment on retiring at night, and getting up free from pain.
