C. F. Saylor, of Iowa, the special agent in charge of the beet sugar investigation of the department agriculture, is in Washington and has submitted his report to Secretary Wilson. He says this year shows a very active tendency toward the institution of new beet sugar enterprises. Next autumn, he says, Michigan will have three new factories, and Ohio, Indiana, New York, Colorado, Utah, South and North Dakota and Illinois will install new factory enterprises, making thirteen throughout the United States now in contemplation. A conservative estimate, he says, is that there will be forty-two beet sugar factories in operation throughout the United States by the end of next autumn. Everything indicates that the industry is throughout the country.

Mr. Saylor says: "Even in the incipency of the industry these factories have shown good profits. They have maintained themselves without any apparent real contest with the sugar trust. The sections of the country that seem most adapted to the industry are where conditions call for new resources, as in Michigan, where there has been a phenomenal increase in the last three years, largely due to the waning of the lumbering industry of that region. There will be fourteen factories next season.

The immense amount of pulp and refuse left after the extraction of the sugar appeals especially to the farmer and the corollary industries that grow out of farm products.

Mr. Saylor says no other feed is so valuable and so cheap for the dairy and stock feeding interests as beet pulp. These factories turn out from 45 to 50 per cent of the original weight of the beets worked in the form of refuse or bi-product. Sugar beet seems to respond especially to cultivation in the arid region where they have given better results than any other crop. The arid section has been enabled to cope with other sections of the country where the crops have been produced by natural rainfall, not only in the amount of tonnage per acre but in the higher sugar contents and the purity of the beet.

Fought For His Life.

"My father and sister both died of consumption," writes J. T. Weatherwax, of Wyandotte, Mich., "and I was saved from the same frightful fate only by Dr. King's New Discovery. An attack of Pneumonia left an obstinate cough and very severe lung trouble, which an excellent doctor could not help, but a few months use of the wonderful medicine made me as well as ever and I gained much in weight." Infallible for coughs, colds and sore throat and lung trouble. Guaranteed bottles 50 cents and $1.00 at Dr. G. S. Darling and J. E. Dillon E. Tawas.

Rural Mail Delivery.

Free rural mail delivery, while a new thing in the United States, is an old system in many of the countries of Europe. The service has been in operation in England for years where it is held in high favor by the agriculture population. Several attempts were made to introduce the plan in this country before an appropriation sufficient to test it was made by congress. It proved a success from the start and during the past two years great strides have been in introducing it through the length and breadth of the land. In this state some whole counties are entirely covered by these lines and the farmer receives his mail in the same manner as do the residents of the cities.

A thought test of the system has satisfied the postal authorities that in a very short time this rural service will be entirely self sustaining in the matter of expense. Already a great increase in the amount of mail matter passing over these lines, in some cases phenomenal, has been noted.

The least in quantity and most in quality describes De Witt's Little Early Risers, the famous pills for constipation, and liver complaints. Dr. G. S. Darling.

The Study Of Insects.

The study of insects is a subject that should engage the attention of every farmer. The neglect of this matter has already cost the state of Massachusetts over one million dollars in fighting the gypsy moth, and the end of the chapter is by no means reached. Millions of dollars are annually lost by our ignorance of this important question. It is just as important that the farmer should know how to detect and deal with new insect enemies as it is to know how to plant corn or harvest crops. If this knowledge was more universally disseminated these new pests could never gain a foothold. It has been well said that a stich in time saves nine, and that is much easier to prevent the introduction of these enemies than it is to exterminate them after they have once got well under way. If the codling moth had been taken in time its ravages could have been prevented; now it causes an annual loss of three million dollars in the state of New York. The same argument which applies to that pest applies to all others. While it is hardly to be expected that every farmer can become an accomplished entomologist, it should at least be his aim to learn the fundamental principles of the science and then put this knowledge to practical use in his own orchards and fields. We are led to these remarks by the near approach of the San Jose scale which bids fair to be the hardest proposition which the farmer has yet had to solve. The quicker our Michigan orchardists take this matter in hand the better it will be for their own interests. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and if taken in time the ravages of this pest may be entirely prevented in Michigan.—Bay City Times.

He is A Wonder.

All who see Mr. C. F. Collier, of Cherokee, Iowa, as he is now, cheerful, erect, vigorous, without an ache, could hardly believe he is the same man, who, a short time ago, had to sit in a chair, propped up by cushions, suffering intensely from an aching back in agony if he tried to stoop all caused by chronic kidney trouble that no medicine helped till he used Electric Bitters and was wholly cured by three bottles. Positively cures Backache, nervousness, loss of appetite, all Kidney troubles. Only 50 cents at Dr. G. S. Darling and J. E. Dillon.

If I Were You, My Boy.

I would learn to be polite to everybody.

I wouldn't let any other boy get ahead of me in my studies;

I would never make fun of children who are not well dressed.

I wouldn't go in the company of bad boys who use bad language.

I wouldn't get sulky and pout whenever I couldn't have my own way.

I would see if I couldn't get people to like me by being civil to everybody,

I would keep my hands and face clean and hair brushed without being told to do so.

I would try to see the little things that I could do to help my mother, and do them without being asked.

I wouldn't conclude that I knew more than my father before I had been more than 60 miles away from home.—Ec.

Beware Of A Cough.

A cough is not a disease but a symptom. Consumption and bronchitis which are the most dangerous and fatal diseases, have for their first indication a persistent cough, and if properly treated as soon as this cough appears are easily cured. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has proven wonderfully successful, and gained its wide reputation and extensive sale by its success in curing the diseases which cause coughing. If it is not beneficial it will not cost you a cent. For sale by G. S. Darling; Druggist.

If people only knew what we know about Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, it would be used in nearly every household, as there are few people who do not suffer from a feeling of fullness after eating, belching, flatulence, sour stomach or water brash, caused by indigestion or dyspepsia. A preparation such as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which, with no aid from the stomach, will digest your food, certainly can't help but do you good. Dr. G. S. Darling.

The following paragraph, which we clip from an exchange, was written by one of the shrewdest advertisers in the country: The value of advertising in country papers is something that very few people are acquainted with. A country paper that prints home news enters into the home people's lives a great deal more thoroughly than the city paper does in the lives of the city folk. An advertisement, brightly written and properly displayed in the country paper, is frequently a subject of discussion at meal times.

Half the world seems to have found uncongenial occupations. Servant girls are trying to teach; natural teachers are tending stores; good farmers are murdering law, while Choates and Websters are running down good farms; and good farmers, in turn, are farming still in congress. Artists are spreading daubs on canvases who should be whitewashing board fences. Shoemakers write good verses for the village paper and natural statesmen are pounding shoe lasts, while other shoemakers are cobbling in legislative halls. Good mechanics and electricians are trying to preach sermons, and wondering why their congregations continue to sleep, while the Beechers are falling as merchants.—Success.

"Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden and terrible attack of croup. I quickly secured a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure, giving her three doses. The croup was mastered and our little darling speedily recovered." So writes A. L. Spafford, Chester, Mich. Dr. G. S. Darling.

Many women have been reproached for the sole object of entertaining. No one doubts that such an aim is petty and narrowing, but it is equally certain that it is a woman's duty to understand The Art of Entertaining, and this forms the subject of an attractive and useful article by Lady Jeanne in The Cosmopolitan for May.

Memorial Day Orders.

Department Commander Allen, of the Michigan G. A. R. has issued general orders concerning the observance of Memorial day, in the course of which he says:

Post commanders are enjoined to make proper arrangement for the observance of Memorial day, and to see to it that so far as possible every mound that marks the resting place of a soldier or sailor of our army or navy, is visited and remembered with a suitable floral offering. This work may necessitate the making of details, in cities of different cemeteries, in the country village or the visit to cross roads churchyard, in either case let the remembrance be observed. Some day it may be to your final resting place that a detail should go.

Let the Woman's Relief Corps and all patriotic women, the Sons and Daughters Veterans, all veterans of the civil war and of the more recent conflicts, together with the school children and all civic organizations be invited to participate with you in the duties of Memorial day.

Post commanders and all officers of the post are requested to use their best efforts in directing the minds of their fellow citizens to a proper observance of the 30th day of May as a day sacred to the memory of men who were instrumental in enabling the business men of to day to enjoy the benefits that he calls his privilege. Let there be a proper effort made to dispense with any attempt to make of the day one for sport and amusement only.

Post commanders are requested to arrange, so far as practicable, for an observance by all churches, on Sunday, May 26th of an appropriate service commemorating the soldier and sailor dead of our country, and it is earnestly desired that with their colors at the front every Grand Army post in this department will attend some such memorial service in a body on the Sabbath next preceeding Memorial Day.

Chaplains of posts are directed to make out their reports on the blanks sent to adjutants with these orders, and to mail them in the addressed envelopes on the day following May 30. Commanders and adjutants will see that this order is obeyed. If there be no chaplain then the adjutant will make the report.

In accordance with the action of the Thirtieth National Encampment it is ordered by the department commander that "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address" be read in connection with memorial services. It cannot be read too often to the rising generation, while to us as comrades it comes as a voice from our beloved father.

Miss Florence Newman, who has been a great sufferer from muscular rheumatism, says Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the only remedy that affords her relief. Miss Newman is a much respected resident of the village of Gray N. Y., and makes this statement for the benefit of others similarly afflicted. This liniment is for sale by G. S. Darling druggist.

HON. R. O. CRUMP DEAD.

Passed away at his home in West Bay city Tuesday morning.

Hon. Rosseau O. Crump, congressman from this district, died at his home in West Bay City, 8.45 Tuesday morning, of heart failure.

Mr. Crump has been in very poor health since last fall, and spent some time in Florida but not improving as rapidly as wished for he went to the John Hopkin hospital at Baltimore where he remained for several weeks and arrived at his home only a few days ago. The deceased was born at Pittsford, New York, May 26, 1843, and has been a resident of West Bay City for many years. He served as mayor of that city from 1892 to 1895, and was elected to congress in 1894, and last fall was re-elected for his fourth term.

He leaves a wife, one son and four daughters to mourn his loss.

Cost of Poor Country Roads

The average cost of hauling farm produce for the whole United States is twenty-five cents per ton per mile. The railroads charge less than half a cent a mile for hauling. Were they to charge a cent a mile a protest would go up from all parts of the country against the robber rates, yet the farmers pay fifty times as much to have their product hauled to the railroad station because the roads are bad, and they do not care to give the comparatively small amount of money needed to get better highways that would cut down the expense.
