The Shiftless Few.

The past generation of Americans has been a working generation. Whether it is that they worked too hard, or that they accomplished too much and have left to their children too little to do has not been satisfactorily settled. Certain it is that there is at least a small class of young people coming up, who are not working enough, either because things are made too easy for them or because the energy of the generation was used up in the father and there is little left. There are young men standing about the corners of the streets of many of our cities who have no more right to be actively engaged in robbing their friends or the public. They are robbing their friends in every truth. Some one has worked for the money which supports them. Perhaps in many cases some one is now working overtime to provide a living for them. There are young men of good family among them—young men of parts, some of them.

Considered from their own point of view what right have they to be wasting their energies or their time? Possibly the young men whose families aid and abet them in their idleness think that it is none of the business of the public. But it is the public's business to this extent no young man who indulges in waste of time and talent will ever make a good citizen. On his own account, it is worth a young man's thought. What is his future to be? Does he realize that he is not only forming a habit himself which will be far harder to break than to form, but also establishing a reputation which will be doubly hard to live down? Does he know that when the time come, if it ever does, when he wants a position, that business men will look askance at him and, recalling his habit against him, shake their heads at his application?

Then there is another place in which the tendency to laziness is showing. It is among some of those who are holding positions. It shows in the lack of willing energy which should characterize the work of young people who are anxious to advance. It shows in the slighting of tasks when the employers back is turned. It shows in the sudden and eager dropping of tasks when the quitting bell strikes, and the race for the door immediately thereafter. Does the employe imagine because the employer is absent that his shiftlessness or lack of application is not known. The average man of business has intelligence enough to gather from many signs the worthiness or worthlessness of the employe. He is not as blind as some employes fondly believe. It may be remembered, too, that he is not blind to creditable work either. But even if he does not see, the employe can never be sure that he is not watched by someone who will form an opinion which may mean the gain or loss of dollars and cents to him.—Saginaw News.

Time To Go Slower.

The attention of those who think us sailing under a clear sky is especially called to the fact that last week as high as 60 per cent was asked and paid for the use of the money. That money should suddenly become so dear time of plenty might lead to the impression that the banks were trying to check the mad rush by putting the screws to the speculators, the plain truth is that the banks have paid out to the end of their rope. They are scraping together of their surplus reserves. The clearing house reports show that twenty or more of them have gone below their legal limit, and the controller of the currency is calling upon them for statements. The banks are also demanding larger margins on collateral loans and are a good deal more particular about the paper they take than they were a week ago. If such a situation shows no clouds to the cheerful optimists of the Hanna type we sincerely hope that the country may never be struck by what they would consider a storm.—Detroit Free Press.

Nose Is Necessary to Human Health.

The doctors say that very few people know how to breath properly, and those that do know seldom do it. Oxygen is the one indispensable thing for the maintenance of health and life, and the only way to get it is by breathing it in the air. We must breathe in the right way however, not only to get necessary supply of oxygen, but to keep out certain impurities that either bring diseases directly or prepare the system to fall an easy victim to them.

The most important thing, perhaps is to form the habit of breathing through the nostrils. The air should be made of nearly the same temperature as the blood before it is taken into the lungs, and its passage over the network of blood vessels in the mucous membrane of the nasal canals gives it the necessary heat. Besides, the air always contains dust particles, and if we breathe it in through the mouth we run the risk of the irritation and infection that such particles often produce. In breathing through the nostrils, on the contrary, we draw in the air gently, along a system of wind canals, and this not only moderates its temperature but purifies it at the same time.

The doctors advise all persons that have to lean over their work, as in writing, sewing or studying, to stop work now and then, sit back in the chair and take 10 or 12 deep breaths. This is especially important for school children, and the wise and considerate teacher will make it a part of the daily exercise.—Lx.

Old Soldier's Experience.

M. M. Austin, a civil war veteran, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "My wife was sick a long time in spite of good doctor's treatment, but was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Life Pills, which worked wonders for her health." They always do. Try them. Only 25 cents at G. S. Darling's and J. E. Dillon's.

M., are requested to meet at the hall, promptly at 8:30 o'clock, Thursday morning, May 30, to take part in the Memorial Day exercises, which will be conducted according to the new Maccabee memorial ritual. It is important that all members be present and take part in these services.

If it proves true, as reported, that the New York Yacht Club assumes to exclude the Boston boat from competition in the trial races for defending the cup; the races themselves will become merely a local matter of no interest outside of New York.

Minister Conger has been making enthusiastic speeches in favor of the ship subsidy bill. Mr. Conger doesn't seem to be aware that every ship yard in the United States has more work already ordered than it can carry out in the next three years. This is a fact.

If the controller of the Treasury goes on, it will be impossible to induce our great men to hold office. His latest performance has been to decide that the Hon. Fred Peck, our representative at the Paris Fair, must pay for his own valet. What an outrage.

In the years 1900 there were 39 new silk manufacturing establishments in the United States to add to those which had been established and doing a large business in the past 20 years. In 1870 the output in this country was practically nothing. Last year it amounted to about $85,000,000.

Agricultural experts who have visited Alaska think the farming prospects as good there as in Finland, where 34,000,000 bushels of cereals are raised annually and a population of 2,500,000 lives in comfort. Alaska's area of farming lands is estimated at 100,000 square miles. Only five states are as large as that.

Of all the makers of the national prosperity labor and capital should maintain, at most any cost or just concession, an amicable peace and a cordial understanding. Their interests are mutual and the welfare of one is the welfare of both. There should be no misunderstanding which cannot be better, more wisely and more expeditiously determined by reason than by force.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Undoubtedly the tariff is too heavy for the legitimate needs of protection, and undoubtedly it is no part of the duty of the people of this country to pay high prices in order to enable a billion dollar trust to confer the boon of the lowest prices on foreigners. That is reducing protection to an absurdity, and Mr. Schwab's testimony has helped Mr. Babcock's campaign for tariff reductions.—Chicago Record Herald.

The Japanese university in Tokyo, exclusively for women, is approaching completion and will be opened some time this year. The institution is the outgrowth of advanced ideas held by Japanese families of education. Three rich Japanese men have given enough to insure the completion of the buildings. In recent years many young women have applied for admission to university courses in medicine, and large numbers are seeking advanced education. A course in civil engineering will be a feature of the new institution.

The well to do of the chief towns of Porto Rico dress in the fashions of European countries, the men wearing woolen clothing throughout the year. The younger women dress very elaborately, their attire reflecting the fashion of Spain, Paris and London. They wear hats, the Spanish mantil-la being reserved for older women. In the smaller towns are seen more of linen fabrics for the men, and less of showiness in attire of the women. Laborers and farm hands dispense with coats and shoes.—Washington Times.

A bill has been introduced in the New York legislature which provides that all holders of liquor tax certificates shall keep on sale, along with their intoxicating liquors, milk, tea, coffee and chocolate. The promoters of this measure claim it is interests of temperance, believing that many would drink some one of these different drinks in preference to liquors if they had the same opportunity to get them that they do the others.

One of the silliest, most outrageous and useless offices ever created in the state of Michigan is that of the state board of barber's examiners, which accomplishes nothing besides extorting money from the barbers, and furnishing political snaps for a few who are too lazy to hone a razor. In return it is of no benefit to either the barbers or the public. A petition is being circulated to have the board abolished, and it should be signed by every barber in the state.—Ex

Young men are beginning to learn that there is a greater demand for skilled engineers mining, mechanical and civil than there is for lawyers and doctors, and that the number of clerks and accountants has never fallen short of demand. When the knowledge of this fact has become more clearly understood, the institutions devoted to the instruction of industrial sciences will be overworked. Even now they are unable to furnish graduates fast enough to meet the demands made upon them by manufacturing firms.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

If there is a law under which the confidence operator, the hold up man, and the thug can be reached, then there is a law under which that brawling imposter, John Alexander Dowie can be brought to justice. If there is such a law the people of Chicago demand that it be enforced against one who has grown rich out of the spoils of his disciples and whose hands are red with innocent victims.

There is no more religion to Dowie than there was to Judas Iscariot. Under the pretense of being the head of a religious organization Dowie carries on the trade of the swindler and the murderer.—Chicago Tribune.

About this time of the year overseers of highways warn out the men of their respective district, plow up the center of the road, throw in roots and sods from the sides and call it "working on the road." Shovelers sit on the fence and talk, and boys a dozen years old drive a team and are credited with a man's day's work. This country has been settled about seventy years, and this sort of thing has gone on from year to year and the roads are a little better than at the beginning and some of them worse. It seems and is impossible to make roads by the present system. A road commissioner that will plow up a road should be asked to immediately resign his office and someone appointed who is up to date and knows his business. The road bed should never be broken up by a plow, but should be gradually raised year by year till it is higher than the ground on either side. Systematize the work require a full days labor and quit fooling and we can have passable highways.—Ex.

An Anti Scratch Recipe.
The Mancelona Herald has discovered and recommends to Judge Bailey, whose garden has been overrun by his neighbor's fowls, the following anti-scratch recipe: Take a stick a little longer than the chicken's leg; fasten it just above the "gamble" joint, then the lower end will drag. When the chicken lifts its leg to scratch, the grounded end of the stick catches in the earth and the bird consequently takes an involuntary step forward. She does the like with the other, and as a result is walked out of the garden against her will. There is one difficulty which Judge Baily may discover in putting the formula into practice. This difficulty will be experienced in trying to find the "gamble" joint, mentioned by the Herald. There are without doubt "gamble" "joints" in Mancelona, but they are located among "chips" rather than chicken feathers, and a judge should be careful of his conduct. Possibly gambrel joint was meant.—Tribune.

MEMORIAL DAY

Will be Most Appropriately Observed by the Soldiers and Citizens of This City.

Next Thursday, May 30, will be Memorial Day, and arrangements for the proper observance of the same by the old soldiers and citizens of this city are made.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to join in the exercises of the day.

Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, local time, the regular G. A. R. memorial Sunday services will be held at the Baptist church in this city. The address will be delivered by Rev. D. Q. Barry. All members of the G. A. R. of the two cities will be present, and the public are invited.

Weekly Climate and Crop Bulletin.

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, Michigan Section, for the week ending May 18, 1901.

The mean daily temperature for the week ending May 18 was 52.0 degrees, or 1.9 degrees below the normal; the average total precipitation was 0.41, or 0.39 of an inch below the normal; the sunshine averaged 53 per cent of the possible amount.

The early part of the week was frosty and dry; the latter part was moderately warm and showery. In most sections of the State the rainfall has been sufficient, but in the extreme southeastern counties of the Lower Peninsula the conditions are almost droughty. Several sharp frosts occurred which were quite general, but the damage, in nearly all cases, was very light, and in most counties confined to low lands; strawberries, early garden truck and early potatoes were affected most; in the extreme southern counties some early corn was cut down and will have to be replanted. Wheat and meadows have generally improved; wheat continues very uneven, some fields being reported in fine condition, while others are very poor. Oats and barley look healthy, have generally made slow growth. Pasturage has improved. Rye is heading and in general promising condition. Early potatoes have germinated nicely. Plowing for corn and beans is well advanced in most counties of the Lower Peninsula; corn planting is quite general and in the extreme southern counties nearly finished; sugar beet seeding is well advanced, and in Monroe county the early seeding is up, and and being cultivated. With but very few exceptions correspondents report that fruit prospects continue very good.

Beware Of A Cough.

A cough is not a disease but a symptom. Consumption and bronchitis which are the most dangerous and fatal diseases, have for their first indication a persistent cough, and if properly treated as soon as this cough appears are easily cured. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has proven wonderfully successful, and gained its wide reputation and extensive sale by its success curing the diseases which causes coughing. If it is not beneficial it will not cost you a cent. For sale by G. S. Darling, druggist.

EVENING DRESS.

An Authority on Men's Wear Tells What Is Correct.

I have never known a social season when there was such a diversity of opinion in regard to correct evening dress standards as there has been this season. On all hands I have noticed a disposition to indulge in all sorts of odd combinations and peculiarities. The evening jacket is worn with garments that were not designed for it, and the evening coat is looked upon by many as merely proper for formal dances. Now in good society in New York evening dress is all that the term implies. It is not jacket dress; it is not semiformal. It is the evening coat and everything that goes with that garment.

The dinner jacket has been so abused that today it is best to do without it entirely. Very few men are situated so that they have any use for a dinner jacket. The average man only attends affairs that call for the evening coat. At the theater, opera, banquet, evening dinner, dance or ball the evening suit is proper. The evening jacket is out of place.

A man should never under any circumstances wear a high hat of any description with an evening jacket. He should not wear a white tie with an evening jacket. He should not wear a black tie with the evening coat. He should not wear black studs and black ties with evening dress because he is in mourning. He should not wear a plaid shirt with an evening coat. With the evening jacket the high band collar and the black single breasted waistcoat are to be preferred. In evening dress either the double breasted white waistcoat or the single breasted black waistcoat is proper.

The plain front shirt is the only proper shirt for evening dress. That may seem a broad statement, but as there is only one plain shirt it is evident that there can be no variations.

There should be only one standard in full dress—that the plain, unostentatious, correct standard. There is no room for the display of personal ideas and peculiar innovations. It is the interest of the trade, wholesale and retail alike, to work for the maintenance of the one proper standard. Evening dress calls for the utmost care in selection, and every retailer should know to a certainty what is right and stick to the best standard and not follow the ideas and the impressions gleaned from promiscuous gatherings where every man dresses as it pleases his own fancy. Haberdashers can recommend plain standard goods for evening dress without fear of either offending good taste or offending the commonly accepted standards of good form.—Haberdasher.

There is a peculiar question involved, the settlement of which will be watched with interest. Rev. A. Waterbury was called to Rose City yesterday to conduct the funeral of Miss Lulu Warner, a teacher in the school of that village who died Wednesday. The young lady was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Warner, of that village, and most highly respected by a large circle of friends. She was about 22 years of age. The high esteem in which George Thomas was held by all who knew him was demonstrated last Sunday, when his remains were followed to their last resting place by a vast concourse of friends and neighbors. The funeral which was held from the Methodist church of this city, was one of the largest ever held here. The remains were interred in the city cemetery. The W. R. C. will serve dinner at the G. A. R. hall East Tawas, on Memorial day. The dinner will be free to all members of the G. A. R., W. R. C. and S. of V. and their families. Others can have their dinner at 25 cents. Tickets can be secured of the following persons: Mrs. Tapp or Mrs. Jamerson, of East Tawas, or L. J. Patterson, of this city. The county road commissioners have laid out and adopted a county road running from the Rifle River near Whittemore to Emery Junction and Arn Station, and from there north to the Hemlock road at Daniel Kennedy's. The new road will shorten the distance from Whittemore to Tawas City several miles and furnishes a good clay road the entire distance. Miss Florence Newman, who has been a great sufferer from muscular rheumatism, says Chamberlain's Pain Balm is the only remedy that affords her relief. Those who didn't believe in advertising failed to get tickets and were left in the wet during the forty days' rain without umbrellas or bathing suits. As most of them could not swim it is thought they took to trees and became monkeys. "Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden and terrible attack of croup. I quickly secured a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure, giving her three doses. The croup was mastered and our little darling speedily recovered." So writes A. L. Spafford, Chester, Mich. Dr. G. S. Darling. A Mio dispatch to the Detroit Journal of Wednesday says that George Russell, a deputy of State Trespass Agent Shien, has seized and marked between two and three million feet of logs on the A. S. & N. Ry. belonging to Lounds of AuSable, which are claimed to have been cut from State tax lands. It is reported to us that these logs were cut from lands conveyed by the Churchills of Alpena, to the Lounds, a number of years ago. If your neighbor is caught in doing some mean act you want him exposed by the newspaper and if it is not done then you say the editor is afraid to show him up, its editor has no backbone and the sheet should not be patronized; but, on the other hand if you are the man who is caught in the same act, then the paper should not mention it, and if it does, its editor is a scandal lover and is nosing in things that do not concern him. It is strange how circumstances alter such cases. Billious is a condition characterized by a disturbance of the digestive organs. The stomach is debilitated, the liver torpid, the bowels constipated. There is a loathing of food, pains in the bowels, dizziness, coated tongue and vomiting, first of the undigested or partly digested food and then of bile. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets allay the disturbances of the stomach and create a healthy appetite. They also tone up the liver to a healthy action and regulate the bowels. Try them and you are certain to be pleased with the result. For sale by G. S. Darling druggist.
