Weekly Climate and Crop Bulletin.

U. S. Department of Agriculture, climate and crop bulletin of the weather bureau, Michigan section, for the week ended July 13, 1901.

The mean daily temperature for the week ended July 13 was 67.3 degrees, or 2.7 degrees below the normal; the average total precipitation was 0.21, or 0.31 of an inch below the normal; the sunshine averaged 70 per cent of the possible amount.

The week has been generally favorable for haying and harvest, but too dry for corn, potatoes and pastures, particularly in the southern counties. The heavy rains of the preceding week delayed field work so much that the past seven days have been almost entirely devoted to securing hay, wheat, rye and barley, and many farmers have been unable to properly cultivate their corn, beans and potatoes.

Haying is quite generally completed in most of the southern counties, it is well advanced in the central and northern counties and has made good progress in the upper peninsula; most of the cut has been secured in good condition.

Wheat harvest is nearing completion in the southern counties and in progress in the other sections of the state; the crop has been quite generally well secured in stack and barn; many correspondents report that wheat was so badly crinkled as to necessitate cutting it with a mower.

Corn has made good growth, but is somewhat in need of cultivation; it is in tassel in the southern counties. It has been too dry for potatoes; early potatoes have done rather poorly; late potatoes are in fair condition. Beans and sugar beets have made good growth and are generally in promising condition.

Oats are beginning to mature, but generally have a short straw; in extreme southern counties they are nearly ready to cut. Pastures have failed during the week. Wheat threshing has just begun and generally light yields are reported. The dry, hot weather of the past three weeks has greatly shortened the berry crop; apples continue to drop considerably.

Tommy Didn't Forget.

The perplexing positions in which spoiled children frequently place their doting parents are sometimes more annoying than humorous. A bright boy out on Chestnut st., in West Philadelphia, brought a smile of anguish to the face of his mother the other day when the pastor dined with the family. Master Tommy was at the table, and he behaved pretty well until the cake was brought in. Then, before the clergyman had been served, the youth suddenly lurched forward and snatched the piece he had sized up as the biggest. The hostess was dreadfully humiliated, and with a distressed look said, "Why Tommy you are forgetting that Dr. Dash is here." With a withering look directed toward the worthy pastor, still clinging to his dainty morsel: "Naw, I ain't forgettin' it," the boy said. "If he wasn't here I'd be gettin' two pieces."—Philadelphia Times.

Troubles of A Minister.

To benefit others Rev. J. F. Vernon, of Hartwell, Ga., writes: "For a long time I had a running sore on my leg. I tried many remedies without benefit, until I used a bottle of Electric Bitters and a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which cured me sound and well." Sores, eruptions, boils, eczema, tetter, salt rheum show impure blood. Thousands have found in Electric Bitters a grand blood purifier that absolutely cures these troubles. Satisfaction is guaranteed or money refunded by G. S. Darling or J. E. Dillon. Large bottles only 50 cents.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve should be promptly applied to cuts, burns and scalds. It soothes and quickly heals the injured part. There are worthless counterfeits, be sure to get DeWitt's. Dr. G. S. Darling.

Recent Work of the Division Or Forestry.

The result of the work of the Division has been to turn practical forestry in the United States from a doubtful experiment into an assured success. Special studies of some of the most important trees, commercially, have been made, from which can be calculated their probable future yield. Cheap methods of harvesting the present lumber crop without injuring the productivity of the forest have been put in operation. Such concerns as The Great Northern Paper Company and The Deering Harvester Company have been led to undertake conservative management of their forest properties. Meanwhile the work of tree planting, particularly in the almost treeless Western States of the plains, has been furthered; the relation of the forest to the volume of streams, erosion, evaporation, and irrigation have been studied; matters connected with irrigation and water supply have been investigated; hopeful progress has been made in the direction of regulating grazing in the Western reserves in a manner fair both to the important interests of cattle and sheep owners and to those who look to the reserve as a source of continuous supply of wood and water; and studies of forest fires were conducted with a view of reducing the great yearly loss from this source, a loss which has been estimated at $50,000,000.

Field work is to go on this summer in 17 states. There are in all 179 persons engaged in the work of the Bureau. Of this number 81 are student assistants—young men, largely college students, who expect to enter forestry as a profession, and who serve during the summer on small pay for the sake of experience gained.

Heartburn.

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich heartburn is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let six hours elapse between meals and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, indicating that you have eaten too much, take one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the heartburn may be removed. For sale by Dr. G. S. Darling.

Lions and Tigers.

There is nothing odd or peculiar about the sleep of the lions and tigers. In captivity they show the same indifference to danger that they manifest in the jungles and by day or night will slumber through an unusual tumult, unmindful or unconscious of the noise. Their sleep is commonly heavy and peaceful.

She Believed.

Hester—I hope you don't believe what Fred Saunders says. He has been in love with every girl in town, first and last.

Bertha—That's why I value his judgment, you know. A man of his experience may be trusted to know a good thing when he sees it.—Boston Transcript.

Not Needed.

He was obviously anxious, and she seemed almost willing. "I shall refer you to papa," said she, with a becoming blush, "before giving you a final answer." "But I am perfectly willing to take you without any reference," said he magnanimously.—Indianapolis News.

No Possibility.

"Are you never afraid, Uncle Rastus," asked one of the scoffers, "of falling from grace?" "Cunnel," replied Uncle Rastus, "how kin a pusson fall f'm de brock?"—Chicago Tribune.

The Best Remedy for Stomach and Bowel Troubles

"I have been in the drugstore business for twenty years and have sold most all of the proprietary medicines of any note. Among the entire list I have never found anything to equal Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for all stomach and bowel troubles," says O. W. Wakefield, of Columbus Ga. "This remedy cured two severe cases of cholera morbus in my family and I have recommended and sold hundreds of bottles of it to my customers to their entire satisfaction. It affords a quick and sure cure in a pleasant form." For sale by Dr. G. S. Darling.

There is said to be a mix up in a portion of the game laws. The amendments as passed by the legislature and the bill signed by the governor are not the same and which leaves the open dates on birds a question as to which is right. Some contend that it mixes dates only on part-ridge and the attorney-general has been asked to set the matter right.

The merchant who wants to win his share of trade must keep himself before the public and keep continually hustling for business. The man who expects buyers to know the bargains in his store should remember that it is impossible for a man to know what inducements are offered by different competitors without he consults his home paper, and when the season is dull is just the time he expects to find bargains in the advertising columns. It is a well established fact that the most prosperous firms are the ones which keep everlastingly advertising for business.

What promises to be the greatest battle between capital and labor ever fought in this county was begun at Pittsburg last Saturday between the Amalgamated Association of steel workers and the United States steel corporation. The men who are employed in the tin plate, sheet and hoop mills left work owing to the inability of their association and the Morgan Trust syndicate to agree on a scale of wages. The workmen are well prepared for a long fight and the effects of the battle may be far reaching. The contest will be watched with especial interest by all students of public affairs.

The allegation is made by the ship subsidy advocates that it costs more money to operate an American line of steamships, because the pay roll is higher than on either English or German lines. And on this account, the men who are more than anxious to get into the ocean carrying trade want the people of the United States to go down into their pockets and present them not only with money to pay a portion of their pay roll, but with a large bonus besides to put into their own pockets. It is difficult to tell where this unjust system of special legislation and favoritism would end unless a halt is called by the people whose servants senators and representatives should be.

An Indian Territory judge recently addressed a jury as follows: "Next to whiskey, the most fruitful source of crime is carrying concealed weapons. You may make up your minds that if a man goes around with a cannon hitched to him, that fellow is either a coward or a criminal. You may think that pretty plain talk. An honest law-abiding citizen has no reason to carry weapons in this Christian day, and the man who puts on a pistol, concealing it, and carrying it around, advertises himself as a coward at heart. If pistols were not carried around there would not half so much shooting be done. It is against the law to carry concealed weapons; knucks, knives or pistols; and it is your duty to see that a stop is put to it.

Michigan day at the Pan-American exposition will be celebrated on August 20th. Governor Bliss and his staff as well as other state officials, members of the legislature and officials from several cities about the state, militia companies and other organizations will attend in a body and try to make the state day one of the biggest in the history of the exposition. When the exposition sets apart a day especially for some state, city or organization, the program of the day is made up altogether in the interests of the organization after which the day is named. This gives a great chance for a state to advertise its resources and the opportunities for investment to be found within its borders and Michigan should turn the day to good advantage.

TO THE COURTS.

The Question of The Rights of the State Land Commissioner to Seize And Sell Logs Cut from State Tax Lands to be Settled.

The right of the Commissioner of the State Land office, through his trespass agents, to seize and sell logs cut from state tax lands will now be tested in the courts. Since assuming charge of the state land office Commissioner Wildey has made a determined effort to stop the stealing of timber from land against which the state held tax claims, and has been very successful in recovering a large amount of delinquent taxes.

During the past winter H. K. Gustin & Co. cut a large quantity of logs from state tax lands in Greenbush and Gustin townships in Alcona county. State Trespass Agent, P. E. Shien traced the logs from the lands to VenEtan Lake where he seized them for delinquent taxes on the lands from which they were cut. Under directions from the Commissioner advertised the same for sale on July 11, but no bidders appearing the sale was postponed until Wednesday of this week, when three bidders from Saginaw and Owosso were present to bid on the same. At this time Gustin & Co. served an injunction on Mr. Shien which brings the matter into the courts for settlement, the logs remaining in possession of the state, until the matter is settled.

The case is an important one in that it will settle the question of the state's right to seize timber and other property removed from lands against which there are delinquent taxes.

Wooden Paper.

F. W. Fletcher of Alpena, in the report of the Michigan forestry commission for 1900, presents, among other interesting information, the following facts and figures:

Twenty years ago it would have surprised most people to have told them that in a few years most of the paper that would come into their hands would be all wood, but to day the paper that you receive each morning, with news of a world upon its face, was a few short weeks or at most months, before, a growing tree.

There was made in the 723 factories in the United States, during the first six months of 1898, 664,839 tons of pulp, or 1,329,678 tons for the year, of a value over $28,000,500.

Of this, about one half was ground wood, and of the remaining half, two thirds was sulphite and one third soda fibre. This immense product would take about 2,000,000 cords of wood to produce and as wood runs about two cords to the 1,000 feet, board measure would mean 1,000,000,000 feet. Land that produces 5,000 feet to the acre is well timbered so that 200,000 acres are annually stripped to supply the pulp factories of this country.

With the growing scarcity of the world's supply of timber the time is evidently almost here when old newspapers, instead of being burned or thrown into the street to scare horses to furnish accidents for daily news journals, will be saved and by chemical and mechanical process recon-verted into lumber for houses.

A Sudden Death.

Mrs. J. C. Schneberger died suddenly Monday noon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. I. Curry, 117 North Baum street. She was assisting in getting dinner when she was suddenly taken ill. Friends assisted her to a couch and in 30 minutes she had passed away. Her death is supposed to be due to heart failure.

Mrs. Schneberger was aged 77 years and formerly an old resident of South Saginaw, but late years has made her home alternately with her two daughters, Mrs. I. Curry in this city and Mrs. Thomas Curry at Tawas.

She was born in Wittenberg, Germany, and came to America when 21 years of age.

The remains will be taken to Tawas tomorrow for burial.—Saginaw News.

The remains were brought to this city Tuesday afternoon and removed to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Curry, in Tawas township from which place the funeral was held Wednesday officiating. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in the cemetery in this city.

The grind of going over examination papers," said the principal of a downtown school yesterday, "has its compensation if one has a sense of humor. Some of the answers are stupidly funny while others are unconsciously witty. One of the questions in the papers I went over this morning was: 'Name one of the cause of dyspepsia.' One boy's answer was: 'Eating green apples and drinking beer between meals.' Another answered: 'Drinking ice water and after dinner speaking.' Isn't that delicious? A third boy said dyspepsia was caused by going in swimming on an empty stomach. Another question was: 'Name some of the vital organs of the human body.' One answer was: 'Heart, liver, lungs and lights.' These are the eternal organs."—Philadelphia Record.

A Cruel Blander.

Two brothers had the habit of calling on the same South Side girl. One of the brothers, George, was to take part in some private theatricals, and the girl had promised to fix up a shirt and a pair of shoes for his costume. The articles were to be delivered to her on a certain evening.

Frank, the second brother, took it into his head to call on the girl that same evening. Frank knew nothing of the arrangements George had made with her to help him with his costume. He rang the bell, asked the maid to tell the girl that Mr. Allen had called and sat down in the parlor.

The maid went up stairs and presently returned, trying hard not to smile.

"Miss Jones says she is busy just now and that you are to send up your shirt and shoes," was the message she handed Frank.

"What?" he yelled.
"I'm to take up your shirt and shoes."
"Thanks, but I may need them myself to go home with. I hope Miss Jones will be better in the morning. Never mind; I will close the door myself."—Chicago Chronicle.

Where He Failed.

The young man drew himself up to his full height.

"I have," he cried, "an unsullied character, an ardent heart, a versatile mind and strenuous biceps."

The young girl yawned and seemed interested.

He was quick to push his advantage.

"I am the possessor of a town and country house, a yacht, a stable of thoroughbreds and a box at the opera."

She hesitated, and a slight flush betrayed that she was listening.

"I have got," he continued, with a certain fierceness, "30 servants, 40 pairs of trousers, 50 ancestors, three automobiles, six prize bull pups and an army commission."

Ah, she had found her tongue at last!

"And how many gold medals?" she lisped.

The young man shuddered.

He felt that he had lost. He had played nervily and high, but she was above his limit.—Judge.

They Like Fat Girls In Tunis.

A Tunisian girl has no chance of marriage unless she tips the scale at 200 pounds, and to that end she commences to fatten when she is 15 years old. She takes aperients and eats a great deal of sweet stuff and leads a sedentary life to hasten the process. Up to 15 she is very handsome, but at 20 what an immense, unwieldy mass of fat she becomes! She waddles, or, rather, undulates, along the street. Her costume is very picturesque, especially if she be of the richer class. They are clothed in fine silks of resplendent hues of a bright red, yellow or green and wear a sort of conical shaped headdress, from which depends a loose white drapery, Turkish trousers and dainty slippers; the heel of which barely reaches the middle of the foot, complete the costume.

A Startling Sermon.

Once when Father Honore, a celebrated Capuchin of the seventeenth century, was preaching on the vanity of the world he suddenly produced a skull, which he held up to view. "Speak!" he cried. "Were you not perhaps the head of a magistrate? Silence gives consent." Then, clapping upon the skull the cap of a judge, he continued: "Ah, ha! Hast thou never sold justice for gold? Hast thou never been snoring many times during a hearing, etc.? How many magistrates have sat under the fleurs-de-lis only to put virtue at a disadvantage?"

Casting aside the skull, he held up another, which in like manner he addressed. "Wast thou not perhaps the skull of one of those beautiful ladies who occupy themselves only with catching hearts after the manner of bird catching?" Then, arraying it in a headdress, he continued: "Ah, ha, Empty head! Where are those lovely eyes which cast such fascinating glances, that pretty mouth which shaped such gracious smiles, that made so many unhappy ones to weep in hell? Where are those teeth which chewed upon so many hearts only to make them more tender for the devil's eating?" and so on, bringing forth skull after skull and appropriately decking them to receive his reproofs.

Europe's Ice Supply.

Few perhaps among the tourists who visit Norway for the pleasures of its scenery are aware that here they are at the headquarters of Europe's ice supply. To the mountain lakes of that country the continent looks for ice. The ice is of the finest quality, for the lakes are of crystal clear water, high up in the mountains, and are surrounded by very tall pines. The ice supply is controlled by syndicates.

After having been cut into great squares by plows the blocks of ice are sent down the mountainside on slides. On the way they acquire amazing velocity and plunge into an inclosed pool beyond which are the ice ships awaiting their frozen cargo.

It sometimes happens that through delay in the starting of the vessels or the cutting of unusual quantities from the lakes to supply exceptional demands the supply runs short. Then it is that ice becomes dear and even in winter time is a luxury that must be indulged in sparingly. But ice is used in Europe far less commonly than in America, and a deficient supply does not occasion the sense of loss that it would cause in this country.—Youth's Companion.

Gilbert Islands Tipple.

Neither tea nor coffee is drunk in the Gilbert islands, but liquor named karafee, or toddy. It is the juice of the cocconut tree, from which it is drawn daily at sunrise and sunset. To obtain it the natives climb up the tall trees and while extracting it keep up a constant yelling to let those below know that they are at work. The sap when fresh is a harmless and delicious beverage, but after it has been kept a day or two fermentation sets in, and it becomes intoxicating. Karafee does not, however, fly to the head, but a man who drinks it to excess loses the control of his legs. However, when this befalls a native he has sense enough to remain indoors and shows his face to no one, for if his chief should ever hear of it he would be tried and sentenced to hard labor and a heavy fine.

In former days a native found intoxicated was tied to a tree and received a hundred lashes, the blood fairly streaming down his back. Besides this, all his lands were confiscated to the king forever.—Overland Monthly.

Witty Barrymore.

Talking of Maurice Barrymore recently, a man who knew him well told this story of him:

Once a wine agent intruded upon a party of which Barrymore was one. The agent told Barrymore he was a man of good taste, and all that, and wound up by saying:

"When you want a bottle of wine in future, will you not gratify me by asking for my wine?"

"Why, of course," answered Barrymore most graciously. "I shall be delighted to ask for your wine. But, heavens! Suppose they should have it!"—Beverages.

Tommy's Mistake.

Father—Come, young man, get your jacket off and come with me.

Tommy—You're not going to lick me, are you, dad?

Father—Certainly. Didn't I tell you this morning that I should settle with you for your bad behavior?

Tommy—Yes, but I thought it was only a joke, like when you told the grocer you was going to settle with him.—Tit-Bits.

Pinched on the House.

Jack—I just saw your wife, old man. She was simply stunning. By the way, you're looking rather miserable yourself. What's up?

Tom—Don't get enough nourishment; that's all. You see, I arranged with my wife a month ago to give her a certain amount each week, out of which she was to pay household expenses and buy her clothes.—Philadelphia Press.

The Play.

Henry J. Byron, one of the wittiest of English playwrights of a score of years ago, remarked on one occasion: "A play is like a cigar. If it's good, everybody wants a box; if it's bad, all the puffing in the world won't make it go."

Sarcastic.

"Why did you leave your last place?"

"Master was too sarcastic."

"How was that?"

"Well, I told him I seen a snail on the garden path, and he says to me, 'You must have met it.'—Moonshine.

often this happens but this is an extraordinary July.

In Missouri the other day Miss

We understand that the quarantine at AuSable and Oscoda against the Tawasess is to be raised this week. It does not matter much whether it is raised or not, as we have heard of no in these cities who has been at all inconvinced by it.

If there is any doubt about the propriety of the shirt waist for men this hot spell has dissolved it. With health and good sense on one side mere fashion will have a hard time on the other in this country? The next thing to go should be the high starched collar.

line and sell at right prices.

We notice that in many places in the state authorities are taking action to secure the cutting of noxious weeds. This is something that should be looked after in Tawas City. Along the streets and in vacant lots burdock, mustard, Canada thistles, etc., flourish and are allowd to go to seed, increasing the crop every year.

On a sweltering Sabbath, in a little church in the backwoods, the perspiring minister, instead of preaching a long sermon, called the attention of the congregation to the figures on the thermometer. "Just study those figures" he said. "It ain't half as hot as you'll find it hereafter, if

The delinquent tax registers through the state contain many credits to tax title speculators who left money to buy titles later redeemed. D. W. Closser, a former clerk, now an attorney at Ann Arbor, has been writing to many of those offering to collect their claims for a compensation. Now the auditor-general, to prevent this speculation, must examine all the books and try to find other creditors.

"Which is the worse, to tell a lie or to steal; mamma?" The mother, taken by surprise, answered that both were so bad that she couldn't tell which was the worse. "Well" said the little one, "I've been thinking a good deal about it, and think its worse to lie than to steal. If you steal a thing, you can take it back, unless you have eaten it, and then you can pay for it. But a lie is forever."

"I wish to truthfully state to you and the readers of these few lines that your Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is without any question, the best and only cure for dyspepsia that I have ever come in contact with and I have used many other preparations." John Beam, West Middlesex, Pa. No preparation equals Kodol Dyspepsia Cure as it contains all the natural digestants. It will digest all kinds of food and can't help but do you good ing to decide on the location and

A pension attorney says under a recent law passed by congress, widows who were wives of soldiers during the civil war and once received pensions under the old law and forfeited the same by re-marriage in case where their first husband's death resulted from army service, are now entitled to restoration of pension on death of second husband, pension to date from date of application.

A gentleman who attended church on a recent Sunday came home and commented in the following manner to his wife: "Ladies should remove their hats in church. No sermon can inspire a man who is looking into a lopsided aggregation of birds stuffed weasels, chameleon skins, ribbons, beads, jets, sticks, straw, pins, paper flowers, corn tassels, thistle down, lace etc. It makes a sinner wish he had stayed at home." No remarks are necessary.

Chief Medical Inspector Spaulding
of Chicago Board of Health has notified Dr. D. C. Howell, health officer of East Tawas, that Henry R. Abair, of East Tawas, a sailor on the barge Stewart, is down with the small-pox, at that port. The Abair family were one of those which were afflicted at East Tawas, and young Abair shipped after the quarantine was raised. It thus appears that the health officers at Chicago do not hesitate to call the disease which has prevailed here small pox.

One of the requirements for the establishment of rural free delivery routes is that the district shall have good roads. It is a reasonable requirement that the carrier shall be able to make his rounds without any unusual trouble. It may tend to have the roads kept up in better shape than they otherwise might be,
for if the carrier enters many complaints the department may shut off the service, and no community that has ever had it would be willing to lose it.—Ex.

The Detroit Journal of last Sunday contained an extensive write-up the romantic marriage of Miss Eva Whittemore and Irving Wilson, which occured at Windsor on Wednesday of last week. The young people have been engaged for some time, and while attending the Windsor races last week, accompanied by the groom's brother and wife, a bet was made to the effect that if a certain horse won the next heat of the race the young people were to be married before returning home. The horse won and the marriage took place.
Miss Whittemore is a native of Tawas City, and the daughter of William Whittemore, deceased. She has just completed her musical studies and was to have been a member of an opera company this fall, but has now cancelled the engagement. Her husband is the eastern representative of the Acme White Lead Works, of Detroit, and a bright young business man.

Be kind to your neighbor and lend him your paper to read if he does not take one, and don't humiliate him by compelling him to ask for it, but lay it out where he can find it when he comes in. Don't be so uncharitable as to hide it because he is as able to pay for it as you are.
Perhaps he has conscientious scruples against paying for a paper he can get the reading of for nothing. Perhaps he is mad at the editor for saying too much or too little about him, in which case the paper dosen't amount to anything and he "wouldn't have the dirty thing around." But he wants to read it all the more to see "what the fool has to say." He has a right to think it good enough to criticise, although not good enough to pay for. So humor the fellow and give him your paper to read. You may get your back up at the editor some time and want the compliment returned.

During last May an infant child of our neighbor was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctors had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days time the child had fully recovered. The child is now vigorous and healthy. I have recommended this remedy frequently and have never known it to fail.—
