BALANCED RATIONS

While not ideal, a good ration can be had from wheat straw, bran and cottonseed meal in the following proportions for a day's ration per cow, says Professor D. H. Otis of the Kansas experiment station: Twenty pounds wheat straw, seven pounds of bran and four pounds cottonseed meal.

A cow fed on this ration ought to give a good flow of milk. The amount of cottonseed meal is a little large, although some dairymen use much larger quantities. If the cow shows any bad effects from its use, the amount can be decreased and if necessary the amount of bran increased. The objection to the above is the cost, but this objection applies to almost any ration this year. In feeding the dairy cow, especially when feed is high, it is well to keep an accurate account of the yield of milk, and just as soon as the cow ceases to pay for her feed the amount of feed should be reduced. It stands to reason that a cow giving a small or medium yield of milk does not need the same amount of feed as a cow giving a large flow of milk.

Cottonseed Hulls.
When alfalfa can be had for $14 per ton, a man cannot afford to pay over $6 for cottonseed hulls. The latter are very poor in protein, containing only three-tenths of 1 per cent, while alfalfa has 10.6 per cent. In feeding cottonseed hulls the Tennessee experiment station found it advisable to feed as high as 15 pounds daily per 1,000 pounds of live weight. This experience, as well as the composition, indicates that cottonseed hulls are not a very concentrated feed and to get good results must be fed in large quantities. At $10 or more per ton this feed would be entirely too expensive to feed dairy cows.

Protein For a Cow.
A cow weighing 1,000 pounds requires a pound of protein a day to keep her in normal condition. If she is giving 20 pounds of milk per day, she requires about 2½ pounds of it.

A Canadian's Views.
Actual experiments have proved that for every 1,000 pounds weight of a live animal 25 pounds of food daily are required in a properly balanced ration that will give enough as a heat producer and flesh former for either beef or milk, says a successful Canadian dairyman. How can that food be supplied at least cost? It is quite possible for every farmer to have each cow give 5,000 pounds of milk a season at a cost of only 50 to 60 cents per 100 pounds. I have reduced the cost of producing milk to 40 cents per hundred. Farmers are losing daily what if properly applied means wealth to them, and increase in wealth, if properly used, is increased happiness. The balanced ration that is costing you 24 cents a day per cow can be had for 9 cents by studying out the requirements of your cows and by loading them both ways. Our railways and steamships act on that principle. I claim that cows should give 6,000 pounds of milk per season. I feed meal every month of the year to my cows because it reduces the cost of keep and increases production.

Varied Crops and Irrigation.
Growing a variety of crops lengthens out the irrigating season and enables the farmer to make better use of his continuous flow, but even this does not even up the difference between maximum supply and maximum use. The greatest necessity is storage until the water is needed.

Things That Are Told.
Economy in feeding gives promise of being of paramount importance to stock raisers this fall and winter, and some farmers believe that shredding the corn fodder will be one great help in the matter.

Fertile farms and well kept fields are traditionally associated with sheep. The consensus of opinion in Kansas is unfavorable toward the policy of burning pastures. In special cases it may be wise to resort to burning, as for the destruction of brush, weeds or bunch grass.

The three varieties of macaroni wheat for seed in this country are the Nicaragua in Texas and the Arnautka and the Wild Goose in the Dakotas.

Fattening hogs, fed all the alfalfa hay they will eat, will fatten on much less grain than without hay. Sorghum hay is good for hogs.

The essential thing in irrigating melons, according to Rocky Ford practice, is to keep the water confined to the furrow, reaching the roots only by percolation.

Working Day and Night.

The busiest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pills. These pills change weakness into strength, listlessness into energy, brain-fog into mental power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25c per box. Sold by Dr. G. S. Darling and Jas. E. Dillon.

THE HORSE BREEDERS

A belief exists all over the east that in the future the west can be depended upon to supply horses at a less cost than eastern farmers can afford to raise them. A month's sojourn in the west looking up the horse industry leads me to the conclusion that such belief is unfounded, says C. D. Smead in The National Stockman. The plain facts are that the low prices of a few years past have more effectually driven the western breeder out of breeding horses than the eastern breeder. True there are horses found in plenty in the sale stables, but the quality of them is poor, in fact very poor in many cases. Scarcely a first class carriage, coach or draft horse can I find. By far too many of them are 100 pounds too light for carriage horses, and when I do find one large enough with a kind disposition and intelligent I find him with poorly formed limbs, too upright pasterns, weak at the knees and stiff in the shoulders.

The drafters we find more of size and lunk headedness than of intelligence, nervous energy and conformation such as will stand the work required of them when put to use. The best horses of all classes have been picked up and the culls left, is about the situation in the west. Many whom I find breeding horses are patronizing stallions of but mighty poor merit. True, there are here and there trotting sires which have size enough and a record made on some race track, and that is about all they have to recommend them. They either have a willful or stubborn disposition, blemished limbs or thick wind. Others are nice little fellows, kind enough, sound enough, but have not size adequate to produce a horse large enough to draw a carriage.

In the coach class I have found stallions with goose necks, rat tails, meaty legs and leggy action peddled about as ideal coach horses and patronized by farmers simply because they were imported. I know of no other reason. True merit they were nearly devoid of. And we find many of the draft sires little or no better. Many have been shown us with hollow backs, high hips, crooked legs, tied in at the knees and sickle hocks. They weighed perhaps 1,700 pounds or more.

There are, no doubt, good sires in the country west of the Mississippi, but they are comparatively scarce. There are some very good mares left there yet on the farms, which would if bred to the right kind of sires produce good horses. But with the sires at present there no considerable number of first class horses will come to eastern markets for some years. This can be depended upon. The west has seemingly been made the dumping ground for the cull stallions of the eastern states.

Shredded Fodder For Horses.

I think that shredded corn fodder makes as good or better feed than hay for horses through the winter, says A. J. Dart in Prairie Farmer. One of my neighbors has wintered about 300 sheep on shredded fodder, and they look better the two last winters than they did when they were fed hay. My experience has been that it makes one of the best feeds that one can have, and the expense is not so great when two or three neighbors work together. But the fodder must be dry when it is cut, as otherwise it will mold in the bin or mow and so prove worthless. There will be large quantities cut this fall on account of the scarcity of hay, and there will be an increased demand for fodder cutters and shredders.

Intelligent Swine Feeding.

Swine feeding should be just as clean and wholesomely intelligent as that of any other farm animal. The quality of the food must indeed be considered. Do not dump great quantities of refuse in the pen and then, if the animals clean it all up, rest content with the idea that they have made good pork off food that cost you nothing. Sometimes the pigs will eat a great amount to find a very little nourishment. Now, the pigs do need a good deal in quantity, but there must be some quality also. If we feed them on the husks, we must add grain or milk or other good food in fair proportion to give them the nourishment they require. We cannot expect to make good pork or bacon out of leaves and the barnyard ravings. If we could, pork would go a good deal lower than it is today, and farmers would be quickly doubling their profits. Yet a little intelligent feeding will enable us to dispose of slops and other cheap foods to advantage. It is all in balancing the ration, so we do not cheat ourselves by trying to cheat the swine.

Have you a sense of fullness in the region of your stomach? If so you will be benefited by using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They also cure bleaching and sour stomach. They regulate the bowels too. Price, 25c. Sold by G. S. Darling.

One of the railroads has made a ruling that a passenger who pays for one seat must be content with that, and will not be allowed to occupy a second one as a roosting place for a collection of grips, or to use any opposite one as a foot rest. There is nothing wrong about the ruling, but it will be bitterly resented by a certain class of traveling people who have an idea that the purchase of a ticket entitles the purchaser to ride on a train, carries with it temporary ownership of the line and the right to boss the train crew.

There is a respectable citizen of a nearby village who is prepared to give vigorous support to a bill for the suppression of the snap shot fiend. The old gentleman was sitting in a rocker on his porch the other day, when his daughter came along with her kodak and got him. Later he went into the house, the hired girl came along and sat in the same chair, and was also taken by the dutiful daughter of the house. When the picture was developed it showed the aged father sitting in the chair with the hired girl sitting on his lap. The girl kodakist had forgotten to remove the film, and both pictures were therefore taken on the same plate. When the old lady after seeing the picture, grappled with her aged companion, it looked for a minute as though things were going her way, but he finally shook off her grip and escaped by way of the path leading to the alley.

What Others Think.

The voters of the tenth congressional district now have an opportunity to express their preference as between a professional politician and a solid, successful business man. "Tip" Aplin, the Republican candidate, is famed as one of the most enterprising political grafters in the state of Michigan. The only work he ever made a success of has been the manipulation of caucuses and looking out for "the boys." In these occupations he is an artist. The Democrats have named as his opponent, George D. Jackson, a practical, progressive and honest business man, whose life has been given to the stern demands of active business enterprise. While he has been adding to the material prosperity to the old tenth, Aplin has been working the glad hand and regularly landing on both feet, with a nice, fat snap. It remains to be seen what kind of congressional timber the tenth prefers.—Clare Courier.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Thirty Years of Suffering.

"I suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Hallway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by Dr. G. S. Darling.

Mrs. S. H. Allport, Johnstown, Pa., says: "Our little girl almost strangled to death with croup. The doctors said she couldn't live but she was instantly relieved by one Minute Cough Cure. C. A. Wakeman.

THE LARGEST FARM

In Iosco County Contains 4,400 Acres of Excellent Land.

Last Tuesday the writer had the pleasure of visiting the big stock farm of George G. Metzger, in Wilber, commonly known as the Tuttle farm.

This farm comprises 4,400 acres of excellent grazing lands, 600 of which are under cultivation, and the entire tract of which furnishes the finest pasturage for stock.

The present owner purchased the property about three years ago, and two years ago last July Col. Samuel B. Thatcher was placed in charge of it. At that time there were practically little fencing or other necessities for a stock farm on the place, and what Superintendent Thatcher has accomplished in those two years is very apparent, even on so large a tract of practically wild land.

COL. S. B. THATCHER.

Since Col. Thatcher came here he has cleared 150 acres, and broken over 200 acres of tough sod, and reseeded 200 acres of new meadow; seeded 200 acres of new burned land with red top and timothy, for pasture. Of the old meadow yet unbroken there are 100 acres. He has 10 acres of splendid Alfalfa which has been cut once and is now ready for the second cutting. This forage plant is good for at least three cuttings each year, and improves with each cutting. One seeding will last from eight to ten years, and there is no better feed for cattle.

This season he has cut over 200 tons of fine hay, all of which is stored in his three large barns. Over 100 acres of fine rye and 50 acres of oats have been harvested. There are yet out 15 acres of as fine buckwheat as was ever grown in Michigan, 30 acres of beautiful corn, six acres of flax, sown late but which is filling well and will make a fair crop, and ten acres of late potatoes, which the recent rains will develop into a big yield.

In two short years Col. Thatcher has built six miles of barb-wire fence of four strands of wire on eight foot posts set eight feet apart. He has drained the lands with five miles of new ditching, and has just completed a dam in the "big ditch," for sub-irrigation during dry spells or droughty seasons, and will put the second one in at once.

Col. Thatcher's special pride, next to his cattle, is the setting out of a magnificent orchard of fruit, plants and shrubs of all kinds, which is making a fine growth, and will come into bearing next year.

The main object of this farm is stock-breeding, and as starters there are now 100 head of as fine heifers as can be found anywhere. One bunch have a range over 400 acres of fine blue joint pasture, while the other bunch of selected Canadian Red two year olds have a range of 140 acres. This bunch were received only a few weeks ago and have not yet been dehorned. As soon as the weather is cooler every head will be dehorned. Besides these cattle there are ten head of fine milk cattle.

Four work teams and eight fine colts comprise the horses. Among the colts are the making of one or two fine matched teams. These are the especial care and pride of Sam jr.

Col. Thatcher can justly be proud of the manner in which he cares for farm machinery, and his example could be followed by many farmers of this county with profit to themselves. Every piece of machinery, including his thresher, engine, binder, mowers, plows, etc., is cleaned, repainted and carefully placed in the sheds. This was a most pleasing contrast to the binders, mowers, rakes etc., which we saw standing in the fields while going and coming.

It is the intention to have at least one thousand acres of this vast tract of land cleared and broke during the next two or three years, and as rapidly as possible the entire farm will be in grass and immense herds of cattle will be raised. When all the extra work to be done in the beginning of this enterprise is considered, at the rate which improvements have thus far been made, it will not take long to accomplish this.

We found Mrs. Thatcher and daughter Blanche, ready to give us a hearty welcome and they took much pride in showing us a large and handsome garden filled with everything to stock the cellar for winter use, all of which was of their own labor and supervision. Besides this they have a flock of over 100 fine chickens which are a fair reminder of a happy Thanksgiving.

The visit was one which was much enjoyed and cannot fail to convince anyone of the sure and permanent future of Iosco county as an agricultural and stock raising county.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Great Favorite.

The soothing and healing properties of this remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures have made it a great favorite with people everywhere. It is especially prized by mothers of small children for colds, croup and whooping cough, as it always affords quick relief, and as it contains no opium or other harmful drug, it may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Dr. G. S. Darling.

The Coming Yacht Races.

Apparently the races this month will be run by the fastest and most evenly matched yachts that ever competed for the American's cup. Shamrock II, the eleventh challenger for the trophy, is pronounced by John R. Spears, naval historian and yacht expert, to be "perfect according to the best American ideas, and the only challenger that has shown perfection in this matter." Her lines above water he declares to be cleaner and swifter than those of any yacht that has yet raced for the cup, and the most cheerful American optimist may well feel some misgiving. Judging from her work before crossing the Atlantic, the present challenger is about 12 minutes faster in a club-topsail breeze than the old Shamrock I. In the form that the latter showed when here two years ago. Her body would suggest great speed in fresh winds, particularly in running and reaching, though in lighter winds—of eight knots strength or less—she would appear to be relatively not so speedy.

The respective merits of Constitution and Columbia are a still open question. In the 16 preliminary or "tuning-up" races which they have run since July 1 they have divided honors evenly. It is only in light breezes and smooth seas that this year's boat has shown undoubted superiority. Columbia, the successful defender of the cup in 1899, has been beaten by Constitution only once—on Aug. 10, off Newport—in anything like a strong and true wind. On that occasion, in a hard beat to windward, when the breeze piped up to 24 knots at times, she lost the race probably only by a mishap that obliged her to luff into the wind for over five minutes, though the performance of Constitution was admittedly most admirable. The final selection of this year's defender will depend upon the trial races now to be run off Newport under the auspices of the New York Yacht club. Provided there is a fair test of speed in average cup conditions, the boat winning two out of three of these races will no doubt be honored with the responsibility of defending the American's cup against Shamrock II.

Cuts and Bruises Quickly Healed.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm applied to a cut, bruise, burn, scald or like injury will instantly allay the pain and will heal the parts in less time any other treatment. Unless the injury is very severe it will not leave a scar. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism, sprains, swellings and lameness. For sale by Dr. G. S. Darling.

Calf Cholera.

Gentlemen have for years been anxiously looking for a cause for this dread disease, but thus far little progress has been made in staying its course. The best success has attended feeding the cows a mixture of equal parts of ground oats and bran, with no other grain either in spring or on grass. Where the disease is prevalent it is also well not to allow the newborn calf to take its mother's milk, but to feed it from the first upon the milk of a cow that has been in milk for some four or five months. The navel and belly of the calf should be washed at birth and twice daily afterward for a few days with a 5 per cent solution of one of the tar product sheep dips or disinfectants.

A Shocking Calamity

"Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Williford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. It's simply wonderful for burns, boils, piles and skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. 25c. Sold Dr. G. S. Darling's and Jas. E. Dillon's.

CHEAP BREEDING SIRES.

Stock Cannot Be Improved With Low Quality Animals.

Many a man has thought he would like to improve his live stock, but he didn't want to pay much more than beef prices for a bull or pork prices for a boar or scrub prices for the service of a good stallion, says The National Stockman. Result—he drifted along in the old way and raised stock that cost him every year or two years the sum he considered extravagant for a breeding animal. There are of course limits beyond which the man who buys a sire for the purpose of improving grade or common herds and flocks cannot go. But it is not necessary for him to go beyond reasonable price limits for this purpose. He can get the improving kind for their actual value nine times out of ten if he is willing to put up the money. On the other hand, there are limits below which no man can afford to buy stock for the purpose of improvement. The extremely cheap pure bred sire is the costly one nine times out of ten. He is costly to the buyer, he is costly to the seller and indirectly costly to all other sellers of pure bred stock.

The live stock of this country would average much higher in quality if there were fewer men who wanted low priced breeding animals and fewer breeders who would sell the kind that is worth only a low price. Better for the buyer to pay a fair value for the better kind and better far for the breeder if he sells only the kind that is worth a fair price.

Eruptions, cuts, bites, scalds and sores of all kinds quickly healed by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Contains no opium. Beware of cheap imitations. Be sure you get the original DeWitt's. Dr. C. A. Wakeman.

"Pingree's Ambitious Projects. "Get me another doctor, Eli." Mr. Pingree said to Colonel Sutton when ill in London. "Get me a good one. I don't want anything to happen to me now. If they will only take care of me now, I am willing to sign a contract with the Almighty to pass away quietly and without a murmur at the end of two years. I have so much to do."—Detroit Journal.
