last week and reports business booming.

Dr. Mooney is now located in the

Banker Routsa Robber

J. R. Garrison, Cashier of the bank of Thornville, Ohio, had been robbed of health by a serious lung trouble until he tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption.
Then he wrote; "It is the best medicine I ever used for a severe cold or a bad case of lung trouble. I always keep a bottle on hand." Don't suffer with coughs, or any throat, chest or lung trouble when you can be cured so easily. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at G. S.
Darling's and J. E. Dillon's Drug Stores.

Our Navy Grows.

The progress made in building up the new navy as shown in the annual report of Admiral Melyville, chief of the bureau of steam engineering, indicates that by the end of the year there will have been added to the sea force of the United States a total of 33 vessels, including three battleships, the Illinois, Alabama and Wisconsin, one monitor, 11 torpedo boat destroyers, 15 torpedo boats, and three submarine torpedo boats.

During 1902 the navy will be further increasing by 19 vessels, including two battleships, three monitors, five cruisers, five torpedo boat destroyers, and four submarine torpedo boats. The battleship Missouri will be finished in June, 1903, and during the first six months of 1904, the navy will be further increased by the completion of five battleships, six armored cruisers, and three protected cruisers.

When you have no appetite, do not relish your food and feel dull after eating you may know that you need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at G. S. Darling's drug store.

A Glimpse into the Future.

Some demented individual of more feet than brains promenaded the length of the freshly laid cement walk in front of the court house the other night, but if, he had any idea that he was leaving footprints in the sands of time he was mistaken, for Mr. Scott between cusses filled his tracks up again.--Gaylord Herald.

And in the course of time when there comes upon the American continent another of the long succession of geological convulsions by which Michigan will again be depressed beneath the waves, and subsequently resurrected, it shall come to pass that a civilization of 50,000 years hence will explore the ancient village of Gaylord, and finding there the filled-up tracks of the "demented individual with more feet than brains," will "restore" them, together with the individual, and exploit him as a specimen savage of prehistoric time. But the scientists will not be wholly en rapport.
There will be those who will argue that the tracks are those of aggrigation bird, and will reconstruct the bird with a beak like a fish pole and a big sack under the gullet for storing fish.
Again others will assert the "tracks"
to have been merely the impressions made by fallen leaves of a tropical plant, and will erect a drawing to illustrate its appearance. Science is strictly methodical in the portrayal of its inaccuracies--or rather we should say, the scientists are.--Detroit Tribune

Stepped Into Live Coals.

"When a child I burned my foot frightfully," writes W. H. Eads, of Jonesville, Va., "which caused horrible leg sores for 30 years, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured me after everything else failed." Infallible for burns, scalds, cuts, sores, bruises and piles. Sold by G. S.
Darling and J. E. Dillon 25c.

A Fiendish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F.
Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got so lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man.
This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health.
Only 50c at G. S. Darling's and J.
E. Dillon's drug stores.

Fattening Cockerels.

Separate them early from the pullets and give them the range of a large yard and clean, airy quarters. Ground barley or oats, with one-third cornmeal mixed up with skim milk, makes a splendid growing and fattening food.
Two weeks before killing pen them up and feed on corn and cornmeal. Give pure, fresh water and keep before them a box of sharp grit.

Rotation of Potato Crops.

Once for all the continuous growing of potatoes without crop rotation is not to be recommended, as a rule, but there may be exceptions, says Alva Agee in National Stockman. It may do in swamp lands and in new soil for a few years, but on old lands where soil fertility is the big question a good short rotation is decidedly the best for both soil and crops.

Pumpkins For Hogs.

Pumpkins for hogs can be kept quite late in the fall by placing on shelves in a barn where they will be dried. Of course they should be fed out before very cold weather arrives.

The anarchists say that they intend to hang together. We are willing, though we should have been satisfied if they hanged separately.

Schley said not only "Dam the Texas," but also "Give the hell; bullies." Now we understand why Fighting Bob was angry; he was jealous of losing his reputation.

The latest census bulletin shows that Chicago outclasses all the other large cities in the number of deaths from railroad accidents. Its total for the census year is 330 while the combined total for nine other big cities is only 486.

After traveling some 5,600 miles in his automobile over the roads in various states and Canada, Arthur J. Eddy has returned to Chicago. He found the Canadian roads the best traveled, and those in Michigan and Ohio the worst. He says, "The Michigan roads are a disgrace to the state." A little wholesome truth like this may possibly be good where it is evidently needed.

It is somewhat amazing to notice how public attention is concentrated on the sins of Tammany, while the Republican ring in Philadelphia, which is if anything more corrupt and more unblushing, goes practically unscathed. Both organizations are unspeakably vile; both should be wiped out of existence; there is no justice in condemning one more than the other.

The Lansing Journal observes that the sugar trust first tried to fight the beet sugar industry by claiming that beet sugar was inferior to that made from cane. This being disproved, the trust reduces the price in states where the beet sugar industry is thriving. If it succeeds in driving the factories out of the business the consumer will be compelled to pay the trust all it has lost in the fight. Probably the real purpose of the trust is to make the beet sugar business unprofitable and discourage the erection of any more factories.

According to a Chicago paper the daily and weekly papers all over the country are still filled with scare articles on the potato situation. It is claimed no working man will be able to purchase potatoes this season. This is putting the situation in the wrong light and misleading farmers who will perhaps hold their potatoes too long, to their detriment. Despite all the talk of famine in the crop, well posted potato men assert that the late crop of potatoes will be sufficient to supply all demands at a fair price.

The Michigan University cost over half a million dollars a year. This is met as follows. From the quarter mill tax, $248,647; from special appropriations, $6,000; university interests, $38,436; earnings from students' hospitals, etc., $259,200; and other sources, $36,048. One item under earnings is $2,685, paid by medical students for human bodies for use in dissection. Salaries roll up the biggest item under expenses; they aggregate $343,785. The law department is the only self-sustaining one, costing $46,690, with receipts from students' fees of 42,632.

"I had long suffered from indigestion," writes G. A. LeDeis, Cedar City, Mo. "Like others I tried many preparations but never found anything that did me good until I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. One bottle cured me. A friend who had suffered similarly I put on the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. He is gaining fast and will soon be able to work. He used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure indigestion had made him a total wreck. Dr. C. A. Wakeman.

The announcement that two of President Roosevelt's children will attend the public schools of Washington gives a very favorable impression as showing the democratic spirit of the new executive and his sympathy with and interest in the public school system. Mr. Roosevelt lived in Washington a few years ago, and then, as now, his children were pupils at the public schools. And they had as associates the children of senators and congressmen, high government officials and of others less prominently placed. The public schools of this country are among its greatest and best institutions, and men in authority recognize their value by sending their children to be trained therein.

About Sugar.

Willitt & Gray, New York, publish the following in their sugar circular: "The total consumption of sugar in the United States last year was 2,219,847 tons, and based on the average increase of 6.34 per cent during the past nineteen years, the consumption this year should be 2,380,585 tons. Of this quantity 1,000,000 tons in round figures will come from American sources, say Louisiana being able to produce 350,000 tons. United States beet factories 150,000. Hawaii 350,000 and Porto Rico 150,000, all being free of duty, leaving 1,380,585 tons to come from other sources and on which duty is paid. The average duty assessed is $36 per ton, or a total of $48,981,060. The price of all the sugar consumed, however, being enhanced to the extent of the duty of $36 per ton or a total of $84,981,060, it is evident that $36,000,000 additional is paid by the people in order to provide the government with $48,981,060 for revenue, of which the government is not now in need. If the duty is taken off Cuba sugar, the benefit of $85,000,000 goes to the people.

For a Pardon.

A petition to the state board of pardons is being circulated and largely signed in this county asking for the release of Jacob Katterman and William Reynolds, who, with William White, were sent from this county to Jackson prison 18 years ago for the Sholtz murder.

White was pardoned about two years ago, and the general opinion here is that Katterman and Reynolds should receive the same clemency, at once. Thus far the petition has been signed by a large number of the best citizens including several of the jurymen who convicted the men.

The Supervisors.

The board of supervisors met Monday-pursuant to adjournment from last week, and are still in session. A large portion of the week has been taken up in passing on the bills from Oscoda, East Tawas and Tawas City for small pox cases. Oscoda presents a claim for $373.47 for one case, East Tawas, $432.18 for the care of some 15 or 20 cases, and Tawas City, $25.00 for two cases. The bill from this city and nearly all of the East Tawas bill has been allowed. The Oscoda bill is still under consideration.

The committee on finance and apportionment recommended the raising of $19,000 for county taxes this year, which does not include the county road tax amounting to $1,800, both amounts were appropriated by the board, making the total amount apportioned $20,800.

The board will probably be in session the balance of the week.

An Ornamental Fuel Saver.

Burton's Fuel Economizer is being universally adopted to prevent the usual waste of heat up the chimney and force it to radiate into the room. It increases the heat in the room where the stove is located, and heats one or two additional rooms without additional stoves or labor. It soon saves its cost, $4.50 or $5.00, by the reduced amount of fuel used. It is substituted for the second length of stovepipe above the stove, or used in any room through which the stovepipe passes. Furnished by all stove and hardware dealers; manufactured by W. J. Burton & Co., 168-170 W. Larned St., Detroit, Mich.

Mothers, every where praise "One Minute Cough Cure for the suffering; it has relieved and the lives of their little ones it has saved. Strikes at the root of the trouble and draws out the inflammation. The children's favorite Cough Cure. Dr. C. A. Wakeman.

Attempted to Break Jail.

Arthur Sills, who is awaiting trial at next term of court for arson, made a bold attempt to escape last Sunday evening. He made a wrench out of a round of a chair leg and two small iron nuts which he had secured, and with this removed the bolts which hold the inside grat of the jail corridor. He had then pried loose one of the bars of the outside grate, and was just ready to make his escape when Sheriff Johnson and Deputy Chase, who had been out in the country, returned. Noticing no light in the jail corridor, Sheriff Johnson at once investigated and discovered the young man in time to prevent his escape.

Japanese Entertainment.

Under the auspices of the ladies of the Baptist church of Tawas City, Dr. Tomo Inouye, a Japanese lady, will appear at the court house on Friday evening, Nov. 8. The following endorsement is given this pleasing lecturer and entertainer: FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, ANN ARBOR, MICH., August 17, 1901.

To whom it may concern: I have known Miss Inouye for some time and been greatly interested in the story she tells. She is a graduate of the University and expects soon to return to her own country and people to work for the Master in her chosen calling. She is a most excellent christian woman, a fine speaker and will interest any audience. Y. M. GELSTON, Pastor.

ABOUT PLOWING.

Theory and Practice Illustrated and Described.

Much has been written from time to time as to why ground should be plowed and how plowing should be done to secure best results. Many sketches have been made showing the relative size, angle and lap of the average plow furrow, but these sketches seldom give a correct picture of the actual furrows

FIG. 1.—THEORETICAL PLOWING.

As made by the average plow, says a Rural New Yorker writer in preface to the following:

Fig. 1 is a copy I have made of a sketch of the cross section of some plow furrows illustrated in a recent issue of an agricultural paper.

This was intended to show how some plows turned a furrow at too steep an angle. In reality no plow turns such a steep furrow in actual use. It is impossible to turn such furrows in ordinary plowing, and the sketch is simply a monstrosity or freak of the imagination of the writer or artist. Stiff June grass sod can be turned up to almost stand on edge, as the figure indicates, provided the plow is adjusted to cut a narrow, deep furrow. But the sketch shows a shallow, wide furrow, and no farmer ever owned a plow that could "perform" that way, and no such plowing was ever "performed."

I have made Fig. 2 to show how such plowing as shown in Fig. 1 would "work out" if any plowman attempted the feat. Granted that the first five furrows actually stand as shown in Fig. 1, the next furrow, A, of the same relative width and depth, is turned up and over by the plow, adjusted to cut and turn furrows of similar size. Where would it lie or stand? The dotted line indicates its position in cross section, and no plow or moldboard adjustment of any plow could possibly carry the sixth furrow, A, far enough to the right to stand it on edge beside the fifth furrow. The writer of the article is wrong in making a sketch showing such a relative impossibility and stating that such plowing is to be seen as indicated in Fig. 1.

How does the average plow turn or leave a furrow? I went into our cornfield a few weeks ago, when our man was plowing clover and timothy sod for corn. The plow used was and is a general favorite throughout the country. It was set to plow a furrow eight inches deep and fourteen inches wide. I took a spade and carefully cut out a vertical section of three furrows and took a photograph, as shown herewith. The picture shows just how a cross section of the average furrow looks. In

There is but a slight "lap," the furrow lying not quite flat. The furrows shown in this picture are of the mold variety.

The plow is a standard make for this section of country, with the proper width, height and curvature of moldboard.

The furrows illustrated are similar to those turned by a great many thousand farmers who read this paper. We use a jointer to turn under grass, manure and the upper inch and a half of surface soil, which leaves a perfectly clean furrow, as no trash can stick out. The moldboard in lifting and turning manipulates or agitates every cubic inch of the furrow, as the picture shows.

The whole process loosens and aerates the furrows and leaves them in fine condition for further operation thereon by means of the harrow and roller. The ideal soil for manipulation with these tools is a clay loam with a slight admixture of sand.

Items About Sugar Beets.
The sugar beet diseases thus far noted in Ohio are root blight or root rot, heart or dry rot, scab, crown gall and bacteriosis, attacking the roots, and leaf spot, attacking the leaves.

For scab and bacteriosis it is suggested to avoid infected lands. The same may apply with respect to crown gall.

For leaf spot it is recommended to use bordeaux mixture and to add arsenite for the commoner insect troubles.

RUSSIAN WHEATS.

Drought and Cold Resistant Varieties—Hard Winter and Macaroni.

To show the value of the use of the hardy varieties of the Russian type of wheat one need only call to mind the Crimean wheat, known under the misleading name of Turkey, which has been grown for twenty-five years or more in Kansas and is now also grown extensively in Nebraska, Iowa and Oklahoma and to a lesser extent in other parts of the country. By its hardiness it has entirely revolutionized the winter wheat industry of the middle plains states. Even this variety, however, occasionally succumbs to the winters in parts of Iowa and Nebraska and falls entirely in South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

It is therefore desirable to secure varieties still harder than the Turkey. That it is possible to do this in east and south Russia is the opinion of Wheat Expert M. A. Carlton of the department of agriculture. He says that the Kharkov winter wheat from the eastern part of Kharkov, where summer droughts are common and cold, is increased by dry, piercing winds and the absence of snow, is probably one of the hardest of all known winter varieties and ought to be able to withstand the winters of South Dakota and Minnesota. It is bearded and has a white chaff and very hard red grain. Another variety, Beloglino, is probably a little more drought resistant and a little less resistant to cold and is perhaps adapted to regions west of the one hundredth meridian of the great plains as far as extreme western Nebraska and eastern Colorado. Uta and Buiwola are resistant to drought and of excellent quality.

Other Russian varieties resistant to drought of good red grain, but not so resistant to cold as those just mentioned, are Odessa White Chaff, Odessa Red Chaff and Roumanian White Chaff. These three varieties ought, according to Mr. Carlton, to give excellent results in Oklahoma, northern Texas and a large part of Kansas.

The greatest endurance of drought is exhibited by wheats of the Durum group, commonly called macaroni wheats. In eastern Russia, Turkistan and Algeria these wheats produce very fair crops with ten to twelve inches or less of rainfall per year. Experiments made with these varieties have already given sufficiently favorable results to show that they are admirably adapted to the driest portions of our great plains and will probably prove successful also in Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and the drier portions of Oregon and Washington.

In addition to drought resistance these varieties have the advantage of being resistant to the attacks of leaf rust and other parasitic fungi.

On the other hand, they are very liable to injury in severe winters and must be used as spring varieties north of the thirty-fifth parallel. South of that latitude they may be sown in October or November and become practically winter wheats.

Hop Picking in California.

Now we have Chinese, Japanese, Indians and whites, the last being most numerous, says an authority on hop growing in California. The Chinese are the fastest pickers, but do the most unclean work; the Indians are the slowest and cleanest pickers; the Japanese pick well and are the least troublesome; the whites pick well, but slowly. Hop picking has become more popular with the whites in recent years. They come with their camp wagons, chickens, dogs, cats and cows. The butcher, the baker and the groceryman come around every day and furnish such things as are needed by the pickers, who camp near the yards. No charge is made for wood, water, cabins, tents or horse pasture. As some of the pickers come without means, part of their wages is paid as fast as due to all who wish, but no settlement is made till the harvest is done except in case of some picker who is obliged to leave.

The Best Way to Tie a Bud.

We have before us two articles on budding, and they are correct, well written and practical. However, as a result of long experience in the operation, we believe we can improve on these or any other method of tying, says Texas Farm and Ranch. The tie, whether of bast, split rush or what not, should be about one-fourth inch wide. Having inserted the bud and cut away any part of the bark that may project above the horizontal cut, take the tie between the thumb and first finger of each hand, place it flatly across the cut above the bud, by a slight lateral motion force it down close to the bud, pass the ends back, cross and bring them forward, crossing over the slit, and back again, and tie with a single knot; or, if the slit is too long to be well covered thus, bring the ends of the tie to the front again and tie over the lower part of the cut. This is the best and fastest method we ever tried.

Manuring Land For Strawberries.

The use of well rotted manure plowed under when preparing the land for plants gives the best of results in many cases. Especially is this the case when a dry growing season occurs, the plants being able at once to obtain available plant food and growing without a check and making runners early in the season. In many soils the manure adds the needed humus.

Green or half rotten manure is more often an injury than a benefit because of the many weed seeds it contains. Many strawberry beds are practically ruined by the weeds introduced by the use of such manure.

Perhaps the better method of using manure is to apply it rather heavily to the crop grown on the land the year before strawberries are planted, following that crop with a cover crop to be plowed under in the spring before seeding plants.—Professor L. H. Bailey.

IN THE APIARY.

Young, Healthy Bees and Full Storages For the Winter.

Like preparing bees for the honey season, preparations for the winter should be commenced some two or three months before the actual time of packing the hives with chaff or packing in the cellar, according to whatever method is practiced, says a Missouri correspondent of Farm, Field and Fireside.

When we close the hives for the last time in the autumn, we should see that the colonies are strong and have sufficient stores to last them until nectar can be gathered the following spring. We should know also that they have a good prolific queen, and if one is of the current season's rearing I consider her better than if older, though a queen may be two years old without necessarily being inferior as to prolificness.

Mr. G. M. Doolittle, that studious and careful observer, states "that during the busy season a worker bee will live forty-five days." He has also had bees to live from Sept. 1 to July 4.

As the queens usually quit laying some time in October and do not commence again until February in this latitude, it is evident that the bees that live over winter must attain considerable age as compared with the life of a worker during the working season.

As comparatively little brood is reared in February and March it will be seen that it is not until April or May that the young bees are able to take the place to any considerable extent of the old bees that have gone through the winter.

Therefore the bees that go through the winter, we may say, must live on an average to the age of six months. From this it must be evident to all that if we start into winter with young, healthy bees our chances of wintering them successfully are far greater than if we should commence the winter with old bees whose lives have already been partly exhausted.

FEEDING LAMBS.

Fattening For the Fall Markets. Some of the Rations Used.

In preparing lambs for the early market the best gain in the writer's experience at the Wisconsin station has been made by four lambs that were fed a mixture by weight of four parts of bran, four parts of cornmeal and one part of linseed meal. When the experiment started, the lambs were about three weeks old, and they were fed for ten weeks on this grain ration, receiving in addition the milk of their mothers. The average weight of each lamb at the beginning of the experiment was 18.6 pounds and at the end 62.5 pounds, an average weekly gain per head of 4.48 pounds. They each ate 26.6 pounds of the grain mixture during the ten weeks, costing 18 cents per head.

Under some conditions it may not be profitable to put the lambs on the market early or to carry them over the winter, but it may be better to sell them in November before housing is required. The best weights that we have obtained at the Wisconsin station with lambs fed until November have been made by the lambs previously mentioned as receiving bran, cornmeal and linseed meal before weaning. After weaning they were fed two parts of ground corn and one part of linseed meal by weight. On Nov. 19 each lamb averaged 102.7 pounds in live weight, and in the nineteen weeks that elapsed after weaning they had made an average weekly gain of 2.66 pounds per head. They each ate 183 pounds of the grain mixture, in addition to pasturage, at a cost of $1.47 per head for the grain.

In another trial five lambs being fattened on pasture after weaning were made to weigh an average of 97.6 pounds by Nov. 8. In the twelve weeks before weaning they had gained an average of 3.4 pounds weekly by eating fifty pounds of equal parts of linseed meal and bran, costing 47 cents, and after weaning they received old oats and pasture. During the fourteen weeks so fed they made an average weekly gain of 1.4 pounds, and they ate 52.1 pounds of oats per head, costing 56 cents.

More economical results were obtained by restricting the amount of oats to five-tenths of a pound per head daily while the lambs were on good pasturage.—J. A. Craig.

The Business Side of Dairying.

The business side of dairying is what Superintendent Converse is endeavoring to bring prominently before the people in his practical illustrations at the Pan-American. If he succeeds in awakening an interest in this sadly neglected side of dairying, he will have accomplished a great deal. It is not so much the results of this particular dairy, important as they are, but the fact that the different breeds of cows may be shut up in a building on the fair grounds and every scrap of feed bought at the market price and a steady profit derived from each herd every week. The most careless farmer possesses advantages that these exhibition herds do not have, and in summing up the totals account should be taken with this side issue.

"For three days and nights I suffered agony untold from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines but all to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely." This remedy is for sale by Dr. G. S. Darling.

What Happened in a Drug Store.

"One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a bottle of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Chamberlain, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bottle of the remedy and after giving it a fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In the course of a day or two the lady came back in company with a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy." It is sold by G. S. Darling.

Begonia Gloire de Lorraine.

The first season of the Gloire de Lorraine begonia in this country it was quite a provoking plant to the propagator, who expected to strike cuttings in the winter time and could get no suitable wood. It does nothing but bloom in the winter, and it is May or June before the wood which makes good cuttings comes up from the base of the plant. This roots freely and will make fine plants in six and eight inch pots by Christmas.

Hydrocyanic Gas in Greenhouses.

Speaking of hydrocyanic gas for fumigation of greenhouses, a florist says: The point to be gained in the use of the gas is that it is death to all insect life, scale, mealy bug, red spider, green fly and all the host of pests making the life of the florist miserable. Incidentally it will remove the florist also if he so desires, as it is a most deadly poison.
