Football Innovations.

Every year brings out a new crop of paraphernalia designed for different branches of sport, and this year has not proved to be an exception. Many innovations have been "sprung" on devotees of athletics during the last summer, and now that fall has arrived the producers of football equipment have demonstrated that they have not been are tackling gloves, improved head guards, double cleated, steel braced shoes and reed padding for trousers.

Head Coach Conibear of the University of Chicago devised the tackling there are zeveral available men. glove which was used by Captain Jimmy Henry of last year's team. It is a decided novelty and is intended to protect a player when making a difficult tackle. Double cleated shoes are calculated to give the runner's feet a firm purchase on the grass and muddy and. They are re-enforced on the sides from sole to top with steel strips invented by Trainer Mike Murphy of Yale.

An Irish Sporisman's Views. James Wilson, captain of the Irish team that won the international rifle match at Sea Girt, who recently sailed for home, had some interesting comments to make on American golfing. When not in the butts, he is on the links, and he is captain of the foremost club in Ireland, the Royal Portrush, the links beloved of Harry Vardon and H. H. Hilton and the home course of Miss Rhona Adair and Miss May Hezlett, women champions of the United Kingdom in 1900 and 1899. After the rifle match Mr. Wilson went from Sea Girt to Atlantic City, where he followed the amateur championship with keen inter-

"I am bound to say," remarked Mr. Wilson at his hotel in New York the night before sailing, "that I saw enough good golf on the part of quite young men to make me feel that the Travis-Douglas leadership has been seen for the last time in this country. The young men have excellent style and are improving" glewood, N. J., and spoke well of both links, particularly of the large and true putting greens. He played two days at St. Andrews, N. Y., which he pronounced a good course, but the greens are not in average condition, while he grew eloquent on the lovely scenery and "real sporting hazards." For the few days before sailing he was the guest of P. W. Relyea in Westchester county, N. Y., and played over the Country club and Apawamis links, pronouncing the latter equal to the many of the noted inland links of England.

Basket Ball In the Colleges. College basket ball, still a young sport gives evidence of making great strides the coming season. Already Columbia and Harvard are considering plans for the formation of a five team intercollegiate basket ball association. Such a league would give the sport a great boom and by making it possible to have an intercollegiate champion would put it more on the plane of hockey and lacrosse.

Columbia expects to foster basket ball this year, for she had a good team last season, and now has great hopes of producing a championship five. Victory over the colleges is her only object, and the other matches to be played are more from financial necessity and for practice than anything else. Two er three big games are all Columbia can support in her own gymnasium, and the maintenance of her quintet must come largely from out of town

H, C. Townsend, who rowed at No. 2 in Columbia's varsity crew last July will play guard, and C. M. Marston will occupy the same position on the other side of the line. These two form a splendid defense. Captain Allen, Frank Goodman and H. H. Elias will play forward, and no better men for these four positions are desired. Only at center is a new man needed, and

Jack Doyle's Contract.

One report has it that Jack Doyle is to be with the Washington American | 6 3 league team next mring. As a matter | # # of fact, Doyle signed a two years' contract with Chicago last spring and says that is where he will play next year.

The Children's Friend,

For coughs, croup, bronchitis, grip and other winter complaints. One Minute Cough Cure never fails. Pleasant to the taste and perfectly safe, C. B. George, Winchester Ky: 'Our little girl was attacked with croup one night and so hoarse she could hardly speak. We gave her a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure. It relieved her immediately. When she awoke next morning she had no signs of hoarseness or croup.' Dr. C. A. Wakeman.

Gowned in exquisite taste, almost regal in her bearing, Mrs. Clarence Mackay passed out of the United States hotel at Saratoga on her way to the races. One summer girl there sighed, "I would almost rather be one of Mrs. Mackay's maids than some of the rhododendrons of the piazza," she said as she glanced at the wallflowers. "Just think of it! The Mackays have three cottages here on the hotel grounds, and one of them is set apart for my lady's servants! Fancy having such a luxury just for one's servants! And even some of the most assuming patrons of the house have to be satisfied with hall bedrooms on the top story."

A Physician Testifies.

"I have taken Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and never used anything that did me the good that did," says County Physician Geo. W. Scroggs, Hall County, Ga. "As a physician I have prescribed it with the best results." If food remains undigested in your stomach it decays. To prevent this by dieting means staryation. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. You need suffer neither dyspepsia nor starvation. Dr. C. A.

There are indications that the ve tical system of penmanship taught o late in the public schools is to go the way of all fads. The schools of New York City have returned to the slant system and at other places they either have or are about to do so.

How many people know that our export trade, which has reached such an enormous total, amounts up to only about $20 for each one of our population? Increase our individual earning power by the small sum of $20 a year each and we would buy all the goods we now export and use them ourselves. More, we would be glad to use them if we could afford to. Our prosperity therefore, seems, does not depend on our export trade but on our home markets.

Those who understand the art of advertising invariably succeed and ont. The reporters get discouraged, amass a fortune. There is not a single exception to this rule, Adver- something which ought to have aptising, to be successful, should not be peared on time, make derogatory respasmodic and intermittent, but continuous. There is no such word as fail to the persietent advertiser. Should he expect his results from a single advertisement it is no more reasonable than a man would be to expect favorable results from taking down his shutters one day in every month and keeping them closed the remainder, or than a man who shrouds his signs of business except on particular days, and for long intervals of time!

The Value of Courtesy.

A few days ago a young man went nto a store and asked to see a certain style of collars. There was a clerk behind the counter who wore the air of a lord and looked exceeding well as a piece of decoration, but he had not learned the elementary lessons of his place. He looked at the custo mer indifferently and remarked with slight contempt, "They're out of

The Michigan Book.

Mr. Silas Farmer, the well known authority on Detroit and Michigan, has just issued a little work which !! will prove indispensable to those who wish to be informed about Michigan.

It is a small book printed on thin, though opaque paper, but within its every fact that anyone is likely to thor is sufficient wairant for the accuracy of the statements.

Under the head of each county will be found an accurate map with the townships and sections marked out. Every farm of 40 acres in the state can thus be accurately located without difficulty.

One of the more valuable special points is the population figures of unincorporated villages, some of them having as high as 3,000 people which are not enumerated in the United States census. Along with the book Mr. Farmer is publishing a map of the state prepared on paper with cloth back which is likely to supersede all others. Like the county maps in the book, it shows section as well as township liner and the latter in red.

It gives the exact area of cities, and in many other minor matters is a distinct improvement in map making over anything heitherto prepared for the state. It is sure of a wide circu-

HANDLING STRAW.

How to Make a Light Barrow For

Moving Small Quantities. When straw is stacked outside the barn and some of it is wanted in the stable for feeding or bedding pur little at a time on a fork or in a rope | quite easy to get started. or strap sling. This in the use of a tion, next to impossible on a windy old one of the breed I wanted. She had day and with a sling a very unpleas ant job in cold weather, as an Ohio Farmer contributor remarks. He therefore suggests and sketches an easily and cheaply made contrivance to facil-Itate moving the straw, which may also be useful for transporting small quantities of hay from place to place.

Procure first some light laths, say three-fourths by two inches, and make an almost square frame, using eleven of the lath pieces as if making a box with one corner left out. On the in side of this frame at the desired height nail two heavier and longer pieces for handles. A couple of 3 by 1 inch boards, proper length and with one end of each narrowed down to fit the bands, will answer for the handle pieces. On the bottom of the frame nail lath or boards, letting the two nearest to the center project about six inches in front. These two should be a little heavier than the others to prevent springing. Between the projecting ends place a small wooden wheel six or eight inches in diameter. This wheel may be a circular piece cut from a one or one and one-half inch board and have a light iron band fitted on to keep it from splitting or be a wheel from an old barrow or something similar. A light wire spoke wheel from a toy wagon is excellent for the purpose.

ple driven over it into each piece. The two rear upright pieces of the frame extend down level with the lower rim of the wheel to act as feet. Put braces across the front (as indicated by dotted lines) to strengthen the frame and hold in the straw. Other light strips may be tacked on the sides of the frame to serve the same purpose.

If the contrivance is made of the right material, it will combine strength with lightness and be very durable. If made only 21/2 by 3 by 4 feet, it will hold a considerable quantity of straw and be found a time and labor saver.

THRASHING THE POTATOES

This machine digs, cleans, sorts and delivers the potatoes into baskets. The separator part works on the same principle as the ordinary grain thrasher, so that those who use it may properly speak of thrashing their potato crop.

There is apparently nothing to prevent small stones or hard lumps of dirt from getting in with the tubers, and the natural conclusion is that the ma-

A writer in one of our exchanges urges the planting of hollyhocks for chicken food and gives directions for their cultivation. For a hedge row there are few if any flowers more attractive or more suitable, but when used to feed the poultry the flowers, it suggest that they be planted in quantities sufficient both for ornament and for hen food. "I have been using hollyhock for poultry green fodder," says a poultry man, "for 20 years. I learned the rick from a Hollander. I saw him feeding armfuls of the leaves to his hens. IMPROVING DAIRY CATTLE.

How One Farmer Got a Herd of Pure Bred Guernseys.

In a recent issue of Hoard's Dairyman a New York farmer tells how he is building up a herd of pure bred Guernseys at small outlay of cash. He says:

Corn and Cowpea Silage.

A Kentucky dairyman gives in Rural New Yorker his experience in mixing corn and cowpeas in his silo. He says: I tried filling my silo for several years with corn alone. I then tried filling with corn and cowpeas and was so well pleased that I kept it up for several years till I sold out my dairy. Judging by the way the cows ate them, if anything the peas made the better silage. When run through the cutter, the fed. green peas would cut very fine and pack very close and make a better keeping silage than the corn alone, and for me it had one other decided advantage in growing the crop. It is very convenient to have whatever you put in the silo near at hand, and by growing corn and cowpeas I arst wants to. " "As I lease a farm for cash rent, I seeds and plants cost $5.45, insectic.d. 50 cents, labor $26.11, a total of $32.06 neavy outlay on a half acre, and if they added about five cords of manure to manure sells at a high price. Probably few put more than one or two cords of manure to the acre, and even then would expect the land to be much richer when the crops were taken off than before. But here is his statement of the results: "In return for this expenditure the garden furnished a continuous supply of fresh vegetables throughout the growing season, with enough sweet corn for drying, tomatoes for canning, cucumbers, peppers, cabbage, string beans and green tomatoes for pickling; onions, beets, carrots, parsnips, salsify, winter radishes, cabbage and celery for winter use, and parsnips, horse radish and salsify left in ground for spring. Fhese vegetables could not have been bought in the usual way for less than $83.84. This leaves a balance of $51.78 In favor of the garden. What other half acre on the farm pays as well?"

BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901. Gentlemen : - Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion. About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you Very truly yours, F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md. heartily and beg to remain
