BREVITIES

PERSONALITIES.

Uncle Eben Lancaster of Maine has lived under every president but Washington.

Sardou took to play writing because he was so poor and keeps at it because it has made him so rich. He was educated to be a physician.

Captain J. B. Prescott is about to retire from the Boston fire department after forty-seven years' service in it. He will receive a pension.

Emma Calve's father, a hale and hearty peasant, nearly eighty years old, resides in the south of France. He is proud of his famous daughter.

The latest distinction conferred on Professor Virchow is his election as honorary president of the Gesellschaft fur Volkskunde (Ethnologic society).

John F. Carroll, who may be the next leader of Tammany Hall, is said to be worth $5,000,000. Carroll was as poor when a young man as Croker himself.

Justice Mathew of London, who was recently made one of the lord justices of appeal, is a nephew and namesake of the famous Father Mathew, the great temperance advocate.

John McCurdy has just completed his fiftieth year as engineer on the Michigan Central, and although seventy years old makes daily trips between Michigan City and Jackson, 153 miles.

M. Paul Desprez, former counselor of the French embassy at Washington, where he married a daughter of General McClellan on March 6, 1893, has been appointed French minister to Haiti.

General Nelson A. Miles has just been presented by the government with two handsome bay coach horses to be kept at army headquarters in Washington and to be used exclusively for carriage work by the general.

At Malling, England, a man named Andrew King dropped dead recently while laughing at a friend's joke. An autopsy showed that his heart was five times the size of the normal human heart and twice the size of that of an ox.

Theodore Schroeder of Salt Lake City has given to the Wisconsin Historical library his library of Mormon history. This is one of the largest collections of books on this subject in existence. It embraces 23,000 bound volumes, pamphlets and newspaper files.

John F. Mack of Dekalb, Ill., is a remarkable man. When he married Daisy Ellison five years ago, she gave him a wedding present of $60,000. They failed to agree, and she recently sued for divorce, which was granted. Mack instantly paid her over $60,000 in court, and they parted on apparently good terms.

Denis Mulvihill, the new mayor of Bridgeport, Conn., was a fireman in a power plant until four years ago. He had been an alderman since he left the fireroom in 1897, and his candidacy for mayor grew out of a jocular newspaper suggestion inspired by his "watchdog of the treasury" policy in the council chamber.

THE GLASS OF FASHION.

Many petticoats this year show the paneled effect in the flounce.

Pretty things in hatpins are made of coral beads, strings of them twisted into a knot.

Very many of the trained evening toilets worn this season are in princess form, the bodice and skirt in one continuous length.

Coarse linen in colors, with coarse embroidery in white—embroidery after the style of the Mount Mellick—is made up into little turnover collars.

Revising the fashion of a hundred years ago, diaphanous textiles of every description are in marked vogue this season, alike for the high cut, long sleeved dinner gown and the full dress evening toilet.

Black and white striped velvet is used with excellent effect upon a pale blue cloth gown. The velvet is set in bias bands around the lower edge of the skirt in the collar and a narrow vest of it surmounted by a velvet tie.

In accordance with the latest edict of the French regarding mourning attire many weaves of silk with dull surface are used in deep mourning, and certain ornaments and furs are allowable, including astrakhan, otter, sealskin, black fox, baby lamb and long black bearskin.

Tom Jenkins' Ambition.
Tom Jenkins, the wrestler, threatens to engage in boxing and try for the heavyweight championship. Truly it would be a sad day for Thomas if he got into the ring with a competent middleweight!

O'Connor's Misfortune.
O'Connor, the great Irish jumper, left these shores without once giving us a taste of his real quality. This was due to a sprained tendon which he got in his first practice after landing here.

HOUSES OF CONCRETE.

The First One Was Built About a Half Century Ago.

The latest and most important example of concrete construction in buildings is found in the case of one of the large railway companies whose shop buildings, with one exception, have concrete walls and foundations and some of them also floors and roofs of the same composition. The general plan of construction was the usual one of pouring the concrete into molds built of tongued and grooved pine boards, special wooden frames being used where necessary.

The buildings call to mind what was in all probability the earliest practical venture in this field made by Mr. W. E. Ward about a quarter of a century ago and described by him a short time thereafter in a paper read before the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Mr. Ward's enterprise took the shape of a building for dwelling purposes in which not only the external and internal walls, cornices and towers were made of concrete, but all the beams, floors and roofs as well, reinforced with light iron beams and rods.

Furthermore, all the closets, stairs, balconies and porticos, with their supporting columns, were molded from the same material. The only wood in the whole structure was in window sashes and doors, with their frames, and in the stair rails, thus excluding everything of a combustible nature from the main construction. Indeed it was the desire for something of a thoroughly fireproof character that seemed to have to a great extent inspired the undertaking. The exterior portions, too, of the house, which were more or less ornamental in their functions, were made of concrete put in place during the progress of the work, and the ceiling and wall panels and other details were of the same material, covered afterward with the finish usual in such work.—Cassier's Magazine.

The White Hen Won.

The other day Mrs. Norma Adams and Samuel Gardner, who live on adjoining farms, began suit to determine the ownership of a brood of fourteen turkeys. The brood, headed by two old hens, a white and a bronze, had been running the fields of both farms all summer. Mrs. Adams owned the bronze hen and Mr. Gardner the white. Each claimed that their respective hen was the mother of the brood.

One of the witnesses before the justice testified that he had once turned a dog upon the straggling band of turkeys. At the approach of the dog the young birds flew into a tree, the bronze hen ran into the woods, while the white hen stood under the tree and gave battle to the dog, which she repulsed, then called the brood to her, and they marched off.

After hearing this witness the justice decided that the white hen was the mother of the brood and gave the turkeys to Gardner.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Vinegar From Prunes.

The Oregon agricultural experiment station is performing a very useful service in some experiments which it is making in producing vinegar from prunes. The most serious problem which confronts our prune growers is the profitable disposal of the very small prunes and of that portion of the larger sizes which partly ferments in drying.

Prunes, being very sweet, will produce a large quantity either of alcohol or of vinegar. The vinegar produced from prune juice in Oregon is said to be so strong as to require its dilution by one half to bring it down to the commercial standard.

If the prune vinegar proves satisfactory to consumers, its manufacture will prove of great value to our prune growers as an outlet for the inferior stock which, to some extent, they cannot avoid producing.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Uncle Sam's New Coin Factory.

On the 1st of November Uncle Sam abandoned the antiquated mint building at the corner of Chestnut and Juniper streets, Philadelphia, and with his family of employees, including over 200 women, his ponderous machinery and his millions in treasure, took up his Quaker City residence on the corner of Spring Garden and Sixteenth streets, in the finest structure of its kind in the world.

The old mint on Chestnut street, which was created by an act of congress soon after the constitution was ratified, was the first place in the United States where federal money was coined, and I doubt if there is any structure in the country that holds more secrets or has as many queer and generally unknown facts.—London Knight in Woman's Home Companion.

A Roentgen Girl.

There is a young girl at Adjtitt, in the Lebanon, named Anna Yussuf Nail, whose eyes are stated to possess the properties and powers of Roentgen rays. She can see through anything and describe the contents of closed boxes, however thick and opaque they may be. She should be invaluable as an assistant either to a surgeon or a custom house officer.—Lebanon El Erz.

SELECTIONS

SEVEN DAYS FULL OF DANGER

Queer Statistics That Show an Evil Week in Every Month.

An ancient soothsayer said to imperial Caesar, "Beware the Ides of March." But if the theory of Dr. Granville MacLeod of South Chicago is correct the modern adviser can say, "Beware the 20th to 26th of every month." Dr. MacLeod's assertion seems to be verified by statistics taken from the records of railroad companies, iron works, grain elevators, boiler works, hospitals and many establishments employing large forces of men, as well as the books of the coroner's office.

Reference to the records of the Cook County hospital for each month for the past five years shows an average of ninety-five cases of injuries by accident a month. Out of this total sixty-five occurred during the "fatal" period.

The coroner's office shows a more startling confirmation of the doctor's theory. About 65 per cent, or nearly two-thirds, of the deaths by accidents and other causes requiring official investigation occur between the 20th and the 26th of each month.

Of the days of the week occurring in this "fatal" period Saturdays and Mondays appear to come particularly under the malign influence. This may be partially explained from the fact that a great many of the laboring class are paid on Saturday, and many accidents result from intemperance. As an old newspaper man said, "Saturday means pay day, pay day means booze, booze means trouble, and trouble means news."

Professor R. A. McQueen, now of Kansas City, but for many years a resident of India and a close student of the Brahman religion, theosophy and occult sciences, says that the priests in the Brahman temples have had the theory for many years that at this particular period of the month the serpent made its appearance in the garden of Eden and tempted Eve, with the result that man fell from the favor of God, and ever since then his particular time has been regarded as especially unlucky.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Absinth in Switzerland.

To such great proportions has the custom of drinking absinth attained in Switzerland, says a writer in the London Mail, that societies have been formed throughout the country for the purpose of organizing lectures illustrated by limelight pictures depicting the effect absinth has on the human body.

In the absinth producing country districts round about Neuchatel and the French frontier the condition of many of the male inhabitants is frightful to behold, shrunken features, accompanied by palsied hands, being encountered on all sides. Throughout Switzerland the yellowish green liquor is very cheap, the price ranging from 12d. to 3d. per glass (while the price in America is 25 cents a glass), one glass being quite sufficient to make the ordinary Britisher drunk, yet in this country the peasants frequently take their eight to ten glasses per diem. An habitual absinth drinker seldom lives beyond his forty-fifth year. It is a regrettable fact to chronicle that in some districts the women are beginning to show a marked liking for this spirit.

Melba and Her Home.

It is on record that Mme. Melba shortly before leaving her native Australia sang to an audience worth in the aggregate some 30 shillings. So it would seem that the prophetess any more than the prophet must not expect honor in her own country until she has achieved fame and fortune outside its borders.

An enterprising Australian manager has asked Mme. Melba on what terms she would revisit her native land, which she has not seen for fourteen years. He was somewhat staggered by the reply, £500 per night and all expenses paid.

Mme. Melba's father, Mr. David Mitchell, a retired builder and contractor, and other relatives are residents of Melbourne, the temporary capital of the Australian commonwealth.

Big Trees in the Philippines.

An idea of the size of the trees in the Philippines is obtainable from the dimensions of Governor Taft's round table, the top of which is a solid section of a native tree eight feet in diameter. Throughout the islands one frequently sees in the better class of houses dining tables that are seven, eight and nine feet wide, the tops in every case being made of a single section. These are not so large as the southern California table tops, but they will do.—Kansas City Journal.

The annual report of the postmaster general tells some interesting things about rural free delivery. The number of free rural delivery routes established are 6,009 and the number of applications on file for routes 6,129. Michigan has 304 routes and 335 applications filed. In one year rural carriers handled 151,258,160 pieces of mail and served 4,000,000 people. There is free delivery in 866 cities where 16,389 carriers serve 32,000,000 patrons and average expense is 50 cents annually for each person enjoying its convenience. Shirt waists for carriers are no longer declared to be an experiment, so will be a permanent part of summer uniforms. Because of the extension of rural delivery 77 fourth class postoffices have been discontinued in Michigan.

A SUGAR FACTORY or NO SUGAR FACTORY?

It Appears to be up to the Farmers of Iosco County to Decide.

Every effort is being made to locate a sugar factory in the Tawas area to be ready for business next fall. We are assured by those in charge that the capital is ready if the necessary acreage can be secured, and it would seem to us that when the great advantages to be derived from the location of such an institution here was considered, that the supplying of beets would be no difficulty at all.

It remains to be seen whether the farmers of Iosco County are alive to the efforts being put forth in their behalf, and in the behalf of the future of our county both as to its agricultural and commercial interests.

We do not wish to be understood that the farmers alone will reap all the benefit in what is aimed to be accomplished. But this is an effort in which every resident of the county—be he farmer, laborer or capitalist—is, or should be interested in.

The location of a beet sugar factory in our midst means money for all classes. It means more farmers. It means more industries. It means more money in circulation. It means lower taxes. In fact it means a prosperous future to Iosco County.

The farmers can assure the location of such a factory by contracting to raise the required acreage of beets. This is why we say it is up to them to show their desires to assist in this matter.

The state farmers' institute society have complied with the request of the county society and the East Tawas business men's association and sent to us the best posted and most practical beet sugar grower in the state, who will hold three days of special one day institute meeting, at which beet culture will be discussed from the farmer's standpoint. The speaker is Mr. I. D. Suydan, of St. Louis, a man who has made beet growing a special study. The meetings will be as follows:

Tawas City Tuesday Jan. 14.

Whittemore, Wednesday Jan. 15.

Hale, Thursday, Jan. 16.

The meeting at the court house in this city will begin promptly at 2 o'clock p. m., while those at Whittemore and Hale will begin at 10 o'clock a. m., and an afternoon session will also be held.

Remember that these meetings are for the purpose of instructing farmers how to raise sugar beets at a profit, and it is therefore to their advantage to be in attendance.

Turn out!

Don't Live Together.

FOR THE CHILDREN

The Game of Postman.

Boys and girls of every age will find the game of postman immensely entertaining. The only thing to prepare for it is a list of cities and towns equal to the number of players. One of the players is selected as the postman. Having removed as much of the furniture from the room as possible, arrange chairs around the walls and have the players occupy them. There must be no empty chair. This is essential.

The postmaster gives to each player the name of a city or town and then blindfolds the postman and places him in the center of the room. The postmaster himself stands where he can overlook the players.

Everything being ready, the postmaster begins the game by saying, for example, "I have sent a letter from New York to Boston." The moment he has spoken the players representing New York and Boston respectively get up and move quickly to change places. It is the object of the blindfolded postman to catch one of them as they run or to take possession of one of their chairs. If he succeeds in doing either, the player he has caught or whose chair he has taken has to become postman.

The postmaster is not changed unless he becomes tired. If you get a

... you, keep him, for much depends on the readiness with which he calls the mails between the cities.

This is the jolliest kind of game, and there is just enough romping in it to do boys and girls a lot of good.

Magnificent Dolls.

Three dolls, representing different aspects of Paris fashions, have been presented the three daughters of the empress of Russia, the Grand Duchesses Olga, Tatiana and Xenia. The dolls were the gift of a famous Paris dressmaker, who lent all his skill to making their attire beautiful and effective. One doll is dressed for an evening party in a gown of wheat colored mousseline de soie, trimmed with lace of a sage green shade. The mantle is of beige colored cloth, lined throughout with white satin. White embroidery covers the lapels. A white gauze toque adorned with feathers and diamonds completes the costume. The second doll is dressed as a yachtswoman, the costume being made of white cloth. A small "sweater" and golf cap complete the effect. For the third doll a dress of the time of Louis XV. was selected. The gown is made of white satin, with garlands of flowers festooned around the bottom of the skirt by combinations of ribbon. On the corsage flowers are attached by velvet bows, and mechin lace gives an airy effect to the costume. A large picture hat is girdled with pompon roses, and the flower effect is carried out even to the white leather shoes, which have tiny bouquets attached instead of jeweled buckles.

Greenland Dogs.

The Greenland dogs are harnessed four to ten to a sledge and laden with four or five heavy seals. They sometimes cover sixty English miles in a day. A courier once performed a journey of 270 miles in four days. When five dogs are used, two and two are driven abreast, with the leader in front. They are tractable unless the whip is too freely used, when they will fall to worrying each other. The dogs are trained to hunt seals and the polar bear, and they fight to the death even among themselves. They swim well too. When they sleep, they make a bed for themselves by excavating the snow with their paws and nose, after which they bury themselves in the hole, leaving nothing but the nose exposed.

The Day After Thanksgiving.

Said little Willie to little Millie:
"What did you do on Thanksgiving?"
"Oh, I had the loveliest time! I was helped four times to turkey."
"So was I."
"And I had half a mince pie and three dishes of ice cream and a lot of cranberry sauce."
"So did I."
"Then I had nuts and raisins and oranges."
"So did I."
"And a box of candy."
"So did I."
"And the next day I had the doctor."
"So did I."
Said little Willie to little Millie.—Chicago Record-Herald.

BETWEEN THE ACTS.

Nina Morris has resigned from the cast of "The Man Who Dared."
"Florodora" continues to be as big a success on the road as it is in New York city.

James K. Hackett has scored a success in Edward Rose's new play, "A Chance Ambassador."

Cora Tanner has been engaged by Amelia Bingham for the new play to be produced in January.

Owing to ill health Mr. Yorke Stephens has been compelled to resign the active management of Terry's theater, London.

In the ten years of "Eight Bells" existence the Bryce brothers have never missed a performance or the show has never failed to fulfill all of its time.

Mr. Henry Arthur Jones is at Turbie, in the south of France, working upon a play to be produced by Mr. Charles Frohman at the Duke of York's, London.

Miss May Edouin, who stars next season in a musical comedy by her father, Willie Edouin, will probably add one or two of the late Rosina Vokes' plays to her repertory.

FOREIGN FACTS.

France has the largest national debt—$5,800,000,000, or $150.61 per head of the population. Australia has a debt of $1,183,000,000, or $263.90 per head, leading all nations in this respect.

Because two-thirds of Germany's 150,000 music teachers are alleged to be incompetent the reichstag will be asked to pass a law compelling the teachers to undergo a state examination.

THE CYNIC.

Every man likes to lean on some other man.

The trouble with hearing both sides of a story is that it involves a double amount of gossip.

Every unmarried person is told at least ten times a day that he doesn't know what trouble is.

A newspaper is like merchandise—it is for sale. If you desire to have your part of it stopped say so. We do not look upon a man with undying hatred if he wants his paper stopped and does it like a gentleman; we don't beg him to continue it either. It is a straight matter of business—you pay your money and take the paper.

There is considerable discussion as to whether barbers will have to undergo an examination now since the law of 1901 was declared unconstitutional. The law of 1899, (Public acts No. 212 1899) was repealed by the law of 1901 which law the 1901 act attempted to repeal is still in force. The provisions are some what different from the act, but barbers will have to pass an examination just the same.

Mrs. Mary A. Robinson, a pioneer resident of Alabaster, died very suddenly last Sunday evening. She has been in her usual health until suddenly taken with a coughing spell and died before medical treatment could be summoned. She leaves two sons, Thomas F. and John, both of that township. The funeral was held from the Catholic church at East Tawas Wednesday morning and was largely attended. The deceased was 70 years of age and highly respected by all who knew her.

Show your interest by being present.

Siloam.

In Reno township, the garden spot of Iosco county, is the little village of Siloam or Taft. No town is favored with a better farming territory to back it up, and the fine farms, elegant buildings and progressiveness is surprising in so new a territory.

The man who has favored Reno the most is Elmer E. Odell. He may be small in stature but his business ability is that of a giant.

Mr. Odell carries a full line of general merchandise, and caters to the public by buying logs, lumber, ties, posts, grain and produce of every kind. Mr. Odell has just completed a fine home and contemplates building a new store, as the old quarters are too small for his increasing business.

It is a pleasure to meet a hustling progressive fellow like Elmer and the HERALD extends the best wishes of the season.

Sugar Beet Pulp.

W. H. Gilbert, of Lansing, was in the city yesterday making the sugar beet rounds. Mr. Gilbert, it will be remembered, is the gentleman who first thought of the feeding of beet sugar pulp to sheep and who is now making a test of the feed. As will be recalled Mr. Gilbert bought over 4,200 lambs in Montana at a cheap price and brought them to Lansing, where he is feeding them on the sugar beet pulp obtained from the Lansing factory. While here Mr. Gilbert stated to the local sugar men, that his test had been an exceedingly successful one and that he would be able to realize over $2 on every lamb of his flock. This of course, is not all due to the fact that the lambs have been subsisting on a mixed diet, chiefly of sugar pulp, but partially to the fact that the market price has raised. In speaking of the actions of the lambs toward the pulp Mr. Gilbert stated that they were exceedingly fond of it and that they would eat themselves to death if allowed to get at it will. However the diet is a mixed one, although a greater proportion of the pulp is gradually becoming used. Mr. Gilbert stated that the success of the pulp as a stock food has long since been proven to him and that his lambs have grown much faster since using the pulp and have therefore become much more valuable. Mr. Gilbert is much enthused as to the value of the pulp as a stock food.—Saginaw News.

Fisk Jubilee Singers.

Tuesday evening, Jan. 23, the people of the Tawas will have an opportunity of hearing the original and renowned Fisk Jubilee Singers, the greatest colored musical organization in the country, which will appear at the court house in this city. Today there is no more pleasing entertainers before the American public, and the management of our school entertainment course are entitled to the thanks of the people for their efforts in securing this great company, and there is no better way of showing our appreciation than by filling the court house to overflowing on that occasion.

Below are a couple of recommendations worthy of consideration.

Mark Twain, at Laucerne, Switzerland, wrote as follows to his friend Rev. Joseph Twitchell, of Hartford, after hearing a concert at Vitnau by the Fisk Jubilee Singers, in 1897: "The Jubilees sung a lot of pieces. Arduous and painstaking cultivation has not diminished or artificialized their music. On the contrary, to my mind, cultivation has mightily reinforced its eloquence and beauty. To me, away back in the beginning, their music made all other vocal music cheap, and that early notion is emphasized now. It is utterly beautiful, and moves me infinitely more than any other music can. I think that in the Jubilee Singers and their songs America has produced the perfectest flower of the ages, and I wish it were a foreign product, so that she would worship it, and lavish money on it, and go properly crazy over it."

Mrs. Porter Cole has once again captured a Halifax music loving audience. Her magnificent soprano voice has lost nothing in volume, breadth of sweetness in the year since she was last here. Her solos in Fisk Jubilee Singers' concert last night were the bright particular gems among the many star numbers.

Arthur H. Payne, second bass, owns a grand voice, and he became a favorite at once. "March On" went with a swing, and when for an encore a verse was added promising victory to our arms in the Transvaal, there was unbounded enthusiasm.—Halifax Morning Chronicle.
