Digests what you eat.

EATING AT NIGHT.

If Judiciously Done, It Will Help to Make You Fat.

It was formerly thought that food taken at bedtime created indigestion and bad dreams. While undoubtedly rich and hearty food is inappreciate at the time chosen for repose, a light nourishing repast at night often conduces to sound sleep by drawing the blood away from the brain.

Physicians are now advising a bedtime meal for weak, nervous and emaciated people. Although the demand made upon the system is naturally much less than during the waking hours, there is a wasting away of tissues consequent upon the suspension of nutriment for many hours. Food taken at dinner is digested at bedtime. Often one is restless and wakeful at night because the stomach is empty.

Says a well known physician: "Man is the only creature I know of who does not deem it proper to sleep on a good meal. The infant instinctively cries to be fed at night, showing that food is necessary during that time as well as through the day, and that left too long without it causes it discomfort, which it makes known by crying."

If you crave it, eat a light, easily digested meal at bedtime, and the long hours of sleep will work out for you a problem in addition, instead of subtraction, of adipose tissue.

Not What He Meant at All.

Politeness, it is true, must have its origin in a kind heart and a desire to please, but tact and thoughtfulness and quick wit are also essential to good manners.

A very stout hostess who was entertaining a large company one evening turned to a group of young men standing near her chair and smilingly asked:

"May I trouble one of you young gentlemen for a glass of water from the pitcher on the table?"

Several of the young men hurried to comply with the request. One who was particularly active succeeded in reaching the table first.

As he handed the glass to the hostess she complimented him on his quickness.

"Oh, that's nothing," he said. "I am used to it. I got into many a circus and menagerie when I was a boy by carrying water for the elephant."

It was only when he saw the expression on the lady's face and noticed the silence that the young man realized what he had said.

Genius and Gout.

Mr. Havelock Ellis in the course of his researches into the causes of death of great men and into the ailments to which they were subject finds that gout is a preponderating ailment of genius. The list given of the victims of gout is a long and interesting one. It includes John Milton, William Harvey, Isaac Newton, Samuel Johnson, Savage Landor, W. R. Hamilton and last, though by no means least, Darwin himself. Epilepsy has long been known also as an ailment associated with a high order of brain. Napoleon, Mohammed, Lord Herbert of Chesham and Hamilton are cited as examples of the epileptic tendency. Julius Caesar might probably have been added to the list, while Swedenborg is claimed by alienists as also belonging to the epileptic division.—London Standard.

Fancy That Old Stuff!

Her good man was ill, and Mrs. Bogelby had been out to get the best luxuries her slender purse could afford for him. When she returned, her hands trembled so with indignation that she could hardly untie her bonnet.

"It all comes of bein' poor," said the old lady to her husband. "I jist stopped a minnit at the Riches to tell 'em as how you wasn't gettin' any better, and Mrs. Rich said she was sorry and wanted me to bring you a bottle of wine."

"Did you bring it?" asked the ailing man eagerly.

"No; I heard her say it had been layin' down in the cellar ever since 1855, and when she offered it to me I jist walked off without sayin' a word."—London Answers.

The Glowworm's Light.

The English glowworm is the wingless female of a winged beetle. Some suppose that the light she bears is bestowed for her protection to scare away the nightingale and other nocturnal birds. Others, however, believe that the gift of brightness is the very lure by which her foes are assisted to discover and devour her. Much speculation has been indulged in as to the nature of the glowworm's light, which is not put out by water or seemingly capable of giving forth any heat. It has been asserted that the light diffusing substance contains phosphorus, but this has never been proved. Certainly it is incapable of communicating ignition to anything.

Tops and Top Spinning.

Top spinning is one of the oldest games in the world. It has been played for thousands of years, and there are few even of the savage nations of Asia and Africa who don't play the game with some sort of top. Long before Columbus sailed for America the Indians knew a good deal about tops and top spinning.

THREE QUEER TOPS.

The Sioux whittled them out of bits of wood, something like the one shown in the picture. In Ceylon, Siam and China nearly all the tops are so fixed that they whistle or sing when they spin. The ordinary top used by the American boy is probably the most popular in the world. It is extensively used in England and in all of her colonies. The German top is larger and more expensive, and the French top is quite different in shape. None of them will stand the pegging and battering of the stubby little American top.

Good Advice to Young Men.

The following epigrammatical periods are from President Porter, Yale college: "Young men, you are the architects of your own fortunes. Rely on your own strength of body and soul. Take for your star self reliance. Inscribe on your banner: 'Luck is a fool. Pluck is a hero.' Don't take too much advice. Keep at the helm and steer your own ship and remember that the art of commanding is to take a fair share of the work. Think well of yourself. Strike out. Assume your own position. Put potatoes in a cart, go over a rough road, and the small ones go to the bottom. Rise above the envious and jealous. Fire above the mark you intend to hit. Energy, invincible determination, with a right motive, are the levers that move the world. Don't swear. Don't deceive. Don't marry until you can support a wife. Be civil. Read the papers. Advertise your business. Make money and do good with it. Love your God and fellow men. Love truth and virtue. Love your country and obey its laws."

New Use For the Thermometer.

The thermometer always hung outside the porch door in summer and in the family sitting room in winter. The rise and fall of the mercury had never been explained to the small boy of the family, who regarded the instrument with great respect as a generator of heat next in importance to the sun. One cold day in March he rushed in from the barn and demanded:

"Ma, gimme the thermometer quick!"

"What on earth do you want of the thermometer?"

"I want to hang it up in the sheep pen; the new lambs are shiverin' dreadful."

Noncommittal.

"Do you think the world is growing worse or better?"

"I shouldn't venture an opinion," said the man who makes no pretensions to being a philosopher. "One's impressions on that point are likely to depend largely on the kind of society he happens to get into."—Washington Star.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Lloyd Saw the Toad Pull His Skin Over His Head.

Lloyd was fond of all the creation that lived in the garden, from the robins high up in the apple tree to the little ants which built their homes in the gravel walks. He was always careful not to hurt any of them, but he thought some of them more interesting than others. There was a toad which he called his, and he fed it with crumbs every day. He liked to watch it as it hopped about among the plants, darting out its bright red tongue to catch any small insects which came in its way.

One day Lloyd ran to his mother in great excitement.

"My toad is trying to get his skin off!" he cried.

It was true, and when Lloyd and his mother reached the toad they saw him pulling his skin over his head in much the way that a little girl would take off her high necked, long sleeved apron, only it was harder work for him to do. But he tugged away with his fore feet until he was free, and then what a bright new coat he displayed!

Lloyd was delighted, and he asked many questions about toads and the way in which they changed their coats, and after that he was more fond of his toad than ever.—Emma C. Dowd in Our Little Ones.

Impossible Inconsistency.

Miss Highe-Way—Poor Fido cried so when I drove away in the victoria without him!

Mr. Quizz—Why didn't you take him with you?

Miss Highe-Way—Because I didn't go in the dogcart, of course.—Smart Set.

The Only Explanation.

"What makes you think she has money?" he asked.

The envious girl tossed her head airily.

"The combination of her looks and the fact that her engagement is announced," she replied.—Chicago Post.

A Discussion.

First Tramp—You oughtn't to tell people you want a nickel to quench yer hunger.

Second Tramp—Ain't dat what yer do wit' yer hunger? Dat's correct!

First Tramp—It's correct, all right, but it ain't diplomatic.—Puck.

Ready Demonstration.

"Do you think you can make my daughter happy?" asked Miss Thirty-smith's father gravely.

"Why, I have already, haven't I?" replied Spooner. "I've asked her to marry me."—Smart Set.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my 'time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and could get nothing to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. Dr. C. A. Wiekman.

When you want a policy for Fire, Life or Accidental Insurance, call on H. F. Barbour, in the Bank Block, East Tawas. Only reliable companies represented and rates as low as consistent with reliable insurance.

Fisk Jubilee Singers were greeted with a packed house last Thursday evening and succeeded in pleasing their audience with every number presented. This is certainly one of the best entertainments given in the Tawasess.

Five pretty little girls have gladdened the married life of Mr. and Mrs. Ignace Kulezewski, but their cup of happiness was filled Tuesday by the arrival of twin boys. May they live long and bring happiness to their parents.

Word was received here Saturday announcing the birth of twin daughters to Mr. and Mrs. M. Sheehan, (nee Miss Lizzie Donahue) at their home at Century. Ala. Mrs. Sheehan's many friends in the Tawasess will join the Herald in extending congratulations.

The Ancient Order of Gleaners at Hale Lake, will give a social and donation on Thursday evening, Feb. 6, at the town hall for the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Colegrove, whose house and contents were lately destroyed by fire. All are cordially invited to attend.

From a letter received F. F. Stevenson, M. D., of Detroit, formerly of this city, we learn that he is just recovering from a two months tussel with the typhoid fever. Frank says he left the hospital weighing 115 but if his present appetite holds out he will soon reach 200. His many friends here hope so.

John Cataline, the new landlord of the Twinning house at Twinning, was in the city last Friday and left an order for a good supply of stationery with us. John has a host of friends in this county who will make a point to stop with him when in Twinning, as they will be sure of a good meal and courteous treatment.

Last Monday evening at 6.30, our city was startled by the clang of the fire bell, and it was soon learned that the house occupied by Alex. McRae was on fire. The fire apparatus was quickly on the scene and with hard work the building was saved with a damage of about $150. The contents were practically all saved. With the mercury 10 below zero a few of the boys who handled the hose are nursing frozen ears, but have the satisfaction of knowing that they did good work. The house is owned by Phos. Chalmers, and we understand was not insured.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Myers, of East Tawas, on Wednesday evening last occurred the marriage of Miss Clara Myers and Mr. Abe Barkman, both of that city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. Rosenthal, of Bay City, in the presence of a large circle of invited friends. The contracting parties are well and favorably known in the Tawasess, the groom being one of the leading business men of that city, and they have a host of friends who unite in wishing them a happy wedded life. They were the recipients of many handsome presents. Mr. and Mrs. Barkman began house keeping at once in their handsome home which was all ready for occupancy.

One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for coughs, croup, throat and lung troubles. An absolutely safe cure which acts immediately. The youngest child can take it with safety. They all like the taste and remember how often it helped them. C. A. Wakeman.

The Farmers Institute.

The two days farmers' institute closed at the court house yesterday afternoon, and was the most successful one ever held, in that it was more generally attended by the farmers of the county. Every session was well attended and more than ordinary interest was manifested in each topic discussed.

Much disappointment was caused by the late arrival of State Land Commissioner Wildey, on the first afternoon, many of the farmers having to go home before his arrival. His talk on Forestry was practical. The topics discussed by Messrs. Huchins and Ovsatt were of a live nature and were presented in a most practical manner. The discussions were thorough and participated in by nearly everyone present.

James H. Nisbet was elected president, and John King, secretary and treasurer for the ensuing year. The woman's section at the Congregational church was well attended, and Mrs. Campbell, of Ypsilanti, gave them a most interesting address. Mrs. Thomas Davison was elected chairman of this section for the ensuing year.
