A LITTLE NONSENSE.

The Peasant Meant Well, but Failed In Nicety of Expression.

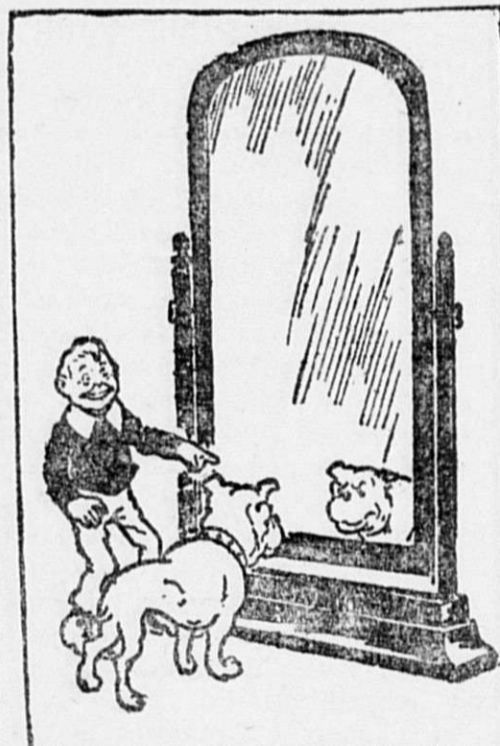

A man who was bicycling in southern France was pushing his machine up a steep hill when he overtook a peasant with a donkey cart. The patient beast was making but little progress, although it was doing its best.

The benevolent cyclist, putting his left hand against the back of the cart and guiding his machine with the other hand, pushed so hard that the donkey, taking fresh courage, pulled his load successfully to the top.

When the summit was reached, the peasant burst into thanks to his benefactor.

"It was good of you, indeed, monsieur," he protested. "I should never in the world have got up the hill with only one donkey."—Youth's Companion.

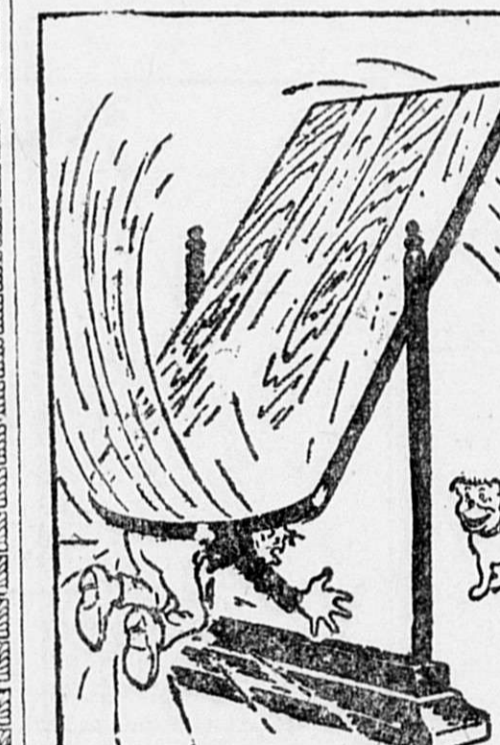

The Laugh Was on Johnny.

The Boy: "Sick him, Tige!"

The Dog: "He's my meat!"

Serenity.

"I am afraid our friend has said something he will be sorry for."

"No," was the melancholy answer.

"I don't think so. Anybody who didn't know better than to say what he did in the first place isn't likely to know when it's time to be sorry."

Be Patient.

Lovelorn—I've written her two letters, proposing to her, but I have not got any encouragement yet.

Funnicus—Well, what can you expect? One has to write thirteen letters before he gets "e-n-c-o-u-r-a-g-e-m-e-n-t."—Philadelphia Record.

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

The Many Uses That May Be Made of Paper in the Kitchen.

A housekeeper in The National Stockman suggests many ways to use paper in the kitchen. She says:

One can hardly realize until trial is made what a saving there may be by using paper instead of the dishcloth for wiping greasy pans and dishes. I fold a soft newspaper so I can with a knife run through many folds at once and cut into convenient size, make a hole through the corners of many thicknesses at once with the large meat fork or shears points—hang the whole bunch within reach of the place in which I stand at dishwashing. It is easy to take a piece to wipe away anything that ought not to go into the dishwasher. When the outside of the milk pail has some extra soiling on it, take a piece of paper, dip into water, wipe the milk pail and put the paper in the "burning bucket," as we call the trash bucket. Of course we do not want the outside even of the milk pails to get so dirty, but on the ordinary farm they sometimes do, and I try to do the next best thing to keeping them clean—that is, cleaning them in the easiest way.

In dressing a turkey or even chickens I lay some thicknesses of paper on the table, and when done I can take up the whole mess and throw what the cats and living chickens will eat to them and the paper to be burned, saving the soiling of anything that has to be washed.

Downfall of China.

As almost all cooks have a "china record" that is lamentable, the condition of the china closet in the average household is a cause of constant annoyance to the housewife. The final sorting of table furnishings after the festivities are over is always accompanied with forebodings on the part of the mistress who has learned by experience that every dinner or luncheon marks the fall of some fragile piece of pottery. Many a hostess has been forced to limit her guest list to the number of available cups and plates, and the less vigilant in household matters have often been horrified to behold the most important or critical guest surrounded by a collection of china that looked liked nothing so much as the odds and ends to be found on a bargain counter. Dealers in fine china are making prices just now that might be found more than interesting to those with whom the replenishing process is always in order, and many a rare bit of ware that would serve nicely as a dining room decoration can be picked up at one-half the usual cost.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Linen Covers.

In the way of fancy table linens one that is decidedly new is a double effect. The center is of some color around which is applied a very heavy border of white, the width of the border being about as much as the diameter of the center. The edges are all frayed out, the color and the white intermixing in a very effective manner. The white material at both edges is frequently embroidered, the embroidery tacking it on to the under piece of the material. The whole is decidedly striking, novel and effective.

Another idea in fancy table linen shows embroidery of silk and drawnwork both worked up in the same design on a piece of linen. The drawnwork is made to fit in most neatly and forms a part of the design and is not, as is frequently the case, a separate adornment.

Colors That Blend.

An error which the inexperienced house furnisher often makes is to put two reds of different tones in rooms that open into each other. A hall perhaps will have terra cotta on the walls and there will be red in the dining room to which it leads. This is wrong. Put a negative color on the hall, a tone of buff or mastic, with a small broken figure in self tones, that there may be no suggestion or strong contrast to the red of the adjoining room. If blue is to be used in the dining room, not too light a yellow may be put on the hall. It is these jarring arrangements in adjacent rooms that may destroy wholly an effect in either apartment that by itself or properly complemented would be altogether charming.

HIS "CALL" WAS A "RAISE."

The Rev. Dr. Minot J. Savage tells the following story, of which he claims not to see the point, to illustrate the guilelessness of members of his profession. A clergyman and a prosperous layman were one day discussing the various aspects of the minister's occupation. Finally the layman said a little bit scornfully:

"The trouble with you parsons is that you are not practical."

"But I insist that that is exactly what we are," replied the clergyman warmly.

"No, you're not," said the layman firmly.

"Well, how do you make that out?" inquired the indignant parson.

"Well, I'll tell you. You had an offer to go to Boston at a salary of $5,000, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"And you're getting $3,000 here?"

"Well, what of that?"

"Nothing—except you said you had a call, didn't you?"

"Yes."

"Well, that wasn't a call at all. It was a raise."—New York Tribune.

The Hand Organ Trust.

"Talk about trusts," said a Cincinnati business man to an Inquirer representative, "the grind organ trust in this and other big cities beats them all. I have taken the trouble to inquire, and I find that the Italians pay $1 to $2 a day for the use of the instruments on the streets. Some of the men who handle the organ from place to place work from fifteen to eighteen hours a day. Each has a regular run and knows just where he can pick up the pennies and the nickels. If these organ grinders don't pick up $1 a day, they must make good for the instrument. The syndicate which controls these hand organs is getting rich fast, if the stories of those who haul them around is to be believed."

The Report Was Correct.

Sir Alfrid Laurier, the Canadian premier, was on a speechmaking tour of Ontario during the recent byelections in that province and the province of Quebec. The elections were bitterly contested, and efforts were made both by the Liberals and Conservatives to stir up race and religious prejudice. A Quebec Liberal, whose acquaintance with Sir Wilfrid was only political, sent this telegram to his leader:

Report in circulation in this county that your children have not been baptized. Telegraph denial.

To which dispatch the premier sent this reply:

Sorry to say report is correct. I have no children. —New York Times.

Green Corn In England.

In spite of war abroad and taxes at home, Great Britain found something to be thankful for last year. A London periodical, soberly noting that "the maize plant from America" has long been grown in English gardens "for decorative purposes," observes that "for eating in the green state the cobs now find a growing demand at the large hotels in the west end."

This means that the mother country has discovered green corn and will henceforth use it "for decorative purposes" after the American style—cob in hand.

The Last Number.

Next Wednesday evening, April 9, occurs the last number of Tawas City School entertainment course, which will be a lecture by Thomas McClary. The Earlville, Ill., Leader, says:

Thomas McClary was great Wednesday evening in his lecture on "Missions of Mirth." Not a word escaped a person in the hall, which was filled. How we wish it were possible to print that lecture and let every one read it. His words made those present realize that we must not live for ourselves alone, but bring out all the sunshine possible in our lives. He gave numerous vivid illustrations of why people should try to be cheerful, rather than discouraged, helpful rather than hateful, and so on down the long list. So apt were his remarks that all profited by them they could not help it, and at the same time enjoyed the rare humorous vein that was brought out in such a striking way from the start. If you missed this, reader, surely do not miss the next in the course, which is giving to Earlville the best talent to be had.

A Business Change.

During the past two years the "Corner Grocery," under the proprietorship of Messrs. Garber & Stuckney, has become one of the leading and most popular business places in our city, and the announcement of the retirement of Thomas F. Garber from this firm will be received with regret, by his large circle of friends and patrons. However, the store will lose none of its popularity under the new management. Beginning last Wednesday morning Stuckney & Robinson are the proprietors, Willard Robinson, having purchased Mr Garber's interest. The new member of the firm is well and favorably known in Tawas county, where he has resided from childhood, and we are glad to welcome him as a citizen and number him among our business men.

The Farmers' Club.

We said that we would have something to say about our county road system. We are not surprised at the work done in Sherman township. Now a piece of work half done is money thrown away. We call this half grubbed, and that half not well done, and that is all there is to it. No drainage, no crowning of the road bed, just little knobs leveled down and holes filled up with rubbish and rotten wood. Now, farmers, you can build better roads than that piece of county road, if you call it a road. Where's your money gone? Order the supervisor of your township to go and look at the work, inspect the bridges that were built, measure them and see what they are worth, and then find out what was paid for them. The proper system for building good roads—better roads than we have in the county—is to hire a road engineer to lay it out. He will give the crown of the road with the surface of the ground, put down grade stakes in them so that when they are finished the water will run off, and keep the bed of the road dry. A road engineer will also give you the cost of every yard of dirt moved on the surface or in the ditches. He will give you the costs of all culverts and bridges. He will get a man to do the work after his laying out, but it is not every man that can do the work on a road after an engineer, and do it properly.

Now, we hope that the board of supervisors will not vote any more money, and will stop what we have on hand, until the commissioners adopt a system of some kind, so that the taxpayers will get what they expected to get when they voted for the county road system, or else quite it now and let the townships and cities have their money back.

We believe there was a road engineer who once ran for commissioner, but the Rippers taded him off and the Herald said at the time that the taxpayers would be sorry. Now taxpayers will you pay more money to ditch and grade that piece of road in Sherman, over again?

FRANK DUPLANTY, Pres.

Something of a Man.

The following from the Washington (D. C.) Times, refers to two cousins of Col. S. B. Thatcher, of Wilber. Col. Thatcher expect to attend a reunion of the Thatcher family at the Northern Mountain Fruit farm, next September.

Captain Isaac B. Thatcher, of the certificate division of the Pension Office, has a visitor at his home in the person of Mr. J. Newton Thatcher, who attracts more than ordinary attention as he passes along the streets. A veritable giant is Mr. Thatcher, exceeding in size many of the so-called prodigies that have been exhibited throughout the country during the last twenty years. He is a trifle under seven feet in height, weighs 275 pounds and is so well proportioned that it is hard to realize his great size until compared with a person of average stature, then the contrast is startling. Mr. Thatcher wears a number eight and a half hat, a number fourteen shoe, and his hands are twice the size of those of an ordinary man. He is a native of West Virginia and the owner of the famous North Mountain fruit farm near Martinsburg, located on what is known as "Apple Pie Ridge." This farm has been in uninterrupted possession of the Thatcher family for 200 years, and the apples grown here are in demand through the East. During the civil war Mr. Thatcher, then a lad, served as a teamster in the Union army operating in the Shenandoah Valley, and many are the feats of prodigious strength recorded by his comrades. Often a wagon heavily loaded would mire to the hub in the badly cut up roads when young Thatcher coming to the rescue, would put his hands to a wheel and bodily lift the whole outfit from the mud as easily as if it had been a toy.

Wants to Help Others.

"I had stomach trouble all my life," says Edw. Mehler, proprietor of the Union Bottling Works, Erie, Pa., "and tried all kinds of remedies, went to several doctors and spent considerable money trying to get a moment's peace. Finally I read of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have been taking it to my great satisfaction. I now found its equal for stomach trouble and gladly recommend it in hope that I may help other sufferers." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles. You don't have to diet. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. Dr. C. A. Wakeman.

C. Livingstone has commenced work in his new hotel.

Joseph Lindsay, of Reno, has been here looking for a farm.

Miss Zaba Burr has returned to her home at Long Lake.

Some of our farmers have commenced their spring work.

C. W. Atkin, agent for the Plano Co., has been in Hale this week.

A. Soper has moved his shingle mill from Esmond & Nunn's mill to Hale creek.

The lakes in this vicinity are nearly all free of ice, and we expect some fishing soon.

Homer Smith drove several of our business men to Tawas last week. They had a pleasant trip.

The farmers dropped a heavy upper lip Monday morning, when they awoke and found about two inches of snow. Let 'er come, boys, better now than in May.

There is a big strike in Hale. The boys have formed a union and struck for bigger wages. We do not think Uncle Sam will have to call out the troops, as officers are very numerous here since the caucuses.

Squire Wood was seen on our avenues this week looking after de tie.

Mrs. D. Stewart is at Tawas getting a stock of spring millinery for the ladies.

There has been some fine pike caught in the lakes in this vicinity this spring.

Mr. Rakestraw, of Lupton, passed through our town, enroute for the city Tuesday.

Chris. Gorrie, who has been clerking at the Cash Mercantile Co.'s store, has resigned and returned to his home at Omer. Mr. Bell takes his place.

Dr. H. A. Goodale, who has been here a short time looking after his interests, returned to East Tawas Tuesday to attend a meeting of the pension board.

Two women sailed out of our village last Sunday, westward, on a hand car. As they were rounding a curve they were met by a freight train. The cowcatcher gracefully lifted the hand car, women and all up in the air until the train had passed under them, when the car again gracefully fell back on the rails as if nothing had happened and began business. No damage to women, car or cowcatcher.

Small pox in Sherman.

A number of cases of small pox have developed in Sherman township, some five or six families being affected. State Inspector Ranney, of Lansing, was there yesterday, and ordered a strict quarantine, and every effort is being made to prevent a further spread. The cases are all of a mild form.

Gentle Spring

Is approaching, and you will soon grow weary of wearing a heavy winter suit and overcoat.

Eugene Smith went to Alabaster Tuesday where he has accepted a position with the U. S. Plaster Company. He takes the position of B. W. McCausland, who has gone to Buffalo, to accept a position with the eastern branch of the company, under Sewel Avery, who is the eastern representative of that company. The many friends of Mr. Avery and Mr. McCausland regret their removal from this county.

"What Women Like in Men," "What Men Like in Women," and "Husbands and Wives," are the titles of a series of very interesting papers by Rafford Pike, the third of which appears in The Cosmopolitan for April. The same number of The Cosmopolitan treats of Prince Henry's visit, with a series of beautiful printed photographs, under the title of "A Clever Emperor and a Confederation of Nations." F. Hopkinson Smith, Israel Zangwill, Bret Harte and Maarten Maartens are among the other contributors to this number, which is unusually good in fiction.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Jewell who have had charge of the county farm, took their departure last Tuesday morning for their old home in the southern part of the state. When they came here there was a strong bias in many sections in as much as they had come from out side of the county. By close attention to business they seemed to have over come the opposition as was evidenced when quite a number of their neighbors gathered at the depot to express their regrets and bid them good bye.
