A Fine New Hall.

Grant Heros, No. 456, L. O. L., of Grant township, are just completing a fine new hall, near the Hemlock Road Baptist church. The building is two stories high and 30 x 40 feet in size. It is well finished throughout, with hardwood floors, etc. The second story will be used for lodge rooms while the first will be leased for public meetings. The building is a credit to the organization and shows that the Grant Heros are hustlers.

On the evening of July 15th, they will give a grand opening ball, to which the public is most cordially invited. The affair is in the hands of a committee who assure a good time and that everything will be conducted in a satisfactory manner. If you wish to enjoy an evening of pleasure attend. Supper will be served and one dollar will pay the bill.

Of National Fame.

The program for the annual convention of Christian Endeavor societies of Michigan at Ludington, July 22-25, is now being given its finishing touches, according to advices from the state secretary's office. The list of speakers, it is said, has never been equalled at a similar convention in the state. Rev. John P. D. John, ex-president of DePauw university and one of the best known men on the lecture platform today; Shailer Mathews of Chicago university; Rev. E. B. Allen of Toledo; Rev. C. B. Newman of Christ church, Detroit; Oliver H. Stewart of Chicago, and others will deliver address. The last named man who is known throughout the United States for his work in the good citizenship movement in Chicago, will talk on that subject. Because of Ludington's fame as a summer resort there is indication of an unusually large attendance.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress.

D. & M. Excursions.

For the 4th of July the D. & M. will sell tickets to all points in Lower Peninsula of Michigan, also Toledo, Ohio, and Chicago, Ill., at rate of one first-class limited fare for the round trip. Date of sale, July 3rd and 4th, return limit July 7th.

Unprecedented Condition.

A curious discovery has been made in connection with the veterans of the Italian war of independence. Instead of dying off gradually, as might be expected, they are actually increasing! Forty-two years ago Garibaldi sailed with 1,000 men from Quarto. Of this gallant band there are to-day 1,200 survivors. Again, Italy is paying £60,000 a year to 18,421 pensioners of the 1848 campaign. According to the average rates of mortality four-fifths of them ought to be dead.—Pearson's Weekly.

Lacking in Spirit.

It is certain that if any city were to be guided by the sentiments of the non-progressive element there would be no improvements in that city. There are people who would rather see a street knee deep in dust in the dry season, and in the winter a lane of mud, than to spend a cent for improvements. There are people who lack wholly the spirit that causes a city to grow. They are willing to permit the growth if it will not put them to any personal expense, and have no compunctions as to accepting the benefits resulting.

The Railroads and the Coal Strike.

In refusing so persistently to deal with the miners the operators would seem to be challenging public opinion rather boldly. For these operators are, in effect, the railroads themselves. Contrary to established principles, and to the laws of most states and countries, the roads have gone beyond their legitimate functions as common carriers, and have assumed monopolistic control of a necessary article of traffic and ordinary use. This relation of the railroads to the mining, shipping, and marketing of coal is at the basis of the whole anthracite trouble. In the wild scramble, some years ago, for the acquisition of coal lands, and the control of what were formerly independent coal-mining companies, fictitious prices were paid and immense sums of money were invested upon false economic principles. The existing combination is for the purpose of making the public pay interest and dividends upon a huge volume of this improper capitalization. But for this artificial situation, which—morally, if not technically—constitutes the most flagrant violation of the Sherman anti-trust law to be found in the whole country, the public could have cheap coal, the miners could have fair wages, and the railroad could charge a reasonable price for transportation.—From "The progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for July.

Mother Always Keeps it Handy

"My mother suffered a long time from distressing pains and general ill health due primarily to indigestion," says L. W. Spalding, Verona, Mo. "Two years ago I got her to try Kodol. She grew better at once and now, at the age of seventy-six, eats anything she wants, remarking that she fears no bad effects as she has her bottle of Kodol handy." Don't waste time doctoring symptoms. Go after the cause. If your stomach is sound your health will be good, Kodol rests the stomach and strengthens the body by digesting your food it is nature's own tonic.

MRS. ALICE SCHWORZ.

She is known as "the Singer Who Sings People into Heaven."

Mrs. Alice Schworz has devoted the best years of her life and all her musical talent and accomplishments to singing for invalids in the home or the hospital and prison, and she is spoken of by all who know her as "the singer who sings people into heaven."

Mrs. Schworz does not know herself how she obtained this rare gift of soothing and impressing the dying so that the tortured senses find immediate relief and the sufferer passes away in perfect peace on the wings of song. She sings like one in a trance, unconscious of her surroundings, not even aware of the words she has chosen, her eyes turned upward with a rapt expression, while all who hear her are dominated and thrilled by the power and sweetness of her music. In the wards of the hospital the sick listen as if they were hearing celestial singing, and to those who are not fatally ill it brings strength and repose, like an electric current. Physicians have declared the effect to be hypnotic and have themselves listened spell-bound to the inspired strains.

The singer does not improvise words or music, but uses the familiar hymns, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" or others as popular and well known. Her voice is a sympathetic contralto of great sweetness, and she had it cultivated in her youth for choir singing.

In her home in Carthage, Miss., she first gave up fashionable pursuits and found her happiness in smoothing the way to another life by her magnetism of song. The knowledge that her voice would have made her famous among the world's vocalists has never disturbed this singularly gifted woman. She gave it free to the helpless.

Mrs. Schworz has a charming personality and is highly esteemed by her friends as the possessor of many Christian virtues. Only two other women have essayed the role in which she is so proficient—Mrs. Augusta Evans Wilson, the southern novelist, and Emma Abbott, who a few days before her death sang "The Last Rose of Summer" for a dying man.—Chicago Record-Herald.

To Improve the Figure.

On arising and the last thing before going to bed when you have on your nightdress stand with your back against a door and fill your lungs, breathing through the nostrils, with the mouth closed, until the lungs can hold no more. Retain the breath while you count four. Expel it through the nose, counting seven. Practice this breathing movement ten times.

Next stand upright, turn out the toes so that the heels touch, place your hands on your hips, the fingers on the diaphragm, the thumbs back in the soft part of the back either side of the spinal column, and draw in a deep breath. Force the air down so that you feel the thumbs pressed out through the expansion of the lower back part of the lungs. Hold the breath while counting four; expel while counting seven. Practice this movement six times.

Third Movement.—Stand straight, head up, shoulders thrown back, arms hanging by the side. Now gradually raise the arms until they are high above the head. While you are performing this movement take in a deep breath through the nostrils until the lungs can hold no more. Retain the breath while counting four. Now gradually lower the arms, at the same time slowly expelling the breath, counting seven. Repeat six times.

These exercises practice night and morning, and they will develop the bust and shoulders, they will cure round shoulders, will rouse a torpid liver into action, wonderfully benefit a dull, mucky complexion and improve the general health.

It is important that these exercises should be performed with the window open.

Wash japanned ware with a sponge dampened in warm water and dry it immediately with a soft cloth. Sweet oil applied with a woolen cloth will remove obstinate spots.

GRADUATION EXERCISES

Of the Class of '02 Held Last Friday Evening.

Last Friday evening was the occasion of the commencement exercises at the High School. From the time the doors were opened, eager spectators and listeners commenced to fill the assembly room for the event. The platform was tastily draped with pink and green bunting and numerous pink chrysanthemums adorned the walls of the room. The seating plan gave reserved sittings for the school board, teachers, relatives of the graduates and honored guests.

About 8.30, to a march played by Miss Hallie Wilcox, Prof. Ellsworth followed by the graduates and Miss Walker took seats on the platform. After the invocation by Rev. Sutherland another piano selection was skillfully executed by Miss Teresa Shaver.

The first number by the graduates was the Salutatory by Miss Effie Jacobs, who extended a hearty welcome of the class to the friends present and though not the first class to graduate from the institution she realized that the future had graver responsibilities and more difficult conflicts. She was gratified to look about and see how well those who had gone forth in previous years had taken upon themselves the burden of life and were now in higher institutions of learning, official positions of trust, or in homes of their own. The merits of the training they had received would be demonstrated by the kind of men and women they made.

Miss Laura Thomas then gave a very apt essay on "The Value of a Hitching Post." Her theme was the necessity of a fixed purpose and the building of true and right character. Her subject was unique and no less entertaining and instructive.

A quartette sang a very pretty and fitting selection, after which Miss Mildred Shaver spoke on "Circles." She showed the power of knowledge or practical education as compared with other things desirable yet not indispensable, and that success is the outer circle which cannot be circumscribed by any circumstance or condition.

Mr. Will D. Myles, with reasonable appropriateness, chose as his subject, "The Coming Man." He showed how highly man is endowed physically, spiritually and mentally, and that man, as such, ought with extraordinary care and thought, fit himself for a useful career in life. Self-control and morality are what make men free, not the opposite. The need of the hour is men true, altruistic, unwavering and uncompromising with the self-seeking dishonesty of the times.

The Class Prophecy by Miss Rose McDonald entitled "Whither?" was unique, entertaining and well executed. The young lady seated herself before a table on which was a tea set and, after each one of the class sipped, one by one she portrayed their future. Some flushed countenances and uncontrollable laughter evidenced the entertainer's ability in disclosing the secrets of the black art.

Miss Lena Redhead had the honor of being Valedictorian, and with excellent address and oratorical skill, spoke to the subject "Excelsior," the class motto. She illustrated the value of standards, courage and temperance. In closing, on behalf of the class, the speaker expressed her gratitude to the parents, teachers, school board and friends, and well wishes for the Junior Class. Her remarks were well chosen throughout.

A pretty and finely executed piano selection by Miss Elsie Mount preceded the presentation of the diplomas which was done after a few introductory remarks by Mr. G. A. Prescott. The audience with unusual interest listened to the class song. Rev. Waterbury pronounced the benediction. The class yell was then given by the grads. After congratulations by the friends and teachers the exercises closed.

The students of this class have done themselves great credit, also the faculty and school by their attainments. They now go forth and in their memories will remain tender recollections of each other in their associations, and deep gratitude to the teachers for their untiring labors and sacrifices.

Vacation Days.

Vacation time is here and the children are fairly living out of doors. There could be no healthier place for them. You need only to guard against the accidents incidental to most open air spots. No remedy equals De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve for quickly stopping pain or removing danger of serious consequences. For cuts, scalds and wounds, "I used De Witt's, Witch Hazel Salve for sores cuts and bruises," says L. B. Johnson, Swift, Tex. "It is the best remedy on the market." A Teaspoonful.

When the doctor tells you to "take a teaspoonful" of any medicine, you had better get a graduated glass and not trust to the capacity of the spoons of your domestic life. Medical men are now calling attention to the fact that the ordinary teaspoon is of such a varying capacity that no reliance is to be placed upon it as a measure of quantity. If you are only taking squills and paregoric for your cold, the difference will not matter, but if the medicine is some powerful drug it matters a lot. A teaspoon is theoretically supposed to hold sixty minims, but from tests

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Plaster Match Holders

Dainty housewives who are not fortunate enough to have their homes lighted by electricity are delighted over the new designs in plaster casts. Whether one buys of the street vendors or in the artshops, the little match holders in the shape of cherubs, jolly monks, diabolical faces or angelic children are quite welcome as novelties. When tacked against the woodwork with brass headed tacks, with a small piece of sandpaper underneath, their usefulness is as apparent as the decorative feature. A very pretty panel may be made by covering a thin board two inches larger than the match holder with some art ticking or denim of a humorous shade of the wall covering and then fastening the plaster cast and sandpaper to the covered board securely. Screw eyes at the top of the panel make it easy to adjust to the wall. The plaster cast is a dangerous one, but if it can be judiciously handled rooms may be made very effective by the correct placing of a masterpiece reproduced in plaster.

Country House Windows.

For a country house drawing room of any pretensions to elegance as elaborate a scheme of window drapery is employed as in a city house, but unless the house is one of unusual splendor silk and real lace and brocade are not the proper things to use.

Pane curtains in a country house parlor should be made of cream mercerized madras or mercerized lawn of a strong tea color. These shades should hang flat against the glass and be treated with applications of imitation Russian or Irish crochet lace. It is the shade of cream, antique yellow or tea brown linen that must be frilled. Of a fashionable make, this has insets of not expensive lace let in near its bottom edge, or it is still less expensively woven with a drawnwork border. To a pointed or scalloped edge the soft, thin linen flounce, lace edged, is set on, and such a shade among the smart house decorators is called a Monte Carlo blind.

For Drying Clothes Indoors.

When clothes are hung up to dry in a kitchen or laundry, they not only occupy a good deal of room, but they are an impediment to the free circulation of air, and for this reason a novel device which is intended to do away with these undesirable features is meeting favor among housewives of Europe.

It consists of a small wooden box, to which are attached several cords. When clothes are to be dried, this box can be raised to any desired height, and the cords can be stretched and fastened in the most appropriate places. In this way wet clothes can be removed in an instant to the warmest part of the room, where they will be dried in a few minutes.
