ABOUT A SUGAR FACTORY

The Location of one at East Tawas Seems Assured.

During the past three or four years there has been several efforts made to locate a sugar factory in the Tawas, but without success. The citizens of East Tawas now claim to have the capital secured to begin the erection of a factory this fall, if the necessary acreage of beets can be secured, and canvassers are now working to secure the acreage.

The citizens of Tawas City have pledged their support to our sister city and are doing all possible to aid in securing the factory, and it is believed that our farmers will be just as enthusiastic as the people of the Tawas, and will contract liberally to raise beets.

The location of such a factory here will enhance the value of every acre of farming land in Iosco County many dollars, and will result in improving the conditions of our people in every way. Such a factory is of much more value to the farmers than to the people of the cities and should receive the most liberal support of all.

Below we publish an article from the pen of Edward H. Parker, which appeared in the Michigan Investor, showing the vast importance of the beet sugar industry in Michigan:

Among the vast agricultural and manufacturing factors which have contributed to the material welfare of a great commonwealth, special attention is just now centering in Michigan's beet sugar industry. Thanks to the potent influence wielded by the combined frugality and enterprise of the farming elements, the experimental stage is over and the success of a great industry is practically assured. It is interesting to note that in the successful development of this industry the interests of farmer and manufacturer are identical. The success of one reflects the success of the other.

In this connection the situation in Michigan is now such as to enable the presentation of facts and figures that will both interest and surprise not only the zealous economist and the watchful investor, but the public generally. In Michigan to-day 20,000 farmers are raising beets for conversion into sugar. This means that 100,000 persons living in the agricultural districts are directly interested in and benefited by the beet sugar business of Michigan. The Detroit Sugar Company has paid as high as $7.07 per ton to growers in Michigan for beets. The average value of one ton of beets is $5.20. The total investment of the Michigan sugar companies is $10,000,000. The amount paid to farmers last year was $3,107,520; the estimate for the current year is $4,000,000.

Aside from the expected crop of beets which is estimated at about 775,000 tons, the sugar factories of Michigan will use this year about 165,000 tons of coal, a large part of which comes from this state, the value of which will be about $425,000. In addition there will be consumed some 60,000 tons of Michigan limestone, valued at $110,000. The money paid for labor alone at thirteen sugar factories in 1901 amounted to $902,376. This year, with the factories that have since come into existence, this large pay-roll will be increased to about $1,200,000. This distribution of money among the laboring classes is in addition to the amount expended in the way of farm labor, made necessary by the increased cultivation of beets.

The factories secure their beets by making contracts with farmers during the winter before the crop is to be harvested. The price paid in Michigan is uniform, being $4.50 per ton for 12 per cent beets, but the beets grown for the Detroit Sugar Company's factory last year averaged 15 per cent, the average price paid to the farmers being $5.50. Beets are shipped to the factory in the fall of the year, and the factories start slicing about October 1st and run continuously until the last beet is cut.

The sugar beet crop has fully demonstrated its stability by enduring the great drought of 1899 and the extreme wet of this season, thus proving conclusively that the sugar beet is a standard and reliable crop for every Michigan farmer to grow. Nothing, perhaps, is so indicative of the success of the sugar beet industry as the vigor with which the farmers connected with this crop are going ahead and preparing their ground for the crop of 1903. What this new industry has really done can be ascertained by any one willing to take the trouble of looking over the records of the County Register of Deeds in any county where a beet sugar factory is established, and comparing records of mortgages discharged during a certain period of time before and after the locating of the factory. And not only the growers benefit by this crop, but also the grocer, clothier, shoemaker, and so on throughout the whole list of business men in the state each through the various channels of trade receiving his share of this general prosperity. Investigation shows they will readily testify that, directly or indirectly, this proportionate enlargement of trade is due to the beet sugar industry.

As the beet sugar industry is so young in Michigan, being only four years old, the time has not yet come when the factories are able to reduce the cost of manufacturing sugar to where it ought to be. There are now too many unavoidable expenses which with a few years more of experience and experiment will be cut off. There are valuable by-products, such as pulp, lime-refuse and molasses, now practically going to waste, but which contain elements of great value. The ingenuity of the American mind will in a few years construct devices for the manufacturing of these by-products into articles of value. In addition to this, improvements are slow but gradually being made to minimize the cost of harvesting beets.

The beet sugar industry of Michigan only asks that the tariff on sugar be left unchanged for a few years, or until such a time as this new and valuable industry in our state may become thoroughly established and on its feet, so as to be able to financially stand the altered conditions of a revised tariff. We are sending more than $100,000,000 a year out of this country to buy sugar, all of which ought to be retained and circulated within the country, and if our senators and representatives at Washington could only look ahead a very few years they could see how this enormous sum of money can be retained and circulated at home by treating the nation's new industry with the fairness it should be accorded.

Forty years Torture.

To be relieved from a torturing disease after 40 years' torture might well cause the gratitude of anyone. That is what DeWitt's Hazel Salve did for C. Haney, Geneva, O. He says: "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me of piles after I had suffered 40 years." Cures cuts, burns, wounds, skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits.

The history of the industrial changes which have of late been occurring with such rapidity is to be found in its most interesting form in the careers of the "Captains of Industry," now before the public in connection with the larger interests of production, transportation and finance. A knowledge of these men, their derivation, their leading characteristics, weakness and abilities, throws much light upon the news of the day in which their names constantly recur. In making the effort to present a fairly complete series of studies of these men The Cosopolitan Magazine has furnished the public with one of the most interesting serials ever published. In the October number H. C. Frick, Cyrus H. K. Curtis, David H. Moffat, Woodrow Wilson and H. H. Vreeland furnish interesting studies.

General Alger.

The fight between General Russel A. Alger and Dexter M. Ferry for the United States senatorship left vacant by the death of James McMillan, came to an end when the republican state judicial convention at Grand Rapids, last Thursday, gave its endorsement to General Alger. Monday Governor Bliss tendered the appointment to General Alger and it was promptly accepted. There is no doubt but what General Alger was the choice of a majority of his party in this state. That he will prove as able and influential an official as his predecessor there is room for much doubt, but that he will give satisfaction to his party is conceded.

Still Durand.

The name of Durand still remains at the head of the democratic state ticket for the office of governor. The democratic state central committee met at Detroit, Tuesday, to name the successor to Hon. George H. Durand, who was compelled to withdraw owing to his serious illness. After due deliberation the committee named Hon. Lorenzo T. Durand, of Saginaw, to fill vacancy.

L. T. Durand is a brother of George H. Durand, and one of the leading attorneys of Saginaw. He is a man of high attainments and many of the traits which has endeared his brother to the people of this state. He is in every way capable of taking up the fight for better administration of state affairs and carrying it to a successful finish.

Weekly Crop Report

For the week ending Monday, September 29, 1902.

The mean daily temperature for the past week was 59.9 degrees, or 3.2 above the normal; the average total precipitation was 1.88 inches, or 1.28 inches above the normal; the sunshine averaged 24 per cent of the possible amount.

In most counties of the Lower Peninsula the past week has been marked by much cloudy weather and excessive rainfall, which has delayed all field work besides doing some damage to outstanding crops. The wind and heavy rain have flattened much corn and damaged late beans, many of which were pulled but unsecured.

Corn continues to mature very slowly and much of it has been cut green and unripe; the heavy rains have moulded some corn in the shock; considerable still remains uncut. Late potatoes on light soil have been improved, but most of crop indicate light yields; blight caused by excessive moisture and cool weather have been detrimental and much rotting is reported; generally the yield will be light. Buckwheat is mostly cut and secured and threshers' returns show good yields. The present condition of late apples indicates at least an average crop.

The warm rains have germinated early sown wheat and rye very rapidly and made pasturage excellent. The week has been too wet for sugar beets, but the crop, as a whole, still continues very promising. Most of the winter wheat and rye have been sown in the northern counties and portions of the central; in the southern counties it has only generally commenced; the soil is in a splendid condition as a seed-bed.

Natural Anxiety.

Mothers regard approaching winter with uneasiness, children take cold so easily. No disease costs more little lives than croup. Its attack is so sudden that the sufferer is often beyond human aid before the doctor arrives. Such cases yield to One Minute Cough Cure. Liquefies the mucus, allays inflammation, remove danger. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Cures coughs, colds, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung trouble. F. S. McMahon, Hampton, Ga. "A bad cold rendered me voiceless just before an oratorical contest. I intended to withdraw but took One Minute Cough Cure. It restored my voice in time to win the medal."

THE 28th FAIR.

It Proved a Success Notwithstanding the Poor Weather.

The 28th annual fair of the Iosco County Agricultural Society on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week was a success in spite of the bad weather. The rain on the first two days resulted in making the exhibits in some departments less than last year, and in all departments less than they would have been with favorable weather. What is true of the exhibits is also true of the attendance.

One thing which was most emphatically demonstrated was the fact that our farmers are making a special effort to improve the quality of stock raised here. While the number of entries in the cattle department was not as large as last year, the quality was much better, as was that in the sheep and swine department. The horses exceeded any previous year as to number, and the contest for prizes was most keen. The poultry display was up to the average.

The display of grain, roots and farm products was fully up to the standard of excellence. That of grain without doubt was the largest and best ever shown in the county, the quality, as a rule being above the average.

The exhibit of fruit surprised everyone, and we doubt if it could be excelled in quality by any county in the state. The display was at least three times as large as ever before and contained all varieties. That fruit raising in Iosco county can be made a success there is no longer any doubt.

The dairy and household department was well filled with fine exhibits, while the fancy work was up to its usual excellent standard. The exhibit of flowers was the greatest ever.

The horse racing was the special feature of the fair and excellent races were had. Thursday occurred the county trotting race, which was won by "Kate Sprague," owned by C. J. McDonald, of Oscoda, "Klondike," owned by John Kinney, of Alabaster, second, and "Jim," owned by W. H. Hartley, third.

The three minute race was won by "Timelock," owned by C. N. Ware, of Alpena, while McDonald's "Kate Sprague," took second, and "Effie Chimes," owned by John Ryan, of Alpena, third.

Friday, occurred the free-for-all, and running race. The free-for-all went to Charles English's pacing mare, "Maude B." while "Pelope," owned by Dan McLane, got second and Ryan's "Effie Chimes" third. All of Alpena.

"Pet Ellis," owned by John March, of Twining, got first in the running race, while H. G. Smith, of Turner, got second with "Button," and Charles Curry third with "Dolly Day."

Friday forenoon the A. S. Leaders, of East Tawas, defeated the Turner base ball team by a score of 7 to 2, in a five innings game, and in the afternoon the T. L. B. team of AuSable beat the Tawas City team by a score of 10 to 2.

The receipts will exceed $725, which is estimated to be sufficient to meet all the expenses, including the extensive repairs made on the grounds this year, which is most gratifying to the officials.

The attendance on the second day was as good as could be expected considering the rain, while on the last day the crowd was estimated to be the largest ever attending a fair in this county.

No Wonder.

"Why do you cry, my poor man?"
"Boo, hoo! Nobody don't love me!"

No Cause For Alarm.

"My goodness!" said Mrs. Warburton's aunt, who had just come up from the country for a visit. "I didn't see you lived next door to a machine shop."
"Don't get frightened, auntie," said her beautiful niece. "That's only an automobile that's stopped for a few minutes to work up power."—Chicago Record-Herald.

HER THROAT CUT.

Mrs. Earnest Scholtz Dies from the Effect of a Wound Inflicted Last Sunday.

Our city was shocked about noon last Sunday by the announcement of a tragedy which resulted in the death of Mrs. Earnest Scholtz, and the arrest of her husband on the charge of murder.

The story is a long one and dates back twenty years when the woman came here as the bride of Arthur S. Allard, who was then an employee of C. H. Prescott & Sons. A short time after coming here Mrs. Allard became insane and was sent to the asylum where she remained for some time, when she was discharged as cured and returned to her home here. About twelve years ago she and her little son were deserted by Allard, who went to the Upper Peninsula where he remained until a couple of weeks ago. In the meantime Mrs. Allard was granted a divorce and about two years ago was married to Earnest Scholtz. They resided at the "Soo" for a time but returned here last spring.

Since Allard's return it is reported that he has caused trouble between Mrs. Scholtz and her husband, and that Scholtz was turned out of the house a week ago last Saturday, and has been staying in the barn since.

Last Sunday Allard and his son, a young man of 19 years of age, returned from church and found Mrs. Scholtz lying in a back kitchen with her throat cut. Medical aid was summoned and Sheriff Johnson and Attorney Jahraus called.

It was found that the wind pipe had been severed with a razor which was found on the floor nearby. The cut was about four inches long, but did not sever the jugular vein. The woman was alive and did not die until 11 o'clock Monday night.

She realized all that was said to her and answered by signs and nods of the head. When asked by the doctors and officials if she had attempted to commit suicide she denied it, and indicated that someone had assaulted her while she was combing her hair, when asked if it was Allard she said no, but when asked if it was Scholtz she said yes. The question was put to her in every conceivable way but the answer was always the same, and she died insisting that he was guilty.

Sheriff Johnson found Scholtz at East Tawas about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and arrested him, to await the result of his wife's injuries. Tuesday a warrant was sworn out before Justice Kelley, charging him with the murder. Wednesday he was arraigned and his examination set for next Thursday at 10 o'clock.

About seven years ago the woman was sent to the asylum for the second time, but only remained a short time. There is a strong opinion in the minds of many that instead of murder it was a case of suicide, and that the recent trouble had again driven her insane. The officials, however, are firm in their belief that Scholtz committed the deed, and claim to have a strong case against the accused.

The coroner's inquest was conducted Tuesday by Coroner Connant and the following jury: Frank B. Stickney, Thomas Davidson, M. E. Friedman, Thomas Moore, Charles Katterman and Fred Marzinski. No new facts were developed and a verdict was rendered that the deceased came to her death by a wound in the throat made by a razor in the hands of persons unknown.

Rumors of all kinds have been in circulation; but nothing is liable to be developed before Scholtz's examination next Thursday.

Sugar Beets and a Factory for the Tawas.—What it is Worth to a Community.

TO THE EDITOR:

After successful tests it has been found that the soil in Iosco, Arenac, Ogemaw and Alcona counties is particularly adapted for the growing of sugar beets—producing a larger per cent. of sugar than beets raised in other parts of the state.

The question of a beet sugar factory is again before the people of the Tawas and the surrounding country. Ample capital is promised to erect a 600 ton factory for the campaign of 1903, providing the necessary 5,000 acres of beets can be contracted for. A sugar factory must have beets to operate its plant. Believing that the farmers and citizens will all join hands in assisting and inducing the tillers of the soil to engage in sugar beet raising, there should be no trouble in securing the acreage, every farmer should willingly grow at least from two to ten acres. Do not let the opportunity go past. Act at once.

By signing a contract, the capitalist knows the acreage they can depend upon and can more easily get other capital to build and operate. It requires half a million of dollars to build a sugar factory large enough to take care of 600 tons of beets every 24 hours. Farmers agreeing to seed one to ten acres are not taking any chances, while the capitalist takes a large money risk in building the works. It is today the most profitable undertaking for the farmer. It means that a 600 ton factory will pay each year alone for beets $300,000. There is five times more money in raising sugar beets than in any other crop.

The following is the cost of raising an acre of beets: For man $1.37 1/2 per day; man and single horse, $2.00 per day; man, two horses, and tools, $2.75 per day. At the above rate the cost of labor for raising beets averages $33.25 per acre, add to this the rental value at $5.00 per acre, making a total of $38.25 actual cost of raising an acre of beets. The average yield (in Mich.) is 9 tons per acre, the average cost per ton being $3.70, average returns to the Michigan farmer being 9 tons at $5.20 per ton or $46.80 from which should be deducted the cost of seed, 15 pounds at 15 cents per pound or $2.25, leaving net to the farmer $44.55 or a profit of $6.30 per acre over all costs of labor and land rental.

The following statistics for the year ending February 15, 1902, are appended to show what this infant industry, so-called, has done: 13 factories in operation consuming 6,600 tons daily—every 24 hours; 66,400 acres of beets were harvested; 16,848 contractors or families raising beets; 597,600 tons raised, 9 tons per acre, 10-10 average per cent. sugar in beets; $5.20 value of average ton of beets; $3,107,520.00, amount paid farmers for beets.

Do not hesitate or put it off, come forward and sign a contract, you can never lose.

Every one must help in order to get a sugar factory. Representatives will call on you, be prepared and sign a contract. Time is limited. Z.

The worst Form.

Multitudes are singing the praises of Kodol, the new discovery which is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansing and sweetening the stomach and by transforming their food into the kind of pure, rich, red blood that makes you feel good all over. Mrs. Cranfill, of Troy, I. T., writes: For a number of years I was troubled indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form. Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals. It digests what you eat.

Everybody should see the double-page feature in the October Woman's Home Companion, which shows "What We Have Done for Our New Possessions." Pictures speak louder than words, and here are a dozen little arguments in favor of the work the United States is doing in the Philippines and the West Indies.

The canvassers for sugar beet acreage are meeting with success among the farmers, and the indications are that no difficulty will be experienced in securing enough to assure the location of a factory.

If the Rev. Irl Hicks knows anything about October weather, it will be a repetition of what we have had for some months. Lots of rain, sometimes roasting, sometimes freezing and without a disagreeable month.

Sunday night some one entered Walker's machine shop at East Tawas and blew open the safe, which contained nothing but books and papers. The joke was on the would-be thieves as the safe was not locked.

Mrs. Bert Halloway, of the Meadow Road, left at our office Wednesday some samples of apples, which were grown on trees raised from the seed. The trees are eleven years old and the fruit is of a fine quality and excellent flavor.

James R. Snody, of Onaway, formerly of Whittemore, is the democratic nominee for the state legislature from the Presque Isle district. Jim's many friends in this county wish him success, and the people of that district will make no mistake if they elect him.

The farmer who talks about having been fooled over the location of a sugar factory should remember that it never cost him either time or money, while the citizens of the Tawasess have put up plenty of both. Be liberal and sign for acreage when the solicitors call on you and you will have no reason to regret it.

Services at the Tawas City M. E. church next Sabbath will be as follows: Morning sermon by the pastor, at 10:30, subject "Lessons from the Harvest Field." Mr. Thompson came highly recommended and has already made a most favorable impression here.

The Review of Reviews for October presents some striking pictures to illustrate twentieth-century great ship-building. The new battleship Maine, in contrast with Lord Nelson's frigate Victory; one of the new English submarine torpedo boats; and Mr. Charles R. Flint's yacht Arrow, which on September 6 steamed at the rate of 44.13 statute miles an hour, are the types illustrated.

The man who carries his dinner is a good judge of bread. A few slices in a lunch box at mid-day is a better test than a fresh cut loaf for breakfast. Bread made from Ceresota flour retains its moisture. The proof is in the flour-bake it and decide for yourself.
