A Correct Conclusion.

A wise man can readily see that if he wants to sell his goods and increase the number of his customers, he must first let them know what he has to sell and then invite them to buy. The next proposition is, how to impart general public, whether to spend his money on some catch penny scheme, that is noticed for a moment and then forgotten, or to patronize the home newspaper wherein his ad. will appear fifty-two consecutive times a year in the homes of those whose trade he is after, and whose eyes his ad. cannot escape. Of course we are in the business, but nevertheless, when we hear some would be business man telling how entirely wrong it is for people that should be his customers to do their trading in some other town where the prices are most likely no lower, but better advertised, we are struck with the inconsistency of the whole thing. - Ecxhange.

Correct.

. It is evident the purpose of the aldermen to pass an ordinance-according to the official proceedings published in the News-prohibiting the indiscriminate distribution of patent medicine samples from house to house. One of the provisions of the proposed ordinance will be a section requiring that all samples to be distributed shall be submitted to the health board and health officer for inspection, and the distribution shall not be permitted if the board of health and health officer decide it to be detrimental or dangerous in its possibilities. During the past half year several deaths—the result of eating patent medicine samples -have been recorded by Michigan newspapers—the number of children who have been dangerously ill as the result of eating patent medicine samples is appalling. Patent medicines have a place in the world-and oftentimes are beneficial-but they have no places on porches or in yards where they pass into the possession of children. The proposed ordinance should be strict in its provisions and it should be inforced impartially and all the time.—Cadillac News.

Really Surprising.

An exchange expresses our sentiments in the following: "It is quite surprising to an editor sometimes to have a patron come into the office and give him an item of news, and apolothis most valuable information to the gize as though his visit might be considered as an intrusion. Nobody is more welcome than the man who brings in items of news, even though it concerns himself. We naturally consider everyone who furnishes an item to make our columns more newsy and interesting as a benefactor. We hope that none of our readers will feel the least hesitancy in visiting the office or stopping us on the streets with the request to publish such an item. The more interest we can cause you to have in the paper the more your visits will be welcome."

The worst Form,

Multitudes are singing the praises of Kodol, the new discovery which is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansing and sweetening the stomach and by transforming their food into the kind of pure, rich, red blood that makes you feel good all over, Mrs. Cranfill, of Troy, I. T., writes: For a number of years I was troubled indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form. Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals. It digests what you eat.
