Many Items of General Interest From Many Sources.

Free rural delivery goes marching on. There are now 12,500 routes. There should be more.

There is very good ground for the belief that the critical stage of the Venezuelan imbroglio has passed.

It has been suggested that in return for the statue of Frederick the Great we offer the Kaiser a statue of President Monroe.

Hobson, as a candidate for Congress, will have plenty of opportunity as a kisser. He will probably salute all the babies in his district.

An Iowa judge accommodatingly granted a divorce to the wife of his colleague on the bench. Could that be called judicial courtesy?

Lieut. Gov. Tillman, of South Carolina, should petition the legislature to change his name. "Kill-mau" would be much more appropriate.

The strongest fleet ever assembled in American waters is within two days of the Venezuelan coast, and that fleet flies the American flag.

Americans are humane people. They should be generous in their responses to King Oscar's appeal in behalf of the starving people of Sweden.

Efforts are being made to colonize Oklahoma with Boers from South Africa. Any place in the United States would be a paradise to the Boers.

The immediate effect of the Venezuelan episode is to create a demand for a larger and better navy, an adequate army and an efficient national guard.

England and Germany will do well to take timely warning. Spain was kicked bodily out of the western continent, and your Samuel's boot is still in prime condition.

Wicked New Yorkers will now take to the woods in fear and trembling. John Alexander Dowie is to lead his "restoration host" in a grand crusade against sin in the east.

Capt. Richard P. Hobson, the kissable hero of the Merrimac, has resigned from the navy and the thunder of his guns will hereafter be heard from the lecture platform.

Senator Cullom does well to call a halt on legislation granting the American officials the right to accept titles and decorations from European Potentates. We want no flunkeyism in this country.

There is a proposition before congress to double the president's salary, giving him $100,000 a year. It is suggested that he works too hard for $50,000. We wouldn't mind having the job ourselves at that price.

President Roosevelt signed the act establishing the new department of commerce and labor, last Saturday, and on Monday named George B. Cortelyou, to be secretary thereof. Thus the president's cabinet is increased to ten members.

The mechanism of exchange in the Philippines has been thrown into complete disorder by the fall of the price of silver, and it is imperative that Congress relieve the situation by establishing an amended monetary system without unnecessary delay.

A recent consignment of books which has just been received at the University of Michigan library, from the University's agents in Leipzig, Germany, contains 166 volumes, mostly literary works, with some volumes on medicine and the various sciences.

A New York minister recently administered spiritual comfort to his congregation by a sermon on the lady and the lap dog. The reverend gentleman made the remarkable statement that society ladies of today think more of a dog than they do of their babies, and he possibly foresees an early extinction of the American race.

The pension idea seems to be growing almost to the extension of a fad in Washington. Just now it is the negroes who ought to be pensioned, and probably by next week some senators will want to pension all the millionaires in the country.

We must have an expansion of the American navy equal to probable demands in upholding by force both the Monroe doctrine and the Isthmian canal. The responsibilities of the United States are increasing and it will be inexcusable folly if its effective armament is not increased in the same proportion.

G. J. Diekema said that he is entirely satisfied with the state of his candidacy for governor. He said: "I have received many letters offering support. I am going to test the question of whether a man can be nominated for governor in this state without the use of a barrel of money. I may not be able to do it, but somebody to follow me will."

In view of the large investments of American capital abroad, and of the immense credit balances resulting from trade operations during the past eight or ten years, it seems impossible that this country owes so much to Europe that 466 millions are required annually for something, and it would be a satisfaction to know what that something is.

Not until this government decided to dig a canal across the Isthmus of Panama did the full significance of our future relations with South America become a matter of acute concern. Now, as never before in the history of the chronic disturbances in South American territory, has the United States felt the necessity of the most careful exercise of judgment and diplomacy. The future of the vast territory lying south of us has within the past year grown into immense proportions and the powerful protection afforded it by the Monroe doctrine will insure it against possible absorption by any European power.

The fuel situation this season gives special point and purpose to facts about peat. Millions in Europe find it cheap and serviceable for heating and cooking. Why not millions in America also? The Detroit Tribune has been investigating the peat supply of Michigan and claims there is a very wide distribution of the substance in the state, in fact that there is scarcely a county but what has beds of it. A factory has been started at Capae for making peat briquettes and it is said will soon be in operation. Peat briquettes, according to those who claim to know, can be placed on the market for $4 a ton, and a ton of the fuel will go as far as a ton and a quarter of the best anthracite coal.

Overloaded railroads are as dangerous to life and property as overloaded ships. The indications are strong that the railroads of the country are nearly if not quite all overloaded at the present time, and that they have been in that condition for two or three years past. Not only is this true, but there is a burdensome congestion in the freight carrying business of the trunk lines of the country. A few days ago there were enough freight cars congested in Chicago to reach a straight line from Chicago to Philadelphia, and every car loaded to the limit. The great increase in the freight traffic of the country has become a serious problem with the railroad companies, as it is impossible to secure enough engines to haul the trains.

Mysterious Circumstance.

One was pale and sallow and the other fresh and rosy. Whence the difference? She who is blushing with health uses Dr. King's New Life Pills to maintain it. By gently arousing the lazy organs they compel good digestion and head off constipation. Try them. Only 25c. at J. E. Dillon and Dr. Darling, Druggists.

DAN C. MCRAE.

Born in Middlesex County, Ont., Jan. 27, 1877, Died near Naga, Cebu Isle, Dec. 27, 1902, Aged 25 Years and 11 Months.

AMONG the very first to enlist from this county for the Spanish-American war was Dan C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McRae, of this city. Going to Island Lake, where the Michigan troops were rendezvoused, he enlisted with Co. D, 33d Michigan Vol. Inf., and served throughout the Cuban campaign. He was discharged with his company, Dec. 22, 1898. After spending a few months at home, he decided to go to the Philippines, and enlisted at Detroit May 26, 1899, in Co. M, 19th U. S. Inf., for three years, and saw much service against the insurgent forces. When the 19th was ordered home, Dan ask for and received a transfer to Co. A, 29th U. S. infantry, so that he could remain in the Philippines until the expiration of his term of service. His discharge is dated May 28, 1902, having served three years and three days. The discharge paper, which are now in the possession of his parents, show him to have been an excellent soldier, and highly spoken of by his officers.

Last September, in company with two of his former comrades—Joseph E. Colyer, and Ed. J. Helm—he took up a gold claim in the mountains, on Ilog river, 15 miles from Naga, Cebu Isle. They were engaged in improving and developing this property when Dan was taken sick with malaria fever, and was removed to the hospital at Naga. He recovered sufficiently to return to his claim, where he suffered a relapse, but soon got better. On Christmas day he was up and around, but was taken worse upon retiring that night, and died on the morning of the 27th, at 7 o'clock.

Dan was universally respected by all who knew him for his quiet and unassuming manner, and the sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved parents, brothers and sisters. He was a member of Grip Tent, No. 455, K. O. T. M. M., of this city and carried an insurance of $2000. The photo from which the above halftone was made is one he sent the editor while he was serving with the 19th in Cebu.

Rube Smith returned from Saginaw Wednesday, where he went to receive medical treatment.

Albert Blumenau, of Whittemore, is hustling around among out farmers buying hay for the eastern market.

The Ladies' Aid will give a social at the Orange hall, Wednesday evening, Feb. 25, for the benefit of the Baptist church. Supper 25 and 15 cts.

A Grange was organized at the Greenwood school house, last Saturday evening, by Norman Murchison, with 17 charter members. Clifford Hayes was elected master; William O'Brien, secretary; Herman Brown, treasurer.

Grand Marais.

The following local mention of former Tawas people are taken from last week's issue of the Grand Marais Herald:

E. H. Walker left Monday for Ontonagon.

F. E. Walker called on Soo friends Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. F. E. Walker is expected home from Urbana, Ohio, this evening.

Miss Davidson who has been visiting Detroit and Flint friends for the past month returned Wednesday.

Henry Berkenhour rolled in from Crosswell Thursday, where he has been spending the past winter, and is again ready to assume his duties for the Marais Lumber Co. as foreman of the lumber piling, which position he has filled for the past eight years.

Will C. Davidson's name is now enrolled on the roster of The Citizens' Brass Band. Will has chosen the clarinet, and has started in to master it. If the neighbors who live in his vicinity are kept awake at night in the future they will know from whence the cause arises.

Epworth League Banquet.

A pleasant social function concluded a contest that has been on for several months in the local Epworth League, in a banquet given by the losing side to the winners at the home of Mrs. L. B. Smith last Friday evening. A course supper was served to about forty Epworth Leaguers present. The home was tastily decorated for the occasion and the evening's entertainment skillfully carried out. The above-named society made permanent forward strides in membership, attendance and labors during the past year—having increased its membership fully sixty per cent.

City Council Proceedings.

Regular Meeting, Tuesday evening Feb. 17, 1902. Called to order by the mayor.

Present: Full board except Ald. Garber and Atty Jahraus.

Minutes of meeting of Jan. 6, 1902 read and approved.

CASH PRIZES IN GOLD FOR PUZZLED POETS

Everybody thinks he can write poetry. Editors don't usually encourage this idea, but the editor of THE PILGRIM is an exception. He offers spot-cash prizes for the best solution of some poetical puzzles, examples of which are printed here. You will see that the last line of each stanza is missing. It is represented, however, by a picture. Turn the picture into a suitable line of poetry rhyming with the line it follows and you may win a prize. The missing lines are in THE PILGRIM offices. The contestants whose suggestions most nearly approach them will win.

Old Zachery Lord on a gusty day,
Took his only child and he sailed away.
He was bound for a port in a distant land
With the rest of the Pilgrim Father's band
Ah—sad was the heart of his daughter fair
For her Jonathan lover he wasn't there
Old Zach just sniffed—so the story goes—
They were 'Jonathan made' and they bore a share.

Each day, lest the charm of the thing might fade,
Fair Beth took the part of his waiting maid,
And the while Zach tossed on his sea-sick cot
She brought him his innocent viands hot.
They were 'Jonathan made' and they bore a share.

THIS IS NOT THE WHOLE PUZZLE—ONLY TWO SAMPLE VERSES. A POSTAL CARD WILL BRING YOU THE FULL PUZZLE, THE TERMS OF THE COMPETITION AND THE LIST OF PRIZES. WRITE YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS PLAINLY ADDRESS—

A county commissioner of schools is to be elected this spring, but as yet we have heard of no candidates, and everything looks as though Prof. John A. Campbell's excellent record in that position was giving perfect satisfaction, and that he would again be nominated and elected.

Harry A. Clough, who has been agent for the D. & M. Ry. in this city for the past four or five years, will leave March 1, to assume charge of station at Onaway. Mr and Mrs.
Clough's many friends in the Tawas will regret their departure. It is reported that George L. Wakeman, now of Black River, will be transferred to this station.

Last Saturday evening Dr. and Mrs.

Sholtz Again on Trial.

The second trial of Ernest Sholtz, charged with murdering his wife, in this city, on Sept. 27, last, by cutting throat, was commenced before Judge Connine, on the opening of the February term of the circuit court, Monday.
Prosecuting Attorney Jahraus, assisted by Attorney Rawdin, appear for the prosecution, and John E. Simonson, of Bay City, for the defendant.

An extra panel of 45 jurors was drawn, and fifty were examined before the following were accepted: Jas.
Syme, Niel McDougald, Wm. Vance,
Thomas Christie, Adam Doerr, Joseph
M. Boomer, Joseph Martin, Arna
Hanson, Arthur Kelly, John C. Mc-Donald, Oscar Hurkett, and Fred Poulcher.

The case has moved along very rapidly, the prosecution resting at 3 o'clock yesterday. The case will undoubtedly go to the jury tomorrow.
It is conceded that, thus far, the prosecution has made a much stronger case than at the former trial. What testimony the defence has to offer in addition to that given before, is yet to be developed.

A Sudden Call.

Svan Pierson, one of the most highly respected and well-to-do farmers of this county, died very suddenly, at his home in Baldwin last Monday afternoon at one o'clock. Mr. Pierson had been at work around the place during the forenoon, and at noon
his son Elmer went to call him to dinner when he found him in the chicken coop in an unconscious condition. He carried him to the house and went to East Tawas, after medical aid, but death occurred before the doctor arrived. An examination revealed that death was caused by the bursting of a blood vessel in the brain.

The deceased was born in Newinge, Sweden, Sept. 21, 1836. He emigrated to this country and settled in Tawas in 1871, with his wife and two children. He afterward went to Oscoda where he was employed by the Smith & Frye Lumber Co. during the entire time which they were doing business there. From Oscoda he moved on the farm where he died, and which he had developed into one of the finest in the county.

He leaves a wife, four sons and four daughters to mourn his loss. The sons are Peter, of Pennsylvania, Elmer, Charles and Harry, who reside at home; the daughters are Mrs.
Hilda Smith, Misses Minnie and Hulda, all of whom reside in Pennsylvania, and Ida, who resides at home.

The funeral services will be held from the Swedish Lutheran church at East Tawas, at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and will be conducted by Rev.
A. C. Kay.

Farewell Greeting.

MR. EDITOR—Be pleased to allow us in this way to express our thanks in favoring us with the reading of the Herald for some years, and in which are now tokens of new vigor, betoken-ing greater usefulness and a larger circulation.

Permit us also, through your columns, to take leave of numerous friends among your readers, upon who we cannot call personally before our removal, and for whom we entertain the kindest wishes, and whose numerous expressions of lively interest in our welfare touched our hearts deeply. To have seen these in their respective homes for a few moments of converse and prayer, would have been an added pleasure. To one and all of these we desire the highest present and future prosperity, as we say our goodby.

May a word be added regarding the many friends on the Hemlock Road.
While never pastor there, it has been our privilege to many times go among them, preaching the word, burying their dead, and marrying their sons and daughters, and a most considerable welcome has been ever given. And this was renewed in specially requested services last Lord's day afternoon, after which the warm hand-clasps and fervent good wishes were exchanged.
But not content with this, two of their prominent citizens came to us with the cheering messages of the community, emphasized by a purse of $33.50.
For all that has been done unto us, personally and collectively, we would return to them our thanks through your columns, while we say once more—God's blessings be upon all who have done, or tho't to do, us good.

Any friend desiring to write, may address us at Malvern, Arkansas, Gratefully yours,
Rev. A. Waterbury,
Mrs. A. Waterbury.

The Sugar Factory.

Work on the sugar factory has been progressing this week notwithstanding the cold weather. Seven carload more of tools arrived this week, consisting of boiler, engine, cement mixer, etc.
W. S. Wright, of Saginaw, and H.
Eckermeyer, of Bay City, two of the sub-contractors also came, and things are now assuming shape for the immediate pushing of work.

Yesterday a train of ten cars and a crew of men went to Van Etten lake after a train load of gravel to be used in the foundations.

DRESSED FOR THE ICE.

A Fleeced Green Frieze Gown—Chinchilla Boa, Muff and Toque.

A pheasant green frieze, flecked with long white hairs, is responsible for the skating costume shown. The plaits in the skirt cease either side the front, beneath bands of plain green cloth, a material again used for the vest, revers and cape to the little banded bolero. There is worn with the gown one of the new empire stoles of fur realized in chinchilla, with toque and "granny" muff en suite. This empire fur stole is one of the most cherished details of the present modes, and it is an eminently useful possession, inasmuch as it can be disposed in various positions. The reverse side usually discovers a handsome brocade or silk covered with lace, while in some ultra extravagant instances this doublure is created of a contrasting fur.

Just Like a Woman.

The coffee was weak, the toast burned to a cinder and the ham as hard as leather, or at least he said so. His wife's long patience gave way.

"John Henry," said she, "I've tried faithfully to cook for you for twelve long years. No one in the town has better cooked food, yet you are always finding fault. Why can't you praise me once in awhile? I'd like to know that!"

He looked up in astonishment. "Well, if you ain't the most unreasonable woman I ever saw!" he ejaculated. "Why, many and many is the time I've sat down to a meal and never said a word about it! Anybody would know there wasn't any fault to be found or I'd 'a' found it, and yet you want a better compliment than that! That's just like a woman; she can't tell a compliment when she gets one!"

Indian Griddlecakes.

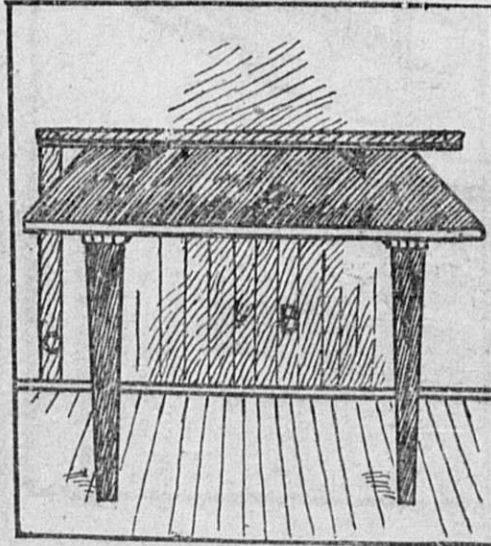

For Indian griddlecakes put in a large bowl half a pint of yellow meal, a level teaspoonful of salt and one tablespoonful of sugar. Pour over this one pint of boiling water, and when thoroughly mixed, add one and one-half cups of cold milk. Let the mixture stand at one side until perfectly cold, then stir in one cupful of flour in which one teaspoonful of baking powder has been sifted, and last add two well beaten eggs. Indian cakes should be cooked slowly and thoroughly.

To "Do Up" a Veil.

To renovate a veil that is soiled, make a lather of soap and water, simmer the veil in it for twenty minutes, then squeeze out the soap with the hand and rinse in clear water, to which have been added a few lumps of sugar. Shake out the veil and flap it; do not wring it. Pin it to a clean cloth, and when dry cover it with a handkerchief and iron.

Handy in the House.

Although designed as a kitchen convenience, the arrangement sketched in Ohio Farmer is good enough to find many fields of usefulness. The shelf, A, is hinged to the molding at the top of the wainscoting, B, with two cleats across the bottom, to the outer ends of which are hinged legs which, when the shelf is thrown up against the wall and fastened with a wooden button on door-case, C, fall down out of the way. The shelf is of yellow poplar or whitewood twenty-three inches wide, five feet long and five-eighths inch thick, with no oil or paint of any kind on top as a finishing coat. The cleats are the same stuff as the shelf. The legs are three-quarter inch basswood, which makes it altogether light, but yet solid enough for all practical purposes. The underside of shelf and legs are stained the same color as the wainscoting.

SHELF AND TABLE.

FALL WEDDING GOWNS.

Soft White Satin Still a Favorite Fabric—Pearls Used in Profusion.

For bridal dresses soft satin carries off the palm. Some of these are made quite plain on the hips, but widening out very much at the waist, and the large, ample and voluminous sashes of mousseline de sole, which fall to the feet, are secured to the skirt by a handsome pearl ornament. A good many bridal dresses just now are being very elaborately trimmed with pearls. From the bodice at the waist falls a series of points looped with pearls, and shoulder straps with pearls often give substance to the gossamer fabrics that are employed to fill in to the neck. Many brides have of late favored lace veils, but those who prefer tulle wear them much larger and more voluminous than they used to be, and they are often drawn up a little on the head with a chaplet of white blooms. When very long trains are worn, they carry deep flounces of lace.

The wedding gown of a charming fall bride is constructed of white crepe de chine, the vest and undersleeves braided with silver, as is the skirt, which is tucked lengthwise. The chiffon veil will be worn with a wreath of myrtle and orange blossoms. The dresses of the bridesmaids are white silk and the hats white beaver, with one long ostrich plume and a chiffon rosette. The bride will take her departure in a dress of cream colored cloth trimmed with gold braid, a long light coat and hat to harmonize.

SMILES AND TABLECLOTHS.

Temper Trying Days and What Can Be Done Thereon.

Our grandmothers had it impressed upon them by one of the popular cook-books of their day that a smile and a clean tablecloth would do wonders toward making up for the deficiencies of a meal. As human nature is said to be one of the few unchanging things on our planet, it would be just as well for the housekeepers of our own day to bear in mind this consolatory assertion in time of trial.

There are, in the experience of most housekeepers, not only Black Fridays, but Black Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, etc., as well—days when the happening of the unexpected always turns out to be some calamitous occurrence; days when the cook leaves without warning or the butcher, hitherto supposed to have a conscience, sends in joints that would try the teeth of a shark or broilers that would require the services of a stewan; days when the biscuits are pronounced by critics to be as hard as Pharaoh's heart and the soup might be described as Lot's wife in solution; days when the pie crust is heavy and the potato refuses to be boiled into mealiness. These are temper trying days—days on which life seems to be scarcely worth the having. It is then, we take it, that the clean tablecloth is much more easily produced than the smile. Soap and water are cheap; and we have them always with us.

The Salvationists tell us that the members of their famous slum brigades, in order not to be overstylish for the taste of those among whom they work, will sometimes don aprons with holes in them. Rags they can put up with, but they draw the line at dirt. That they will not tolerate as long as there is a bar of soap to be had for love or money. The well intentioned housekeeper will profit by their example. If her tablecloths have been worn thin in the washtub, there is, in time of stress, no harm in using one that is past darning, but it should be guiltless of jam or gravy spots.

We read that on one occasion the famous March family (in "Little Women") with one consent went to work to meet some untoward happening with a cheerful spirit, and, "being a family of a decided dramatic turn," they succeeded admirably. If ever we feel within ourselves such a gift, the time to bring it into play is when things in general go at sixes and at sevens. Such histrionics have nothing in them of deceit or guile. They are only an outward demonstration of the commendable resolve to make the best of things. —Table Talk.

Hot water followed by cold cream at night will smooth and plump the arms.

Saved by an Owl.
King Robert the Bruce, according to the well known story, once owed his safety to a spider. Among the Tartars of central Asia there is a belief that one of their khans or chiefs was preserved, long years ago, by the great horned owl. He had hidden in a thicket to avoid capture by some enemies. By and by his pursuers came to this spot.

The first thing they saw was an owl sitting on a bush. What did this mean? It signified in their eyes that this bird would not rest quietly there if any man were lying concealed close by. Therefore they argued that the khan could not be there, and so they hurried on to search for him elsewhere. At nightfall the khan made his way to the camp of his men and told them how he had been saved from certain death. His story caused them ever afterward to look upon the owl with reverence and love. They wore its feathers in their caps as a pledge of victory.

A Maniac's Poem.

Probably the mass of prison poetry which has been written on stools and bedposts and scratched on prison walls far exceeds that which has found expression on paper, and many a "mute, inglorious Milton" has begun and finished his poetical career with these "lost to sight" productions.

There is in existence a short poem, said to have been scratched by a maniac on the wall of his cell, which runs thus:

Could I with ink the ocean fill,
Were all the world of parchment made,
Were every reed on earth a quill,
And every man a scribe by trade,
To write the love of God alone
Would drain that ocean dry;
Nor could the scroll contain the whole,
Though stretched from sky to sky.

The authenticity of this being the work of a maniac has often been questioned because of the beauty of its expression and its sound reason, but the story stands.—All the Year Round.

Cambronne and His Needle.

The famous General Cambronne had a talent not rare in the French army. He knew how to use a needle. I knew an old lady who preserved with care a Brittany costume he made her for a fancy ball. She spoke of it as a beautiful fit at the time he measured her for it. The ornamental stitching on the corsage and apron formed designs invented by the general as he stitched, though he was of an age when the inventive faculty is dull. "What should I do to prevent tedium killing me," he once said in the hearing of this lady, "were it not for my needle?" He had little book education and never had any taste for reading. He was too good to seek liveliness in drink, and too sober a citizen to seek to play a part as a politician. He also had a loom with which he wove tapestry and furnished some beautiful things to his relatives.—Paris Cor. London News.

An Enduring Record.

Standing side by side in an old Long Island cemetery are four tombstones. They commemorate the virtues of the successive wives of one of the town's inhabitants. A peculiar thing about the monuments is that not alone do they perpetuate the memory of each of his helpmates, but they serve as a sort of financial barometer to record the husband's rising fortunes. The first wife had a modest little headstone. The second wife's memorial was on the same order, but it was at least two feet taller. The third wife differed both as to style and size, being greatly superior to either of the others, while to the fourth and last was granted the distinction of a granite shaft.

Better Than Gold.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run-down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by J. E. Dillon and Dr. Darling.

Escaped an Awful Fate.

Mr. H. Higgins of Melbourne Fla., writes, "My doctor told me I had Consumption and nothing could be done for me. I was given up to die. The offer of a trial bottle free of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, induced me to try it. Results were startling. I am now on the road to recovery and owe all to Dr. King's New Discovery. It surely saved my life." This great cure is guaranteed for all throat and lung diseases by J. E. Dillon and Dr. Darling, Druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial Bottles free.
