PRESCOTT'S MILL BURNED,

Thirty Thousand Dollars Loss in Thirty Minutes. The Pioneer Mill in this Section Completely Destroyed.

Built in 1871. Burned September 3, 1904.

About 11 o'clock last Saturday morning the tooting of the mill whistles gave the alarm that the saw mill of C. H. Prescott & Sons was on fire, and in less than one hour the entire mill was burned down. The fire was discovered in the northeast corner of the mill, and spread so rapidly that the men scarcely had time to escape, having no time to save anything. The fire apparatus was hurried to the scene and hard work on the part of our citizens prevented the fire from spreading. Fortunately the wind was in a most favorable quarter and the flying embers were carried away from all other buildings and lumber piles, this preventing what would otherwise have been the most disastrous fire in the history of Tawas City. The mill was built in 1871 by the Camerons, and was the last of the big mills on Tawas Bay. Prescott & Son became proprietors of it in 1880, and since that time have cut upwards of 200,000,000 feet of logs. The mill was thoroughly rebuilt two years ago, being converted from a gang to a band saw mill, and an electric light plant being installed, at the cost of about $14,000. There was an insurance of about $10,000 which Mr. Prescott estimates will cover about one third of the loss of the firm. The biggest loss will be to the employed and the city, as it will cut off a pay roll of about $2000 per month.

They estimate that they have timber enough to keep the mill employed for at least five years more.

The question of what will be done in regards rebuilding has not been decided, and will not be until the insurance is adjusted and a meeting of the members of the firm is held.

The East Tawas fire department volunteered their services and rendered much assistance in preventing the spread of the fire.

Messrs Prescott wish to extend their appreciation to the citizens of this place and the members of the East Tawas fire department for services rendered during the fire.

WOMEN SHOULD LIVE THEIR OWN LIVES

By Rev. MINOT J. SAVAGE of New York

THE ideal of woman that has predominated in the past has been AS ONE DEPENDENT ON SOME MAN, developed only on her sentiment side—loving, drooping, tender, CLINGING, CARED FOR, WATCHED OVER, PROTECTED, supported by some man. This has been the ideal woman of the past. IDEALS, HOWEVER, ARE THE CREATION OF CONDITIONS, and changed conditions of necessity work changes in the predominant ideals of the world.

What today is the position of woman in the family? Woman used to be completely in the power of the husband. In the old days he could put her to death if he pleased, and nobody could call it in question. He could beat or abuse her to any extent. He could send her out of his home. He could take into that home, in spite of her wishes and protests, as many other women as he pleased, and she had no power to prevent it. SHE HAD NO CONTROL of her own money. She had no control of her own children. SHE WAS HELPLESS in the hands of the man.

But, now, thank God, so far as these things are concerned we are beginning to get just a little civilized, at least in some places. WOMEN ARE BEGINNING TO BE RECOGNIZED AS HAVING RIGHTS OF THEIR OWN, AS HAVING THE SAME RIGHT TO STAND ON THEIR OWN FEET, THINK THEIR OWN THOUGHTS, SPEAK THEIR OWN WORDS, LIVE THEIR OWN LIVES, AS MEN HAVE. Woman is beginning to be granted that she may have an interest in her own children. She is beginning to attain her majority—TO BE FREE. This is the attitude that is coming in the home.

Today there are a large number of occupations into which women have entered. They are successfully competing with men. They are doing the work and doing it well, so that the chances are that if the present tendency holds we shall have to face the fact by and by that WOMEN ARE STANDING ON THEIR OWN FEET, earning their own living, having their own bank accounts, engaging in business for themselves and are deciding for themselves as to whether they shall occupy this position or that instead of being forced into it by necessity.

The tendency is all along the line of the coming of women into a larger and freer life in politics, in religion, in the family, as to occupation, as to education.

IN EVERY DEPARTMENT OF SOCIETY WOMEN ARE PRESSING THE BARRIERS, AND THE BARRIERS ARE HERE AND THERE FALLING AWAY.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., SEPT. 9, 1904.

The recent state encampment of the N. M. G. at Ludington cost the state $44,000.

The democratic congressional convention has been called to meet at Bay City on next Tuesday, Sept. 13, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

The democrats present the name of one of the oldest and best known citizens of Iosco county for the office of judge of probate. A man well qualified for the position and one by whom the affairs of the important office would be well and carefully looked after. He has long been one of the "wheel-horses" of the party. It will be no mistake if George D. McKay, of Oseoda, is elected to this position.

It becomes more and more apparent that thousands of republicans in Michigan have become thoroughly disgusted with the present "ring rule" of their own party, and will support W. N. Ferris and the democratic state ticket. Every day prominent republicans are announcing their intentions of taking this action. Hon. Perry Mayo, of Battle Creek, the chaplain of the state Grange is one of those who have thus announced his intention to vote the democratic state ticket.

The Herald believes that all good citizens of Michigan should this year, unite in redeeming the state government from "machine rule," regardless of party, and for that reason shall use our efforts in securing the election of state officers pledged to grant to the people direct nominations of all officials and other reform measures demanded. So far as National affairs are concerned we shall take no active sides. On county officials all candidates will be used on equal terms in these columns. This statement will indicate to our readers what they may expect, and we shall endeavor to be fair with all and not offensive in what we say, but at the same time give good reason for any stand taken.

The democratic senatorial convention at Standish Tuesday placed in nomination Justin K. Mead, a well-known young business man, of Omer, as the opponent of Senator Doherty. The convention adopted strong resolutions in favor of direct nominations and against public officials accepting and using free railroad passes. The nominee is heartily in sympathy with the platform adopted also the state platform. He is a man who will be a credit to the district, and who will use every effort to have passed the reform laws demanded by the people. If the voters of the 28th district are sincere in their opposition to "machine rule," there will be no question as to Mr. Mead's election, and none but the "machine" followers will regret it.

Judge Cahill's Sound Logic.

Judge Edward Cahill, of Lansing, has dispelled whatever doubt might have existed as to the reason his name did not appear in connection with the call for an independent Republican mass convention by declaring his opposition to the nomination of an independent ticket, which would in effect amount to frittering away half the strength of those who are working for the success of primary reform in Michigan.

Judge Cahill's position is unassailable, and his logic is so sound that the most caloused partisan must admit the merit of his argument. The summary manner in which primary reform was disposed of by the men in control of the Republican state convention left sore spots that have not healed and the disregard for public sentiment that has marked the course of the self-same individuals since that time has been about as soothing as rubbing salt into an open wound.

That the murmurings which had their inception at the time the reform element was turned down should increase in volume until they grew into an angry roar was not unexpected, but that relief should be sought in the nomination of an independent ticket is unfortunate.

There is no need of another ticket in the state. The issue is clearly defined between the republicans and the democrats. The latter stand squarely for the principles rejected by the former in the face of strong opposition. There is no dodging the issue. The republican machine is determined that absolute primary reform shall not become a reality, and its efforts to smooth matters over by providing substitutes have only served to make its position more pitiable. The man who is desirous of securing primary reform knows how it can be achieved, and his sincerity can be gauged by his ability to look past party lines and consider results rather than methods.

The nomination of an independent republican ticket would be a distinct step backward for the cause of primary reform. Every vote cast for Mr. Ferris means two against Mr. Warner, whereas every ballot for an independent candidate would be virtually wasted. Such a course would undoubtedly be welcomed by the Republican leaders, who realize the importance of dividing the strength of the opposition, but as a means for attaining the desired ends it would prove pitifully inadequate. The man who is sincere in his desire for primary reform will vote for Woodbridge N. Ferris. The one whose interest in the outcome is not sufficient to enable him to place principle before partisanship would prove of little assistance to the movement, whichever way he voted.—Detroit Free Press.

What the Grange Does.

The Grange makes a social, intellectual center in the community. It aids the church in fostering good morals and the state in making good citizens. It overcomes the isolation of country life and supplements the work of the public school. It teaches the farmers to transact business in a business way, to defend their interests at the polls and to advocate them before political conventions and state and national legislatures. It teaches them to have a clear estimate of their just share of the wealth they produce and of the public burdens they should bear and not be content with injustice on either hand. Thus it seeks to make the farmers prosperous, intelligent, independent and conservative citizens.—Michigan Patron.

Census Figures.

There are 16,000,000 families in the United States. A few more than one-fourth, 4,700,000 own homes free from indebtedness. Living in mortgaged houses there are 2,196,000. More than one-half, 8,365,000 live in treated houses. Living in caves, dug-outs and tents, 800,000. These figures are taken from the "Abstract of the Twelfth Census" issued by the government.

Michigan Sugar Companies Adopt Flat Rate.
 Bay City, Sept. 4—The Michigan Beet Sugar Manufacturers' association has determined to take the last step toward meeting the demands of farmers in an effort to induce the planting of sufficient acreage to supply the factories of the state and will for the next season offer three forms of contracts. The action has been under consideration for months and was not agreed upon until after the Sanilac Sugar Co. insisted upon being permitted to put out a flat rate contract. The company insisted that without it it could not get sufficient beets to make it worth while to start the factory. The other factories, after four months of discussion, agreed on condition that the association adopt the new plan as a whole. As a consequence farmers will be given the choice of a contract paying $5 per ton flat for beets delivered at the factory; $4.75 delivered on cars, factories paying the freight, or the old contract at $4.50 per ton for 12 per cent beets and 33 1/2 cents additional for each additional per cent of sugar. It is claimed by the factories that the flat rate will appeal to only such farmers as do not care to improve crops and wish only to be sure of money; that it will be detrimental to factories, as bigger acreage will be grown at the expense of sugar percentage, while farmers accepting the sliding scale will naturally pay attention to culture to secure the largest proportion of acreage with the largest percentage of sugar.

The division of territory has also been decided upon for both this and next year and it is announced that there will be no cutting into each other's territory by factories.
 "We have all been lying too much in the past," is the frank statement of a prominent local manager in explanation of the troubles the factories have had with each other in the matter of territory. "Agents have by all kinds of promises contracted with in sight of all concerned. With good weather, fair acreage and proper territorial division there is no reason why Michigan factories should not make money."
 The acreage necessary this year is not contracted by more than one-half but the crop is in excellent condition. Canvassers have already begun work of securing contracts for next season and say that the indications are that more acreage will be contracted for under the double contract plan. It is also claimed the farmers, while they have been bowling for flat rates, are not tumbling over themselves taking them, as they appreciate that on a sliding scale they can make more money by devoting attention to and developing their crops.
