What Ferris Can Do.

If Ferris were governor he could not enact the smallest fag end of a primary election law. All either Warner as Ferris as governor could do would be to favor or veto such laws when passed by the legislature .-Grand Rapids Herald.

nct pass a primary election law but his election would be equivalent to a notification to the house and senate that they must pass a direct nominations law or take the consequences at the next election.

but he could stand as a guard over any inquitous combine in the senate such as existed in the last legislature and block any of its nefarious games by the power of veto.

If Ferris were elected governor he could not pass a primary election law, but he could say to the legislature that it pass the kind of a law demanded by the people or no law at all.

If Ferris were governor he could not pass a primary law but he would Laying of the Corner Stone of Bun be in a position to head off all kinds of legislation inimical to the interests of the people.

If Ferris were governor he could not pass a primary law, but he could represent the people of Michigan, standing as a watch dog over their interests and hold in check such job-id their bery as an immortal ninteen might intoin-

That's the kind of a man that ought a wide to fill the governor's chair. The gover arm. ernor and the legislature should workvns and for the welfare of the state; and not will be legislate for corporations and indivi-coming duals as against the interests of the ome as cammon wealth.

The machine is making its fight egance. against Ferris because it does not wish is long, is emto lose control of the house and senate. The machine amins to get a majority in each body that will do its bidding -a majority that can be handled, and they do not want a man like Ferris to stand on guard where he can interfere with their plans,

But the people do and that is why the in dependent republicans of the state are going to vote for Mr. Ferris. -Bay City Times.

now and the day when the independent republicans must decide by their ballots whether we are to have two more years of Atwood-Navinism or the constitution, whether the party is to be purged of the program. "Don't go back on the grand old party of Lincoln. You do not want primary reform, anyway. A machine s necessary."

In effect, they ask you to become a turn-coat. Machine principles are not republican principles. The republican party was not founded on plunder. These 800 orators will tell you that by clinging to your principles of honest popular government and rebuking those who masquerade under the cloak of republicanism, you are disloyal. Remember, they have their jobs at stake and do not argue from disinterested motives. It will be a pretty spectacle for an enlightened community, these officeholders arguing against your manhood trying to persuade you to abandon principle and to stand by your machine. Hon. W. N. Ferris, Democratic Candidate For Governor.

Presuming that Ferris was a repub lican standing for primary reform and Warner was the same machine republican standing for caucus-convention rule, and the people had a real opportunity to choose, which would the party have for governor?-Eliminat the word "Republican," and why should the choice be any different.

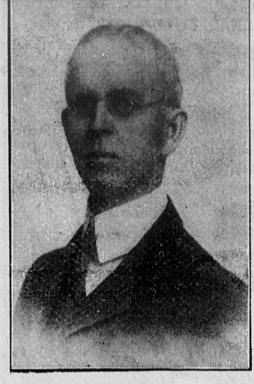

The Jordon Enterprise, a republican newspaper, has this hot roast for the republican machine: "A political machine is an organization of either actual or would-be office-holders, the object of which is to give to certain men the public offices that they may dole out favors at the expense of the taxpayers to those who are so servile as to do their bidding. It is a pity that no successful method has yet been devised to reform the political grafters who form the political machine."

Col. Loud has evidently concluded in town Sunday. that his two years record in congress has not been satisfactory enough to Bay City this week. the voters of the district to guarantee his re-election, as he is making a much more streneous canvas eyen than that of two years ago. This year he is holding meetings almost every night, not stopping at the principal towns of business at this writing. the district only but going into the country school houses. This week he has devoted to the outlying districts Flynn he encounters "a foeman worthy of his steel" and realizes that to win he must hustle.

Mr. Ferris keeps right on telling what kind of primary reform laws he will give the people if he is elected. We wonder if he realizes that it is the legislature that makes the laws.

The above is a fair sample of the 'ready made' editorials which are being printed in the machine organs of the state. There is not one atom of truth in it. Mr. Ferris tells, in language that cannot be misunderstood, what kind of primary reform he is in favor of, but no man ever heard him state what kind of a law he would make. The machine realize that they are "up against the real thing," and are resorting to the most barefaced lies to stem the tide of righteous indignation that is being meted out to them.

"Note the difference," says a machine editorial which has been placed ın several hundred republican papers about the state. "The democrats of Wisconsin are decidedly opposed to primary reform, while the Michigan democracy is pushing the reform first." Yes; note the difference, and while you are doing so, please note, also that the democracy of Wisconsin is thoroughly dominated by railroad influence and thus is quite naturally against primary reform or anything else that will restore the people to their rights. Note, also, that the Michigan republican likewise dominated by railroad influence, is also against primary reform. And, furthermore, note that when an agent of the Michigan republican machine goes ding in the near future." Get your to Minnesota (where they have tried music boxes ready, boys! primary reform and the people want) more of it) to get arguments against primary reform he does not get them H. E. Hou. S. P. Flynn, the democratic nominee for congress from the tenth district is making the most effectual and thorough campaign that has been made by a nominee of the democratic party in a number of years. He is a campaigner of exceptional ability and does not resort to ridicule or sarcasm, but on the contrary his addresses are a discussion of real issues of state that cannot be classed as "political talks," and are instructive to all classes and parties. No candidate of any party was ever entitled to more careful at tention. His election will insure to this district the ablest and most influential member of congress it has ever had. It would be on honor to the entire state of Michigan.

venture.—Onaway Outlook. The entertainment last Tuesday evening in behalf of the Lady Maccabees was poorly attended. The program was all that could be expected for the price but the deportment of some of our young people, both inside and outside of the hall was so embarrassing to the lady that the complete program was not given. They certainly owe the lady an apology. Such conduct not only reflects discredit upon themselves but the community as
