Hawks, president of the Desolid satisfaction out of the fact that through the recent severe weather his road has been able to maintain excellent service, all trains being reported during the week as practically on schedule. This is made possible by reason of the fact that near Cheboygan which is recognized as a place where snow is likely to give trouble, all "cuts" are excavated about twice as wide as is usually the case. This allows the snow to drift in and pile up before it reaches the tracks. Snow flanges are kept in service when there are signs of trouble.
