Past and Future.

Twelve years ago today the present editor took charge of the destinies of the Herald, and in those twelve years we have seen many changes in the Tawas and Iosco county, not all of which have been for the betterment of our community, yet on the whole we have progressed in a most satisfactory manner. At the present time we are facing the most important crisis in our history. The days of our great lumber industry is a thing of the past, and of necessity we must become an agricultural community. We have the lands to make this an excellent farming county, but in order to make our farmers successful they must have a market for their products. A home market is the most profitable, and in order to have this our cities must have industries to give employment to the laborers and use the products of the farmers.

At the present time we have the sugar factory, an institution costing $650,000, and one which will pay on an average of over $300,000 per year to the farmers and laboring people of this county, if those people will show a desire to take the money. The question which confronts us is whether we will retain this great industry and reap the benefits, or whether we are to let it pass on to some other community which will appreciate its value.

That there has been failures in growing sugar beets in this vicinity cannot be denied. Have our farmers had failures in any other crops? They certainly have in every one which they have raised. Yet they have kept on raising them. Because they were not successful in raising beets last year is no assurance they will not be this year. They should profit by the mistakes of last year and go in with a determination to make a success in the future. There is no question but that sugar beets are a profitable crop to grow.

In our twelve years residence in Iosco county we have ever tried to advocate what would be to the best interests of the entire county, and in urging our farmers to "turn to" and stand by this industry we are thoroughly convinced that time will prove that we are working for their best interests.

Our farmers may not be aware of the fact that up to the present time the people of the Tawas have spent more money to secure and retain the sugar factory than all the combined losses of the farmers in growing sugar beets, many times over. They have done so because they know that sugar beet growing will make the farmer prosperous if he will stick to it, and thus we of the cities will reap benefit by increased business. Let us all, farmers, business men and laboring men unite and retain this factory, and the future will prove to us that we have made no mistake.

Our county will continue to develop and each year will see new settlers on our farm lands to aid us in bearing the expense of our school, township and county taxes and aid us in making Iosco a county of which we all will be proud.

The mortality statement for Michigan for the month of February shows the largest number of small-pox deaths in one month ever known under the registration law. Eleven deaths resulted from the disease of which eight were in Jackson county. The total number of deaths was 3,215.

Commissioner Garfield would do well to follow the suggestion of the independent oil producers in Kansas and have his investigation of oil trust methods wide open. Any secret investigation is open to suspicion and is seldom convincing to anyone. Publicity is the watchword for Americans, and the administration at Washington can set a good example by conducting investigations in a manner to develop all material facts.

discover that the weekly newspapers are the ones which best reflect the sentiment of the people. The great daily papers, the bulky publications which are read only by the professional men and residents of the cities and towns, are merely money making business enterprises. The county seat and small town weekly newspapers reach the people who rule the land.

The following Lansing dispatch to the Detroit Evening News, gives an apt illustration of how a political "machine" is built: Some one with a mathematical turn of mind who has had the patience to wade through the mass of "office grab" bills that have been introduced in the legislature this session has figured out that if all the measures become laws, they will give the governor the direct appointment of 119 officers. In addition to these direct appointments, there would be the usual raft of clerks and subordinates that would bring the number of new officials up to 253. It is estimated that the average salary to be paid to all these would be $4, or a drain of $1,012 a day on the treasury of the state.

Startling Mortality.

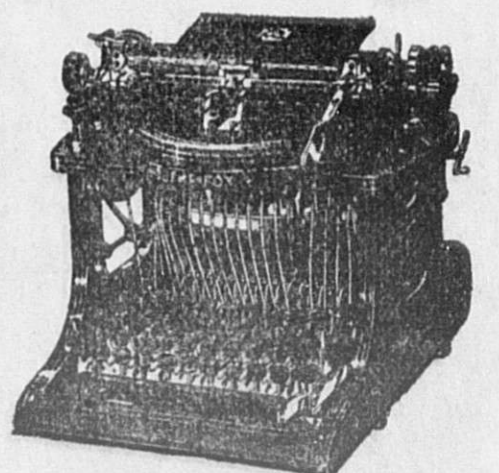

Statistics show startling mortality, from appendicitis and peritonitis. To prevent and cure these awful diseases, there is just one reliable remedy Dr. King's New Life pills. M. NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Registrations, April 1.
Democratic city caucuses March 27.
Election two weeks from next Monday.
The Michigan State Bar Association will hold its annual meeting at Bay City in June.
Only a few weeks more in which to take advantage of the great closing out sale at G. T. Wood's. Remember everything at wholesale.
Rep. Wayne, of Midland county, introduced a joint resolution in the legislature last Tuesday, to submit the question of removing the state capitol from Lansing to Detroit. The question is not to be voted on until next year.
Asst. Adj. Gen. Wyckoff of the Michigan department, G. A. R., has completed his report for the last six months of the past year, which shows that 234 members were lost by death. The net decrease in membership was 663, many veterans dropping out of the organization when they become unable to attend the meetings. The membership at the close of the period was 12,282.
A man who advertises as a matter of friendship is justified in using any medium he may select. A man who advertises as a matter of business is certainly short-sighted if he doesn't use the paper that will guarantee him the largest home, paid circulation. There is no element of speculation in using space in the Herald as our subscription book is open to advertisers.
The next time you abuse an editor, especially a magazine editor, remember that even he has his troubles. Of the hundreds and hundreds of magazines now published, and the still more hundreds now defunct, not half a dozen but were a steady financial loss during the first months or years of their existence. Of the exceptions nearly all had back of them some purpose big enough to draw instant support from a large body of people. Perhaps the most striking example of these fortunate few is Tom Watson's Magazine, now making its first appearance with the solid backing of all believers in economic and political betterment.

On Tuesday, Mar. 21, the Detroit Daily Journal will begin the publication in its columns of "Graustark" one of the most charming stories of the day. The principal characters are a strenuous, handsome young American and the princess of a quaint principality in Europe. "Graustark" was written by Geo. Barr McCutcheon, which is a sufficient guarantee that it is full of stirring incidents.

The residents of town 24 n 5 e. formerly Thompson, but now a part of Oscoda township, have had a bill introduced by representative McCarty to have their town detached from Oscoda and made a part of Plainfield. This would be a great thing for the people up there. As they are now situated they are practically cut off. If they want to vote they must take a two days trip to Oscoda, and it must be done by a round about way, as they have no roads to that place. They have paid their taxes year after year and received practically no returns in the way of schools or highways. There is a considerable settlement in that township and by being attached to Plainfield they will be where they can reach the voting place also be placed in a township where they can secure some of the benefits of the taxes paid by them. The people of the east end of Oscoda certainly can put forth no valid reason why this action should not be taken, and in justice to the people of Thompson, we hope that the bill will become a law.

Sugar Trust Makes a Winning.

By a decision handed down in the United States circuit court of appeals the United States may have to pay to the American Sugar Refining company $5,000,000 which the alleged trust contends is the amount represented by a 20 per cent reduction it should have received on raw sugar from Cuba in 1903 under the existing treaty. The case will be appealed. It was shown that the president was authorized by congress to grant a reduction of 20 per cent upon all merchandise imported from Cuba on and after ten days subsequent to the ratification by this government of the Cuban convention or treaty. This ratification was made March 31, 1904. The importation upon which the test suit was brought was imported between July 14 and Sept. 9, 1903. The collector assessed the sugar, demanding the full duties, there existing at the time no law under which a reduction could be granted. Subsequently the convention was ratified and the American Sugar company appealed to the general board of appraisers, which sustained the collector. An appeal to the United States circuit court followed.

The Money Trust.

"The question of how to get something for nothing is pretty well illustrated in the free government deposits in national banks," says Buzz-Saw Morgan in Tom Watson's Magazine. "The banks have now over one hundred millions of dollars of government money for their own use, for which they do not pay a cent. Yet when the farmer talks about borrowing money from the government on his land at 2 per cent. interest, the banks raise a howl of paternalism that can be heard all around the world. If President Roosevelt is sincere in his fight on the trusts let him yank that money out of the hands of the biggest trust of all—the money trust. This is something that he can do and that ought to be done. There is no constitutional question involved, and if it be urged that it is necessary for the money to be in circulation let the government loan it direct to the people without a rake-off for the banks. This thing of prosecuting the little trusts and aiding the big ones won't add any laurels to Teddy's brow. Let no guilty trust escape, and there ain't any innocent ones."

The Colonel's Waterloo.

Colonel John M. Fuller, of Honey Grove, Texas, nearly met his Waterloo, from liver and kidney trouble. In a recent letter, he says: "I was nearly dead, of these complaints, and although I tried my family doctor, he did me no good; so I got a 50c bottle of your great electric bitters, which cured me. I consider them the best medicine on earth, and thank God who gave you the knowledge to make them." Sold, and guaranteed to cure dyspepsia, biliousness and kidney disease, by G. S. Darling and J. E. Dillon, druggists at 50c a bottle.

How Standard Oil Kills off Competition.

An illustration of the way in which the Standard Oil people gain control of business and kill off independent producers of oil was developed in the investigation in Kansas the other day. It was shown that the oil company forced the railroads operating in the new Kansas oil district to make a ruling which would effectually prevent independent concerns from shipping in tank cars. All of the companies in the trans-Missouri freight bureau changed their classification and tariff sheets about the time the Kansas oil fields began to show up well, and by the change made the only petroleum which would be received for transportation in tank cars was that destined to a "consignee who possessed storage facilities for the oil after it reached its destination." You will note that this order almost prohibited independent refiners from distributing their oil, as they were unable to erect storage tanks in all of the towns to which they shipped oil.
"It has been the custom of the Standard Oil company," said Frank S. Monnett, "to have this rule adopted by the railroads in which it owns an interest, just as soon as it is evident that independent refineries are getting a foothold in the field. It is the same method that has been used by the company in destroying competition in eastern fields. The companies will accept demurrage on any other class of freight than oil. Usually an independent refiner ships his oil to a small town in his own tank car, has the car switched to a sidetrack, and unloads and sells from his wagons until the car is empty. This rule, which it developed that all the western roads adopted, would prevent that, and the Standard could have to itself every town in which the independent man did not want to erect a tank.—Chicago Review.

Strikes Hidden Rocks.

When your ship of health strikes the hidden rocks of consumption, pneumonia, etc., you are lost, if you don't get help from Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. J. W. The first dose gave relief and one bottle cured me." Sure cure for sore throat, bronchitis, coughs and colds. Guaranteed at G. S. Darling, and J. E. Cillon's drug stores, price 50c and $1.00. It would have been incredible brutality if Chas. F. Lemberger, of Syracuse, N. Y., had not done the best he could for his suffering son.
