Why should it have suggested itself to Secretary Bonaparte, the successor of Secretary Morton, to say in regard to the Bennington disaster, that he would not whitewash anybody nor make anybody a scapegoat. Who's been doing anything of that sort?

Every hour spent in bewailing over "poor" trade is sixty minutes more than wasted. When trade is dull, then is the time for the merchant to do his most active hustling. His advertisements, best hustlers for trade in all the world, should then be more convincing than ever.

The chief reform which the Porto Ricans demand from the government at Washington to which they now owe allegiance, is a real senate elected by the people and responsible to the people. The present senate has a majority of Americans appointed by the president. The reform asked for looks reasonable.

While the body of John Paul Jones has been laid at rest in a vault at Annapolis its travels have not yet ended, for as soon as the new crypt being erected at a cost of $400,000 is ready the body will be placed there. The date for this event is not yet fixed. This crypt is also a chapel for the naval academy, and here will rest the bones of many of the leading naval heroes of the past.

"An economic writer," writes G. Major Taber, in Tom Watson's for August, "makes the assertion that 50,000 capitalists owned everything worth having in this country, and that four men—Gould, Astor, Vanderbilt and Rockefeller—practically controlled and were rapidly absorbing the wealth of the 50,000." In a figurative sense 50,000 men have swallowed 74,950,000 of our citizens, and four men were likely to swallow 74,999,996 of our poor, unfortunate citizens."

Our fathers and mothers need all the kindness we can give them. It does not only make the children brighter but the older heads, whose locks are white from the snows of many winters, are in sore need of kind words. Perhaps they have long ago laid all, or most all, of their loved ones to rest, and their burden seems greater than they can bear. How a word of sympathy and kindness helps them! There is enough of gloom in this world without adding more by unkind words and actions.

The Marshall Chronicle says that a business woman of that town is perfecting an invention which bids fair to meet with a measure of success with the masculine persuasion. It consists of a piece of metal six inches long and two inches wide which will be attached to the back breadth of a gentlemen's trousers about a third of the way down and in the center of the metal a strip of sandpaper will be provided for the purpose of scratching matches. The invention will not only prove useful but will be greatly ornamental to the trouser leg.

Many northern Michigan farmers are indirectly interested in the raising of Angora goats as it is claimed that they are better adapted to this section of the state and more profitable than sheep. The following from the Manton Tribune indicates that the goat is all right; The flock of Angora goats, which were installed on the Cummer, Diggins & Co. farm in Selma township have wintered over very nicely and to all appearances are in the best of condition this spring. The experiment has proved successful and proves beyond a doubt that the goats are a profitable stock for the northern Michigan farmers.

The hot weather hasn't cooled off Tom Watson's editorials in the August number of his magazine—not to any considerable extent. Nor has his serious illness impaired the vigor or lessened the fearlessness of his attacks upon national evils. However the August Tom Watson's makes a concession to the heat of summer by an unusual quantity of good fiction and some special articles, which are interesting as well as forceful and instructive. "The Money Show," by Frederick Upham Adams, told in story form, is a stinging and bitter satire against the dollar worship of our moneyed classes and its attendant social and individual decadence.

A Touching Story.

is the saving from death, of the baby girl of Geo. A. Eyer, Cumberland, Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months, our little girl was in declining health, with serious throat trouble and two physicians gave her up. We were almost in despair, when we resolved to try Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. The first bottle gave relief; after taking four bottles she was cured, and is now in perfect health." Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At G. S. Darling's and J. E. The Saginaw Race Meeting.

With a circuit of five mile tracks, Windsor, Detroit, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids and Saginaw, and the big purses offered this year will give Saginaw real grand circuit racing again, and as a number of our citizens usually attend the sport in this city, it will be of interest to our readers to know that the management is confident of a banner meeting this year. The fast classes will attract a large number of high class horses, and the program gives us one fast class each day. The dates are August 15 to 18.

Equitable Directors Sued.

Attorney General Mayer, of New York has commenced action against the forty nine directors of the Equitable Life who were in authority during the period of superlative grafting disclosed in the report of Superintendent Hendricks. This suit is in the nature of a common law proceeding to fix responsibility for the condition of affairs. The bill recites the conditions of affairs as disclosed in the Hendricks report, the wasteful extravagance and the misapplication of funds in many ways, and demands an accounting and judgment against the responsible directors on the theory of their personal responsibility for what the company did with the money which is treated as a trust fund belonging to the policy holders. Similar actions have been maintained in smaller suits and the courts have held that directors are responsible for gross violation or neglect of their duties even to the extent of their being compelled to make good the losses they have incurred for others. If the suit sticks in the case of the Equitable directors, it will be the most remarkable piece of litigation in many years, for it will affect a big company and affect men of highest standing in the community, and it will set a precedent for courts and corporations which may have great influence in the matter of handling business in the future. If these directors can be held responsible then the industry of being dummy directors will wane rapidly.

Sees Big Coal Strike Coming.

Pittsburg, Aug. 1.—"There is not the least doubt in my mind that the coal operators of the Pittsburg district will present a new wage scale on Jan. 1, when the present scale under which the miners are working will expire, and it will call for a reduction of wages. If what I am led to suppose proves correct there will be a general coal strike just so sure as the reduction is demanded."

This statement was made by Patrick Dolan, president of the Pittsburg district of the United Mine Workers of America, and carries out the report of a week ago that the entire mining industry of the state is to be tied up in a general strike within a few months. Although every effort is being made on the part of the officials of the miners' union to belittle the reports of a general strike, yet the admission of President Dolan is considered by many as proof positive.

The miners in the anthracite field have been working for the last two years without any agreement whatsoever, and are just waiting for a chance to co-operate with the bituminous miners in a general strike. John Mitchell, president of the national organization, has made several mysterious visits to Pittsburg during the last two weeks, although that fact was not known publicly at the time. The national president is now devoting his entire attention to building up the union in the anthracite fields, while T. L. Lewis, the national vice-president, is devoting his time to the bituminous district.

President Dolan's announcement of the miners' intentions is believed to mean that the miners of West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana will take similar action, with probably the Maryland miners included.

The miners are now working under a favorable schedule, and since it went into effect there has been no trouble. They say they are making living wages now, but they will not stand a reduction and a return to the conditions under which they worked before.

Boycott an Ancient Weapon.

Dr. Morrison, Pekin correspondent of the London Times, will report the Washington peace conference for his paper. When he arrived at Victoria he said regarding the boycott established by the Chinese against American merchants and merchandise in China that he did not think the movement would assume great proportions. While it was a boycott on a larger scale than any previously attempted in China, it was without government sanction, as had been alleged. In the larger Chinese cities it was not considered that the movement is sufficiently serious to cause alarm. Regarding the report telegraphed from Shanghai that Japanese influences were believed to be behind the movement, Dr. Morrison said that he did not believe this for an instant. Just now he said the tendency was to blame the Japanese for everything that took place in the Orient. From his own observations he learned that the Japanese have the best feeling toward the United States. The boycott movement is being organized by societies of Chinese students many of whom have been educated in Japan and abroad. They petitioned the government to refuse to agree to such legislation as the exclusion act, which put a stigma upon the Chinese nation, and the boycott, a weapon used for hundreds of years in China, was started to further their cause.

Exports of Wheat.

The report of the United States Bureau of statistics of the export trade for the last fiscal year shows that there is less business being done in marketing the products of American farms in the markets of the world. Reduced to bushels, the export of wheat and wheat flour in the year was 43,797,000 bushels, which was the smallest total since 1872. The wheat exports were only a third of those of 1904, and but a fifth of those of 1900. On the other hand, corn exports, 88,000,000 bushels were greater in 1905 than in any previous year since 1901. But in each of the years from 1897 to 1901, both included, the corn exports were double as large as in the twelve months which closed three weeks ago. Cotton exportation, however, in 1905, exceeded, in quantity and in value, all previous years, the amount of the shipments being 8,333,000 bales and the value of them reaching $379,747,000. This was largely due to that 13,500,000 bale crop, the greatest ever gathered, which cut the prices artificially set up by Sully and the other gamblers. This year's cotton exports will necessarily be much smaller than those for the year just closed. The crop will be 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 bales under that of 1904 and the prices will be higher. The falling off in wheat shipments more than offset the gains in corn and cotton, and make the total agricultural exports $751,755,000 smaller in 1905 than in any fiscal year since 1899.

an abundance of the best may be saved from the native prairie grasses during the summer season, and dairy cattle keep an inexpensive item at the most. Again there is favorable dairying regulations of which the people are justly proud. Individual butter and cheese making was led at an early day and resulted, as does everywhere, in but a partial cess. The construction of suitable presses for the care of milk and products, the cost of help and the lack of experience all stood in the way as drawbacks. The attention of the government was called to the phenomenal success of the co-operative system in Denmark and other European countries as well as where tried in the east-provinces and at once experts were sent to the disposal of the people throughout the country. This led to establishment of a chain of co-operative creameries through the territories. These institutions while subject to control of the patrons through boards of directors are absolutely un-government management which insures perfect safety to all patrons. The cream or the cream separated at home is so desired by separators, is taken to the dairy station, there tested and weighed as delivered and converted to butter by the experts. Advances made from month to month which found to be very convenient by farmers who commenced farming with tied means and balances are paid over when sales are effected at close of the season. This saves the farmers all the expenses incident to manufacturing at home and a great deal of trouble in other respects.
