There will be a big time at Alabaster Monday evening, September 4th. The Ladies' Aid will hold their second annual sale on this evening, and will serve a first-class hot supper and ice cream. Supper will be 25 cents. The occasion will also give all an opportunity to welcome our teachers, Miss Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Sheldon, home from their summer vacation. There will be a good time for all who attend, and a cordial invitation is extended to all. As nothing is complete in Alabaster without a dance, it is expected that the boys will arrange to finish up the night with a grand dance.
A traveling grocery concern are doing the farmers of Ogemaw county to a turn. Their agent, who is a smooth talker, calls on the lady of the house and presents a plea that she is being robbed by the home merchant, and that by buying of the concern which he represents can secure better goods at a lower price. He then quotes extremely low prices on some two or three commodities and succeeds in taking her order more than making up on the balance of the order for the low prices made on the "teaser." The West Branch Herald-Times makes a comparison of one of these orders with the prices charged by the local merchants and shows that the farmers could have bought the goods at home for less money and would not have had a stock on hand far in excess of the needs of the household. If these people call on any readers of this paper our advise is to set the dog on them.

The state fair opens on the new grounds at Detroit Sept. 11. Reports indicate that everything will be ready and the prospects are that it will be the greatest fair ever held by the association.

Stocks are going up and the grain markets are on the down grade. Wall street has stocks for sale and the farmer the crops. A little reciprocity of the kind that would give the farmer more foreign markets might be a help to finding the answer.

A Philadelphia paper has gathered statistics which show that woman's chances to marry between the ages of 25 and 30 are only 18 per cent. while between 20 and 25 the chances in her favor are 52 per cent. Apparently it is rather dangerous to say no to the first man.

According to the very best information obtainable, we pass this way but once, and when we step into the valley of the shadow, all our earthly belongings will be left behind. Not a cow nor a sheep, nor an acre of land, not a dollar of money, will go into the grave with us. Why then should men race through life in a mad fight for gold, brushing all the better things aside, when at last it must be unloaded at the tomb? Would it not be better to smile a little and do a few good deeds as we went along? Would it not be a better plan to put a flower into the hand of some sad-hearted human being struggling along the road of life, than to clutch an almighty dollar until cold death forced us to relinquish it?

Machine Fight is Fierce.

The fight of the corrupt Pennsylvania machine to checkmate Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia goes on merrily. It is becoming fierce. Wayne MacVeagh, who has acted as attorney for the mayor in some matters, declared before a meeting of the independent republicans of Philadelphia that the machine had sought to seduce Mayor Weaver by promise of high preferment. He referred to the move toward compromise made by the machine—compromise always being the last resort of a beaten and discredited organization—and to the offers made to concede several state reforms, and then declared that these offers were as nothing compared to the offers made to induce him to become a candidate for judge, but he refused to have anything to do with them. Then they offered him the governorship but he would not have it from the hands of the machine. Finally finding that they would not be able to seduce him or cajole him or to bribe him, the machine had come out in the open with a plan to trump up charges against him and to discredit him and his reform work at home. He said that the machine—the Durham crowd—could send enough money to corrupt every voter of Philadelphia. The independents in Philadelphia appear to be standing firm and it is now believed that they will not be able to shake the mayor or to defeat him either.

The Uses of Newspapers.

Our newspapers are doubtless awful things, but we could ill spare them, says Harper's Weekly. It is true—whether Professor Morse said so or not—that most of them devote much space to murder and baseball, for neither of which subjects the cultivated reader cares much, though it is astonishing how the interest in murder keeps up with the less cultivated average reader, common though it has become, sad to say. But it is in dealing with other forms of crime that the labors of the press are more valuable. Only the newspapers—and nowadays some of the other periodicals—have a constant and sustained interest in showing up misgovernment, frauds on the people, graft, breach of trust, and man's various forms of dexterous inhumanity to man. Newspapers make reforms possible, and when the reforms come, help greatly to make them successful. The considerable body of our fellow citizens who find "steal and let steal" a good enough maxim for the conduct of life could live up to it far more successfully if it were not for the newspapers. Our newspapers might be much better; they could easily be made more to the taste of people of taste; but their unlovely crying of crime disagreeable as it is, is an exceedingly important public duty, and in their faithfulness and veracious fortitude in keeping it up lies really the biggest part of our hope of a higher standard of honesty in public and private life. There is hope for any kind of morality as long as it can be kept out of the papers.—State Republican.

Walters, of 546, St. Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months, I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked; I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak, from useless drugs, that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters, I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at Darling's and Dillon's drug stores; price 50c.

The huckleberry season is about over. A fair estimate would indicate that from fifteen to twenty thousand bushels of berries had been shipped from this county during the season, and that in the neighborhood of $25,000 in cash had been paid to pickers. For a crop that requires no attention aside from the harvesting this is certainly a good thing for any county.

Has a man a right to spit? asks an exclaimer, and then it proceeds to answer the question thusly. "You bet he has, and a right to breathe, a right to live, and a right to express his opinion; a right to kick and a right to work, also a right to vote and pay taxes, and to find fault with everybody and everything he don't like. Man has a whole lot of rights, but he should exercise them like a gentleman."

There is gradual improvement in the fever situation in New Orleans, as indicated by the fact that the new cases are diminishing week by week. It is evident that the doctors have been doing some good work there and that modern scientific methods of treating the plague are found to be of advantage. While there are many who do not accept fully the mosquito theory of the spread of the fever but few have openly opposed fighting the disease along this line.

Flax in Michigan.

John A. McKay took aboard a quantity of flax grown in the "thumb" of Michigan, for the purpose of ascertaining what kind of linen it would make. He is having it manufactured at Belfast, Ireland, and will import it as linen. If the quality is what Mr. McKay expects it to be, there is no doubt that a linen manufacturing plant, and perhaps several of them will be established in Michigan.

Writing from Belfast to Charles Moore, Secretary of the Union Trust Co., Mr. McKay says:

"Two counterfeit linens are imported from here into the United States. One is a union of cotton and linen composed of cotton warp and linen weft, or vice versa; the other is entirely cotton 'lincized' by being passed over hot copper rollers, which gives it a brown, or linen finish, or appearance. These counterfeits are imported as cotton, or part cotton, but are sold as linen.

"I would suggest legislation by congress, requiring all such goods to be stamped on every yard 'mixed cotton and linen,' or 'cotton,' as the case may be; and subject to higher duties than now imposed on pure linens; also subject to forfeiture if not properly stamped or entered and marked.

"I am also of the opinion that such legislation would educate the consumer regarding linen, and prepare the market for our domestic linens, for I am confident the day when we will produce our own linen is not far distant."—Free Press.

Farmers Picnic a Success.
 The picnic at Sand Lake Wednesday, under the auspices of the Iosco County Institute Society and the Granges, was a decided success. The day was ideal and between five and six hundred people gathered to enjoy the occasion.

Much interest was manifested in the addresses by N. K. Potter, of Bancroft, and Senator Woodman of Paw Paw. Both addresses were full of practical information. Senator Woodman was the representative of the State Grange and Mr. Potter of the State Institute Society. Both gentlemen express themselves as much surprised at the agricultural development of our county and at the fine crops grown here this year. Besides the addresses there was plenty of other amusement including a couple of ball games, in one of which the Melvor boys beat the Hemlock Road team by a score of 13 to 3, and the other in which the Hemlockers defeated the Reno boys by a score of 7 to 4.

Weekly Crop Bulletin.
 The weather conditions the past week have been generally favorable to all outstanding crops, except late potatoes, especially on heavy and low lands, where there is too much moisture. The heavy showers have slightly retarded the completion of the oat harvest. Normal temperatures and ample moisture have generally forwarded the growth of corn, beans, buckwheat and sugar beets, but the continuance of showery weather has caused some blight in late potatoes as well as having shortened the yield of early potatoes, which are now generally coming into market.

The oat crop is generally very good; the bulk of the harvest has been well secured and is now being threshed. Fall plowing has generally begun in all counties of the lower peninsula and is quite well advanced in the southern section; the soil is in splendid condition.

Corn continues to make good growth and has cared quite heavily. Buckwheat is in fairly good condition, but has had more moisture than it needs. Early beans are maturing and late beans are podding well. Sugar beets are in good condition in all counties where grown. The prospect for a good yield of clover seed is excellent.

Reports regarding the condition of apples continue generally discouraging and it now seems certain that the yield, as a whole, will be poor; the fruit is scabby and has been dropping badly. Peaches will be plentiful. Plums and pears are fairly promising, but plums are rotting more this year than usual.

To Alpena.
 Excursion to Alpena, Sunday, Sept. 3. Train leaves Tawas City at 9.15 a. m., round trip rate $1.00; proportionate rates from other stations; children between 5 and 12 half fare. Tickets good only on excursion train.
