

THE TAWAS HERALD.

Volume XXIII.

TAWAS CITY, MICHIGAN, February 23, 1906.

Number 9.

Notice to Subscribers.

On April 1, next the subscription price of the Herald will be advanced to $1.50 per year, payable strictly in advance. This advance is caused by the increased cost of paper and other material, and to meet extensive improvements which we contemplate making at that date. After careful estimate we find that printing a country newspaper at $1.00 per year is a losing proposition and will not permit of improvements.

Until April first all subscriptions, either in advance or those now due, will be received at the rate of $1.00 per year, but after that date $1.50 will be required. It will be to your advantage to pay at least one year in advance before that date.

tion which has purchased a large tract of land on Long Lake, on the Rose City branch of the D. & M. Ry., and are promoting the building of a summer resort and assembly grounds for the Christian church. The promoters are well known members of that denomination with headquarters at Toledo, Ohio. Plans are now made for the erection of a large hotel and assembly hall early in the spring and it is expected that at least 1,000 families will spend the coming summer there.
We shall have more to say on the prospects of that part of our county next week.

Union Evangelistic Services.
The English speaking churches of this city have planned a series of revival services to be held in the Baptist, Congregational and Methodist churches in the order named. The meetings will continue an entire week in one church before moving to the next in order. Also each pastor shall preach a week in his turn.
One hundred copies of Hymns of Praise, Number Two, have been purchased for use in these services. These books are among the newest and most popular of their kind.
The union prayer meetings recently held were introductory to these meetings and the outlook for a great spiritual awakening in the community is very bright indeed. Let every one attend the very first service next Sunday evening at the Baptist church.

How to Save Time and Labor in Plowing

Plowing is like drawing a load—the lighter the load the faster you go. But you can draw more on a wagon than on a stone boat, can't you—and draw it faster?
And the wagon is easier on your team.
Some plows are like stone boats when it comes to drawing. Others are more like the finest, easiest pulling wagon.
The Oliver Plows are "the wagon kind."
They are the lightest draft plows made.
Want to know why?
The diamond-shaped furrow slice falls of its own weight.
Every part of an Oliver Plow is balanced, adjusted and centered toward the pull.
Because they are shaped right, they go through the land easily—offer the least resistance.
Oliver chilled metal scours perfectly.
Not an ounce of pull is lost.

The No. 40 Plow Has a World-wide Reputation

The mold board is always smooth and bright. It does not corrode—surface rust will wear off after a few minutes' use.
The standard is set well back so no rubbish can gather between it and the share.

OLIVER CHILLED PLOWS.
Always the Best.
Now Better than Ever

We say this is "A Michigan Plow." Because it will meet all the conditions in that section. It is adapted to heavy work in all kinds of land. Especially good in soil and clayey soil. Equally good in sandy or alluvial land. Hill work is easy with it. Parts are interchangeable. We make everything in our own factories. The material is handled by our own exclusive methods. And work is superintended by practical experts trained right in the business. All goods are double inspected before shipping. Our prestige has been gained through practical results achieved by Oliver Plows in the field.

Over Two Million Are in Use

We are the largest plow making concern in the world. We turn out more plows every year than any other concern in existence. And it is this extra quality and large production that enables us to give you better plow value for your money than you can obtain anywhere else.

Oliver principles of construction cannot be improved. But this year we are able to get better material than we could ever before procure.

And the finish of our goods has been made a little finer.

It will pay you to investigate our claims before you buy. We have studied the soil conditions in your state and this No. 40 plow will meet them.

Why not see your dealer today? If he hasn't the Oliver, wait till you can write to us. We will see that you are well served. Isn't it worth attending to at once? Address

John A. McCall, former president of the New York Life Insurance Co., died at Lakewood, N. Y., Sunday night. His death can be traced to the exposures made by the recent investigation of the life insurance companies which forced him and other prominent insurance men to resign their positions. The deceased was 57 years of age.

The latest dodge of the Warner machine is to wheedle the unsuspecting public into the belief that the railroads are opposing Gov. Warner. Watch the machine papers this week and next and see what the Lansing editor has to say on the subject. At the same time look over Warner's administration and see what he has done that has not been in favor of the railroads.

Looking at the size of Japan's war debt and considering the famine in the northern provinces, it was just as well that the war ended when it did. Japan gained a number of warships and a lot of glory, but they will not keep men, women and children from starving, nor pay the indebtedness incurred by borrowing money to keep the dogs of war in fighting shape.—E.C.

Buy a farm, young man. No matter how small it may be; buy a farm and prepare it so that your land will provide you a living. Twenty years from now the man who owns his farm will be independent and will have at his command the means of a livelihood. The expansion of manufacturers cannot go on forever and there will come a day in this country, as there has in others, when the supply will exceed the demand and the only absolutely sure occupation will be farming. Buy a farm while one may be had.—American Farmer.

The fiction list of the Woman's Home Companion for March contains a delightful old Irish legend by Seumas MacManus, "Donal O'Donnell's Stauding Army," together with such lively modern tales as "Affairs of State," by Burton E. Stevenson; "Aleibnades," by E. Nesbit; "The Mountains of Peace," by Julia Truitt Bishop; "Mr. McCoggin—County Tourist," by Laura L. Hinkley, and another of Elliott Flower's "Barney and Norah" series. Henry Harrison Lewis tells of Alce Roosevelt's courtship and marriage. Published by the Crowell Publishing Company, Springfield, Ohio; one dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

The phrase "stand pat," a vulgar expression borrowed from poker players, is little short of idiotic when applied to business affairs. Progress is not made by standing still, but by moving along. As the country develops and conditions change, the laws and business methods must be adapted to them. Tariffs, railroad rates, prices of commodities, in fact every thing entering into national development, are subject to this natural law and when politicians talk about "standing pat" they are in effect declaring against growth, reform, and progress. While sudden and frequent changes are bad, no changes are still worse. While realizing that the rolling stone gathers no moss, we should remember that it is equally true that the sitting hen never grows fat.—American Farmer.

Coroner Hoffman, of Detroit still a young man himself, who is doing time in Jackson state prison for "moukeying with the bright works" in an official capacity, advises young men to keep out of politics. In plain English Hoffman stole money in the shape of fees from Wayne county in his capacity as coroner, to which office he was elected by being identified as a political worker. He had much better advise young men to keep out of state prison for being thieves. Young men should not keep out of politics—clean politics. Every young man should identify himself with some political party and he should keep in politics enough to know what his party does, whom it nominates for office—their qualifications, reputation and standing in his own community and in his party. He should know enough about men to fill offices or not, and he should know enough about politics (in other words issues) to vote intelligently upon all questions which affect the city, state or nation. Young men, get into politics and stay there; not for the sake of office but because you will be needed some day to take charge of affairs which are brought about through political parties. But keep them clean; if this can't be done, keep them as clean as possible. No young man, no old man, has a right to keep aloof from politics; indeed it is their duty to keep in them; and the more clean men there are in politics the cleaner politics themselves will be.—Holly Advertiser.

Graft Judicially Defined.

In a speech on "Graft" before the Paper and Pulp Association in New York Judge Moore of Virginia said:

Graft was a modern name. There had always been the tendency. In Wall Street they called it financiering, in some other street larceny. In trade it was by products, unless it went to the other fellow. The first law promulgated recognized the tendency of men to graft. It was written "thou shalt not steal."

It is said that the Lord helps those who help themselves. I have found that they generally help themselves when they get the chance.

An old negro preacher down in Virginia said:
"If I prays to the good Lord to send me a chicken he don't do it; but when I prays for him to send me after one I generally gets it."

Patience with Children.

If we are notable housekeepers we are in danger of putting our carpets and curtains, our well-kept furniture and our things in general before our children. I have known a mother to pass by without notice a rude and boorish act on the part of a child, when she came down like a veritable day of judgment on the same little culprit if his ball happened to break a pane of glass. There are mothers who can pardon anything except an ink spot on the front of a frock or a rent in a garment. Ink spots on character and rents in behavior are a thousand times more injurious than a transient damage to clothing or furniture.

Mothers need to discriminate. Harshness and severity should never be meted out to the child who is the victim of an accident. With the utmost admiration I remember the perfect poise and unbroken calm of a sweet woman whose little girl had the misfortune to knock over a very costly vase which had for her mother precious associations connected with her wedding journey in the far east. The vase stood on a table where it had been placed after having been shown to guests, who had gazed at it almost with envy. In came little Barbara, her doll in her arms, her foot caught on a rug, slipped along the polished floor; she threw out a hand to save herself from falling, and lo! the vase lay in fragments at our feet. "Never mind, Barbara," said the mother, gently, "you did not mean to do it. I am glad you are not hurt, and that even Dolly has not a scratch."

The object lesson in self-control was worth going far to see, and its effect would never be lost on the character formation of the little daughter.—Margaret E. Sangster in Woman's Home Companion for March.

An Increase of 50,000.

Deputy Supt. of Public Instruction W. H. French in a recent interview with the Detroit Journal representative gave out some interesting facts relative to the effect of the recently enacted compulsory school attendance law. He asserts that the increase has been largely in villages and rural districts and that the attendance has been increased 50,000. In Montcalm county alone it affected the attendance of 1000 pupils. The commissioner of that county reports that he found children between eleven and twelve years of age who had never been in school. It is hard to estimate the cost to the state of allowing an army of 50,000 boys and girls to roam at large and do the mischief they are capable of doing, but it is safe to say the cost of enforcing the law is very little in comparison. But this is a small part to be considered. Intelligent voters are indispensable to the safety of the nation.

A Healing Gospel.

The Rev. J. C. Warren, pastor of Sharon Baptist church, Belair, Ga., says of Electric Bitters: "It's a God-send to mankind. It cured me of lame back, stiff joints, and complete physical collapse. I was so weak it took me half an hour to walk a mile. Two bottles of Electric Bitters have made me so strong I have just walked three miles in fifty minutes and feel like walking three more. It made a new man of me." Greatest remedy for all weakness and all stomach, liver, and kidney complaints. Sold under guarantee at G. S. Darling and J. M. Wuggazer & Co. drug store. Price 50c.
