The republican state convention met at Detroit Tuesday and completed the nomination of the state ticket for the officers below that of lieutenant governor. Fred M. Warner having been renominated for governor, and P. H. Kelly for lieutenant governor at the June primaries, the ticket has been completed. All nominations were made by acclamation, and with the exception of superintendent of public instruction and member of board of education, were renominations.
The ticket is as follows:
Governor—Fred M. Warner, of Farmington.
Lieutenant Governor—Patrick H. Kelly, of Wayne.
Secretary of State—George A. Prescott, of Tawas City.

The Home Coming a Big Success.
Such a crowd as has been at AuSable this week has not been seen in the old town in many a day. The "home coming" has been a decided success, and the "glad hand" has been worked over time. The remnant of that former prosperous city must have brought tears to the eyes of some of the old residents who have been absent 15 or 20 years. Yet, with their splendid water power, etc., there is no reason why the twin towns of the north end should not, sooner or later, develop even a more permanent and better growth than that of the old lumber days. We have all suffered from the disappearance of our timber, but can unite in looking forward to better days to come. The citizens who have united in making this week "on the Sable" one to be remembered by those who attended are to be congratulated on their splendid success.
Next Tuesday evening is the regular meeting of the Tawas City Improvement Association, and every member is urged to attend. All who are not members are invited to be present and unite in the effort to advance the interests of our city. A united effort on the part of all can accomplish much good right now. Come on and help boost, don't knock!

The Secret Out.
It was rumored here last week that Miss Marie McDonald went to Bay City on Monday of last week to have her name changed, but an inquiry of her relatives brought a denial of the report. However the following from last week's issue of the Rose City Review settles the question, and the Herald joins the young lady's many friends in extending congratulations and best wishes for a happy married life. The Review says:
"August Muma, superintendent of the Rose City Manufacturing Company, surprised many of his friends by returning from Tawas City last Tuesday evening with his wife, formerly Miss Marie McDonald, a teacher in the schools here last term, and a daughter of Neil McDonald, superintendent of the Prescott-Miller Lumber Co. The surprise was still greater when it was learned that Mr. Muma and Miss McDonald were married on the 5th of last April and had kept their marriage a secret until they came to the city Tuesday as husband and wife. The worthy young people are receiving the congratulations of their many friends."

THE "UNIVERSAL" COFFEE PERCOLATOR

Makes Perfect Coffee, Uniform in Quality

Retaining all its aroma, free from tannic acid caused by boiling.
Anyone, however inexperienced, can make perfect coffee in 10 or 15 minutes.
Filled with cold water, the only thing to use if perfect coffee is wanted, the pot is so constructed that all the heat is concentrated around the little chamber below the automatic valve, and in a minute or two after it is put upon the stove the water, luke warm at first, and gradually increasing in temperature, is pumped through the tube and filters down through the coffee. Before the water reaches the boiling point, the coffee piping hot, is ready to serve. No steam or aroma escapes. The glass dome in the cover shows by the color of the coffee when the required strength has been reached. The result is uniformly delicious, healthful coffee, as clear as wine, though no eggs are used to clarify it, better coffee than you ever had or can get in any other way.

The "Universal" is made of pure aluminum, the most sanitary of metals. Simple, easy to use, easy to clean. Will last for generations. Works on any kind of stove, coal, wood, gas or oil.

Come in and examine it. Users are more than pleased.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., Aug. 3, 1906

William J. Bryan has announced that he will outline his conception of the issues upon which the next democratic national campaign should be fought in his speech at Madison Square Garden, August 30, on the occasion of the reception tendered him on his return from Europe.

The primary election day provides for a September drought. The law says that saloons must be closed on that day, which is Tuesday, Sept. 4, this year. Monday preceding is Labor Day, and law abiding saloonists will not keep their places open on Sunday. This will make three days of unsatisfied thirst.

The department of commerce and labor has ruthlessly exposed the so-called chamois skin trade. The soft and pliable yellow leathers known by this name are frauds, so far as the name is concerned. Of genuine chamois skins fewer than 5000 are produced each year, not enough to supply the American demand for one day. What masquerades as a chamois skin in this country is oil-tanned sheep or lamb skin lining. The genuine chamois skin comes from Switzerland.

The harvester trust has just paid $25,000 into the Arkansas state treasury. It is now doing business just as before, and, I suppose, is not a trust! Payment of a large sum of money to public officials at once transforms a trust into a competitor! And the people thing this is a vindication of the law! This is the only way they can conceive of getting away from the extortion of trusts. For me, I would rather have the state manufacture and sell machinery at cost than to have all the trusts in the world fined. We have to pay the fines back to them in profits, so what's the use. Get wise!—Appeal to Reason.

State Board of Equalization.

The state board of equalization which meets once in five years to equalize the basis of taxation between the counties, will begin its sessions at the capitol on the 20th inst., and will likely be at work for a month. The board is composed of the lieutenant governor, the secretary of state, the state treasurer, and the commissioner of the state land office, and the deputy auditor general is the secretary. The law creating the state tax commission also constitutes that board an advisory body to the board of equalization. If the judgement of the state tax commissioners on equalization all over the state is on a par of their work in Iosco county, the board of equalization will do well to take mighty little of their advice. Their recommendations as to the equalization of the various townships of this county sent to the supervisors last spring was one of the most ridiculous pieces of work ever seen, and stamped the authors as either ignorant of the work in hand, incompetent or unfair.

Galveston's Sea Wall

makes life now as safe in that city as on the higher uplands. E. W. Goodloe, who resides on Dutton St., in Waco, Texas., needs no sea wall for safety. He writes: "I have used Dr King's New Discovery for consumption the past five years and it keeps me well and safe. Before that time I had a cough which for years had been growing worse. Now it's gone." Cures chronic coughs, lagrippe, croup, whooping cough and prevents pneumonia. Pleasant to take. Every bottle guaranteed at G. S. Darling's and J. M. Wuggazer & Co. drug store. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

The Initiative and Referendum in Oregon.

The movement for the initiative and referendum commenced in Oregon about 1892, as a feature of the populist agitation then so strong in the west; the idea, of course, was brought from Switzerland. A number of attempts to induce the Oregon legislative assembly to accept the principle proved futile. Finally, in the session of 1899, a joint resolution was passed by large majorities proposing a constitutional amendment to provide for it. The resolution was reintroduced two years later, as the constitution requires, and only one vote was recorded in opposition. It then went to the people at the general election of 1902, just ten years after the agitation was begun, and was adopted by a overwhelming majority.

The essence of the new provision is found in the first sentence of Sec. 1, Art. IV, as amended. "The legislative authority of the state shall be vested in the legislative assembly, consisting of a senate and a house of representatives, but the people reserve to themselves power to propose laws and amendments to the constitution, and to enact or reject the same at the polls, independent of the legislative assembly, and also reserve at their option the power to approve or reject at the polls any act of the legislative assembly." Eight per cent of the legal voters of the state are empowered to propose laws and constitutional amendments, which go into operation on receiving a majority of the votes in favor at the next general election; and five per cent may demand the referendum on any measure, except as to laws necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health, peace, or safety, passed by the legislative assembly, provided the petitions are filed ninety days after the close of the legislative session at which they were enacted.

The initiative and referendum amendment was not an end in itself, but a means to an end. It provided, first of all, a way by which the constitution could be amended in any particular within a reasonable time by the people, acting in their legislative capacity. Those who were responsible for bringing forward the amendment had in mind several important reforms whose enactment into law they believed would be made possible only by this means.—From "Oregon as a Political Experiment Station," by Joseph Schafer, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for August.

What's the Matter With Michigan.

When the funnel shaped twisters go dancing a two-step across the continent, rip up whole countries, and fill the air with bedsticks, trees, cows and the savings of a life time, they skip Michigan.

When the Kansas grasshopper hops along down the Mississippi valley, and knaws off the crop of the "hey, rube," of Kansas, and the corn of Nebraska, eats even the green paint off the dwellings, it skips Michigan. When the elements concentrate in 10 hour downpours of rain in Illinois, Ohio and Indiana, and compel the Sucker, the Buckeye and the Hoosier to climb the chimney top to keep out of the wet, the Wolverine lolls in his summer siesta on a side hill.

When the bloated bondholders of Wall street corner everything in sight and wait for a raise, they skip Michigan. When the earthquake rends the earth and engulfs whole towns, it skips Michigan. When malaria and yellow fever nose through the tropical states and gather the inhabitants to their fathers, they skip Michigan.

When the Dakota blizzard goes raging through the north, and chills even the milk of human kindness it skips Michigan. When the Standard Oil octopus fixes its tentacles on the oil wells of the earth and shuts off the coal supply, it skips Michigan. The weevil, the Jersey mosquito, peach yellows, cholera germs, smallpox, Kentucky feuds, Florida simoon, all skip Michigan.

When Weary Waggies and Dirty Draggles go hunting for work and praying to God that they won't find it, they skip Michigan. When all the elements of distress combined form a cotillion to dance to earth the inhabitants of other countries, they skip Michigan.

When the Texan, the Floridian, the Porto Rican, the Nebraskan, the Kansan, Dakotan, the Pennsylvanian, the Indianan, have endured the drawbacks in their respective localities, beyond further endurance, they skip to Michigan. When the tropical sunbeams shoot down between the busy brick blocks of the great cities of Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Louisville, the sweltered tradesman locks his office, throws the key into the refrigerator and skips to Michigan.

Michigan is in it. Michigan is it. Michigan is in the paradise belt. Its lakes, rivers, its air, its climate, its woods, fields and inhabitants are the best ever. Michigan has her Italian sunset, dark blue azure, the scenery of the Alps, and water, the nectar of the gods. Michigan is full of bloom, not a petal missing and she's the rose of the sisterhood of states, wedded to prosperity, health and happiness. This is the Beulah land of the twentieth century!—Ex.

Treating Seed Wheat for Smut.

There is no smut in the wheat harvested on the Agricultural College plots this year. As a rule the wheat throughout the state is fairly free from smut. Because of this fact farmers are tempted to neglect to treat their seed this fall. This will be a mistake. A pound of formalin costs but little. Buy it and mix with thirty-five to forty gallons of water. Spread part of the seed on a clean barn floor, sprinkle the formalin mixture over it and shovel until each kernel is wet on every side with the solution. After twenty-four hours dry and sow when needed. If more convenient, treat just before sowing and omit the drying. This method is past the experimental stage, it is a recognized success.

Democratic County Convention.

The Democratic County Convention for the county of Iosco will be held at the court house in the city of Tawas City on Friday, August 10, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for county officials to be voted for at the coming November election and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the convention. The several townships and wards will be entitled to the following number of delegates respectively, same to be elected by the several precincts at the caucuses to be called by the city and township committees:

Alabaster, 1; AuSable, 3; AuSable City, 1st ward, 1; 2nd ward, 2; 3rd ward, 1; Baldwin, 1; Burlingh, 3; East Tawas, 1st ward, 2; 2nd ward, 3; 3rd ward, 3; Grant, 1; Osceola, 4; Plainfield, 2; Reno, 2; Sherman, 2; Tawas, 3; Tawas City, 1st ward, 1; 2nd ward, 2; 3rd ward, 2; Wilbur, 1. Total, 40.

THE TRIUMPHAL TOURS OF (PRINCESS ALICE)

IN KING EDWARD'S PRIVATE ENCLOSURE AT ASCOT

THE GERMAN EMPEROR POINTING OUT HIS YACHT THE ALICE ROOSEVELT

By J. W. BRAYTON.

WHEN Mrs. Nicholas Longworth —it still seems natural to write it Miss Alice Roosevelt—returns to this country about the middle of next month, hers will be the unusual distinction of having met and been entertained by more occupants of royal and imperial thrones, members of their families, and of the world's nobility than any other American of her day and generation. Furthermore, she is the only daughter of a President who has gone world traveling during her father's term.

As a delicate compliment to her—she was then Miss Roosevelt—our own Sultan of Sulu, on meeting her, offered the President's daughter his hand in marriage, and loaded her with quaint Oriental baubles from his treasure supply.

That old ogre of the yellow East—the Dowager Empress of Tsi-An—would have it no other way than that Miss Roosevelt should pass a night or two under the roof of the Imperial Palace. When she returned to her home in Washington, Miss Roosevelt confided to her friends that one of the most enjoyable incidents in the trip to the Philippines and back was her visit and friendly chat with the Great Old Woman of the Yellow Millions.

Of course, while at the Court of Peking, lesser members of the Imperial Family were made known to her.

In Japan princes imperial and princesses imperial vied with one another to give hearty welcome to the young lady, and, as a climax to the sojourn in Tokio, there was an audience with the grave Mikado and his doll-like consort.

Three years before she sailed for the Philippines Miss Roosevelt, with the genial Prince Henry of Prussia standing by her side, christened the American-built yacht of the German War Lord. Now, Miss Alice Roosevelt no longer, but Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, she has talked, within the last few weeks, with His Royal Highness Edward VII, King of Great Britain and Ireland, Emperor of India, etc.; Kaiser William II, and various members of his family, and the leading nobility of both England and Germany, to say nothing of French men and women and others with noble and princely handles to their names. And President Fallieres, of France; renowned statesmen, diplomats, generals, admirals, indeed, most of the men big in the governing of Great Britain, France and Germany—with all these she has exchanged greetings, and from all received the attentions that Europe generally reserves for persons of princely rank. Of course, no sane-minded American has objected to this; he has been secretly amused and proud in turn, and by it all once more learned that even enlightened European minds are incapable of grasping the principles of his democratic form of government. "Princess Alice," indeed! In truth, just plain Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Washington, and most lovable and likeable as such!

HONEYMOONING EXTRAORDINARY.
Looking back on it, Mrs. Longworth's tour in the old world has partaken more of the characteristics of a triumphal procession than a honeymoon trip. She rode from Plymouth to the British capital in the royal carriage. At the dinner given in her honor by Ambassador and Mrs. Reid, King Edward set all precedent aside and paid Mrs. Longworth the delicate compliment of requesting that she be seated at the table in the place of honor—that is, at his left. Thus it came about that one whose only title is that of plain, everyday Mrs., took rank over the whole of Britain's proud nobility. When the dinner was over, and the ladies left the table, it was King Edward himself who accompanied Mrs. Longworth to the door, and as she passed through it, bowed in the most courtly fashion.

During Ascot week, the King took particular pains to honor the Longworths further, inviting them into the royal enclosure and having them as his guests of honor at luncheon in the King's pavilion. It is a coveted honor to be invited into the enclosure, and to be asked to take luncheon with the King in his pavilion would serve to put a few members of England's nobility in the seventh heaven.

How did Mrs. Longworth take these honors? Like a true American, as was to be expected. The English newspaper writers noted, with evident mild wonder, that she was thoroughly at ease, unabashed, and absolutely democratic in the presence of their August monarch and the proudest of his nobles. They recorded that when she courted to the King on being introduced, she did so without the least suggestion of servility; and the ease with which she entered into the conversation with His Majesty as soon as they were seated at table is still food for thought in Merrie England, which holds more than one noble of ancient lineage who shows the embarrassment of servility when it chances that it is "up to him" to speak with his King.

London was undeniably favorably impressed with its young and charming guest.

In the same wholesome democratic spirit Mrs. Longworth was presented to and paid a visit to the Kaiser at his very earnest solicitation. This was at Kiel, while the regatta, which lies close to the War Lord's heart, was at its height. One of the first things that Mrs. Longworth did after the presentation was to thank the Kaiser personally for the gold bracelet set with diamonds and his portrait which he had presented to her through his brother, Prince Henry, at the time the yacht Meteor was launched.

For five days the Longworths were guests of the Kaiser, talking with him daily. He pointed out to Mrs. Longworth the yacht that he had named "Alice Roosevelt," sometime after the christening of the Meteor. When Miss

MRS. NICHOLAS LONGWORTH (MISS ALICE ROOSEVELT)

Alice Roosevelt sent a cablegram to the Kaiser thanking him for the bracelet and portrait, a certain influential London newspaper criticized her for not framing the despatch in terms of servility. It goes without saying that during the whole of her stay at Kiel she displayed none other than the unaffected democratic spirit that is inborn in every representative American man and woman.

With certain things known, it is pretty safe to state that of all the great folk with whom she became acquainted in Europe, Mrs. Longworth enjoyed meeting and talking with the Kaiser the most. The first person of royal or imperial blood that she ever met was Prince Henry of Prussia. The Kaiser had paid her the high compliment of asking her to break the bottle of champagne on the bow of his American-built yacht. To show his appreciation of her acquiescence and sturdy performance of the deed, he presented her with a costly bauble. Since her father became President, she has heard him and the Kaiser compared marry their son to the eldest daughter of the President of the United States. Of course, it was said, the Kaiser would see to it that some friendly ruler conferred a title upon Miss Roosevelt.

So what more natural than for Mrs. Longworth to enjoy her visit with the Kaiser, even more than her meeting with King Edward at Ambassador Reid's, where she made His Majesty laugh heartily over a recital of her attempts to outwit pursuing kodak fiends?

Before the Longworths left England for the Continent and after their return there from the Kiel regatta, they were entertained at a number of fashionable English country houses, and in and out of London there were small dinners and some dances in their honor. American women who have married into British nobility and high society were among the hostesses. Every moment that they were in old England, the Longworths were being entertained, and the list of Lords and Ladies, Dukes and Duchesses, Earls and Countesses, Sirs and what not in the title line that they met—is it not to be found in toto in that right tight little island's social blue book?

HER YANKEE DAY ABROAD.

But there was one day at least that Mrs. Longworth and her husband spent exclusively with fellow Americans. That was America's natal day. And how the celebrating Yankees cheered the daughter of the President, and with what patriotic enthusiasm did she salute the Stars and Stripes and applaud the healthy Yankee sentiments of the speakers! The royal dinner given by Ambassador Reid was a truly gorgeous affair, and cost him, the gossips say, his ambassadorial salary for a year. But which was more to the inward satisfaction of Mrs. Nicholas Longworth—this feast spread for her and a crowned head, or the far simpler affair at which the birth of her native land was fittingly celebrated?

The reason for the Longworths' visit

Spraying Apple Trees Against Codling Moth.

Bulletin 222 of the Michigan Experiment Station reports investigation made by Prof. R. H. Pettit on the several broods of codling moth. His conclusions point to the advisability of spraying apple trees with bordeaux mixture and some form of arsenic, not only just after the apple blossoms fall, but also during the first week in August, and possibly again ten days later. The crop is greatly enhanced in value both in quantity and quality. Full directions are given in the bulletin and a spray calendar issued by the same station. If you have not these bulletins remember that they are to be had for the asking. Write to the Secretary, Agricultural College Mich. and secure them at once, as the spraying should be done now.
