Notice:—Any one having a good mare weighing 1200 to 1300 pounds, 7 or 8 years old, which they wish to sell at a reasonable price, on ten months time, with good endorsement, address Sherman Johnson, Siloam, Mich.

Mrs. Albert Syze is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William West, of Reno, for a few days.

The annual banquet of the Citizens' Club of the 23rd judicial circuit will be held at the Holland hotel, East Tawas, on the 28th inst.

Tawas Exchange Bank in Barkman's store makes loans on endorsed notes, cattle and approved securities, from 30 to 90 days.

Julius Nakander and Miss Alma Otto, of Alabaster, were married at the Zion Lutheran parsonage last Saturday, Rev. Fredrick Seivers officiating.

A social dance will be given at the East Tawas opera house, this Friday, evening, the last before Lent. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Bill 75 cents.

Funeral services for the late Seth Brandenburg, who died of diphtheria, will be held at the Wilber M. E. church next Sunday at 2 o'clock p. m. Rev. Dickie will officiate.

Martin Kerbitz gave the scholars of the Zion Lutheran School, accompanied by the teacher, Mr. Laecker and Rev. Seivers, a most enjoyable sleigh ride last Saturday.

Mary Goupil, of Whittemore, was adjudged insane by the probate court last Monday, and was taken to the northern asylum for insane at Traverse City Tuesday, by Sheriff Curry.

A new time card went into effect on the D. & M. last Sunday. The only change in time of trains at this station, is the Prescott train which leaves here at 7:05 a. m. instead of 6:35 as heretofore. The morning train from AuGres to Omer has been discontinued.

The special meetings at the East Tawas Baptist church closed last Monday evening. The interest manifested during these meetings has been most satisfactory and much good will result. At the close of the services a farewell reception was tendered Rev. Geo. Hudson, who has so ably assisted the pastor Rev. J. B. Brown.

J. W. Minor and B. E. Butler, representing the Bay City-Michigan Sugar Co., have this week been paying the farmers in this vicinity the rebate on freight for beets shipped last fall. The rate paid last fall was 60 cents per ton, and the rebate amounts to 20 cents per ton, making a rate of 40 cents, which will prevail in the future.

At the Emmanuel Lutheran church last evening, occurred the marriage of Miss Minnie A., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woyahn, of this city, to Mr. Otto Carl, of Lansing. Rev. Fredrick Seivers of Zion church officiating. The bride has a host of friends here who unite in wishing the happy couple a long and prosperous life. They will make their home in Lansing.

Rev. J. W. Turner, D. D. will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday at the usual hours. His morning subject will be "The Ideal of True Greatness." In the evening, "Something Worthy of Commendation." A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The Lansing correspondent to yesterday's Detroit Free Press says: A so-called local bill passed the house this afternoon that ought to be framed. It provides for the incorporation of the city of Whittemore, Iosco county, the reason assigned being that the people there want to control the highway funds. The town has less than one hundred population and one street, so that the first ward will be on one side of the street and the second on the other.

Manager McKeron, of the Freeport, O. Chautauqua, says of the Old Plantation Quartet, which will be at the Baptist church next Tuesday evening: "The entertainments given by the Old Plantation Quartet at our Chautauqua were delightful events. Every day for a week the popularity seemed to increase. Their great variety of music was an attractive feature of their weeks work. No one will make a mistake when they secure the Old Plantation Quartet."

Waldo J. Curry and Miss Clara E. Anschuetz were united in marriage Wednesday, at the Zion Lutheran parsonage in this city, by Rev. Fredrick Seivers. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Curry, and a prosperous young farmer of Tawas township, and the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Anschuetz, of East Tawas. The Herald unites with their many friends in extending to the happy young couple congratulations and best wishes for a long and prosperous life.

Through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Nisbet, who furnished the shack, and T. W. Sines, who furnished the conveyance, the Twentieth Century Club spent a delightful day, last Saturday, at Long Lake. After a sumptuous dinner was served, and after a few hours of social pleasure, the guests departed, voting the day well spent, in spite of the blizzard which met them when about five miles from town. The club hopes there will be another invitation to visit Indian Lodge "in the good old summer time."

At St. Joseph's church, East Tawas, Wednesday morning, occurred the marriage of Miss Blanche, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Noel, of that city, to Mr. John Wrather, of Muskegon. The bride is one of the most popular young ladies of that city, while the groom is well known here, having been engaged in the hardware business at East Tawas for a number of years, and at present is district manager for the Michigan Telephone company at Muskegon. A most enjoyable reception was tendered the happy couple at the home of the bride's parents. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Wrather will be at home at Muskegon. May they live long and prosper in the wish of their many friends in the Tawas.

The Republican Convention.
The republican county convention was held at the court house last Tuesday. J. G. Dimmick, of East Tawas, was chairman and Will McGilivray, of Oscoda, secretary.

The first order of business was the nomination of a candidate for county school commissioner. There was only one name presented, that of the present efficient commissioner, John A. Campbell, of Whittemore, who received the unanimous nomination. The following delegates were then elected to the state convention which meets at Grand Rapids next Thursday: Will McGilivray, Oscoda; Edwin Rawden, East Tawas; P. E. Shein, Tawas City; and N. J. McColl, Whittemore.

For Sale.

Capitol News.

Lansing, Feb. 7, 1907.
State Commissioner of Insurance Barry has declined the position of secretary of the Association of Insurance Presidents, recently tendered him.

Col. John Whitehead, commissioner of the Jamestown exposition, is here endeavoring to get the state to make an exhibit. A bill providing for a commission of five members and an appropriation of $30,000 has been introduced in the senate for that purpose.

At a joint session of the house and senate today Senator-elect W. A. Smith was chosen to fill the remaining few weeks of General Alger's term in the U. S. senate, which expires March 4. It is conceded that this action will be to Senator Smith's advantage when he enters upon his full term.

Gov. Warner arrived here Tuesday and a renewal of interest in legislative matters generally is noticed. The governor has made several important announcements since his return, one of which is that he is in favor of the selection of candidates for U. S. senator by a direct vote of the people.

Rep. Dust has fathered a bill providing for the proposed constitutional convention, which has the indorsement of the first voter's league, farmers' clubs and municipal league. It establishes a body of 132 members, to be elected the same as state senators and representatives are elected. Candidates can have their names placed on the ballot by securing the indorsement of 200 voters. Delegates to the convention are allowed $8 a day and mileage.

It is stated that a bill providing for a state railroad commission of three members will be introduced and passed at this session. The bill will make many radical changes in the present way of handling railroad matters by the state. The present railroad commissioner's office will be abolished, and under the new law a board of three members will be appointed by the goyenor, and not more than two shall be of the same political party. This board will be given much power relative to the management of railroad matters, and is expected to result in a big advantage to shippers and others.

20th Century Club.

The next meeting of the 20th Century Club will be held at the home of Miss Jessie Robinson, Saturday February 9. The following is the program.

- Roll Call—Name a recent book and its author.
- Music—Vocal duet—Mesdames Braddock and Babcock.
- Book Review—"The Right of Way" (Gilbert Parker.) Mrs. Chaffee.
- Discussion—Club.
- Music—Scottish Song—Mrs. Nisbet.
- Current Events—Mrs. Babcock.

Resolutions of Condolence.

The following resolutions on the death of John Scarlett were adopted by Vine Grange and ordered printed and a copy sent to the family:
Whereas, Almighty God in His own mysterious providence has pleased to take from us an excellent and worthy brother, John Scarlett,
Therefore, to the will of the Eternal we bow, saying, not our will but Thine be done. Mr Scarlett was an excellent and zealous citizen, an affectionate husband and father and a true and faithful brother of the Patrons of Husbandry.

Therefore, to the children and to his relatives and friends we send this tribute of consolation, that though dead, yet we believe he lives eternally in the blessed home of love and peace.
MALCOLM McLEOD,) GEO. C. MCKENZIE,) Committee.
LAURA COLBY,)

Card of Thanks.

With most grateful hearts we wish to take this opportunity of extending to the neighbors and friends our thanks for the kindness and sympathy extended us during our hour of bereavement in the death of our son and brother, Otto, and to assure them of our sincere appreciation.
EMIL H. BUOH AND FAMILY.

Hunting for Trouble.

"I've lived in California 20 years, and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, wounds, boils, cuts, sprains, or a case of piles that Bucklen's Arnica Salve won't cure," writes Charles Walters, of Allegheny, Sierra Co. No use hunting Mr. Walters; it cures every case. Guaranteed by G. S. Darling and J. M. Wuggazer & Co. Druggists. 25c.

A Valuable Lesson.

"Six years ago I learned a valuable lesson," writes John Pleasant, of Magnolia, Ind. "I then began taking Dr. King's New Life Pills, and the longer I take them the better I find them." They please everybody. Guaranteed by G. S. Darling and J. M. Wuggazer & Co. Druggists.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., FEB. 8, 1907

When it is all over space writers ought to present some little token to Thaw.

The average rate of pay for the 11,023 hotel employees canvassed in Michigan by the state labor department was 85 cents a day of 9.6 hours. The canvass includes 946 hotels in 79 counties. All employees got their board in addition to the cash wages.

The principal occupation of the daily papers at present is filling their columns with details of the Thaw murder trial which is now on at New York. The regrettable feature of the matter is that about nine-tenths of the reading people devour this stuff with a relish.

The service pension bill passed the lower house of congress Monday and is now up to the President for his signature. This bill increases the pensions of soldiers and sailors of the Mexican and civil wars, and provides that such persons having reached the age of 62 years shall receive a pension $12.00 per month and at 70 $16. and at 75 $20.00, the pension to commence from date of filing application.

Senator Carton has introduced a bill in the senate to incorporate Whittemore as a fourth-class city. Now if Hale, Emery Junction, McIvor, Taft and Alabaster will get in line, Isosco county will be a county of cities. Of course the effect is to secure a larger representation on the board of supervisors, which is now composed of 24 members. A reform which would be in the best interest of the people would be a bill which would cut the present board to about half its membership.

Many remarkable things appear in the last annual report of the Secretary of Agriculture. The farm products of 1906 had a farm value of $6,830,000,000, half a billion over 1905 and in excess of two billions more than the productions of the census year 1895. Corn remains by far the most valuable crop, estimated at $1,100,000,000, while cotton, the next on the list including seed, was worth to its growers $640,000,000. Thus King Corn knocks out King Cotton and becomes easily "monarch of all he surveys." Hay is third at $600,000,000 wheat, $450,000,000; oats, $300,000,000; potatoes, $150,000,000.

Instead of law taxing imports of lumber, we should have a law prohibiting the cutting of timber for lumber for a series of years. Then repeal that paragraph of the tariff relating to the subject and encourage our people to buy lumber from Canada as long as she was willing to sell. She would be the loser, we the gainer. Of course we must have lumber and much of it, but at the rate we are going now all our valuable timber will be practically destroyed in twenty-five years! Then what? The prospect is appalling and means a national calamity of frightful proportions. We will then be compelled to buy abroad at high prices. Better begin now and save our forests as long as possible.—American Farmer

Notwithstanding the liberal increases of salaries made by the present congress, including $2,500 a year each for themselves, we have heard nothing of the bill introduced to increase the pay of the men in the U. S. life saving service. There is no class of men in the service of the government who are entitled to more consideration or an increase in pay at the present time than those who are engaged in looking to the safety of those "who go down to the seas in ships." These men not only take their lives in their hands when going to the rescue of those endangered by storms, but are exposed to all kinds of weather. Their request for more pay should be granted without further delay.

Hunting for Trouble.

"I've lived in California 20 years, and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, wounds, boils, cuts, sprains, or a case of piles that Bucklen's Arnica Salve won't cure," writes Charles Walters, of Alleghany, Sierra Co. No use hunting Mr. Walters; it cures every case. Guaranteed by G. S. Darling and J. M. Wuggazer & Co. Druggists. 25c.

Tax Sales Graft.

In a talk at the farmer's institute at Grand Rapids last week, C. W. Garfield, a well known republican, attacked the present system of handling lands, denouncing it as "graft" for political purposes. The auditor general's office employs an army of clerks to do useless work, and legislatures permit it, because they can thus pay political obligations by these appointments. Newspapers are subsidized by tax sales, advertising the same lands over and over at 40 cents a description, and thus continues a system of great expense the results of which are an actual damage to the state. Mr. Garfield's idea is that after the lands are skinned by the lumbermen, and allowed to go back to the state, that they remain as state lands, and be utilized for forestry purposes. It is probable, it may be said, in view of past experience, that a new generation might thus be enabled to skin the state out of the lands again, when a new forest had grown, and become the timber barons of the future.—Ionian Standard.

Good Manners Are Business Capital.

We are apt to think that if there is any place where good manners are of little consequence, it is in every day business, where cold calculation so largely takes the place of feeling.

But the truth is that nowhere else are manners of such importance as in every day dealings.

There is no capital and equipment any young man can have in business that will pay him a better dividend than good manners. There is no possible calling for which this does not better fit him.

If he has brains, the world owes him something, but unless he has good manners he will have a hard time collecting it.

Don't make the error of supposing that brains are everything. You may have the best set of brains in the town, but if you haven't also the manners of a gentleman nobody is going to appreciate you.

Did you ever notice that men who employ large forces of intelligent people look at an applicant closely, ask a few seemingly unimportant questions, and employ or dismiss him?

They don't sound his brain depth; they don't obtain his biography; they don't inquire into his social standing; they size him up from his manners and if he is clean gilt on the surface they don't look for gold beneath.

The employer knows that if an applicant's manner strikes him favorably it will also favorably strike people with whom he comes in contact in his work. And nobody knows better than a big business man that a favorable first impression means half the sale.

Your manners are the outward indication of what you are within, in the estimation of most people, and if your manners are disagreeable few will take the trouble to examine you further.

The consensus of general opinion is that the man who goes about with preoccupied quills as his manners hasn't any brains worth bothering about.

Keep Vital Parts Warm.

The importance of keeping one's self warm in vital parts of the body is very imperfectly understood, even in these days of universal enlightenment, says the Washington Star. One of the most vulnerable of these spots is immediately beneath the breast bone, yet the average human of either sex seems blissfully ignorant of the fact, if one may judge by lack of precaution displayed. Wraps and overcoats flung open to the piercing winter winds, with the inadequate protection afforded by the garments worn underneath, invite all manner of pulmonary disorders, all more or less serious.

Perhaps more people take cold through the medium of the feet than in any other way. Not only rheumatism and that most painful of nerve affections, sciatica, are acquired through cold damp feet, but also the more dangerous disorders of the kidneys and abdominal organs. Yet many women go out, even at this season of the year, wearing low shoes and open-work stockings, while the utilitarian if unbecoming rubber overshoe is rarely seen, even in snow time.

For delicate women with a predisposition to neuralgia the unsuspected source of much keen suffering is in the back of the neck. There, at the base of the brain, is one of the most important nerve centers of the human organism, and exposure to a chilling draught often involves a long siege of excruciating pain, and, in some cases, a permanent nerve or brain affection. The less the throat is wrapped up the better, in most instances, but the back of the neck should be kept warm at all costs.

Speaking of Heroism.

There is plenty of heroism in common life. It may be a sort of passive heroism, but it is heroism, just the same.

He who does the hard task with cheerfulness, who shakes hands with hardship as if it were his friend, who bears his burden without complaint, who does drudgery with undaunted spirit—there is something of the hero in him.

No one, unless there is something of this spirit inside of him, can rise above his task and be content. It is the unheroic who allow the task to master them.

And especially heroic stuff is in that man who goes cheerfully to the work that is uncongenial to him.

Morris tells us that art is the expression of a man's joy in his work. And he who faces the work he dislikes to do with cheerful spirit may not be an artist, but he has hero's blood in his veins.

The father who goes to a daily grind that does not fit his taste but who does it joyfully because he can thereby minister to his own, is a hero—commonplace, perhaps—but a hero.

The mother who takes up the drudgery of the household, not because it meets her pleasure but because she finds joy in doing for her loved ones—she is heroic.

Our human nature is full of this heroic action.

On the other hand, he who whines because his task is unfitting and sputters about it for sympathy's sake may get sympathy. But he will not get admiration because he does not deserve it. There is no hero material in him.

In its heart of hearts humanity loves the brave man who fights on to the death and goes down with the colors flying and the drums beating the march. It adores the hero who battles on with broken sword. Only its eyes are not opened to see these things in everyday life.

The glory of a full, high spirited, joyous life under difficulties—and its ending, is voiced by Stevenson—a type of all heroic souls:

"Does not life go down with better grace foaming in full body over a precipice than miserably straggling to an end in sandy deltas?"

Surely. Hold up your chin, brave worker—whichever you may be—that sings at his work, however hard or hateful it may be.

You are doing your work bravely and without complaint and you are one of God's heroes.—Exchange.

No one will make a mistake when they secure the Old Plantation Quartet."

SCHOOL NOTES
MAUDE BAXTER, Editor.
NINA SAWYER, Ass't.
Clarence Fowler is on the sick list.
Martin Wells has returned to school.
Alfred Reinke is a new pupil in the primary.
Ina Baguley visited the high school Monday afternoon.
Laura Risto ranked one in the fourth grade for January.
Nineteen of the second primary ranked 90 or above for January.
The eighth grade have been learning the preamble to the constitution.
The ninth grade welcome their classmate May Murray back to school.
The fifth grade geography class is beginning work on the continent of Asia.
Delia Yax and Elizabeth Jahraus have returned to school. Both were absent as a result of illness.
Byron Mark ranked 1 in the sixth grade for the past month and Catherine Sands in the fifth grade.
The English literature class is studying Addison's works and life. They find his works very interesting.
The fourth grade say that the Jubilee Singers will be by far the best entertainment of the lecture course.
Fred Neuman and Ida Reinke, who until recently attended the German school have entered the third grade.
The second primary are now trying to decide whether they will have a social, a sleighride, or a birthday party, as usual.
Miss Murphy wishes to thank the normal girls for the excellent substitute work in her room during her absence last week.
The fourth grade want a calendar with large figures on it—so large it can be seen across a small school room without squinting.
In the month of special days for school work the third grade can scarcely see how it is to be done, but they do intend to make valentines.
The Madeira vine in the primary room as a result of the severe cold, had not a leaf on three weeks ago. It has grown eight inches in the past four days.
We were informed last week in examination by a boy in the eighth grade, that George Washington was inaugurated president forty years after his death.
Catherine Lansky ranked one in the third grade. She has held this honor four months, though there has been a steady effort to wrest it from her. Attendance and deportment both count when making up rank in class.
The course of study has been changed in the high school room, the ninth grade taking up physical geography in place of physiology and botany in place of zoology, the eleventh grade are taking geometry in place of algebra and both eleventh and twelfth grades are taking American history in the place of English history.
Next Tuesday evening the Old Plantation Quartette will give a Lincoln day concert at the Baptist church. The entertainment will be the best of the season. Don't miss it. Single admission 50 cents. The Old Plantation Quartette and Noah Beilharz both for 65 cents. Practice economy and buy a ticket for the remainder of the course. Concert will begin at 8 o'clock standard time. Doors open at 7:30.
An interesting experiment in osmosis or the passage of water through an animal membrane toward a crystalline solution, was performed by the classes in zoology, physiology and chemistry. The bulb of a thistle tube was filled with molasses, and a piece of animal membrane tied tightly over the open end of the bulb and it was then immersed in a dish of water, and the tube fastened to a stand to hold it erect, water passed through the membrane and the solution rose in the tube 17 inches during the first 24 hours and 41 inches in the next 24 hours making a total rise of 41 inches in 48 hours. Osmotic pressure accounts in part for absorption of food by the villi and capillaries and the rise of sap in trees.

NORMAL DIXIT.
Who knows what M. Y. O. B. stands for.
This is the first week of the second semester.
A lady will neither whisper nor giggle in public.
Be sure and buy a ticket for the normal supper. You can get three for fifty-seven cents and there is luck in odd numbers.

Misses Hottos, O'Brien, Barren and Cox taught in the primary room last week.
We claim to be the youngest and best normal class in the state. Hats off please.
Anyone wanting to hear the Gettysburg address come to the normal room after three o'clock.

The beautiful duet sung by the charming little daughters of Rev. Hart, at the Baptist church last Sunday evening, was much appreciated by the large audience present.

Remember the services at the Baptist church each Sunday morning at 10:30, and in the evening at 7:30; also the prayer and song service each Wednesday evening. All are welcome.

J. W. Grim has sold his furniture business to R. L. Frim, of Midland. The new proprietor will move his family here early in the spring. We wish him success and welcome him to our village.

The school will give a Valentine social at the hall Thursday evening, Feb. 14, to raise money for a library. Lunch will be served. Let everybody come out and aid a good cause. If the library doesn't aid your children it may assist your neighbors.

Revs. Lowe and Hart have circulated a petition this week to have all stores and places of business closed on Sunday, and we are glad to say that it was freely signed. As a result our people will now have to do their shopping during the week. The barber shop is given the privilege of remaining open until 9 a. m. Sunday morning.

Our village was startled Monday night by the cry of fire, at the mill. At first it seemed a hopeless task to save it, but with the prompt aid of our citizens the fire was soon under control. The boiler room was completely destroyed and the boilers damaged. A new boiler room will be built at once and other repairs made so that the mill can be started again as soon as possible. Mr. Featherston desires to sincerely thank all who so promptly responded and cheerfully aided in extinguishing the fire.

SCHOLARLY SCRIBBLINGS.

SHE SPOKE AT LAST

Once upon a time there lived a king who had an immense garden. In the middle of the garden was a pond, in the center of which was a group of fish tailed sea gods, who, sitting upon spouting dolphins, were blowing their shell trumpets. All the world admired this garden. There was only one person whom it did not please. This was the king's young and most beautiful daughter. Those shameless heathen gods frightened her, and she always avoided the garden.

Therefore the king, who loved his daughter above all the world, sent for a young gardener who had traveled through many lands and had seen many splendid things and commanded him to make a new garden in place of the old one. He wished to make a present of it to the princess on her birthday.

The gardener did his best. He dug and chopped, and he planted. Sunshine and rain did their part also, and when the birthday came the gardener stood at the entrance gate and held a salver, on which he offered to the princess the golden keys to the garden. Followed by courtiers and ladies in waiting, the princess then made a tour of the garden.

The heart of the king's daughter leaped within her for joy. She forsook the gravel walk and sprang lightly over the lawn, so that her court ladies had difficulty in keeping up with her. But with measured tread and a frequent shake of the head the court duenna followed the frolicsome young people. A nodding rose-twig had stuck in her powdered hair as she passed. She thought the new garden hideous.

Now, the princess was nearing the spot where the marble basin had formerly had a place. Today there lay a tiny smiling green lake.

"Oh, how charming!" exclaimed the princess, and the ladies repeated the word after her.

Then a dreadful thing happened. A fat green frog which was sitting in the reeds, being disturbed by the rustle of silken garments, made a great jump and plunged into the water so violently that the drops splashed up.

Every one screamed, and the princess sank down, all pale, upon the ground. Now the court duenna hastened her steps and was shocked to see what had happened. Luckily musk and smelling salts were easily found. The fainting girl soon came to herself, but fright had taken away her power of speech. With disturbed faces and shaking with anxiety the ladies in waiting carried her back to the palace.

In honor of the princess the townspeople had decked their houses with greens and gay flags, but when the midday hour chimed they removed all signs of decoration, for Dame Rumor announced that the king's daughter had suddenly become dumb. And unhappily this was no empty hearsay.

The princess had long recovered from her fright. She could eat and drink, but no word passed her lips. She had lost the power of speech.

Physicians came to her side. They caused all the circumstances to be told them, put their heads together and wrote long prescriptions. The patient swallowed obediently drops, pills and powders, but the power of speech did not return.

The whole court was draped in mourning. The old king ordered all the frogs in his kingdom to be killed and set a price of a farthing on the head of every frog, and he threw the gardener into prison. Of what use was it all? The princess remained dumb.

In the meantime the poor gardener was in a sorry plight. But his old mother was still living in the homestead, and she was a clever woman of much experience. When she heard what had happened to her son, she tied up her bundle and wandered off to the king's town. When she arrived there, she betook herself to the prison and implored the turnkey with such moving words that he at last led her into the prison.

The mother and son remained alone together for half an hour. Next day he demanded to be taken before the king. He claimed that he possessed the remedy which would restore the power of speech to the princess.

The princess had been obliged that same day to undergo a great deal. First she had been pricked with red-hot needles by a foreign doctor. At this she had groaned and sobbed, but not a word had she spoken. After that she had been given, at the advice of an old herb doctor, the heart, brain and tongue of a magpie, and this was also quite useless. Now the princess was lying, pale and languid, on a couch, so exhausted that she had closed her eyes. They brought the gardener to her side. His chains were clanking, but he walked erect and seemed in good spirits.

"Try your arts," said the king, "and if you can cure her you shall receive the Order of the Green Crocodile and as much gold as you can carry."

The gardener went to the invalid's couch, made her sit up, which she did willingly, took her little white hand in his and gazed into her tired eyes. "Poor little princess," he then said, "so unhappy and only one and twenty years old."

Then a slight blush covered the princess' countenance, her bosom rose and fell painfully, and from her lips burst the words, "Not yet nineteen."

The power of speech had returned to her. But the king, wept tears of joy, in which the whole court joined him.—From the German.

CONDENSED STORIES.

When Clancy's Horse Failed to Run Up to Expectations.

A noted man in Springfield was Michael Clancy, a contractor, who had become rich. He bought a string of horses and entered them for the Saratoga meet. He raced his horses for the fun of it and rarely bet. One day he had a horse entered that seemed to have so excellent a chance to win that he bet $10 on it.

When the horses got away Clancy stood in the grand stand watching them through his field glasses. Some of his friends, knowing of the $10 bet, crowded about and began to joke him.

"WHERE IS YOUR HORSE NOW?" CLANCY WAS ASKED.

"Where's your horse now?" Clancy was asked.

Clancy surveyed the field carefully. "I can't quite make out," he replied, "whether he is last in the third race or first in the fourth."—Boston Herald.

Never Called Again.

While Senator Hanna as chairman of the national Republican committee was conducting the campaign in 1900 he was greatly annoyed by a man who applied for the position of messenger at the national headquarters. This man had called to see the senator four days in succession to present his application.

After the fourth visit Senator Hanna sent for the man who was then serving as messenger.

"You saw that man who was here just now?" inquired Hanna.

"Yes, sir," said the messenger.

"Do you know what he wants?"

"No, sir."

"Well, he wants your place, and if I see him again he will get it."

Senator Hanna never saw the applicant again.

Placing the Blame.

John Philip Sousa was condemning the voice of a comic opera comedian.

"It is such a voice," he said, smiling, "as belonged to a young man whom I knew in my boyhood in Washington."

"One night at a men's party this young man sang a solo. It was execrable. In the midst of the hideous racket bluff old Squire Baer entered. 'Squire Baer sat down and folded his hands on the knob of his stout stick. He waited patiently till the young man finished. Then he said to him: 'Well, my boy, I don't blame you. You did your best. But if I knew the man who asked you to sing I'd crack him over the head with this club.'—Washington Post.

Neighbors Got Fooled.

"I was literally coughing myself to death, and had become too weak to leave my bed; and neighbors predicted that I would never leave it alive; but they got fooled, for thanks be to God, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It took just four one dollar bottles to completely cure the cough and restore me to good sound health," writes Mrs. Eva Neapher, of Grovetown, Stark Co., Ind. This kind of cough and cold cures, and healer of throat and lungs, is guaranteed by G. S. Darling and J. M. Wug-gazer & Co. druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.
