Everyone should purchase a ticket, as on the financial success of this entertainment depends the securing of a lecture course for next year.

Three hundred years ago this month there was born near Wittenburg, Saxony, Paul Gerhardt, the great Lutheran poet and hymn writer, whose sweet songs are today the most popular with that great church. Next Sunday at the Zion Lutheran church in this city services will be held in his honor. The morning service will be held at 10 o'clock local time, and the evening service at 6:30 local time. Rev. Frederick Seivers the pastor announces special addresses and music for the occasion. This great man wrote poems which have come down through these 300 years under most trying circumstances and the reading of his biography will prove most entertaining and instructive to anyone.

The business man who spends his time complaining about the injury done his business by the mail order house, and yet makes no effort to counteract this injury, can blame no one but himself if the business goes away from him. The mail order houses anticipate the wants of the people, and go after their trade in season. Does the average local merchant do this? Every country newspaper could carry columns of mail order advertising if they so desired. Does the local merchant use these mediums liberally and to an advantage? To meet the liberal advertising of the mail order house successfully the local merchant should quote to his patrons prices that are attractive on goods that are attractive, and in an attractive manner. It is useless to spend your time grumbling because you do not get business. In this day of hustle, you must hustle or get out of business. Sell your goods at a fair profit, let the people know what you have and what your price is, and you will have no time to grumble.

Why This Lethargy.
During these days of rapid commercial advancement we see many towns with less natural advantages than the Tawas making rapid growth and securing new industries, while we are practically standing still. Why is it? Is it because we do not use what talents we have? Is it possible that we are being held back by jealousy? In many of the neighboring towns we see men of small means pooling their capital and organizing small manufacturing industries which are proving good investments and advancing their towns. Others with more capital, are interesting outside capital and building larger industries, with a result that their towns are growing. If this can be accomplished elsewhere, why not here? Is it not time we wake up and do something?

Day after day we see our young men leaving for other cities to secure employment. This should not be. Our towns have good natural resources and are well situated for manufacturing industries. Why should we not have them?

Is it not time to awake to our condition, and get busy?

Harry Force Dead.

The sad news of the death of Harry Force, at Jackson, came as a shock to the many friends of the young man in this vicinity. The deceased is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Force, of Tawas township. He has been in Jackson about three months, being employed in the automobile works. Last Friday he was suddenly attacked with appendicitis and removed to the hospital and operated on that evening. His condition was so serious that his parents were notified and Mr. Force went to Jackson Saturday, and on Tuesday his mother was summoned, but did not arrive until about two hours after his death, which occurred at 7:30 Tuesday evening.

The remains arrived here Wednesday night accompanied by the bereaved parents and younger brother, Lee, and four other young men of Tawas township who are employed in that city, viz: Gordon and Leo Culham, Henry Smith and Elmer Durant. The deceased was born in Tawas township, February 2, 1887, where he grew to young manhood, and was highly respected by a large circle of acquaintances, who extend the kindest sympathy to the bereaved parents and brothers. Besides the parents two brothers, Fred, of Tawas township, and Lee, who is employed at Jackson, survive him. The funeral services will be conducted from the Hemlock Road Baptist church, this Friday, afternoon at 1 o'clock.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., MAR. 8, 1907

Mr. Business Man, are you doing your share toward building up your home town? Are you buying everything at home, or are you doing a little mail order business on the side? Do as you would have others do.

Insurance Commissioner Barry reports that there was more fire insurance written in 1906 in Michigan than in any preceding year, the total being $584,799,389, as against $541,052,000 the year previous. The premiums aggregated $7,108,845 and the losses paid were $3,111,218, leaving a gross profit of 64 per cent to the companies.

It is estimated that during the past year 540,000 tons of tin were produced, as against 463,500 in 1905. This indicates about 12,000,000 boxes of tin plate, requiring about 15,000 tons of pig tin. The production of tin plate for the year has broken all previous records and the consumption has shown even a greater percentage of increase than the output.

State Highway Commissioner Earle goes after the state machine good and hard when he states that the state is paying $100,000 a year for a lot of useless clerks to work on state tax matters who had better be turned loose to work on the farms. Mr. Earle says that the $175,000 being paid for newspapers publishing state tax lists and other expenses in this connection amounts to $500,000, and in return for this expense the state gets about $250,000. This is only one of the ways in which the taxpayers are being fleeced.

The farm still overshadows the mill, the factory, and the workshop in providing exports. For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1906, the surplus exported amounted in value to $976,000,000, the largest ever reached by agricultural exports for this or any other country, and exceeding the export values of 1901, previously the record year. During the last seventeen years the exports of farmers have exceeded the agricultural imports by $6,000,000,000, while all other producers find themselves at the end of the same period with a total on the debtor side of $459,000,000. Thus, it will be seen that the farmer saves the "balance of trade" for this country and is the prime factor of all the prosperity.

One of the nominations made for justice of the supreme court by the democratic convention at Flint last week, appeals most strongly to the Herald editor. Judge John R. Carr, of Cassopolis, is a man whom we have known from our early boyhood, and who we know to be not only an able lawyer but a man of sterling worth. He is a man whose character and kindly ways cannot fail to leave an impression for good on the life of any young man who may be so fortunate as to have known him even slightly. The election of Judge Carr to the supreme court of this state would be a result that any citizen might well be proud of. A man of sterling honesty, clean character, and exceptional legal ability, he has always been found on the side of right, and for the interests of the common people.

For Sale.

House and two lots in Tawas City, good barn and fine flowing well of soft water. Also sw $\frac{1}{2}$ of ne $\frac{1}{2}$, sec 26, town 22, 7e., 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Tawas City, three acres improved, two acres underbrushed and ready for plow. Inquire of Mrs. Jacob Altorfer, Tawas City.

How to Remain Young.

To continue young in health and strength, do as Mrs. N. F. Rowan, McDonough, Ga., did. She says: "Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured me of chronic liver and stomach trouble complicated with such an unhealthy condition of the blood that my skin turned red as flannel. I am now practically 20 years younger than before I took Electric Bitters. I can now do all my work with ease and assist in my husband's store." Guaranteed by G. S. Darling and J. M. Wuggazer & Co. druggists. Price 50c.

Excellent Ticket Named by the Democrats.

In speaking of the nominations made at Flint, by the democratic state convention on Thursday of last week, the republican Detroit Journal says:

The democratic state convention in Flint will go down into history remarkable for several things--enthusiasm under adverse circumstances, temperate utterance, submersion of warring ambitions and excellent judgment in the selection of its candidates for important and responsible state officers. Uniformly they are good nominations, nominations that any citizen of Michigan familiar with the personality and records of the men chosen can indorse irrespective of party lines.

George P. Stone, of Ithaca, and John R. Carr, of Cassopolis, nominees for the state supreme bench, are men who, in the event of election, would unquestionably prove themselves capable of the exacting judicial duties incumbent upon them. The worst, perhaps, that can be said of them is that they do not enjoy a state-wide reputation. But against the career or candidacy of either no hostile criticism can be raised. Both are clean, energetic, forceful citizens, in every respect worthy of the confidence and support of their party.

The nomination for regents of the state university of Woodbridge N. Ferris, of Big Rapids, and Henry A. Harmon, of Detroit, will impress the state at large even more favorably, for the reason that these two men are better known, particularly Prof. Ferris. The professor represents a high type of American citizenship. The democratic party contains no man of stronger personal popularity. Of his sincerity and his ability there can be no doubt. He occupies, moreover, a prominent place in the educational matters of the state. He is singularly fitted by temperament and training for the position for which his party has named him.

Wayne county knows Henry A. Harmon very well, indeed. He is an alumnus that has done his alma mater much credit. He stands today among the leaders of the Detroit bar. He is marked for his standing in his profession and the community and for intellectual gifts. He is a dignified, scholarly and wholly excellent citizen. The democratic party could have made no wiser or more popular selection for the office of regent than Henry A. Harmon. He is held in high esteem among those, regardless of political affiliations, who appreciate the importance of a comprehensive administration for our higher education.

For member of the state board of education Stanley E. Parkill, of Owosso, too is a good choice. He is active in the leadership of his party, widely and favorably known and in every respect is a substantial citizen and an exceptional gentleman.

The New Immigration Law.

The new immigration measure will provide for very exhaustive investigation of many points. Meanwhile, great efforts are going to be made to distribute the newcomers more evenly throughout the country, and to test their fitness for success, particularly in southern agriculture and industry. At present we are receiving immigrants at the rate of considerably more than a million a year, one-quarter of them coming from Italy, another from the races of Austria-Hungary, another from Russia, and the remaining quarter from Germany, Scandinavia, the British Islands and scattered sources. The situation requires the most exhaustive study and analysis. If these new factors that make up the bulk of our immigration should be sifted or restricted in some radical fashion, public opinion will support congress in legislation after the argument has been sustained by a showing of undeniable facts. At present the country is in great need of labor, and a good kind of immigration is welcome. But in the long run our industrial life itself, as well as our social and political institutions, must depend upon the character of American citizenship, and it would be a fearful mistake to bring here classes of people permanently undesirable in vast numbers merely to meet a temporary demand in the labor market. --From "Progress of the World," in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for March.

Farm For Sale.

HIS ABLE DECISION.

Justice as It Was Dealt Out in a Certain Village.

The mayor of a village in a western state, under a law by which the mayor is also police judge, had before him a cattle stealing case.

Two men had stolen two steers and sold them to a butcher in the town for the extremely low price of $37.

Now, the jurisdiction of this mayor-police judge extended in such cases only to the limits of petty larceny, which required that the stolen articles be not of a value of more than $35. Beyond this amount the magistrate had to bind the prisoner or prisoners over to the circuit court, subject to the action of the next session of the grand jury. Likewise, in cases thus beyond his jurisdiction, the judge got no fee, and at this particular time, as at many others, he needed the money.

When the evidence had all been adduced the case was as plain as the proboscis on an elephant seen in profile. The men had stolen the cattle, had sold them for $37. No amount of questioning could make the butcher who had bought them say that it was $34.50 or any other amount short of the originally mentioned sum. Apparently no mayor's fee was in sight.

Then the mayor thus summed up the case:

"We have heard the evidence in this case, and the duty of the court is clear. These men stole the cattle. They sold them for $37. Taking the mere prima facie evidence and the bare letter of the law, it would seem that it was a clear and unmistakable case of grand larceny. But I have decided to allow the two prisoners $4 for driving the cattle in to the market. This reduces the selling price to $33, and I fine the two prisoners each $20 and costs. The court is adjourned."--Chicago News.

His Trouble.

In a small Georgia town live an old negro couple, the support for both being the wife. Uncle Zeke spends most of his time fishing in the brickyard pond, not that he expects to catch any fish, but "des ter hab some harmless 'musement, chile." Aunt Mary takes in washing.

One day one of Aunt Mary's patrons broached the subject to her and suggested that she should not encourage her husband's laziness by supporting him in idleness, but Aunt Mary protested.

"Deed, honey, mah ole man ain't lazy," she declared; "it's des dem scientific notions he dun got when he was a-wuckin' at de college."

"But what have scientific theories got to do with his not working?" the lady demanded.

"Got er whole lot ter do, honey," Aunt Mary said, gathering up her basket. "Yo' see, dem ideas what he got was dat hit wasn't healthy ter wuck after meals, an' he ain't been able ter figger out no way ter 'complish dat, not yet--less he gibs up eatin', an' course he can't do dat."--Philadelphia Ledger.

Distressing Mistake!

Customer--Look here! I bought a bottle of your hair restorer last week, and all I've got for using it is a couple of large bumps on my head.

Hairdresser--Good gracious! I must have given you a bottle of our bust developer in mistake!--London Opinion.

The Literal Victim.

They stood pensively on the platform of the toy railroad station at the beautiful suburb Bensonville.

"I understand you clearly," said the victim. "You told me that the property was but a stone's throw from the station. Where is it?"

"It's just up the road a bit," replied the real estate man.

"But it should be right here. You said a stone's throw."

"Yes." "Now, see here, sir," cried the victim testily, "you know blamed well that a stone can't throw."--Harper's Weekly.

How Long Will It Stay There?

There are times when I am blue, And, you bet, I hate 'em too. There are times when there's no joy in anything.

When dark clouds come 'cross my sky, When I almost want to cry, When I cuss, instead of praise, the birds that sing.

But the sun when I'm busted flat, When I'm realizing that I'm right up against the commonest of woes.

But it's just the other way; There's no night--it's all bright day-- At I only have a dollar in my clothes.

There is nothing quite so sad To one almost always glad Than to know his pockets don't contain a cent.

All his cheerfulness will fade, Into deep despair he'll wade, And he'll wonder where on earth his money went.

But the sun will shine once more, Shine as brightly as before, And he'll feel a tinge of joy clear to his toes.

When the time arrives that he Can dig where his coin should be, And discover he's a dollar in his clothes. --Denver Post.

Many people are now counting the hours when they can leave for some lake or river for an outing, where they can fight mosquitoes and bugs for a few days, and perhaps get drowned. It is a great thing and many of our ancestors lived and died not knowing what a vacation or outing meant.

Mr. Chaffee took charge of the second primary Tuesday morning while the substitute teachers went to the normal room for the Lincoln-Washington program.
The "old" teachers wish to thank the normal for their previous offer of help for the coming year. Wishing the positions filled by the most capable, we were much relieved to read their offer.
The pupils of the fifth and sixth grades remembered Longfellow's birthday last Wednesday, by a guessing contest. Advertisement pictures were prepared representing many of his poems. Great spirit was shown, and the prize was carried off by Byron Mark.
On Wednesday afternoon of last week the pupils of the ward primary were the guests of the central primary pupils. They arrived at about two o'clock and an hour was spent in singing, marching and reciting, all of which was greatly enjoyed. Then the refreshments were served, and it was a question as to which enjoyed this part of the program the most, the squirrels or the children. All of them together ate a bushel basket full of popcorn, and what looked like a bushel basket full of cookies. Eighty-three were served including several visitors. Children seem to like to attend school better nowadays than they did even a few years ago, and the reason is that the teachers know how to make their school life pleasanter and more attractive by just such little enjoyable affairs as took place Wednesday.

Why Do Country Boys Flock to Big Cities?

Most small towns are short of young men. As a rule there are plenty of agreeable girls who would not object to matrimony; there are plenty of old people and enough babies to go around. But the boy—oh, where is he?
The boy, the young man, has gone to the city, where he imagines there are opportunities. To him the old home town is dull and stupid. He sees no future for himself there. Both for social and financial considerations he rushes off to the great city. Very frequently he finds that he is lonelier there than at home—nearly always so; and even more frequently he finds that riches do not grow on ten story walls.
BUT STILL HE GOES TO THE CITY.
In going there the boy simply follows his daddy's dollars. For years his daddy and his mother and his big sister and his Aunt Mary Ann have been mailing their money to the big city for Mail Order bargains.
Result: Home merchants don't thrive, grass grows in the streets, no jobs are to be had, no opening for a new business, and the young man goes to the city because it is a place where people have traded at home and built up their own community and provided opportunities for outsiders as well as for themselves.

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP YOUR BOY AT HOME BUILD UP YOUR TOWN SO THAT HE CAN BUILD UP HIS CAREER AMONG HIS HOME FOLKS.

WHAT IS THE GRANGE?

The Question Answered For Those Not Familiar With the Organization.
With 900,000 members in the United States, it would seem altogether unnecessary to ask or answer the question, but this paper may come under the eye of some one who is not familiar with its aims and principles. The grange is an organization of farmers for their mutual welfare. Among the specific objects named in its declaration of purposes are these: To enhance the comforts and attractions of home; to develop a higher and better manhood and womanhood among ourselves; to further co-operation; to buy less and produce more in order to make our farms self sustaining; to bring producers and consumers, farmers and manufacturers, into the most direct and friendly relations possible. The grange is nonpartisan, yet its principles underlie all true politics and statesmanship. It believes in co-operating in every legitimate manner for its own protection and to enhance its interests.
The Order is called Patrons of Husbandry, and the head of the national grange is Hon. N. J. Bachelder of Concord, N. H. Twenty-eight states have state organizations. Below them are the county organizations, called Pomona granges, and below these are the 8,000 or 9,000 subordinate granges. Meetings are held of these subordinate granges once a month or oftener, where subjects pertaining to the farmers' interests, social, educational and agricultural, are discussed. Women are on an equality with men in the grange, and to them not a little of the wonderful success of the organization is due. Its purpose may be stated in a word or two—to uplift the farmer morally, socially, educationally and materially.

To Our Customers and Prospective Customers

We are glad to tell you that we are buying our Flour and Feed in car lots for spot cash, which will enable us to keep the price of these necessities of life at the lowest price possible. We understand the hardships of people in a new country and we are trying to be of help to you.

We weigh our feed out to you before your eyes, and don't ask you to take a bagful for a hundred pounds because a tag on the bag says so. Our advice is to see your feed weighed wherever you buy. You will also notice a great difference in the quality of feed. We make our own at our feed mill and it is the best.

Our stock of Groceries, Fruits, Vegetables, Baled and Loose Hay is complete. We buy anything you have to sell.
