TO OUR PATRONS.

The Herald has several hundred dollars due on subscription and other accounts. This amount is distributed among many of our patrons and is only a small amount to each. Just at the present time we are very much in need of what is due us and it is impossible for us to see each of these patrons personally, and for this reason we make this request for a remittance thro the columns of the paper. If each of those patrons who are indebted to us will favor us with a prompt remittance it will be of a great help to us at this time. Please attend to this now.

It has fine, well kept up buildings, an excellent orchard and all modern improvements. For years it has been the pride of Mr. Wade but advanced age makes it incumbent on him to retire from active work.

The American League base ball season closed last Saturday and the Detroit Tigers won the championship. The race was the greatest in the history of base ball, the Detroit team winning by outplaying their opponents and making a wonderful record for games won while playing away from home. Tuesday the club began a series with the Chicago club, winners of the National League pennant for the championship of the world. The first game went 12 innings to a 3 to 3 tie. Wednesday the Chicago team won by a score of 3 to 1. Chicago won yesterday by a score of 5 to 1.

James Patterson.

Died, at his home in this city, Saturday morning, October 5, 1907, James Patterson, aged 67 years, nine months, and 15 days. The deceased was born near Adrian, Mich., Jan. 20, 1840. He was united in marriage to Mary M. Scout, at Adrian, August 10, 1862, who with the four children born to them survive him. The children are, Len J., Mrs. Frank B. Stickney and John of this city, and Orville R., of Sturgis. Two brothers, Dr. Robert Patterson, of Holly, and George Patterson, of California, and one sister, Mrs. Frank Whaling, of Kalamazoo, also survive him. The family settled in Cassopolis, in 1866, and came to Tawas City in 1895. He was a member of the Christian church with which he was united in 1880.

James Patterson enlisted in Co. F, 4th Mich. Cav., at Adrian, August 9, 1862, and was discharged July 1, 1865. He was one of the detail who captured Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, at Irwinville, Ga., May 10, 1865. He was a member of G. K. Warren Post G. A. R., of East Tawas.

The funeral was held from the home Monday afternoon, Rev. C. L. Berry officiating. Interment in Tawas City cemetery.

C. E. Convention at Standish.

The annual convention of the 12th district Christian Endeavor Union which was held at Standish last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, though not so largely represented by the societies throughout the district as could have been desired, was nevertheless an enthusiastic and inspiring gathering. The local society had made great preparations for the entertainment of the visiting delegates and their efforts were highly appreciated by those who partook of their hospitality.

The services opened Friday evening with the address of welcome by M. F. Parker and the response by J. E. Ballard. The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. J. A. Dunkel, of Saginaw on the subject, "Sweeping Our Own Dooryard," and was a masterpiece of eloquence, containing many inspiring thoughts.

Saturday forenoon was devoted to the appointment of committees and an excellent paper on the subject, "Is Christian Endeavor Fulfilling Its Mission," by Miss Elsie Chamberlain together with a general discussion of the same.

Saturday afternoon occurred the roll call of societies and presentation of banner to society having largest representation, which was carried away by Tawas City with a delegation of five members. A paper by Miss Mabel Edgar was read and an address was given by Mrs. C. A. Pinkerton, state secretary, who also conducted a very helpful round table. The business session was then held and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—J. H. Nisbet, of Tawas City.
Secretary—Mrs. C. A. Pinkerton, of East Tawas.
Treasurer—M. F. Parker, of Standish.

Vice Presidents—Robert Glazier, of Onaway; Miss Mabel Edgar, of Alpena; Rev. Boice, of Harrisville; L. A. Chichester, of Whittemore; and Miss Elsie Chamberlain, of Standish.

The place of holding the next convention was left to the executive committee, but it was recommended that a more central point be selected.

Saturday evening was taken up with excellent addresses by J. H. Nisbet, district president, and Rev. Todd, of Bay City. At the close of the services a reception was tendered the delegates at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Frost, which was a very enjoyable affair.

The Sunday program was a veritable feast of good things. Rev. Bruske, president of Alma college, preached the convention sermon in the morning on the topic, "The Essential thing in Religion," and also delivered an address in the evening on "Being Mighty in the Scriptures." Both were strong and scholarly addresses and were greatly appreciated by the large audiences who heard them. The afternoon program included short addresses by Rev. Frost, of Standish, Rev. Hood, of Saginaw, and Rev. Todd, of Bay City. The closing service was conducted by Rev. Todd. The music throughout the convention was in charge of Rev. W. H. Hood and was a very pleasing part of the program.

The Ideal Age.

It was a fatal defect of most ancient nations that they placed their golden age in the past. Thus they looked back instead of forward for their highest ideal. Ovid, in his "Metamorphoses," dwells with poetic pathos on the time long gone, when Saturn ruled the world and all was harmonious and happy. The Greek poets had a similar tendency and were always singing of the "has been." The Asiatics generally, the Egyptians and all those people who left a literature constantly preached the doctrine of the "good old times." There will never again be such a happy time as when some particular king reigned or some favorite deity blessed the earth. There was one exception. The Jews always looked forward to a Messiah, under whose benign reign their troubles would end. Their history has been one of misery and misfortune, they had nothing to look back on with pleasure, they had been conquered and over run by foreigners many times, misgoverned by their own rulers and reduced to despair by poverty and slavery. Few understand how great an influence was exercised over this people by this hope, this confidence of a better day coming. It was the principal agent in holding them together, the chief factor in that marvelous solidarity and persistent union which has been pronounced the "miracle of all nations." Other people who based their civilization upon that of the Jews, inherited this invaluable characteristic of looking forward. Their heaven is always in the future. There is something to hope for, something to strive for.

Looking forward means progress. Looking backward means decay. One brings about that most fatal of all states—a condition of arrested development. The greatness and grandeur of the American Union is largely due to the fact that its people never regard their work as finished. They refuse to believe that the best is past. It is beyond. It is behind that star. There are better things ahead than have been passed along the road, an undiscovered El Dorado far richer in gold and precious stones. Thus we see agriculture buoyed up by optimism and all our farmers infected with the spirit of improvement. Other people are content to raise their crops in the same old way from year to year, perfectly satisfied with a living, never dreaming that there can be anything better. The American farmer is ever searching for a better way. He welcomes new inventions, is hospitable to new discoveries, in short is satisfied that the golden age is still to come when he can raise fifty bushels of wheat to the acre and one hundred and fifty bushels of corn where heretofore he has harvested half that amount. He wants better roads, more comfortable houses, all the conveniences and "all the modern improvements." It is this spirit that has pushed him forward to the present condition of unexampled prosperity, while not dissuading him that still better is in store. Thus the ideal age, which is in the distance, is made possible by the very fervency of the determination to attain it. Twentieth century agriculture is great, but poor compared to what the next century will show.

Optimism is an immensely valuable mental quality and to none more so than to farmers. Without it we would stagnate. Fortunately for us we belong to a race which long since ceased to plow with a forked stick, to winnow wheat in a sheet, to sit on the fence watching the procession go by. It is for this reason, based upon knowledge of the American character, that close observers look confidently forward to a time when the Mississippi Valley will be a veritable garden, when every foot of tillable ground will be cultivated like a flower bed, when all the roads will be equal to Pennsylvania Avenue, when every stream will be bridged at the crossings with concrete structures and every residence fit for a king to live in. If the bag of gold is really at the end of the rainbow, the American farmer will find it. If the land of promise is over the mountain, his eyes will sooner or later gaze upon its beautiful vistas. Happy is the land of hope; pitiful the people who sing dolefully of the isle of long ago. Bellamy gave to his beautiful socialistic dream the title of "Looking Backward." The Poet of Progress, like Columbus, sees America across the Atlantic through the Cimmerian darkness of an ignorant age. With his eye in a fine frenzy rolling he catches a glimpse of the celestial choir beckoning him forward to the delights of Valhalla. He sees a new heaven and a new earth, a nation constantly improving and developing, a scene far surpassing all that has gone before and illumined by the gorgeous glories of the aurora borealis.—American Farmer.

What is a Newspaper?

A newspaper is the thing which every person in a town knows how to run except the editor. It is what should be an oven for "roasts" on every one except himself, members of your family and a few of your particular friends, for whom it should be a sweet scented bouquet of praise.

It is a promoter of profanity if it is not on the front porch when you get down in the morning, and what you tell the man who works on it isn't fit to go into a decent person's home.

It is what the young man who borrows it from the saloon bar "kicks" about because it contains only one sporting page and which the woman tells her neighbor when she takes it back is not worth subscribing for because it has but one page devoted to fashions and making currant jam.

It is what the merchant threatens to pull his ad. out of because he cannot have the run of the paper and what the old subscriber declares is going to the demnition bowwows because it is getting so that nothing but advertising can get a position in it any more.

It is what you want to see the editor to keep your name out of as soon as you have settled with the police justice on the morning after and to get your name into as soon as the cards are issued two weeks before.

It is what is just too horrid and inquisitive for anything, and "please keep my name out" when the reporter wishes to know about the bridge whist club and which is the mean old sheet that never gets anything right when your name is omitted from "among those present."

It is what no one ever forgets to condemn for its mistakes and never remembers to praise for the good it accomplishes.

It is a subsidized organ when it fails to tell about the millionaire's wife running away with the coachman and a libelous yellow rag when it reports your police court trial for killing your neighbor's rooster.

It is what is difficult to print so as to suit anybody and which would be nothing but eight pages of blank white paper with a headline if it were published so as to suit everybody.—Binghamton Republican.

Of Practical Interest to Women.

Our regular writer on fashions discusses in the November number of the New Idea Woman's Magazine the subject of fall and winter suits, giving an account of the materials, colors and trimmings in this important department of dress which will be in vogue during the winter of 1907-1908. "The Thanksgiving season is a difficult time for the housekeeper, but the articles on Thanksgiving pies and tarts, the turkey, and the day after, which tells of the use of leftovers when the great feast has come and gone, will make her burdens less. Those who entertain will find "After-Dinner Fun for Thanksgiving Day," "A Progressive Marble Contest," "A Bride's Party," and some "Stunts," brimful of suggestions; "How to Manage Parlor Lectures," contains much practical advice toward a lucrative vocation, and the "New Education in Music" gives an interesting outline of work for a social club. Our regular departments, which every reader looks forward to from month to month, are unusually good for November.

His Dear Old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now eighty three years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affect the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children too, are greatly strengthened by them. Guaranteed also for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by G. S. Darling and Wugger & Co., druggists. 50c.

CASH BUSINESS.

General Public Would be Benefited to Cut Out Credit.

This from the Adrian Telegraph will apply in Tawas City as well as in Adrian: "You may have excellent credit, but every man with whom you do business, unless it is the man who is loaning money and getting interest on the same, would much prefer the cash. Business affairs are shaping themselves very rapidly along the line that shows that more and more business must be done on the cash basis. The store that is selling for cash, that is carrying no bad debts, that is losing nothing by dead-beat accounts, that gets its cash promptly, can sell goods cheaper than the store that loses several hundred dollars a year in bad accounts. It will be a blessing to all humanity when no man, no woman, and no child can run a bill in any store. Then the man who cannot afford to pay the cash, but who might get trusted and run a bill he can never pay, will get a hustle on him and get the money before he buys the goods. It would start an era of economy that would lead to prosperity and benefit all, because every dollar that is kept moving, every dollar that is kept busy, is making for prosperity all the time. It is the busy dollar that makes business. Money makes the mare go, is an old saying, but the cash buyer is the man who makes business hum. Be a cash buyer and you can get better goods for less money than the fellow who is poor pay. Cut out the credit system as fast as possible and it will be a benefit to everybody."

Increases Fees of Jurors.

Among other acts passed by the legislature at its last session was one amending the law relative to fees of grand and petit jurors. Heretofore jurors in attendance in circuit and other courts, have been allowed pay at the rate of $2 per day, but this amount is now increased one-half and will make considerable addition to the burdens of the taxpayers. It will, however, meet the approval of all men who are summoned to serve on juries, especially those who are called away from their business.

The amendment alluded to became operative Sunday, September 27, and is as follows:

Sec. 18.—Each grand and petit juror and each talesman shall be entitled to receive $3 for each day of attendance and $1.50 for each half day, upon any term of the circuit court, or before any court of record, and ten cents for each mile traveled in going and returning by the nearest traveled route, to be paid out of the county treasury by the county, on the certificate or order of the clerk or judge of such court.
