TAWAS CITY, MICH., Nov. 8, 1907

The state law protects squirrels in public parks and in cities. Any one killing squirrels or quail or partridge within the corporation limits is liable to fine and imprisonment.

The papers receiving the state tax printing are unanimous in their opposition to Gov. Warner's third term idea. The things they are saying about the governor sound strange when read in connection with what they said two years ago.

Granite is the bedrock of the world. It is the lowest rock in the earth's crust and shows no signs of animal life. It is from two to ten times as thick as all the other layers of rock combined. No evidences of life, either animal or vegetable, are apparent in granite.

The peat bog furnishes the latest substitute for wood in the manufacture of paper. Paper making from peat on a commercial scale has already begun in Sweden, where a company, capitalized at more than a million dollars, has made extensive purchases of peat bogs and prepared plans for the erection of mills for turning out wrapping paper and paste board.

An exchange says: Small men with small purposes do not help to make a town lively and progressive. The man who never contributes to public enterprise or voluntarily assists in supporting any of the public enterprises is not worth coaxing to remain in a town, and should he decide to move out it is always a matter of congratulation. It's units and no mere ciphers that counts for something. "Be a unit."

Two gold prospectors recently discovered in the Santa Susanna mountains, about 50 miles from Los Angeles, Cal., the largest and most remarkable cave in western America. While looking for indications of gold they found an opening which they entered. The opening led to a great cavern, consisting of many passages, some of them wide, but most of them narrow and lofty. The passages lead into great halls, some an acre in extent, studded with stalagmites and stalactites in some cases so thickly that it is difficult to get through. The walls of one of these halls are covered with rude drawings, some almost obliterated, but others still clear. The drawings represent incidents of the chase, showing Indians on foot pursuing bear, deer and other animals.

Cost of the Panama Canal.

Rep. Tawney estimates that the cost of the Panama canal completed will be $300,000,000, a sum almost double that figured out by congress when the construction of the waterway was determined upon. The original estimate, based on the plans and specifications of experts, was $133,000,000 and this amount was adopted by the government as the probable expenditure that would be required to carry out the undertaking. Thus to carry out the undertaking outside of the amount paid for franchises. Thus far canal bonds to the amount of $77,000,000 have been authorized by congress and the proceeds used for canal work. The commission is now asking for $32,000,000 with which to carry on operations for the year 1908. This will make a total of $109,000,000 expended up to the first of January, 1909. At the present rate of progress the canal will not be completed before the year 1914, while 1915 is the date predicted by those who make allowance for possible delays and obstructions. This leaves from five to six years of work after the next year's budget is provided for. Five years at $30,000,000 a year totals $150,000,000, which added to the $109,000,000 already expended, would make the cost of construction alone approximately $259,000,000. In addition we paid the old Panama company $40,000,000 for its property and franchise rights, and $10,000,000 to the republic of Columbia for our new franchise. This will make the gross price of the canal $309,000,000, based on the above figures.

On the surface it appears that the expense of building the canal is going to be excessive, but this conclusion does not necessarily follow. The cost of a great undertaking of this character, the work and time involved admitting of only rough approximation, is difficult to fix in advance. It would be a great deal more likely to be over than below the estimate. Nearly all public improvements are, and of course the magnitude of the canal work offers that much more leeway for additional expense. However, the people will judge of the "expensiveness" of the project by the use rather than the amount of money required. If the funds are economically, judiciously and honestly applied there will be no complaint about the bill. The nation wants the canal and it will pay for it no matter how much it costs, but there must be no waste, extravagance or graft. These things it will not tolerate.—Saginaw News.

The Transformation in Our Lumber Industry.

A few American citizens are still living who were alive in the days when the Indiana and Ohio pioneers were cutting great clear-grained black walnut, white oak, and hickory logs, piling them and burning them to ashes in order to be rid of them. Farmhouses are still standing in the Ohio Valley whose tenoned frames are of black walnut, and whose roof boards are of wide, clear lumber, such as is now sought for to be made into king's table tops. Black walnut lumber in American commerce is today little more than a memory; white oak in the finer finishing grades is worth half the price of mahogany, and the American vehicle industry is in distress for the lack of hickory. Even in sawmill cities of the present day the lath from the walls of wrecked houses is carefully cleaned and bundled for resale, while half decayed pine logs are sawed into merchantable lumber. Thus in the span of one life the American lumber industry has passed from surfeit to hunger. Such another span promises to carry us from hunger to starvation.—American Review of Reviews for November.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE.

Some Things Which Are Considered Better Than Our Government.

Every man would like to see his government the best kind of government. He would like to feel an absolute confidence in it. He would like to believe that it cared about him, whether he was rich or poor.

This is particularly true of us Americans. We are the pioneers in government for, and by the people. We don't like to think that any other government could have beaten us on any part of our own proposition.

But because we know some things could be improved, sometimes we plan what seem to us pretty fair reforms. We would like to put them into practice if the leaders didn't say, "Oh, you can't do that! It's too radical. It never has been done that way. It sounds good, but it's dangerous."

So things keep on just as they have always been.

But other countries have been going ahead. We want to tell you about one of these countries.

It is the British colony of New Zealand, about 1,000 miles southeast of Australia.

In New Zealand the state owns 3,000 miles of railroads, and has 18 new lines under construction. It charges the lowest possible rates. There is only one privately owned line, and this cannot charge any more than the state does. It owns the entire telephone and telegraph system. There is a government life insurance department, and all the profits go back to the policy holders. The government owns and operates its coal mines, thereby fixing the price charged by private mines. There is a postal savings bank. It has a graduated land and income tax. Incomes of less than $1,500 are untaxed. The government arbitrates strikes. There is an old age pension for worthy citizens. Homesteads cannot be sold or mortgaged for debt. Child labor is prohibited. The state enforces sanitation in its factories, and fixes the hours of labor. These are some of New Zealand's radical methods.

Did you say "paternalism?" Did you say "wild socialistic hobbies?"

Maybe. It is not at all likely that all of New Zealand's experiments would be suited to America and Americans.

"And, after all," you say, "this is not government of and by the people."

No; it isn't, from our standpoint. But when the poor man is out of the hands of the coal trust and the railroad trust and the telegraph and telephone trusts; when he can buy insurance at bottom price, when he can be encouraged to own his home; when the burden of taxation is placed upon those who have the most protection; when the government works to reconcile labor and capital; when child labor is a crime, and when a man cannot be made to toil like a machine—

That is government "for" the people, and the "for" is just as important as the "of" and the "by."

The same thing may be done in different ways; but what concerns us is results.—Soo News.

The Michigan Farmer's Magazine Section.

With the same spirit of advancement, the publishers of the Michigan Farmer, Detroit, have shown in the past, they are now furnishing with the regular issue of their farm paper, a very interesting magazine section. Although the average of 8 pages a week additional of high priced matter on good paper will be a heavy additional expense, the publishers believe that the increased satisfaction and popularity will more than make up in new subscribers the required outlay without advancing their price for the magazine section.

The magazine section will be made up of literature, stories, poetry, history and information. The farm boy and girl, scientific and mechanical matter that will be interesting to all members of the farmer's family.

We congratulate the publishers of the Farmer in being the leaders of the agricultural press in supplying the farmers and their families practical quantities of a variety of reading to meet all their wants.

The publishers will send a sample copy of their paper, including this magazine section, free on request. Subscriptions to the Michigan Farmer at 75 cents a year, $1.20 for 2 years, or $1.50 for 3 years, accepted at this office, or in combination with this paper a year each for only $2.00.

Value of the Native Cow.

One of the most notable changes that altered conditions have caused is seen in the character of the dairy herds. When butter instead of milk was king of the dairy, every dairyman sought to grade his herd into rich milkers,—that is, cows partly thoroughbred, whose milk was above the average in fats. Jerseys were the favorites because of the exceeding richness of their yield. To-day, in sections of the country where market milk is a leading product, the native is the most valued dairy cow. A native may be called a mongrel cow, in the best sense of the term. A good specimen has large feed capacity, without tendency toward beef. The feed capacity is an essential, because milk cannot be manufactured without material therefor. One indication of the growth of the dairy industry is the 50,000 increase in the number of dairy cattle in Iowa during 1906. Most of these are natives, although there is also a mixture of good grades,—half thoroughbreds.

The milk industry is perhaps the only industry in the United States which represents investment exceeding $500,000,000 that is not controlled from a central source. Its very nature renders such control impossible. At the same time no industry is more vital in its influence upon the nation's health. This fact is evidenced by the investigation of the milk question being conducted by the government which may and is likely to extend over many months. It is believed that when congress passes a pure milk law it will be sufficiently drastic in its provisions to prove a material aid in hastening the day when pure milk will be a matter of course rather than a matter of conscience.—American Review of Reviews for November.

He Fought at Gettysburg.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., who lost a foot at Gettysburg, writes: "Electric Bitters have done me more good than any medicine I ever took. For several years I had stomach trouble, and paid out much money for medicine to little purpose, until I began taking Electric Bitters. I would not take $500 for what they have done for me." Grand tonic for the aged and for female weakness. Great alterative and body builder; best of all for lame back and weak kidneys. Guaranteed by G. S. Darling and J. E. Dillon, druggists, 50c.

Cole's Hot Blast

WILL SAVE $25.00 IN FUEL THIS WINTER

Cole's Hot Blast is a great value. We sell it under a positive guarantee. It burns soft coal, lignite coal, coke, hard coal, wood or any fuel without any change in the stove. You only need one stove for the entire year, Spring, Fall or dead of Winter. Strikes or coal combines cease to be a terror if you have a Cole's Hot Blast.

Fire Never Out
It is the only stove that keeps the house warm all night and gives the family a warm breakfast room in the morning without kindling a new fire. Guaranteed to hold fire from Saturday night to Monday morning.

Saves the Dollars
If you feel poor it saves half your fuel bill, while giving the above beautiful results. It will even make a ton of cheap slack soft coal, do more work and hold fire better than your neighbor gets out of a ton of hard coal in his $50.00 stove.

Scientific and Air-tight construction throughout. A patented steel collar connects the elbow draft to the stove body and cannot open by action of the fiercest heat. The patented compound hinge on the lower draft cannot warp and the draft door closes air-tight by its own weight. The guaranteed smoke-proof feed door prevents smoke, dust or gas escaping when fuel is put in the stove. Perfect results, therefore, from any fuel. The heavy fire box protects the points where other stoves burn out first, and insures great durability.

Ask to see the patented dustless ash cover for removing ashes. Our method is the only clean way. Cole's Hot Blast makes $5.00 worth of fuel give more heat than $10.00 worth in any other stove. Sold on a positive guarantee. Investigate today.
