NEWS YOU WANT TO KNOW

Brief Items of the Week's Happenings Gleaned Here and There

Spring Song

Sun a-beaming
Overhead;
Brook a-gleaming
In its bed,
Sap a-flowing,
Birds a-singing;
Flowers a-growing;
Such is spring,
Rain a-falling
In a sheet;
Gales a-squalling
Through the fleet,
Hail descending
With a sting;
All these blending—
Such is spring.

Death Was on His Heels.

Jesse P. Morris, of Skippers, Va., had a close call in the spring of 1906. He says: "An attack of pneumonia left me so weak and with such a fearful cough that my friends declared consumption had me, and death was on my heels. Then I was persuaded to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It helped me immediately, and after taking two and a half bottles I was a well man again. I found out that New Discovery is the best remedy for cough and lung disease in all the world." Sold under guarantee at G. S. Darling's and J. E. Dillon's drug stores, at 50c and $1 per bottle. A Twenty Year Sentence.

"I have just completed a 20 year health sentence imposed by Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which cured me of bleeding piles just 20 years ago," writes O. S. Wooley, of LeKaysville N. Y. Bucklen's Arnica Salve heals the worst sores, boils, burns, wounds and cuts in the shortest time. 25c at G. S. Darling's and J. E. Dillon's drug store.

FRIGHTFUL DEGREE OF COLD.

Frost's Intensity Hard for Dwellers in Temperate Climes to Realize.

It is difficult for us to form any conception of the degree of cold represented by the 80 degrees of frost recorded from certain parts of Russia. Sir Leopold McClintock tells how in one of his Arctic expeditions a sailor was foolish enough to do some outdoor work at precisely this temperature. His hands froze and when he rushed into the cabin and plunged one of them into a basin of water so cold was the hand that the water was instantly converted into a block of ice. At 25 degrees, Dr. Kane says, "the mustache and under lip form pendulous beads of dangling ice. Put out your tongue and it instantly freezes to this icy crusting. Your chin has a trick of freezing to your upper jaw by the luting aid of your beard; my eyes have often been so glued as to show that even a wink was unsafe."

Aristocracy.

What subsists to-day by violence continues to-morrow by acquiescence and is perpetuated by tradition; till at last the hoary abuse shakes the gray hairs of antiquity at us and gives itself out as the wisdom of ages. Thus the aristocracy dictates of reason are made to yield to the long succession of follies.

And this is the foundation of the aristocratic system at the present day. Its stronghold, with all those not immediately interested in it, is the reverence of antiquity.—Edward Everett.

Work and Play.

According to the very wisest man that ever lived there is a time to work and a time to play. When working time comes every muscle may be put in motion, every nerve brought into play, every particle of brain force utilized. When resting time arrives, it should be devoted to steering up energy. Rest ought to be complete, absolute. There is no use laying aside one's occupation, unless that signifies cessation of worry and those activities of brain which wear out the body.

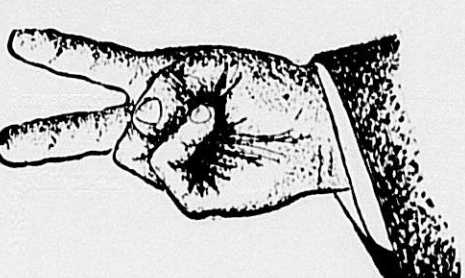

He Got What He Needed.

"Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says C. Farthing of Mill Creek, I. T. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then that my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again, and I have been well ever since." Sold under guarantee at G. S. Darling's and J. E. Dillon's drug stores. 50c.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., APRIL 17, 1908

Seaborn Wright, who, it is said, will be nominated for president by the prohibitionists at their national convention in Columbus, O., July 15, is one of the leading advocates of prohibition in the south...

The Democratic Nominee.

Willis J. Abbott, the well known Michigan man, who is a Washington correspondent writes the following: "Urey Woodson, secretary of the Democratic National committee who is now in Washington says that there is no question whatsoever of the nomination of Mr. Bryan on the first ballot..."

Outside the democracy the opinion is growing day by day that Bryan's nomination will mean democratic victory. The one reason that the New York World, the New York Sun, Thos. F. Ryan, James J. Hill, William F. Sheehan and other servitors of plutocracy are antagonizing Bryan is because they believe he will be elected...

those forces in politics the continuance in power of the republican party is entirely satisfactory. Why? Simply because the republican party stands for special privilege, and whoever may be the president elected will be relied upon to take care of the powers of privilege and of protection.

A Preventive Measure Suggested.

The evidence adduced before the special house committee which is investigating the charges of lobbying in connection with the submarine boat legislation emphasizes the desirability of congress enacting a law establishing a parliamentary bar. As long as persons are permitted to represent interests having legislation before congress and to keep themselves out of sight, or nearly so...

Without the light which is shed upon subjects under consideration by congress by outside parties, the laws of this country would be in a greater mess than they now are.

It is claimed that not one congressman in ten understands subjects upon which he votes and the leaders in most cases obtain their information from interested parties rather than by original research. This is of necessity the case and by no means a reflection upon the personnel of congress.

Corporations pay enormous sums to attorneys to present their cases affecting their interests to the courts and no one questions such employment of distinguished counsel. Why it should be regarded as honorable employment to accept a commission to overthrow the action of congress by demonstrating its unconstitutionality in the courts and on the other hand, employment to prevent congress from enacting unfair or unconstitutional legislation should be frowned upon, is not exactly clear.

For its own sake congress should place practicing before its committees on the same high plane as practicing before the courts. A law requiring the registration of all legislative representatives, together with a statement of the measures in which they were interested, and the stringent enforcement of penalties for failures to register, would do more toward ridding the capital of undesirable citizens than countless so-called investigations.

Not So Worse.

"Thirty days hath September, April, June and November," etc., is a time-honored resource for people who are trying to locate days of the month, and now two Englishmen, Alexander Philip and Robert Pearse, have begun a campaign by introducing into the British parliament a bill for the reform of the calendar.

The theory held by these gentlemen is that the present calendar is annoying in its peculiar irregularities of 30, 31, 28 and 29 days for certain months and their proposition is to place New Year's Day in a class by itself, to be called New Year's Day, 1901, 1910 or 1911, and so on, without reference to any month and then the intercalary day—February 29 every fourth year—is to be designated as Leap Year. Thus it becomes possible to assign the remaining days of the year so that there shall be ninety-one days in each quarter. Losing New Year's Day, January would have but thirty days, July and October would give a day each to February, June would receive a day from May and August would spare a day to September, so that under this arrangement the months' proportion of days would run 30, 30, 31, 30, 30, 31, 30, 30, 31, 30, 30, 31—two thirties and a thirty-one to each quarter.

There is another point in the reformation proposed by Messrs. Philip and Pearse, which is that each day of the month will fall upon the same day of the week year after year, so that a bronze tablet showing days of the month and days of the week upon which they occur will serve forever or during the lifetime of the tablet, the only change necessary being the figures designating the years as they come. This feature, calling down the protests of lithographers, engravers and job printers all over the British Empire will probably kill the bill. And this will also put a quietus upon a long week-end holiday because the plan proposes that Christmas Day shall invariably fall on Monday, thus assuring all English clubs and other employees each year a session of leisure extending on noon on the preceding Saturday to the morning of the following Tuesday.

Agriculture in Public Schools.

Department of agriculture University of Minnesota issues a very attractive announcement of a "Short Course for Teachers" in June. The purpose is to meet the demand for agricultural instruction by educators who wish to prepare themselves to the elements of agriculture in the public schools. This is a good step. Our Agricultural College establishes a chair in this very line, and will doubtless provide soon for a short course. These moves are but another evidence of the sanity of the times. Our high schools that receive so many rural pupils must prepare courses in agriculture, and secure competent instructors. It must be no diluted nature study; but of a sort that will meet the commendation of a broad-gauged, liberal minded, practical and successful farmer father. Many township high schools should be established wherever a good, convenient high school is not at hand, near enough to have the youth live in the country home while taking the high school course. Many a boy has gone plump to the devil by leaving home to live in town while in the "yearly" stage of a high school student. Those legislators who voted down the proposition before the last legislature to provide for payment of tuition of rural pupils by the township, should be called onto the carpet and made to explain why they voted against giving the rural youth a square deal.

About Going West.

"I am a book keeper," writes a correspondent from the Northwest. "I had a position East at a hundred and ten dollars a month. But I read advertisements of this land of opportunity, and came here. Found the labor markets for clerks badly overstocked. Hundreds of Eastern men and women of some education and refinement are coming to this country with only a little money to tide them over until they can find something to do. Their plight is pitiful. Living expenses are very high; a little money is soon gone. The commoner kinds of labor, such as an educated man might turn to in the East in a pinch, are done here by Asiatics, with whom a white man cannot compete."

I am better off than many, for I had a little capital saved up, and now I have a job as night watchman at two dollars a night; but a decent bed costs seventy-five cents. Real-estate boomers will advertise to get people in here, holding out prospects that they can at once find work at high wages. They are worse than patent-medicine advertisements."

Opportunities there are in the West; also bitter problems of food and lodging at high prices, among strangers. The vigorous, young community, chuck-full of confidence and yearning to grow, is a bit too prone to adopt the sure-cure, patent-medicine style of advertising. The advertisers, of course, are persons who have good jobs, and who, naturally, see the situation from that point of view. That there is another point of view from which it may be regarded—West as well as East—our correspondent shows. When you go back West, young man, go not blindly and unprovided.—Saturday Evening Post.

Nuts Take The Place of Meat.

Nuts are rich in food value, and most people make the mistake of eating them after a meal, when they give them indigestion. It would be equally unwise to end the meal by piece of beefsteak or a couple of poached eggs after having been satisfied with salads to begin. Nuts are meat; peanuts, almonds, English walnuts, hazel and hickory nuts are all delicious, and can be used in a variety of ways,—sprinkled over lettuce as a salad, used with rice or with bread in the form of sandwiches, while peanut butter or peanut meal can be used in a variety of ways in a household's planning.—The NEW IDEA WOMAN'S MAGAZINE for May.

The Light in the East.
One must not confuse youth with erudity. To those who fancy Oklahoma the home of picturesque, careless cowboys; of Indians continually seeking the warpath for amusement; of one-story buildings; of laboring stage coaches always in imminent danger of hold-up by masked desperadoes; there is nothing but disappointment. The cowboy there is a business proposition; the Indian is peaceful; the towns are modern and substantial; and the voice of the railroad is heard in the land. It is, in short, a good, hard-working state.—Metropolitan Magazine.

CALL FOR JOHNSON
MAN THE NATION REQUIRES. GAVE HIS NAME TO VEHICLE.
John A. Johnson the Ideal Occupant of the Presidential Chair.
Army Doctor First to See Possibilities of "Duckboard."

As president, Gov. Johnson would have the qualities that might be described as logically and historically needful at this time, representing both in thought and by concrete achievement all of the progressive reforms to which the American people are now thoroughly committed. His personality and his methods are such that, coming into office after the strenuous and even terrifying political and financial experiences of recent years, he would be prepared to hold all that has been gained, restore an era of good feeling and smoothly and comfortably prepare the way for such additional advanced legislation as the times require. In a word, Gov. Johnson is precisely the kind of a leader the nation requires at this time, ready for new legislation to meet new needs, but careful and conservative in his methods. The same confidence-inspiring, vote-getting attributes that have made Gov. Johnson so popular in Minnesota that there is absolutely no question that he could carry the state as the Democratic presidential nominee will make him equally popular with the voters of the nation, once they have an opportunity to become acquainted with the man.

Every political campaign has its individual conditions. It is found in this contest that Gov. Johnson possesses a strength peculiar to him alone and by which he is certain to bring to the Democratic party upwards of a million votes in the middle west that have hitherto been Republican. This condition insures beyond a reasonable doubt victory for Democracy and Gov. Johnson in the following states: Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Montana, Washington and Michigan.

PLATFORM BROAD AND STRONG.
Declarations of Gov. Johnson All Democrats Will Indorse.

"The Man from Minnesota" believes in the "immediate revision of the tariff, to the end that articles now controlled in America by illegal and immoral combinations may be deprived of their tariff power to rob the community. He believes that tariff revision is one of the most important works for the correction of the abuses that are plaguing the country.

He believes that the maintenance of government by the people involves the least interference by federal power with the domestic affairs of the states consistent with efficient national administration.

He believes in the constitution. "For a president," he says, "to go outside the constitution, even to accomplish a beneficent purpose, is to enter the road that leads to the destruction of republics."

He is opposed to the government ownership of railways, by state or nation, but, as his acts show, is a strong believer in just and rigorous regulation.

He is opposed to oversea expansion. He favors "the peaceful consolidation of the continent from Panama to the Arctic circle."

He is opposed to great military establishments, but believes that the size of the American navy must necessarily be determined to some extent by the naval activities of other countries.

He is opposed to ship subsidies. "You can't kill combinations," he says, "but when they come in to crush the business of individuals they must be opposed as evils."

He believes in an income tax.

He believes in the just and equal enforcement of law, and that the observance of the law is an incumbent upon the rich and powerful as upon the poor and weak.

LEADER IN INSURANCE REFORM.
Whole Country Benefited by Action of Gov. Johnson.

Having had some valuable experience in re-organizing a powerful Minnesota insurance company, Gov. Johnson was well prepared to deal with the emergency which arose when the corruption and extravagance of the management of the great national life insurance companies was revealed in 1905. In November of that year, he wrote a letter to President Roosevelt, which placed him in the front rank of national leaders. In this letter the governor suggested a conference of governors and attorney generals to be called by the president at Chicago. The conference was held in the following February and Gov. Johnson, as its chairman and dominant figure, named the famous "committee of fifteen," whose recommendations were embodied in the law in Minnesota and in about a dozen other states.

While the momentous decision recently given by the supreme court in similar cases coming up from North Carolina and Minnesota may have the effect of invalidating some of the railway legislation secured by Gov. Johnson in Minnesota, the fact remains that he has done what he set out to do and secured the enactment of popular and beneficent legislation. If, as now seems probable, the epoch-making decision of the court in large measure transfers railway legislation from the states to the national legislature, it becomes of particular significance that one of the earliest acts of Gov. Johnson's career as a member of the Minnesota legislature was the introduction of a memorial to congress to extend the powers of the interstate commerce commission, a memorial which antedated the extension of those powers by some four years.

GOV. JOHN A. JOHNSON.

LOGICAL STANDARD BEARER OF THE DEMOCRACY.
APPEALS TO THE VOTERS.
In His Name and with the Great Cause Victory is Assured to the Party of the People—Why Court Defeat?

Friends of Governor John A. Johnson of Minnesota have issued a letter and a pamphlet that together constitute an address to the Democrats of the country. Both make a strong appeal to Democrats everywhere to exert themselves to see that the Denver convention shall be a deliberate body that will look the field over and choose a candidate who, while representing modern Democracy, can win at the polls.

The letter, which is signed by Frederick B. Lynch, treasurer of the Minnesota Democratic State Central Committee, who has opened offices in the Grand Pacific hotel, Chicago, is as follows:

Dear Sir: You are a Democrat, and it is because you are a Democrat that this is addressed to you, with the feeling that you will exert yourself to give the party one of the greatest essentials to victory, a strong and acceptable candidate for the presidency.

The Democracy of the nation have for 12 years been losing ground and the belief is general that under the old conditions defeat is certain. For months the party has been drifting toward an autocratic convention, where popular choice is to be subordinate to personal will.

Minnesota Democrats, feeling that party duty transcends individual interest, have had the courage to break away from the drift and offer

Alex. Koch, Tawas City

There are few persons who know how the name of "Duckboard" came to be applied to a vehicle," says a writer. "It was 'way back in the 20s, when the transportation of tools, wares and merchandise was almost entirely by wagon. A Dr. Buck was then in charge of military stores en route to army posts in the south-west. In east Tennessee much difficulty was experienced by reason of the rough roads and there were frequent mishaps, mostly from wagons overturning. Dr. Buck overhauled the outfit and, abandoning the wagon bodies, long boards were set directly on the axles or hung below and the stores were loaded in such a manner that there were no further delays from breakdowns and the stores safely reached their destinations. In special emergency, too, the load could be shifted or taken off in a hurry. Dr. Buck's example was followed, especially when roads were rough, and soon much hauling was done by the use of wheels, axles and boards only. Now we have the duckboard, both in carriage and automobile forms, conforming closely to the original idea, though few suspect the source of it."
