The finest line of new oxfords to be found in the Tawas is at James LaBerge's, East Tawas. His reputation as a reliable shoe dealer is an absolute guarantee as to the quality and style of goods.

We received late for publication last week, an article on the dairy interests of the county which we intended to use this week but it became mislaid and forgotten until too late to put it in type. It will appear next week.

Monday evening a number of friends of Mrs. Parker Morley gave her a pleasant surprise in honor of her birthday anniversary. Cards, music and dancing were enjoyed by all, and she was presented with a handsome berry set as a memento of a very pleasant evening.

If country merchants would only absorb and fully digest the fact that there is no business too small or insignificant or too large and prosperous to be improved by advertising, then there would be far less business done by the large city and other houses which are so largely condemned these days.

We regret to say that some of our subscribers seem not to regard seriously our appeals to pay up, but we must have the money from all subscribers, and when all else fails we will place such accounts with a collecting agency. In the mean time we hope subscribers will do what is fair. If you can't pay all, pay what you can and save yourself trouble and expense.

The Saginaw Valley Steamship Co. have secured the use of the old Emory dock at East Tawas and have had the same put in good condition, and beginning next Monday the steamer Flora will make regular stops at this port. The Flora has been rebuilt and put in first class shape and is making regular trips between Saginaw and Detroit and way ports. This is an arrangement which will be most satisfactory to the people of the Tawas.

The real meaning of the White House conference of governors and other citizens, held on May 13-15, at the invitation of President Roosevelt, is set forth editorially in the June Review of Reviews. Just why the conference was called, and what lines of action were developed are clearly stated. The newspaper reader who may have been more or less confused by the daily reports of the proceedings will find in the Review an illuminating summary of the whole matter.

Favors George A. Prescott.

The Bay City Tribune of Wednesday contains the following good advice to the republicans of Michigan: "Talk as you please, George A. Prescott is to my idea far away the best man in a position to run for the republican nomination for governor."

Frank Sands is visiting at the home of his parents in this city. This is Frank's first visit home since first leaving here nine years ago. He has been spending his time in the far west and appears to have prospered.

The Memorial Day services at the cemetery last Saturday were carried out in a most pleasing and appropriate manner. The exercises by the school children and the short addresses were most fitting of the occasion and were well presented.

The Next Fair.

The directors of the agricultural society met last Monday and completed plans for the next fair to be held Sept. 15th, 16th and 17th. Several important changes were made in the usual program. They decided to make it strictly a county fair even to the extent of confining the horses entered in the races to the county. The races this year will be something of a novelty in that all horses are eligible on the payment of the nominal entry fee of $1.00, and if sufficient entries are secured for each race the races will be trial heats, and the winners will go into final heats. The prizes are very liberal.

This year the premium list has been revised and liberal prizes are offered for exhibits. The various departments have been placed in charge of a director of the society who is expected to be present during the fair and have immediate charge of his department, also to use his best efforts to secure a large list of entries for his department.

Several special features are being arranged for. A baby show with good prizes will be under the immediate supervision of President N. C. Hartingh. A purse will be offered for ball games between the high school teams of the county league, and for a nice list of other sports, such as foot races, jumping etc.

The complete program will be in shape for presentation to the public within a short time. In the meantime it is up to the people of the county to begin preparations to make this year's fair a success. The old cry that "outsiders come in and take all the money" won't go this year. Every dollar of prize money offered is within the reach of the farmers if they can produce the stock, produce, or horses to secure it.

Normal Commencement.

The annual commencement exercises of the Iosco county normal will be held at the court house, Thursday evening, June 11. The class is composed of thirteen young ladies: Edith M. H. Grant, Victoria M. Greene, Josie E. Bristol, Marguerite D. Kinney, Estelle M. Murphy, Minnie Irene Hamner, Gertrude B. Moore, Alice E. Nordstrom, Edith E. Davey, Eva M. Sauve, Cora A. Parker, Beatrice V. McGully, Mary A. Cadorette.

The program is as follows: Invocation Rev. A. A. Griffes
Vocal Solo Eva Sauve
Address Prof. Masselink
Chorus, "Fleeting Days"
Normal Class
Presentation of Diplomas J. A. Campbell

County Field Day.

The annual field day for the schools of the county will be held at AuSable Saturday, June 13, and a fine program is being arranged. It is expected that the base ball championship will have to be settled that day by a game between the East Tawas and AuSable teams.

Arrangements have been completed for a special train to run from this city, leaving here at 7:30 and East Tawas at 7:35 in the morning, and returning to leave AuSable at 6:40 in the evening. Fare for the round trip 50 cents, children under 12 years of age 25 cents. The prospects are that there will be a large attendance from this end of the county.

Baptist Church Notes.

Preaching by the pastor. Regular service Sunday morning followed by observance of the Lord's supper. In the evening the pastor will preach the baccalaureate sermon to the county normal class at the court house. The public is cordially invited.

Is There Sand in Your Bearings?

On some illuminated page it is said that hate means a hot box and sand in the bearings, while love lubricates all the affairs of life. The advice is true down to the very last letter. The man with a dyspeptic soul is more to be pitied than the man with a dyspeptic stomach. He not only suffers internally but he suffers externally, because he wears his unfriendliness on his coat sleeve where he who runs may read—and run away. The man without friends is in a sad predicament as was the man without a country. And in most cases, the fault is all his own.

It doesn't pay to hate. It doesn't pay to cultivate self-concentration which the world may construe into egotism. It doesn't pay to attempt cold exclusiveness. It doesn't pay to be mean. It doesn't pay to be petty. It doesn't pay to be narrow. It doesn't pay to be cold. It doesn't pay to be revengeful. It doesn't pay to be unkind. It doesn't pay to be thoughtless. It doesn't pay to be selfish. It doesn't pay to be pompous. It doesn't pay to be quick tempered. It doesn't pay to be spiteful. It doesn't pay to be curt. It doesn't pay to be unpleasant. It doesn't pay to frown. And the greatest of these is hate; it does not pay to hate.

All these things are poor business from whatever angle they may be viewed. They are poor investments in dollars and cents. But most important of all, they are poor business from the standpoint of friendships—the dearest and most substantial asset which any man can ever annex. We are all prone to err and probably most of all, is the newspaper editor continuously on the brink. We realize that it is dangerous to throw stones from a glass house. And yet, isn't it worth while for all of us to take to heart these sentiments? Isn't it a fact that hate means a hot box and sand in the bearings? And isn't it true that love lubricates all the affairs of life? We all prefer to do business with the gentleman, with cheery fellow who greets us with a friendly nod and a warm address. We all prefer to seek him for a friend. He is the chap we try to overtake and walk with down the street. He is continuously and continually capitalizing his personality.

How is it with you, reader? Is there sand in your bearings? The wheels will soon refuse to turn if you acquire a hot box. When the wheels refuse to turn you stop. When you stop, you slip backwards, because life never stands still when you are on the down-grade. And for it all there is just one remedy. The best thing for a hot box is lubricant. Love is the lubricant of life. Be friendly, be sincere, be charitable—it pays.—Grand Rapids Herald.

Why?

Why do so many wives put on an injured martyr air instead of telling their husbands just what they think, and exerting their own rights and prerogatives?

Why do so many husbands work hard for their wives and families, but never stop from the daily grind to think how that wife might enjoy a little outing, a little dinner occasionally away from her own cooking, a few hours of his company exclusively, or a box of sweet brought home unasked?

Why do many children resent anything their parents say; no matter how it is said with a heart full of love and solicitude for the children's best welfare; and look upon those parents as bores and long to be grown up so that they may escape from them?

Why do so many rich folks look upon their poor relatives as being always on the lookout for favors, and so prevent the poor relatives from giving them little presents or being natural with them?

Why do so many poor relatives look upon their rich relatives as arrogant and purse proud, scarcely admitting any good qualities, and always adding or prefacing any account of their rich relatives' generosity or kindness with: "If I were as rich as he, it would be my delight to do so and so," instead of being appreciative of the kindness?

Why do so many employers say that their clerks are a stupid lot and unworthy of any consideration, and still keep them?

Why do so many employees look with envy upon their employers, and rage over every correction or directing word?

Why do men laugh at woman's lack of business ability, and yet at the same time sneer and speak disrespectfully of any woman who shows that ability?

Why do many persons behave more courteously to outsiders, and treat them more kindly than they do the ones they really love best?

Why does a woman dearly crave to torture the man she loves?

Why does a man try to make the woman he really loves jealous?

When we arrive at the reason for the inequalities thus presented in warped human nature, we will be a long way on the road to the solution of the problem of human frailties.—Selected.

Skeletons.

"Talk of skeletons in household closets!" said Mrs. Isabella Davidson Dailey, of Adrian, at the meeting of the Michigan Woman's Press Association. "There are more ghastly figurative skeletons and odoriferous dead pasts hidden away in the pigeon holes in editorial sanctuaries than even the rapacious hard working LaPorte murderer has buried on her notorious farm."

"While sensations and scoops mean money and business triumph there yet remains a sympathy for humanity in newspaper ethics. Many a home owes its honor and well being, many a father and mother their respectable places in society, many an erring son and daughter their fair names to a newspaper's quiet suppression of facts collected by vigilant reporters. Often when stern justice says turn on the lights, some soft-hearted editor answers 'we will give the poor fool another chance.' After such an instance of good-natured pity nothing can be more amusingly edifying to the easy editor than to overhear his paper berated as 'wishy-washy' and 'slow' when if the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth were published concerning the critic or his friends, a social cyclone would be raised that would make the town ring with excitement and demand for extras enough to swell the lean coffers of the conscientious editor."

Western Prosperity.

The nation's prosperity really rests on farm products. So long as these reach up to the value of former years, approximately $7,500,000,000 in 1907,—this must continue to be so. There has probably never been a time in this generation when such splendid general crop prospects existed as at the beginning of May, and which have continued up to the middle of the month. The empty cars of to-day will all be enlisted to move the wheat, corn, oats, and cotton now seeded.

One strong impression on the traveler in the trans-Mississippi country is the utilization of the waste places of past years. The unsightly desert of to-day is the blossoming orchard of to-morrow, and the irrigation ditch the advance agent of prosperity in manifold forms. Some of the results of irrigation in Texas, which promises to rival Louisiana as a rice-producing state, and in Colorado, where land newly watered commands from $500 to $1000 an acre, and that in bearing orchards from $3000 to $4000 an acre, are marvellous to behold. Western Texas, cleared of mesquite and cultivated for cotton, has witnessed an increase in her annual rainfall of nearly ten inches. The change of climate in the new portions of the country is a study by itself. Nature adapts herself to new conditions and helps those who help themselves.—From "Business Conditions in the West and Southwest," by Charles F. Spence, in the American Review of Reviews for June.

It Can't Be Beat.

The best of all teachers is experience. C. M. Harden, of Silver City, North Carolina, says: "I find Electric Bitters does all that's claimed for it. For stomach, liver and kidney troubles it can't be beat. I have tried it and find it a most excellent medicine." Mr. Harden is right; it's the best of all medicines also for weakness, lame back, and all run down conditions. Best too for chills and malaria. Sold under guarantee at Jas. E. Dillon's and G. S. Darling's drug stores. 50c.

Mail Order

This is a true story, and was told by a prominent and responsible farmer of Southern Minnesota, says the Lakefield (Minn.) Standard:

The farmer, whom we call Mr. Jones, had to go to Chicago on business. Two of his neighbors who heard of the contemplated trip asked him to purchase from a well known catalogue house a fur coat and a cooking stove listed in the catalogue.

Mr. Jones accepted the commission and this is what happened to him as he tells it:

"I used to buy from catalogue houses myself.

"I don't now, for I have learned my lesson. After finishing my business in Chicago, I went to the big building, occupied by Blanks' mail order house. It was an imposing building all right, and I took a special interest in it, for I helped pay for it.

"I told the door man I wanted to buy a fur coat. I was shown to the elevator and was whisked to the forty-eleventh story and was led down a long aisle and shown to a small booth.

"There was nothing in it but a table and a couple of chairs, and I sat down thinking I was to be treated to a drink or a lunch—I wasn't sure which.

"I thought this very thoughtful and considerate of the catalogue people, and waited contentedly, enjoying in the meantime the pleasure of anticipation. After I had anticipated for some time I began to wonder when the drinks were going to arrive and stuck my head out to reconnoiter. An employe noticed me and asked if I had selected what I wanted. I told him I hadn't had the bill of fare yet.

"Why isn't there a catalogue in the booth?" he asked. I then told him I had come to buy a fur coat not books.

"He then politely informed me I could select my coat in the catalogue, pay my money, and the coat would be shipped to me. When I informed him that I wished to see the coat itself he seemed very much surprised. I insisted, however, and after consulting several dignified officials he informed me that, although contrary to custom to show up the goods before the money was in the till, he thought if he would see Mr. So-and-So he might show up a coat. After another free trip in the elevator and more exploring I at last discovered Mr. So-and-So, who was also much surprised when I insisted upon seeing the goods before I paid the money. Right here I began to be a little suspicious of the goods.

"After the coats were shown I didn't wonder that the concern preferred selling from catalogue. They were decidedly off grade—culls I would call them. So I said I'd wait a bit before deciding on the coat, but would like to see a certain stove.

"I was told that this was impossible as all their stoves were at the factory, where they were shipped direct, but I could pick out the one I wanted in the catalogue, pay my money, and the stove would be shipped at once.

"Just to add interest to the experience, I passed a retailer's on my way up State street and saw in this window fur coats of a much better quality than those I'd seen at the mail order house and at the identical same price.

"When I returned home I told my friends this story, and as a result, their local dealer got their money and has been getting it ever since. He gets mine, too.

"When a man's eyes are opened and he begins to buy on the basis of 'show me first,' the mail order houses get no more of his money."—The Sample Case

Best the World Affords.

"It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend Buckner's Arnica Salve," says J. W. Jenkins, of Chapel Hill, N. C. "I am convinced it's the best salve the world affords. It cured a felon on my thumb, and it never fails to heal every sore, burn or wound to which it is applied. 25c. at Jas. E. Dillon's and G. S. Darling's drug stores.

Farm For Sale.

I offer my farm of 120 acres for sale or exchange for property in Tawas City or East Tawas. About 70 acres cleared, two good barns and a house, flowing well, and fair orchard. The farm is a good stock farm or will raise anything if properly put in. Reason for selling, is old age and poor health. Chas. Harris, R. F. D. 2, Tawas city, Mich.

Ganderbone's June Forecast.

(Copyright 1908, by C. H. Rieth.)

It was the seventeenth of June, And great was the convention— The vote was coming pretty soon, And thrilling was the tension.

"Alabama!" cried the clerk, And some there were went dft When a U. S. Marshal showed his head Out in the seething mass and said: "Count 22 for Taft!"

The Cannon men turned pale as ghosts, And the Hughes men gasped for breath—

The men for Fairbanks clung to posts As colorless as death.

"Arkansas!" the clerk exclaimed, And the hall shook fore and aft When a spy postmaster, white of hair, Hopped to the main deck of his chair, And cried "Eighteen for Taft!"

The Fairbanks men exuded groans, And the Cannon men shed tears— And the Hughes men uttered none but moans

That once had uttered cheers. "California!" boomed the clerk, And the whole convention laughed When a revenue collector rose And whistled shrilly through his nose, "Count 20 more for Taft!"

The Hughes men looked at the Cannon men, And they crawled out of their chairs And the Fairbanks fellows joined them when

They pulled their Teddy Bears And they all rushed up on the center stage

As men who had made ready— And when the din and the tumult died, And the dust was settled down inside, The candidate was Teddy.

And when Bill Taft discovered what a mean trick they had played him, he'll shed his coat and go to find the man who has betrayed him. He'll lumber up the White House steps, with each step growing warmer, and Ted will hear him coming, and slip into his armour. They'll spar around the room a bit, and Ted will cry, "See here Bill! I know the whole affair must look all-thunderation queer, Bill; but listen: You'll be named for vice, and when we're both elected, why, I'll resign. You'll get it, Bill—fact is, that I suspected Bryan would defeat you, Bill, which made it necessary for me to head the ticket, Bill, lest everything miscarry.

And Bill will sink into a chair, aware that he has messed it, and will exclaim, "I see it now! By jove I should have guessed it! O, most ungrateful wretch am I, to think that you who made me—my benefactor and my friend—had shamelessly betrayed me!"

Whereat they will embrace and hug As lovers reunited, And Ted will rest on William's breast And softly say, "Delighted!"

June gets its name from Juno, the Roman goddess of marriage. Juno was supposed to see everybody happily married. She was highly qualified to do this, for she herself had married Jupiter, who was a worse runabout than Boni Gould. When the celestial chorus was playing Parnassus, Jupiter hung around the stage door like a Pittsburger. He stirred up more scandal than Tom Platt, and was as bold as Gilmanare Corey. Juno finally avenged herself upon her rivals by turning them into cows, which made Jupiter a cattle king.

The college graduates will hear The Macedonian cry Of Kansas farmers who must get

The wheat out by July. They'll rustle out while yet the lark Is chirruping his matin, And chase the binder round the field Exuding Greek and Latin.

The dinner bell will bring the sage, the scholar and the sycne, and dinner will become a sort of scientific clinic. Astronomer will talk of Mars, of Saturn and of Venice, and Latinists recall a few romances of Silenus. The Junobug will be mentioned as the genus Lachnosterna, and other bugs will speak of land as being terra firma. They'll quarrel, shout and sometimes swear in Arabic and Greek, and now and then a dainty hand will clasp a damask check. And all the while the farmer, full of wondering and doubt, will deeply marvel what the hotel Bill it's all about.

The Anti-Saloon League willing, the 21st will be the longest day of the year. Upon that date the sun will reach the Tropic of Cancer in the northerly declination, and will start south again. On the same day the month will pass out of the influence of Gemini the Twins, and persons born after the 21st need not be afraid. They will not have any. Upon the contrary, the stork will fill only single orders, under the zodiacal sign of Cancer the Crab. Children born under this sign will crawl backward and cry for crapaapple jelly.

The following paper was given by Miss Mary Calorete on Arbor Day on "Influence of School Environment on the Pupils."

By environment is meant all the surroundings which in any way affect the life of the individual. During school years we find that school itself is a large part of the pupils environment.

We can see this with the small children in the kindergarten, in the grades, rural schools or in the student at college, where he is practically in a world apart and is ruled almost absolutely by the college atmosphere and tradition.

No matter if in the kindergarten, rural school or college, we should all strive to make the surroundings not simply sanitary and wholesome, but inspiring so as to stimulate the pupil's intellect.

When locating a school it is important that the surroundings should be the best for the development of culture refinement. After locating the school in a favorable place we should work constantly to better the surroundings. We cannot all have the kind of school we like and located in a beautiful spot but we can work and make the school look well by seeing that everything is neat and in its right place.

The grounds can be made beautiful by planting shrubs, vines and trees where they will look the best. We sometimes see a beautiful school house as far as the building is concerned, but not a sign of a flower, tree or shrub. How much more beautiful it would be with them. And again we see a small school in the country, and in the yard flowers are growing, also trees and shrubs, all being put out by teacher and pupils.

School grounds in the country or city should be an object lesson of beauty in order to teach refinement and make the pupils happy.

When the teacher and pupils work together to make the school surroundings pleasant as well as beautiful, it has an influence of great value on their home lives.

The utter disregard of beauty in school environment was the rule in the near past. We can see this by sketches of former school houses. The surroundings were not certainly the best to lead to the bettering of the pupil's school or home environment.

What is truer than: "The school house with its environment is a symbol of the culture of the community." The school house should be a thing of beauty in order to have the best influence on the pupils.

Beautiful pictures, flowers, a singing bird, good furniture, plenty of light and fresh air which can be had by schools in country or city, tends to lead the pupils to love all that is beautiful.

Although we have advanced a great deal in the bettering of the school environment we still have a great deal to do. In some places we find the school and school side by side. Is this having a good effect upon school environment? We will all answer no, but still many schools are located in said manner and nothing much is said against it compared to the bad influence it has on the pupils.

I have given you an idea of a fitting environment for the young as to the school rooms and will now try and show how progress in school work is increased by such conditions. Next to objects, pictures are most helpful in a school room. Good pictures give delight as well as culture. When we visit a school room and see the portraits of noted men and women we cannot help but see the aid it gives to pupils in studying history or literature.

Pictures that are interesting are the same to us as a story, for when looking at them we seem to picture out the lives of the people or that which is pictured, so also it has a like influence upon the pupils.

How many of the rural schools have pictures of noted men and women? How many schools have not a single picture that would aid the pupils in this way. The pictures should be used as a guide in the requiring of manners and cultivating the imagination.

The libraries in the school rooms should always be kept clean and beautiful and if we see that the pupils do this, at home when handling books they will do the same. Thus we teach neatness and care of everything when using them. The pupils should be taught that "Cleanliness is next to godliness," because the attainment of godliness in everything suggests and favors purity of life.

The efforts to attain this virtue affords a valuable training of the will. They also include a firm resistance to low tendencies in after life, which lurk in human nature and an exercise of the choices and decisions involved in the sturdy virtue of self respect and especially a respect for others.

How to Rid the Place of Rats and Mice.

Get a ten-cent can of concentrated lye and sprinkle it liberally in every rat or mouse run possible. Do this about twice a year.

Rats, as is well known, frequent moist places beneath floors, and their feet are most always moist. As soon as they step on the lye it causes their feet to burn; then they lick their feet, and there is more burn, if they smell of it, there is still more burn, and they immediately emigrate. This I have found far more effective than traps, dogs, cats or poison, and it does as well for mice as rats.

Here is another idea, which, while not original, is of much value, as a little bit of preventative is worth lots of cure. If the farmers will have on hand a few pounds of pulverized sulphur, and sprinkle some over their corn as they are putting it in the cribs, they will have few or no mice or rats in the corn. The sulphur does not affect the corn in the least, even for meal.—W. S. Bair in Farm and Fireside.

The Remedy That Does.

"Dr. King's New Discovery is the remedy that does the healing others promise but fail to perform," says Mrs. E. R. Pierson, of Auburn Center, Pa. "It is curing me of throat and lung trouble of long standing, that other treatments relieved only temporarily. New Discovery is doing me so much good that I feel confident its continued use for a reasonable length of time will restore me to perfect health." This renowned cough and cold remedy and throat and lung healer is sold at Jas. E. Dillon's and G. S. Darling's drug stores. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

DISPLEASES THE OLD TIMERS.

Prejudice Against Power Transmission Through the Mountains.

Cautiously trailing through some shadowy canyon of the Sierras, perhaps with treacherous footing along the bed of a turbulent mountain stream, sheer, crazy walls of rock rising on either side to 60, 80 or 100 feet, from which every vestige of living green has been torn by the spring torrents and above which again mount 300 or 400 feet of steep, forest-clad slopes, the keen eye of hunter or prospector may sometimes light upon two or three wires swinging in a crescent high above the feathered tops of the pines. The span from supporting peak to supporting peak may be 200 or 2,000 feet.

If the explorer is a stranger and unacquainted with the peculiarities of the country his first thought will be of telegraph or telephone. But the old hand knows better and, if a hunter, will probably ejaculate with an oath: "Transmission!"

Water as a Headache Cure.

"The best cure I know of for a headache is to wash your face," said a bright looking man. "Yes, I believe suddenly to cleanse your face with cold water will open up the pores and probably start the blood in circulation, and I know it will relieve you of a headache in a jiffy. I have tried it myself a great many times and have always been successful. There is something in the nature of a stimulant in the cold water treatment that braces me right up. My head when it aches gets hot and throbs, and the water makes it cool and fresh. I have a theory, too, that people don't wash their faces nearly enough, anyhow, in these days of dusty asphalt streets and soft coal smokes. People will be much better off with their pores kept open and clear of all dust and dirt, and there is nothing so good for the skin as soap and water."

Accomplishments.

Every human being must put up with the coldest civility, who has neither the charms of youth nor the wisdom of age. Neither is there the slightest commiseration for decayed accomplishments; no man mourns over the fragments of a dancer, or drops a tear on the relics of musical skill—they are flowers destined to perish; but the decay of great talents is always the subject of solemn pity, and even when their last memorial is over, their ruins and vestiges are regarded with pious affection.—Sidney Smith.

Just Exactly Right.

"I have used Dr. King's New Life Pills for several years, and find them just exactly right," says Mr. A. A. Felton, of Harrisville, N. Y. New Life Pills relieve without the least discomfort. Best remedy for constipation, biliousness and malaria. 25c. at Jas. E. Dillon's and G. S. Darling's drug stores.

SICK PEOPLE SHOULD INVESTIGATE

I Know the Diseases of Both Sexes Like an Open Book. I have Been Curing Them for 49 Years. In fact, My Entire Life Has Been Devoted to Curing Where Others Have Failed.

I Have Changed Hundreds Upon Hundreds of Nervous Wrecks Into Fine, Strong Men and Women. I Accept No Case I Cannot Cure.

ESPECIALLY invite all discouraged and despondent ones who have been treated with a cure to write me fully and frankly about their case. It will cost you nothing to write me, and I will gladly tell you your condition, kindly, honestly—accepting no case that I cannot cure—holding out no false promises. I have spent my whole life in the study and cure of chronic diseases, and my extensive investigation have been blessed by the discovery of many new and rare methods of curing disease. Forty-nine years ago I graduated from the Western Homeopathic Medical College of Cleveland, O., for two years, I read Physion at the Alms Sanatorium, Iowa City. There I spent many long years as a specialist, treating chronic diseases of all kinds with wonderful success, and I am now owner of one of the largest sanitariums in the country, giving my entire time to the treatment of Nervous Diseases of both sexes. I cure the worst forms of Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc.

My long experience in growing cases and my understanding of the different diseases that I treatable me in almost every case to prescribe by mail a perfect, thorough cure. All correspondence in plain envelopes and sacredly confidential.

- I CURE NERVOUS TROUBLES—Weariness, Loss of Vitality in Both Sexes. Whether from excess or overwork, I promptly and positively cure, no matter how long standing.
- I CURE BLOOD POISON—I cure Blood Poison in the first, second and third stages—driving the poison from the system, the taint from the blood; curing pimples, copper spots, sores in the mouth, tumors and ulcers.
- I CURE FITS—Epilepsy, St. Vitus Dance, Paralysis, etc., by striking direct at the cause, restoring the diseased nerves to perfect health.
- I CURE PILES—in 30 days to stay cured and to never return.
- I CURE CONSUMPTION, the Great White Plague, in the first and second stages. Have made a special study of this disease for fifty years. Have cured hundreds given up by home Doctors. Those I cannot treat at home by seeing or by mail, I will take to my Sanitarium, where best of medical skill, nursing and private rooms are given, for Ten Dollars a week.
- I GUARANTEE TO CURE, to stay cured, liquor, morphine, cocaine, nicotine or cigarette habits. Most cases treated at home.

Call and see me or write to either Sanitarium as below.

No matter what disease you are suffering from, write me fully today. I will answer at once, and my advice, which costs you nothing, may be worth hundreds of dollars—life itself—to you. If I cannot cure you I will tell you so. WRITE TODAY.

School closed last Thursday with a picnic at the school house. Six and a half gallons of ice cream and fourteen gallons of lemonade were devoured by the party and all had an enjoyable time, seemingly.

All the pupils of the eighth grade passed in our county examination. They were Anna Pearlman, George Webb and Francis Gardner. The tenth grade also passed with high honors. They were Grant Shattuck, Ida Seefeld and Flora Healy. The eighth and tenth grades will unite in their graduating exercises in the near future.

Decoration Day services were very fittingly carried out under the auspices of the old soldiers. The church was nicely decorated, a large crowd was in attendance and a goodly number went to the cemetery to adorn the graves of loved ones. In the evening a "Camp Fire" was held at the church and many excellent stories were related by the soldiers, which were much enjoyed by all. We sincerely hope that when next Decoration Day comes to hand that we may observe it in as fitting a manner.

A very pleasant time was had at the school picnic in Dist. No. 1, on Thursday, which closed the school for the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Prescott, of Tawas City, entertained several of their friends last Monday on the banks of Silver creek with a picnic. The occasion being the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Prescott.

A lady who understands advertising says: "No lady wishes to be looked upon as a shopping fiend; she does not care to go into a store and have a merchant show all his stock in order to find out whether he keeps what she wishes to purchase and whether the article is sold at a price she can afford. It is much easier and pleasanter to look through the advertisements of a paper than to bore the clerks and waste her own time. Next to the local news items, the advertisements in a paper stating articles for sale with prices, will keep much of the money that goes into the large cities at home."

Farm For Sale.

I offer my farm of 120 acres for sale or exchange for property in Tawas City or East Tawas. About 70 acres cleared, two good barns and a house, flowing well, and fair orchard. The farm is a good stock farm or will raise anything if properly put in. Reason for selling, is old age and poor health. Chas. Harris, R. F. D. 2, Tawas city, Mich.

Hemlock Silvers.

Sandy Parker spent a few days in Alabaster the past week.

Miss Mabel Cox spent Sunday at her home in Tawas City.

The pupils of the Watts school are having examinations this week.

It Can't Be Beat.

The best of all teachers is experience. C. M. Harden, of Silver City, North Carolina, says: "I find Electric Bitters does all that's claimed for it. For stomach, liver and kidney troubles it can't be beat. I have tried it and find it a most excellent medicine." Mr. Harden is right; it's the best of all medicines also for weakness, lame back, and all run down conditions. Best too for chills and malaria. Sold under guarantee at Jas. E. Dillon's and G. S. Darling's drug stores. 50c.

revised version.

The mother of a little four-year-old lad thought that her son should have some religious instruction, so she explained carefully what she thought he would be able to understand about such matters and then taught him the children's prayer. "Now I lay me down to sleep." She said it over and he repeated it after her and then she started to say it again.

"Oh, no, mamma," said the young religious enthusiast; "let's not say that one this time. Let's say, 'Took him by the hind legs and frew him down the stairs.'"

Dealing in Futures.

Clerk (in book store)—That young woman wants to know if we will allow her clergyman's discount on some books.

Proprietor—Is she the wife of a minister?

Clerk—No; but she says she is going to work the leap-year privilege on one next Sunday evening.

ADMIRE NERVE OF FAIR SEX.

Masculine Observer Concedes Their Superiority in One Respect.

"The time I most admire a woman," said the gray-headed man, "is when she tries to get a bill changed. I admire her then for her splendid courage. Give a woman a ten-dollar bill that she wants changed and she will walk unconcernedly into any shop in town and request the proprietor to give her two fives or ten ones or whatever denomination she happens to need. She never offers to buy anything to compensate him for his trouble. I have known my wife to get change from a grocer, a butcher, a druggist, a stationer, a cigar dealer and a florist without spending one cent in their stores. And all those tradesmen were perfect strangers. She simply wanted change and walked in and asked for it.

"Contrast her calm serenity with the disgruntled will of the average man in need of change. He would rather be shot than just ask for it. He will buy something as an excuse for the transaction, even if it is something that he couldn't make use of this side of doomsday and that he has to throw away the minute he turns the corner. In the matter of economy alone it is a pity he can't be as brave as a woman."

Fish Food and National Greatness.

There is not the smallest reason to suppose that a meat-eating nation would be superior either in intellect or physique to a fish-eating one. We as a race were never stronger than when we fed on fish to such an extent that the careful guardian of the newly engaged apprentice commonly inserted a clause in his indentures stipulating that he was not to be required to eat minnow more than three days a week.—London Globe.

Best the World Affords.

"It gives me unbounded pleasure to recommend Ecken's Armae Salve," says J. W. Jenkins, of Chapel Hill, N. C. "I am convinced it's the best salve the world affords.
