While cleaning our gasoline engine Tuesday one of the cylinder rings were broken and we have since been waiting for repairs. This little accident has interfered greatly with the printing of a large amount of job work and forced us to resort to "arm-strong" power to get out this issue of the paper.

During the severe storm Tuesday evening, a fire alarm was turned in caused by a spark from a neighboring chimney blowing under the eaves of John Swartz's house and setting some shavings on fire. The blaze was extinguished without damage, but Mr. Swartz wishes to extend his sincere thanks to all those who so promptly responded to the alarm.

Supervisor Karus, of Baldwin, takes exception to our Baldwin correspondent's statement that there has been "a considerable of a raise" in the valuation of that township this year. The fact is that the raise is only about $2,300 and this amount is distributed over the entire township. But five people visited the board of review and all expressed themselves as satisfied.

"The Outing Club" composed of general, assistant general and district passenger and freight agents of Michigan, have been holding their annual meeting at Tawas Beach since Wednesday. Margaret, wife of George E. Shaw, died at the family home in this city on Thursday evening, June 18. The deceased had been in very poor health for the past year, and her death was not wholly unexpected, although she had been in bed but a couple of days. Margaret Lewis was born in New York State in 1852, and was married to Mr. Shaw about 30 years ago, coming to Tawas City about 26 years ago. Besides the husband four children, George H. A., of Pigeon, Mrs. Martin Weishima, of Grand Rapids, and Miss Clara and Zone of this city, survive her. She was highly respected and leaves a large circle of friends to mourn her death. The funeral was held from St. Joseph's church Monday morning, interment in the Catholic cemetery.

Grover Cleveland Dead.

Former president Grover Cleveland died suddenly at his home, Westland, at Princeton, N. J., at 8:40 Wednesday morning, of heart failure. Mr. Cleveland had been in poor health for some time, and his death came as a shock to the country.

Grover Cleveland was the only living ex-president of the United States, having served two terms, from 1884 to 1888 and from 1892 to 1896. Since his retirement from the presidency he has lived quietly with his family at Princeton.

While Grover Cleveland and many of the leaders of his party did not agree on policies, yet his administration marked him as one of the strongest characters ever occupying that high position and his death is severely mourned by the nation.

Commencement Week.

The sixtieth annual commencement exercises of the Tawas City High School are being held this week at the court house. The class consists of the following five young ladies: Ethel G. Garber, LaVina J. Cox, E. Marguerite Baguley, Evelyn M. Brabant, M. Lucile Smith.

The baccalaureate sermon on Sunday evening, by Rev. J. Spencer Smith, of the M. E. church, was attended by a large and appreciative audience. Mr. Smith's address was a very able effort containing much good thought and advice to the class, and others as well, as to character building.

The court house was filled last evening for the class-day exercises. The commencement exercises will be held this, Friday, evening. The address will be by Prof. S. B. Laird, of the State Normal, at Ypsilanti. Of these services we will have more to say next week.

The Fourth at Sand Lake.

Sand Lake is to be the scene of a monster "Every Body-Fourth-of-July Picnic and Celebration." The citizens of Grant township are making preparations to give a royal reception to their friends who come from the neighboring towns and also to those from a distance. The Grant hall Sunday school will be there in full holiday spirit. The Hemlock road people are already planning swimming matches, boat races, foot races and various other friendly contests of skill and strength. The old men have challenged the young men to a game of base ball. This is a free for all. There will be music and singing, and the boats will be in full commission. It is expected that at the raising of Old Glory, addresses will be made by Supervisor, John L. Frazer, C. A. Curry, Prof. C. B. Chaffee and others. A women's chorus will sing "The Star-Spangled Banner." Miss Elizabeth Hunt is also booked for a patriotic solo. The Sherman boys are especially invited. We are informed that a greased pig is already being "starved up" for the occasion. A Sunday school committee will take charge of coats, parcels and lunch baskets. Sheriff Curry has given assurance that order will be maintained. Good friendly patriotism will be the order of the day.

Wedding Bells.

A pretty church wedding was solemnized last Sunday at the Emanuel Lutheran church in this city, the contracting parties being Miss Ida, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bach, of this city, and John Wuckert, of Saginaw, Rev. C. C. Henning was the officiating clergyman.

After the ceremony the happy couple were given a reception at the home of the brides parents, which was attended by a large number of their friends. They were the recipients of many messages of congratulations from distant friends.

The bride has grown up in our city and has a host of friends who unite with us in extending congratulations for a long and happy wedded life.

The out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Wuckert, Henry and Alik Wuckert, mother and brothers of the groom, of Saginaw, Mr. and Mrs. John Wepper, Will and Alfred List, Mrs. Lena Huffnager, Mrs. Kate Wepper, Mrs. George Wepper, Herman Dummer and Paul Wepper, of Bay City.

Died at the Beach.

Willis G. Van Aulen, of the firm of Bliss & Van Aulen and for many years one of the leading lumbermen of Saginaw Valley and for many years ex-leading citizen of Saginaw, died suddenly Tuesday at Tawas Beach, where he and his family had taken a cottage for the summer. Death resulted from a stroke of paralysis.

The deceased was about 52 years of age and is survived by a wife, three sons and three daughters. The remains were taken to Saginaw Tuesday for interment.

HISTORIAN AN IRRITABLE MAN.

Freeman's Temper Flared Up Over Intellectual Differences.

Freeman, the historian, it was said, was apt to grow irritable over matters of intellectual difference. One day he was at the Macmillans, when the conversation turned upon the subject of Ireland. Mr. Macmillan said that, for his part, he was in favor of granting autonomy.

Whereupon Freeman began to growl at the use of a Greek word.

"Why can't you speak English?" demanded he, "and say home rule, instead of speaking Greek, which you don't know?"

One of the guests flushed with anger and ventured to reprove Freeman, calling his attention to the respect due their host and at the same time paying tribute to Mr. Macmillan's remarkable abilities. But although Freeman did not apologize in so many words, he smoothed the matter over by a humorous repetition of his criticism. Later, some one mentioned to Freeman, "Why can't we call it toe-woe?"

Toadstone.

In Shakespeare's time the belief prevailed in many quarters that the common toad had within its head a stone which possessed extraordinary virtues. Carried about the person, either loose in the pocket or set in a ring or locket, it insured the wearer against many dangers. Even so, adversity, though like the toad, ugly and venomous, carries within itself that which may in the end benefit the one to whom it comes. It may be a blessing in disguise, just as the toad's head upon the "precious jewel."

William Bang fell before entering the door-hall at Alex. McDonald's home in Amherst, Mass., was rung by starting as the bolt entered and went through the house. McDonald's couch was jerked from under him, a shoe was ripped from his daughter's foot as she was left unconscious and the house was set adrift.

Fixed Opposition to Reforms.

The story of the Arkansaw settler who, when asked why he did not repair his roof, replied that when it did not rain he did not need to and that when it did rain he couldn't work at it has been laughed at for half a century.

It carries a moral that illustrates all attempts at repair.

The wrongs that annoy may be borne, for we are accustomed to them and have inured ourselves to their existence. Change, even for the better, breaks up old customs—and human nature is born and bred to a dislike of that which dislikes old habits.

How few among even the advanced thinkers of our age take into account the social element when discussing reforms! They are apt to think that when the argument is made the cause is won. They forget the fixed habit, the settled prejudice, that makes humanity slow to move.

Society is of necessity conservative. All agitation disturbs enjoyment by threatening a change of condition.

The great power in society against reform is the respectability it claims for itself. Respectability is conservative. It conserves all wrongs that have been polished to refinement, although the refinement may in fact be only a shabby veneering and varnish.

The social world sets its face against reform and is potent for mischief. It kills movements in that direction by making them disreputable. The most effective weapon of all in that direction is that of epithet. To call one a crank, if it does not cow the reformer, certainly renders him helpless. Half a century ago to call a man an abolitionist was to consign him to social infamy. Today those who seek to arrest human slavery and gross extortion under form of law are sneered at as socialists.

Immense power against goodness is wielded by society as organized by evil. The gates of hell are golden gates, and the high seats within and all the crowns are reserved for the respectable. The virtues then are not offensive and the vices are gentlemanly and ladylike. A man may steal a loaf of bread, however near starvation, can defraud others of a million and not only hold his social position but win admiration.

We deplore the benighted condition of the dark continent and collect vast sums to convert the heathen, when true honesty and real brotherhood are less known in our midst than in the center of Africa.

Yet, how reform survives both the reformers and its enemies all history tells us.

The treason of one generation is the loyal principle of another.

The crank of today is the hero of the hereafter.

The very stones with which the same masses pelt the martyr to death form an altar at which the same class worships in generations long after.—Soo News.

A State Ticket.

The socialist labor party of Michigan placed a full ticket in nomination at a convention held at Detroit Sunday afternoon. About 30 delegates from different parts of the state were in attendance. The nominations are:

For governor, Archibald A. McInnis, Lansing.

Lieutenant Governor, Sheppard B. Cowles, Sand Lake.

Secretary of State, John A. Ingram, Saginaw.

State treasurer, David Boyd, Bay City.

Auditor general, Thomas H. Grabowski, Lansing.

Commissioner of the state land office, John H. Latta, Williamston.

Attorney general, John H. Johnson, River Rouge; superintendent of public instruction, Chas. H. Nequmyer, Detroit.

Henry Ulbricht and A. B. Latta, of Saginaw, were named presidential electors.

Concerning Crop Reports.

There is no field in which the critic has a better opportunity for the exercise of his talent than in the discrediting of the official crop reports. Every time the authorities make an estimate of the crop conditions, somebody is displeased. In the case of wheat, for instance, it is not uncommon to see the market act temporarily in a manner contrary to the sense of the report. Thus the traders show their contempt for the labored efforts of the crop experts and the thousands of informants.

That the national or the state agricultural department, as the case may be, is "too high" or "too low," is heard immediately after the figures of its statisticians appear. But if the truth were known, it would be found in most cases that the flouter's taunt is dictated by his position on the "long" or the "short" side of the market.

Probably no crop estimate ever has or ever will come closer than a million bushels to the production of wheat, corn, or oats in a big state like Kansas or Missouri. Taking the country as a whole, it may as well be admitted as an impossibility to hit within 10,000,000 bushels of the mark.—Wichita (Kan.) Eagle.

A Grand Family Medicine.

"It gives me pleasure to speak a good word for Electric Bitters," writes Mr. Frank Conlan of No. 436 Houston St., New York. "It's a grand family medicine for dyspepsia and liver complications; while for lame back and weak kidneys it cannot be too highly recommended." Electric Bitters regulate the digestive functions, purify the blood, and impart renewed vigor and vitality to the weak and debilitated of both sexes. Sold under guarantee at James E. Dillon's and G. S. Darling's drug stores. 50c.

Taft was nominated on the first ballot, receiving 704 votes.

Sherman, the nominee for vice president, is now congressman from the Utica, New York district, and for several years has been chairman of the congressional campaign committee. His nomination was made on first ballot, he receiving 817 votes.

Cleaning Silk Fabrics.

"Silk of any kind or color may be cleaned in the following manner," says Woman's Home Companion for July. "For every quart of water to be used in washing a dress, pare and grate one large potato. Put the grated pot into the water, which must be cold and soft; let stand two days without being disturbed in any way, then very carefully pour off the clear liquid from the sediment into a large, convenient vessel, into which dip the pieces of silk up and down.

"Of course, the silk must not be creased by wringing; let it hang and drip nearly dry, then lay it flat on the table, and wipe it first on one side and then on the other. If necessary to press it, do so between flannel with a moderate iron."

Farm For Sale.

I offer my farm of 120 acres for sale or exchange for property in Tawas City or East Tawas. About 70 acres cleared, two good barns and a house, flowing well, and fair orchard. ROMANCE OF BURIED PICTURES.

Long-Hidden Works of Great Artists Strangely Brought to Light.

The romantic story of the picture purchased at a London auction, which on expert examination proved to be painted over a Rembrandt worth $40,000, is curiously reminiscent of the discovery of a Correggio under similar circumstances. A good many years ago two picture restorers, Lovera and Hunterspergh, bought at an art sale in Rome a number of old pictures in order to provide themselves with canvases for repainting. In the division of the spoils Hunterspergh received an indifferent picture of flowers, on which he painted a study of a head. This picture he offered to Lovera, who, on close examination, found that the new ground sealed off and that underneath were traces of a figure painted in a style that denoted the hand of a master. Replacing the scales, and concealing his discovery, he purchased the picture for little more than the value of the canvas. Removing the two grounds he disclosed an exceedingly clever painting by Correggio, which he sold to the earl of Bristol for $7,500.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve Wins.

Tom Moore, of Rural Route 1, Cochran, Ga., writes: "I had a bad sore come on the instep of my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Less than half of a 25 cent box won the day for me by effecting a cure." Sold under guarantee at Jas. E. Dillon's and G. S. Darling's drug stores.

No More Passes.

The provisions of the new railroad law prohibit the issuance of free passes except to employees of the transportation companies. Heretofore the D. & M. Ry. has always furnished transportation to excursion committees, bands, ball teams and drill corps accompanying excursions but under the new law they will be obliged to pay fare. This is an instance where the law adversely affects the Huron Shore picnic association, also the railroad.

Punk.

"When," he asked, "is a plebeid?" "When there isn't any hair on its crust, of course," we answered wearily. "Quite so," he rejoined. "But now tell me what can a fricassee?" "Anything she can get horizon, I suppose," we remarked with asperity. "Yes," he replied. "But not so much as the sea-saw." "But we had fed, so he ambled away."—Columbia Jester.

Thinks It Saved His Life.

Lester M. Nelson, of Naples, Maine, says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years, for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and would no more be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly forty years New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventative of pneumonia, and healer of weak lungs it has no equal. Sold under guarantee at James E. Did you ever think what your ad in the newspaper is doing for you? When you close your store in the evening and go home to your family, not thinking about your business at all, then it is that the paper is being pored over in hundreds of homes—the homes from which your trade is drawn. And there is your ad doing its work silently and surely, and if you have taken pains to make it attractive its work will be more effective. This is repeated over and over again, and is no doubt what caused some writer to call newspaper advertising "a silent drummer."—Attion Ledger.

Yesterday morning there arrived in Au Gres from Toledo, O., a coffin containing the mortal remains of William Bradley, the first white man settler of this section, as he settled here nearly forty years ago. For many years he kept the roadside inn on the bay shore, which was torn down about four years ago, and has not been a resident here for the past fifteen years. Funeral services were held in the Methodist church, and the body was laid away in the private cemetery on the old homestead, under the oaks he may himself have planted.—Au Gres Argus.

It is a matter of congratulation to the bible-studying public of the English speaking world that The Sunday School Times has just made another of its noteworthy "strikes." For thirty years past that journal, recognizing that there is no such commentary on the bible as the Holy Land itself, has made a distinctive feature of its "Oriental Lesson-Lights," as a vital part of its bible study, and has assembled a notable array of writers in that field during this time. And now one who is probably the foremost writer in the world today on oriental life has been engaged to furnish "Oriental Lesson Lights" regularly and exclusively in The Sunday School Times.

George M. Mackie, M. A. D. D., of Beyrout, Syria. Dr. Mackie, of Scotch birth, has been since 1880 a missionary to the Jews and minister of the Anglo-American congregation in Beyrout. He is a graduate of Aberdeen University, which conferred on him his D. D. in 1901. His well-known text book on "Bible Manners and Customs," together with his work in Hastings' Bible Dictionary and elsewhere, have already put bible students under a heavy debt to him. His new work commences in July, and will bring his life-long studies before a still larger audience.

"After doctoring 15 years for chronic indigestion, and spending over two hundred dollars, nothing has done me as much good as Dr. King's New Life Pills. Curious Double Rainbow.

Of a curious double rainbow an observer says in a letter to the London Times: "On March 14 last, while on the voyage between Jamaica and the Isthmus of Panama at 11 a. m., the sun being then nearly in the zenith, a double rainbow of brilliant coloring appeared, forming a complete circle round the sun, the inner bow being some distance from the sun, the outer bow being about an equal distance from the inner. A clear horizon showed no signs of rain. Neither the captain nor any other soul on board had ever seen a similar phenomenon. The outer bow faded gradually away and then the inner bow."

Margaret E. Sangster, in her monthly page in Woman's Home Companion for July, says that the American woman and the simple life are getting too far apart, and she urges the serious-minded women to strive against the luxury-loving tendencies of the age.

APART FROM THEIR FELLOWS.

Peculiar Beliefs Concerning Those Whose Eyebrows Meet.

The person whose eyebrows meet may rest content in the knowledge that he is the possessor of a vigorous constitution. The growth of hair above the nose is as a rule fairly sound proof of good health. That is what the scientists tell you, but the superstitious have much more to say. In the northern part of Aberdeenshire, Scotland, there is a common belief that a "close brood" man, or one whose eyebrows meet, is foredoomed to end a wicked career on the seafoad. This may be compared with the view held in parts of the English midlands that the close-browed person is destined for fame and fortune. On the continent there are several superstitions on this subject. The eyebrows of the gypsies are often formed in this way—a fact which they turn to good account, for in many parts it is believed that the owner of meeting eyebrows is also the possessor of what is called the evil eye, and, therefore, a person whose good will must at all costs be retained. The gypsies, especially in Germany and Austria, use this belief to exact money from the credulous peasants.

Dread of Marble Portraits.

"One peculiarity of human nature that I am reminded of daily," said a sculptor, "is the disinclination of the average man to look upon himself reproduced in marble. The sight strikes him with positive dread. It makes him feel as if he were looking on his own lifeless body. For that reason it is difficult to persuade many persons worth modelling to sit for a sculptor. Frequently I am asked why most of my work is modeled after dead and gone subjects. The answer is that living people refuse to give me a commission. The art of the sculptor differs there from that of the painter. Everybody likes to be painted. The sight of one's face, one's figure, one's clothes in a picture evokes nothing but pleasurable emotions, if well done, but to see one's self carved out of marble produces such an overpowering sense of death that many sensitive persons put off immortalization at the hands of a sculptor until they are really dead."

The Wedding Gift Problem.

When a girl receives over 600 "numerous and costly" wedding gifts, what can she do with them? If she is to live in a flat, there can be no room for a quarter of that number; if she furnishes a big house with them, what becomes of her individual taste? And if she is not to have any particular abiding place, then only the storage warehouse will be benefited. The more popular the bride, and the richer she is, the harder becomes this problem, what to do with one's presents. Cynics say that the Newlyweds should consider themselves lucky to be supplied with wedding and Christmas gifts for their friends for years to come, only care must be taken not to send them their own again.

Long Ways Around in Scotland.

Scotland possesses several other railway anomalies, of which probably the most notable is that of the stations of Mallaig and Kyle, of Lochalsh, which, though only 20 miles apart in a straight line, are separated by no less than 269 miles of rail by the shortest route, viz., Crianlarich, Balquhitter, Perth and Inverness. Yet another Scotch incongruity is that the nearest railway station to the town of Fort Ellen, on the island of Isley, if we except the small local line at Campbelltown, is Ballycastle, in Ireland—London Globe.

DEALT FAIRLY WITH NATIVES.

Writer Denies That Pilgrim Fathers Oppressed the Indians.

Small wits have a fashion of saying that the Pilgrims, on reaching these shores, first fell on their knees and then on the aborigines. The simple fact is, declares Rev. Frederick A. Noble in "The Pilgrims," that these natives of the land were dealt with in a way to meet at once the conditions of justice and mercy to savage tribes and of the safety and growth to Christian colonists. The Pilgrims ministered to the Indians in sickness. They arbitrated their quarrels and lessened jealousies and frictions between tribes. They saw that red men who had been employed by white men to do any kind of work were properly remunerated for their services. Improper advantages were not to be taken of them in trade. When oppressed by cold or threatened by starvation, they made appeals for succor, these untutored savages were never turned unaided from the doors of their civilized neighbors. When discipline was necessary, the Pilgrims knew how to administer it. But justice and kindness were the watchwords which guided them, and which characterized the Pilgrims in their dealings with the Indians. The Indian was helped in every way in which he could be helped. Palfrey says: "The shield of the law was held over him with assiduous solicitude. Whoever could be proved to have wronged him was made to feel that he had a watchful guardian, severe in measures of redress. The hurtful engagements into which he was most liable to be entrapped this law declared to be null from the beginning, and special opportunities for humane and tender treatment of him were generously used."—Youth's Companion.

The Girl with the Forehead.

She is almost extinct. Whether it is that the present browless state is due to a revolutionary movement against the bulking foreheads of transcendental ladies or whether it is that some astute woman who had not been granted a forehead followed the tactics of the fox without a tail, and convinced all her followers that it was needless to be without, the fact remains that hardly one woman in a hundred acknowledges that intellectual area. Consequently to the one woman who does allow you to behold all the lovely lines made by the hair is due the same feeling of gratitude inspired by the woman who doesn't tell you that she had a hundred suitors in her youth.

The Long Lake and South Branch teams played ball last Sunday and the game was forfeited to Long Lake 9 to 0 because the South Branch team quit the game in the last half inning. It looked as though they were afraid to lose the game. The captain claimed that Long Lake was using an illegal bat, but an examination after the game proved that the bat was exactly like those being used by South Branch. Pretty good excuse for South Branch.

NOT IN MUTAGEN.

Caesar was not deficient in a rugged sense of humor.

After he had crossed the Rubicon he said to Calus Simpleximus: "Well, my gloomy friend, what do you think of this business?"

Simpleximus shook his head. "Caesar," he bluntly replied, "I think you are on the wrong side."

The conqueror of Gaul laughed merrily. "That's all right," he cried. "Just before I crossed I had a severe pain, and as I didn't want it on the right side—which might have indicated appendicitis—I crossed to the other side."

And still chuckling he gave orders to encamp for the night.

Girl Was Not Afraid.

After two men had failed to do it, owing to lack of nerve, Miss Ellie Moody of Rupert, near Wilkesbarre, Pa., climbed an 80-foot slender ladder to a windwheel and repaired the wheel.

It was out of order and her father sent his gardeners to fix it. Each climbed about half way up when they lost heart and descended, the high wind shaking the ladder so badly they were frightened.

Miss Moody, who saw them, pushed them aside, daringly climbed the slender ladder herself and calmly descended, cheered by a large number of people who witnessed her feat.

Lightning Magnetizes Rock.

When lightning strikes a rock it makes magnets. Magnetized places, that is, spots attracting iron, like the lodestone, often are noticed in volcanic rocks. They have been ascribed by Folgerhaizer to lightning, but he knew of no magnetized rocks that had been tested before the lightning struck. An instance has now been described. Two investigators had been testing rocks near Mount Etna when, during a September night, lightning fused a telephone wire from which an uninsulated earth wire ran along a basaltic wall which had previously shown a trace of magnetism. Next morning the stones of the wall were strongly magnetized for five inches on both sides of the wire, the polarity indicating that the current passed upwards.
