That confound boy! Of course he's a regular blamed nuisance with all his noise and confusion. But the baby likes him and so does the dog, even if he does pull his tail and cuff his ears; and he is willing to do anything in the world for you if you ask him in the right way. We guess you'd be pretty lonesome without him. Put the brake on your irritable nerves, and try to reabsorb a little more of the boy's devil-may-care elixir. It is better than any artificial nerve tonic. Put your nerves in tune with your boy's racket and you'll feel a whole lot better.

The little steamer City of Baltimore went ashore at Point Lookout during the storm Wednesday morning and will undoubtedly be a total loss. The crew escaped.

Miller Bros. 101 Ranch Wild West was greeted by a big crowd Tuesday and gave a most satisfactory reproduction of the real life in the west. It is an entertainment of real merit.

There is more good wholesome fun in the comedy-drama Alvin Joslin, than any other rural comedy before the public. It is free of all objectional features and can be enjoyed by all classes, and will be presented by one of the best companies on the road at the East Tawas opera house, Friday evening, Aug. 21. Admission 10, 20 and 30 cents.

L. G. Dafoe, of Alpena, candidate for the republican nomination for congress, was in the Tawas Tuesday, and took advantage of the crowd to get in a lot of good work in the interest of his candidacy. Mr. Dafoe says that the consistency of some of the anti-Warner men is at least amusing. They oppose Warner on the ground that it is a bad policy to give a man the third term, and at the same time are demanding even a fourth term for Congressman Loud and other officials.

Burdett M. Garfield, who for seven years was one of the prominent managers of Crystal Beach, and who left that company at the close of last season to accept the management of "Buster Brown," controlled by a big New York theatrical company, dropped into Buffalo last evening from Chicago. Mr. Garfield has proved to be one of the most successful theatrical managers on the road, which is not at all surprising to those who know his hustling ability. He has become owner of three different attractions for next year and will look after his own interests.—Buffalo Enquirer.

Lost Child.

Last Saturday afternoon the little three-years-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Oates, who reside about four miles below Alaraster, near the county line, disappeared and at the last reports no trace of the child had been found. The little one had been playing with the two other children of the family within a half hour of the time he was missed, but notwithstanding the careful search by the neighbors no trace him could be found. Searching parties were out all Saturday night and Sunday but their efforts were in vain. Monday Sheriff Glasure, of Arenac county, was notified and the search has been continued without avail. There is much speculation as to whether the child was stolen or wandered away. The country around is sparsely settled and wild.

Are You Hit?

There are state laws which need refreshing sometimes. For instance, in Michigan we have laws which regulate abnoxious weeds. We regret to say that there is undue lack of attention to this regulation by some residents of this city. Read it, may be it strikes you: "It shall be the duty of every owner, occupant or person having charge of lands, in this state, to cut down or cause to be cut down, all the Canada thistles, milk weed or other noxious weeds growing therein, in each and every year so often as shall be sufficient to prevent said Canada thistles, milk weed or other noxious weeds going to seed; and if any owner, occupant or person having charge of such lands, shall knowingly suffer Canada thistles, milk weed or other noxious weeds to grow thereon, and the same to ripen so to cause or endanger the spread thereof, he shall on conviction be punished by a fine of ten dollars together with the cost of prosecution, and in default of payment of the same be imprisoned in the county where the land is situated for a period not exceeding twenty days."

Teachers examinations.

The following is the schedule of examinations for Isoco county for 1908, to be held at Tawas City, October 15-16. Reading, "The Raven.—Poe.

O. T. M. M., are all especially rendered, and we sincerely thank you all.

Why James Lee Got Well.

Everybody in Zanesville, O., knows Mrs. Mary Lee of rural route 8. She writes: "My husband, James Lee, firmly believes he owes his life to the use of Dr. King's New Discovery. His lungs were so severely affected that consumption seemed inevitable, when a friend recommended New Discovery. We tried it, and its use has restored him to perfect health." Dr. King's New Discovery is the king of throat and lung remedies. For coughs and colds it has no equal. The first dose gives relief. Try it! Sold under guarantee at Jas. E. Dillon's and G. S. ## The Railroad Death Roll.

Imports and exports rise and fall; bank deposits shrink and swell, but the army of the killed and maimed on American railroads keeps steadily growing. In the fiscal year 1907, for which the Interstate Commerce has just given us the figures, the muster of the slain footed up to 11,889, and of all wounded to 111,016. Together they made an army of 122,905—over seventeen thousand more than the entire organized militia of the United States. There were 1,221 more killed in 1907 than in 1906, and 13,310 more injured. Somebody was killed or wounded, on an average, once every four minutes and a quarter, night and day, throughout the year. One trainman out of every 125 employed was killed, and one of every eight employed was wounded. At this rate every man working on a railroad train would be killed or wounded at some time within eight years. As usual, "trespassers" are the most lavish contributors to the death roll. Instead of losing one life to every 21 persons injured, as the case of passengers, they actually lost more in killed than in wounded—5,612 to 5,512.

In 1906, had as the record for that year was, a passenger took only one chance out of 2,222,691 of being killed and one out of 74,131 of being injured. But in 1907 his chances of death had gone up to one in 1,432,631, and of injury to one in 67,012. He could travel 70,103,735 miles in 1906 before losing his life, but in 1907 45,440,263 miles would finish him. At this time, of course, the railroads were still overcrowded with business. We shall have to wait for the returns for 1908 to see whether greater safety has helped to compensate for idle cars.—Colliers Weekly.

Democratic Prospects Bright.

Not the least significant feature of the early stage of the campaign, is the growing number of flattering assurances that come to Mr. Bryan from all parts of the country. Not a day passes that the Democratic nominee does not receive word of encouragement from influential and prominent citizens of various states. Men who have been conspicuous by their inactivity in politics for years, but who still occupy high positions in the public confidence, travel to Lincoln personally or writes Mr. Bryan to tell him that they are going to give the ticket their hearty support.

Many of these expressions—in fact the most of them come from states which are doubtful and in which the real battle of the election will be fought out. States which were republican in the last three presidential contests are regarded by these men as already doubtful, with excellent chances for them in the democratic column this year. A few weeks ago, before the nominations were made, it was taken for granted that Kansas, Iowa, Illinois, and other western states were incontestably republican. New York did look not promising to the democrats, nor did New Jersey and other eastern commonwealths. Today the whole situation is changed. The democrats have every reason for believing, from reports these states furnish and from the activity of their leading party men, that they stand a good show of carrying them, while the old doubtful state of Indiana is regarded as safely democratic.

The meaning of these signs is that democrats are confident and reunited. They are entering this campaign to win—not for the mere sake of victory, but because they sincerely believe they have the sympathy of the thinking voters and that the party's principles have the indorsement of the nation. They are planning a dignified and aggressive campaign, the favorable prospects of which are brightening every day.—Saginaw News.

Earnings and Expenses.

The persistent claim of President Ripley of the Santa Fe, and of Vice President Brown, of the New York Central, that freight charges must be increased or the wages of the railway employees reduced is somewhat amazing in the light of the official figures of the increase in earnings shown by the railroads during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908, over the earnings of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907.

President Ripley plainly told the Chicago Association of Commerce that freight rates would have to go up because the railroads needed the money. Vice President Brown told the Chicago Shippers Association that freight rates must go up or railway employees suffer a cut in wages. The dominant note in each address plainly implied that the railroads were the masters of the situation, with no redress on the part of shipper or receiver.

When it is considered that the report of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908, shows that the railroads increased their revenue $54,573,760; over the preceding fiscal year; their revenue from the mails $3,007,511; their revenue from companies $6,332,001; their net earnings from other sources $51,771,868, and with their net earnings per mile of road operated rising from $3,189, in 1905, to $3,548, in 1907, and to $3,686 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908, and, finally when it is considered that the official figures show an allotment of $449,461,188 as available for surplus, the plea that "freight rates must go up because the railroads need the money" becomes a plea bordering on the ridiculous, and so does the threat of Vice President Brown.

There is but one solution of the question of transportation—but one remedy for the arbitrary actions of the railroads. That solution and that remedy are in the improvement of the waterways of the country. With their improvement on the policy of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, embodying a fixed and definite plan, continuous in its operations and with annual appropriations for the work, adequate in amount there would come not only continuous and cheap avenues of transportation but a freight regulator which not even railways of the country could defy, while producer, shipper and receiver would reap the benefits.—Cheboygan Democrat.

Abusing Bryan.

One thing about the presidential campaign is already conspicuous, namely the evident intended to discredit William J. Bryan, to misrepresent him, to deride him, to picture him in caricature, to call him names to assert that he is dangerous, to repeat that he cannot be elected, in short, to defeat him by fair means or foul, but to beat him somehow. Every issue of every republican newspaper justifies these statements. Few of Mr. Bryan's opponents are fair Mr. Bryan's deserves more considerate treatment. A man who can by the force of his own strong personality in opposition to the entire capitalistic press of the country, secure a third nomination for the presidency is a remarkable personage, possessing to a wonderful degree the confidence of his fellow men. How could he triumph otherwise? As the choice of an overwhelming majority of the second largest political organization in the world after more than twelve years conspicuous in the public eye, Mr. Bryan is entitled to be looked upon as a man of exceptional strength and statesman-like qualities. He may not represent the views of a majority of the voters of the United States, but we think he does even more accurately than any of the six candidates now opposing him. At all events, we know very nearly just what his views are, and that he would be president in person, and not a proxy.—Lansing Journal.

Mr. Taft's Speech.

Mr. Taft's speech of acceptance is a disappointment. One of the noticeable features of the speech was Mr. Taft's effort to amend the republican platform, and his advocacy of policies that were voted on, and voted down, in the republican convention at Chicago, that nominated Mr. Taft.

The second noticeable feature in the speech of acceptance was Mr. Taft's advocacy of democratic policies adopted at the Denver democratic convention that nominated Mr. Bryan; and after he copied what he wanted, out of the democratic platform, then he took a few kicks at the democratic platform, and pronounced it a bum document!

For instance, Mr. Taft says he is in favor of "publicity of campaign contribution." This proposition was voted upon, and voted down, in the Chicago convention, by vote of 880 to 94, at the ratio of nearly 16 to 1. Therefore, there is nothing about "publicity of campaign contributions" in the republican platform; but there is something about it in the democratic platform. If Mr. Taft is in harmony with the Chicago platform, why does he favor a "democratic policy" that was condemned by the Chicago convention?

There are a few planks in the Denver platform, however, that Mr. Taft didn't adopt. He is opposed to guaranteeing protection to bank depositors, except such protection as they have now. And he says, "guaranteeing bank deposits is a dangerous policy." He failed, however, to assign any reason why depositors should not have more protection.

That bankers are as honest and trustworthy as are any other class of business men in this country, is admitted. It will also be admitted that thousands of bank depositors have lost their earnings and accumulations of a life-time through bank failure.

There are said to be twenty thousand banks, and fifteen millions of depositors in this country. Mr. Taft stands by the 20,000 bankers rather than with the 15,000,000 depositors. Mr. Bryan stands for the protection of both.

The depositors are the bankers' best friends. Without depositors, banks could not do any banking business.

The government will not trust the bankers for anything without security; the bankers will not trust one another; but Mr. Taft says the depositors can safely entrust their money to the honesty of the bankers without further security. But no banker will lend a hundred dollars to a farmer, taking the farmer's honesty for his security. The banker must have further security for his loans. Mr. Taft says to secure deposits would be dangerous! Dangerous to what? Perhaps he means dangerous to the banking business! He did not say that it would be dangerous to the depositors' business.

Mr. Taft is also opposed to an income tax. And he is not in favor of the election of United States senators by popular vote of the people. We are inclined to believe that Mr. Taft's letter of acceptance will be one of Mr. Bryan's most valuable campaign documents.—Alpena Argus.

Lemuel Grant Dafeo.

Lemuel Grant Dafeo of Alpena, is one of the foremost candidates for congress for this, tenth congressional district. Mr. Dafeo is getting over the district at a rapid rate, making many friends and votes. His past record shows he has made good in every public office he has held, and if he should be elected to congress, we have no hesitancy in predicting that he will be favorably heard from by his constituents in this district. A vote for Mr. Dafeo at the primaries in September, will be for a candidate who will represent and work for the interests of the tenth district.—Turner Tribune, Aug. 7, 1908.

ALPENA COUNTY'S CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

His Ability and Aggressiveness Would Make Him a Good Representative.

In presenting L. G. Dafoe as a candidate for the nomination for congress, the republicans of Alpena county present a gentleman who has had a ripe experience in public business and in dealings with men of affairs.

Having engaged at an early age in life in the practice of the law, and having an interest and liking for politics, he soon became identified as a worker, counselor and leader.

Mr. Dafoe is 51 years old—the best years of a man's life and 45 of these years have been lived in Alpena county.

The practice of his profession has called him into many of the counties of the district, so that he is as well known to those people as he is to the people of his own county, where as a boy he followed the "state" roads, ran away from school, thrashed and got thrashed by the other fellow, according to muscular measurement and development, finally rounding out his school life by graduating from the law department of the state university and settling down in his home city to take and give the hard knocks that are the accompaniments of an active and aggressive and professional business life.

Engaged as he has been in the practice of law throughout a considerable portion of the district, he has come to know and understand the needs of the district as well as any other man in the state, and the legislative experience which he has had especially equips him to guard the interests of the district and secure the things which it is in the most need of, as well as any man in the district. Mr. Dafoe stands not only for the improvement of the harbors which is as important as it is necessary, but he is one of the pioneer advocates of the establishing and maintaining of public highways in Michigan as well as other states of the union. This is an issue that is of vital interest everywhere to the farming industry in the world, but an industry that has too often and too long been neglected by the national law makers.

Basing our opinion on the success which Mr. Dafoe has won for himself, it is not putting it too strong to say that, if nominated and elected, he will make an able representative for the district.

Mr. Dafoe has been a state representative, was a delegate to the republican national convention in 1904, postmaster of the city eight years, a leader for years in the state and national league of republican clubs, and a member of the party organization for years. Aside from these he has held positions of responsibility and trust, and we can say to those who do not know him so well as those who are his neighbors, that he has rendered a satisfactory account of every place in which he has been elected or appointed to fill.

If the people of the tenth district can secure the services of Mr. Dafoe in congress we believe the interests of the district and state will be carefully conserved by that gentleman—Alpena News July 28, 1908.

School Clothing Must Be Practical.

Children's styles must be, of all things, practical, says the September New Idea Woman's Magazine. They must be designed to stand hard wear and frequent laundering. Novelties may not be introduced among the styles which are to do good service on daily journeys to school. Therefore it is that, having once found out the practical value of knickerbocker suits and dresses with body and skirt in one for younger children, and of plaited skirts and simple tucks and gathers for the dresses of the bigger girls, keep to them from one year to the next.

Embroidery is to be much used for trimming this year. This is a sensible decree of fashion. Embroidery is strong and washes well. It is much more serviceable than lace. Effective dresses can be made without any trimming. Where there are several children to be provided with dresses, embroideries would run up the expense of the outfits considerably.

The use of buttons is to be recommended. Very large bones are used, and come in all sorts of fancy shapes. The large pearl and bone ones will be used on the washable dresses. It is quite the custom now for gingham and similar materials to be worn by children during the winter.

Fabric-covered buttons, while not very suitable for washing, do well for the unwashable materials. They are the most inexpensive kind, for the wooden molds which are bought to make them cost very little.

Finally, piping form a satisfactory and effective trimming. They provide the contrasting color which is so desirable for children's dresses. They may be used as the sole trimming, being placed at the edges of bias bands of the material of the dress. They may be used for the introduction of an additional color or shade. But one must be wary of carrying to an extreme the idea of combining several colors; while it is done freely on the dresses of grown-ups, it is less suitable for children's wear. With the latter, the last word to be said for the recommendation of simplicity.

For sewing machines, needles and repairs of all kinds see John Armstrong, Tawas City.

Excellent Health Advice.

Mrs. M. M. Davison, of No. 379 Gifford Ave., San Jose, Cal., says: "The worth of Electric Bitters as a general family remedy, for headache, biliousness and torpor of the liver and bowels is so pronounced that I am prompted to say a word in its favor, for the benefit of those seeking relief from such afflictions. There is more health for the digestive organs in a bottle of Electric Bitters than in any other remedy I know of." Sold under guarantee at Jas. E. Dillon's and G. S. Darling's drug stores 50c.

Disease Has Freaks.

No medical man needs to be told that even disease has its freaks and that recovery has occasionally been brought about by means inexplicably trivial. One of the most remarkable of these unaccountable eccentricities of disease took place at Halver, in Westphalia. The case was that of a boy who, as the result of a very heavy fall backward on his head while skating, had for a year and a half been deaf and dumb. One morning his brother went to awake him, and finding him sleeping heavily tapped him lightly on the forehead. To his amazement the deaf and dumb boy awoke with a loud cry. Both speech and hearing had been restored.

Truth and Bubbling Springs.
Truth! Truth! There is nothing but truth. The spring of eternal youth Ponce de Leon sought was truth; the spring which bubbles deep down in the heart of man—though often never, never reached—and has bubbled there from Adam to Marconi. With the elixir of truth—the most sustaining of all the tonics—man can never grow old. But he who gives himself to truth must not look for office, for riches, or even for popularity.—Henry Watterson.

Mr. Asquith's Style.

One of the qualities which account for Mr. Asquith's success is the sense he always gives one of perfect mastery of himself and perfect mastery of his subject. However big the task which confronts him, you see him always the same—calm, easy, without haste, without hesitation. Like all great masters of style, whether with the pen, the pencil, or the tongue, he decides you by that perfection of art which is the best concealment of art.—P. T. O.

Valuable Grecian Quarries.

Naxos is noted for its emery stone, which is carried over to Syria in sailing vessels for storage in the government depot, whence its exportation takes place. Quarries of marble also exist in Naxos, which is particularly adapted and employed in Greece for decorative building, but only on a small scale of late, owing to want of capital.

WAY TO IRON SHIRT

HINTS FOR WIFE WHO DOES HUSBAND'S LINEN.

Proper Precautions at the Beginning Will Save Time and the Garment Will Also Last a Great Deal Longer.

In order that a shirt may be successfully ironed it is necessary to starch and fold it properly.

As to the starch used there are two kinds, the raw and the boiled. The latter, as a rule, gives the more satisfaction, though not a few laundresses prefer the raw starch method for collars, cuffs and shirt bosoms.

The amateur, however, will do well to experiment first with the boiled liquid.

To make it mix together take two tablespoonfuls of dry starch and about half a teaspoonful of cold water until it is of the consistency of cream. Then add a little more than one-half pint of boiling water if the starch is needed for shirt bosoms or collars. More water is required if such articles as skirts or petticoats are to be starched.

Starch must be quite hot for collars and shirts, warm for the average white garments and almost cold for colored goods.

In order to prevent sticking to the irons, a little borax, a small bit of tallow candle or a tiny lump of lard may be added when mixing.

In starching a shirt have it quite dry, then turn on the right side and gather the parts to be stiffened in the hand and dip in cold water, then put into the hot starch, rubbing it well into the shirt. Then clap the stiffened portions between the hands.

Remove with a rag any superfluous bits of starch and fold, taking care to keep all the starched parts together, otherwise the sleeves or body of the shirt may become too stiff.

The shirt is laid front uppermost, the cuffs are straightened and laid on the bosom part, then the collar is folded downward also on the front and the fronts are doubled one over the other. Fold the shirt again in front, turn up from the bottom for a few inches and roll tightly, beginning at the top.

Leave for a couple of hours, and meantime see that the irons are very hot and quite clean. Then lay the shirt on the table or bosom board and go over all the starched parts with a clean, white rag wrung out of cold water.

Next apply the hot iron, going backward and forward until the material is quite dry and shows a gloss.

There are polishing irons with square heel and straight edges that come for this purpose, although when experience is gained it is possible to finish a shirt with a gloss by using only the ordinary irons.

If blisters appear on the bosom, etc., press them out by ironing over a clean, damp rag placed directly on the spot.

In ironing cuffs and collars they should be laid on a table wrong side up and a hot iron passed over the surface. Then they must be turned and treated the same way on the other side. After this the pressure may be as firm and as hard as one pleases provided the iron is not too hot. The rest of the shirt is ironed as other rough dry garments would be.

A Change in Dress.

To make more attractive the ever useful potato salad, try a different style in dressing. Take a dash of salt and of pepper, one tablespoonful finely cut parsley, one teaspoon grated onion, with two tablespoons olive oil or butter. Mix all with four tablespoons vinegar. Slice one quart of boiled potatoes (not too thick), pour over them the mixture, and let stand an hour. Instead of the onion some like celery, sliced, or celery seed—a sprinkle. In summer add sliced cucumbers or hot boiled eggs. All these add variety. Pieces of lemon garnish it well.

Frozen Tea.

Put half an ounce fine orange-flavored tea into a earthenware pot and pour on it a pint of boiling milk. Let stand until nearly cold, strain it to free from any leaves. Put liquor in large steapan with enough lump sugar to make it sweet. When it is hot add to it one-fourth of a pint of rich cream and yolks of five eggs. Stir over a slow fire until it is a thick custard. Stir until cool to prevent skin forming. Freeze in the usual way.

If anyone has a lemon verbena try putting a sprig in a cup of tea. It is a change from orange or lemon.

Rice Sponge.

One quarter cup of rice boiled one hour in water enough to cover. Drain and boil in milk for another hour. Have ready one-fourth cup of gelatin soaked in enough milk to cover. When rice is done add gelatin to the mixture with one-fourth cup of sugar, and when cool add one-half pint of whipped cream, with one tablespoon of sugar and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Put in mold to set. Serve with cream.

Watercress and Cream Cheese Balls.

Make a quantity of cream cheese balls, adding a little cream, salt and pepper; arrange a bed of delicate watercress, put the balls in a pile in the middle and just before serving pour French dressing over all.

To Make Washing Easy.

Take the clothes, soap them well and use a scrubbing brush on collars, wrists and all soiled parts; it is not only easier, but the clothes will last much longer and also for white skirts when the hem fills with dirt.

POTATOES IN NEW WAYS.

Methods of Serving Them That May Be Novel to Some.

Chicken in Potato Casserole.—Two cups of cold chicken that has been cut into cubes and seasoned with pepper, salt and celery salt. Stir two teaspoonfuls of flour, one-fourth of a teaspoon of salt, and a little pepper into two tablespoonfuls of bubbling hot butter; then add slowly one-half cup each of milk and chicken broth; cook until smooth and thick; add the seasoned chicken and place it on the back of the stove until ready for use. Line buttered gem pans with mashed potatoes that have been well seasoned with cream, butter, salt and pepper; brush over with the beaten yolk of egg and brown in a hot oven. Then remove to a hot platter, fill with the prepared chicken, and serve at once.

Potato Pancakes.—One cup flour, scant one-half cup grated raw potatoes, heaping teaspoon baking powder, a scant teaspoon nutmeg and cinnamon mixed, tablespoonful sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt. Mix all dry ingredients together first. Grate potatoes last of all in a little cold water to prevent turning dark. When enough is grated, press out all water and add two well beaten eggs and milk enough to make the batter about of the consistency of griddle cakes; cook them thin and a little more done than flour griddles.

Potato and Lemon Peel Cakes.—Potatoes six ounces, lemon peel four ounces, sugar four ounces, butter four ounces. Boil potatoes until soft then mash them. Grate lemon peel and beat in the sugar, then all together; melt the butter in a little cream, mix all well, and let stand until cold. Put rich pastry in little party pans, and fill with the mixture a little more than half full. Bake about half an hour. Sift fine sugar over them when they go into the oven. This makes about a dozen small cakes.

Limerick Cake.—Six cold, meaty potatoes, mash fine to get out all the lumps. One teaspoon salt, one cup cream, flour enough to make into cakes. Make small and not too thick. Have your griddle hot and buttered, brown on both sides and butter while hot. They are nice for breakfast.

IF SUGAR BOILS TOO LONG.

Add a Few Tablespoonfuls of Cold Water and Boil Again.

Boiling sugar and water for loaves, or icing is a somewhat ticklish operation, as every cook knows. If cooked too much it will be sugary, and if not enough, it will run.

The latter fault can be remedied by returning to the stove for a few minutes.

When the boiling has gone beyond the desired degree the consistency can be reduced by adding a few tablespoonfuls of cold water and boiling again.

If the sugar has been burnt the taste will remain, even though sugaring has been prevented.

Never stir sugar and water while boiling if you do not want it to granulate. Watch it carefully and take it off at the critical moment, which in most cases must be decided by experience.

Nut Leaf.

Put through the meat chopper enough meats of any kind to measure two cups. Black walnuts are the only sort which will not do. Moisten slightly a loaf of stale bread and with a fork remove the crust, having it in as flaky pieces as possible. Add a pint of bread flakes to the nuts, a teaspoon salt and a heaping teaspoon powdered mixed herbs. Melt two tablespoons butter in a cup of rich milk and when cool add to the nut and crumb mixture. Work with the hands and shape into an oval loaf. Place this in a well-greased pan and bake half an hour in a moderate oven, basting occasionally with water and butter. Serve cold with mayonnaise.

Lemon Ginger Mint.

Make an unusually strong lemonade, allowing five lemons and a cup of sugar to each quart of water. To every quart of lemonade add a quart of ginger ale. Put both together in a big punch bowl with a piece of ice. Have ready a number of sprigs of mint carefully washed. Bruise the stems and lower leaves between the fingers to bring out the full flavor of the mint. Half an hour before serving pour into the punch bowl.

Chilled Dessert.

Chocolate Cream—Into a double boiler beat the yolks of six eggs, add to them three ounces of grated chocolate, quarter of a pound of sugar and one pint of rich cream. Stir one way constantly until it thickens. Strain off into a large bowl. Beat half a pint of cream until very thick and add to this an ounce and a half of dissolved gelatin. Mix this very lightly with the chocolate and cream, then pour off into a mold and put on the ice to harden.

Pleasant Flavor.

One noted housewife says the secret of her delicious raspberry jam is that just before the jam has finished boiling she stirs into it current jelly in the proportion of a half-pint of the jelly to a quart of jam.

The two were stirred thoroughly together and put in sealed jars in the usual way.

Pork Salad.

One large cupful roast or boiled pork, chopped fine. One boiled potato, mashed with one tablespoonful butter. One teaspoonful dry mustard; two cucumber pickles, chopped; two hard-boiled eggs, chopped; black pepper, salt and vinegar to mix smooth.

Time for a Change.

In a recently published book by Rudolph Tyrall entitled "Recollections of Joseline Gallmeyer" many stories are told showing the natural wit of the stage artist who is remembered in New York by all those people who patronized the German theater 25 years ago. The writer tells the following anecdote: At the Laube Jubilee dinner which took place in Vienna Gallmeyer sat next to Hans Makart, who was known not only as a great artist, but as a silent man. When the dinner had been going about an hour and Makart had yet to say the first word, except in answer to questions, Gallmeyer slipped him on the back and said: "Now, dear Makart, let's change the subject."

Inland and Foreign Commerce.

The total foreign commerce of the United States during 1907 amounted to $3,652,849,859. This is at the rate of $10,000,000 a day. The inland commerce of the United States last year probably amounted to at least $25,000,000,000, which is at the rate of $68,000,000 a day. The inland commerce is therefore nearly seven times as great as the foreign commerce.—Wall Street Journal.

New York the Venice of America.

It is a surprising thing to know that New York city, although not known as the American Venice, contains more islands than any city but Venice, for within its boundaries are 21 separate and distinct islands, most of which, encircled by deep water, will afford unlimited shipping accommodations and dockage for the commerce of future years, to reach undreamed of proportions, judging from past and present growth.—The Giant City New York, National Magazine.
