The funeral was held Tuesday morning from St. Joseph church.

The family of George Webster of East Tawas, have been doubly afflicted during the past week. On Friday occurred the death of his mother, and on Monday morning that of his eldest son, William. The young man was taken suddenly ill Saturday evening and a physician was called, and while suffering from a severe attack of bowel trouble, he was not considered dangerously ill. Monday morning he was taken much worse and died within an hour. The young man was nearly 28 years of age and has spent most of his life in this vicinity. Besides the parents and one brother, George, of Detroit, he leaves a large circle of friends to mourn his death. The funeral was held from the home Wednesday, Rev. J. G. Hart, officiating. The remains were interred in the Tawas City cemetery.

After a lingering illness of several months, Mrs. Mary McInerney, widow of the late John McInerney, died at her home in this city last Sunday afternoon, at the age of 59 years. Since the death of her husband last February her health gradually failed until death came to relieve her patient sufferings. The deceased has been a resident of this city for the past seven years and is survived by three children, John and Miss Kate, of this city, and Fred, of Albaster, besides a large circle of other relatives and friends. The funeral was held from St. Joseph Catholic church Wednesday morning, and the remains taken to Bay City for interment.

Gov. Warner has won his contest for the republican nomination of governor. The supreme court on Monday denied Bradley's request to declare the primary law unconstitutional or to order the state canvassing board to go behind the returns and examine into the legality of the votes cast. Warner's petition to prevent the board from taking ballots out of ballot boxes was granted.

Mrs. Sarah Ann Webster, widow of the late William Webster, and one of the early pioneers of this section, died at the home of her son George, in East Tawas, on Friday last, aged 75 years, three months and 24 days. The deceased is highly respected by all who know her and her death came as a sudden surprise to her many friends, as but few had heard of her illness, which was of but a few days duration. The funeral was held from the home Sunday afternoon, Rev. J. G. Hart, of East Tawas, officiating. The remains were laid at rest in the family lot in the Tawas City cemetery.

John Gallagher.

The many friends of John Gallagher, a former well-known young man of East Tawas, will learn with regret of his death at Forest City, Mo., last Saturday morning. The Forest City Index contains the following:

John Gallagher died at the home of his mother, Mrs. W. B. Turley, at 5 o'clock this morning, aged 24 years. The young man contracted tuberculosis last February and came here from Michigan last April in the hope that the change of climate would benefit him, but he continued to grow worse. He was born in East Tawas, Mich., and made his home there until last spring.

Besides his stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Turley, the deceased leaves two brothers who live here and one sister, who resides in Duluth, Minn. The funeral services will probably be held sometime Monday, although the arrangements are not complete up to the time the Index goes to press.

Lecture Course.

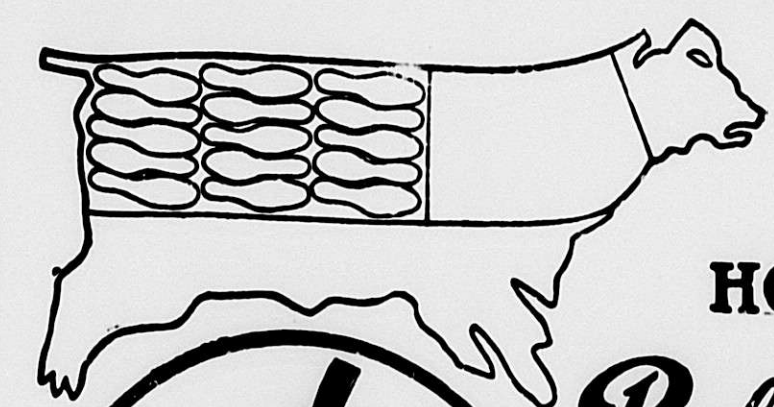

Holders of season tickets can secure reserved seats at Robinson's store on Saturday at 10 o'clock, local time. The cost is 25c for the season, (four numbers). One side only of the church will be reserved so that those who wish to come early can secure a seat near the front without paying the extra for reserve. By this plan the business man who must keep "open store" until 8 o'clock, has the opportunity of knowing that he can have a seat—of course he pays for it. To get reserved seats bring your season ticket; there is a blank on the back for the reserve. Admission—season $1.00; single 35c. First number next Monday evening.

Republican State Ticket.

The republican state convention at Detroit Tuesday completed their state ticket by the nomination of the following candidates:

For supreme court justice—Flavius L. Brooke, Detroit. For secretary of state—Fred C. Martindale, Detroit. For state treasurer—Albert E. Sleeper, Lexington. For attorney-general—Oramel B. Fuller, Escanaba. For land commissioner—Huntley Russell, Grand Rapids. For superintendent public instruction—Luther L. Wright, Ironwood. For members of state board of education—Wm. K. McKone, Albion.

Hemans Vs. Warner.

In choosing a governor of the state why should any attention be paid to the belief of the candidates on the tariff question, or with reference to ship subsidies, the currency, or other matters that are subject to regulations only by congress?

The governor of the state should be chosen, should he not, because of the soundness of his views on state affairs, honesty and his willingness to execute the laws of the state?

These statements being undeniably true, why should not Lawton T. Hemans receive the votes of practically every voter in Ingham county, if not in the state of Michigan? The party affiliation of the candidate for governor is of small importance; his ability and integrity, are most essential.

Inability and in every other essential qualification Mr. Hemans is the superior of his republican opponent, or of any who were candidates for the nomination for governor against him.

Gov. Warner and Lawton T. Hemans are of about the same age; both have achieved more than ordinary success in politics, the former because he was an ambitious member of the dominate party, the latter because of his exceptional talents; the former because he devoted his attention to practical politics, scheming for delegates and the support of interests; the latter because he studied government, the science of administration, and went deeply into the problems that are before the American people and always pressing for solution.

What prominence in a political way has been obtained by Gov. Warner has been solicited, bargained for bought with promises of appointments or legislation. Whatever prominence has come to Lawton T. Hemans has come unsolicited, through the recognition on the part of his friends of his superior ability and grasp of public questions. He towers above his opponent. Lansing Journal.

An Amendment.

An amendment to the constitution is to be submitted to the qualified electors on the third day of November, 1908.

The following statement sets forth the purport, nature and effect of the proposed amendment:

Section 10 of Article 14 of the constitution, as it now reads, refers only to the assessment of the property of corporations. The object of the proposed amendment is to authorize the assessment of not only the property of corporations, but also the property of partnerships, associations and individuals engaged in the business of transporting passengers and freight, transporting property by express, operating any union station or depot, transmitting messages by telephone or telegraph, loaning cars, operating refrigerator cars in fast freight lines, or other car lines, or operating or running cars in any manner upon railroads, or engaged in any other similar business.

The amendment, if adopted places all corporations, associations, partnerships and individuals engaged in a public service business above mentioned, upon the same basis as to the assessment of their property by the state board of assessors.

Your Boy in School?

Is your boy in school? Perhaps he does not like to go because he has reached the age when the compulsory law has no effect on him and you allow him to remain out of school, perhaps loafing around the streets or working at some hard physical labor. This should not be. The boy or young man should be in the school-room as long as possible. He may fight against going now, but if you insist on his getting a good education he will, in after life, when a realization of its benefits comes to him, thank you from his heart that you insisted on his attending school. On the contrary, if you allow him to quit after passing through five or six grades and spend his time in idleness or working at rough physical labor, he will have the life of an unskilled day laborer to lead because of the lack of proper early training. If you do not insist on his attending school at the proper time, when he realizes his loss he may be more or less bitter against you for not compelling him to attend. Michigan has one of the best educational systems in the United States and you should see to it that your boy or girl takes advantage of it.

Democratic Senatorial Convention.

The democratic senatorial convention for the 25th senatorial district, will be held in the city of Clare, Clare county, Michigan, on October 6th, 1908 at ten o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for state senator and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it. The counties of the district are entitled to the following representation on the basis of one delegate for each 50 votes or fraction thereof cast in 1906 for the democratic candidate for secretary of state. Alcona, 2; Iosco, 7; Arenac, 13; Osceola, 9; Oscoda, 2; Ogemaw, 6; Gladwin, 3; Crawford, 5; Roscommon, 3; Clare, 8.

Close Doors on Minister.

The following special dispatch to the Detroit Journal from New Buffalo, will be of interest to the friends of Rev. Ehle in this city, where he was formerly located:

The Baptist congregation here has decided that a David Harum in the ministry is too much and as a result the trustees yesterday closed the church for an indefinite period. Rev. Charles Ehle, the pastor was charged with misrepresenting things in a horse trade, and the church people took up the fight against him. Mr. Ehle threatened to remove the names of some of the church's oldest members from the roster, and in retaliation the oldest members threaten to oust him from the ministry. He preached each Sunday regardless of the differences and not until the trustees ordered the church doors closed and nailed did the oldest members win their point.

Mr. Ehle says he has been grossly misrepresented.

Had a Close Call.

Mrs. Ada L. Croom, the widely known proprietor of the Croom hotel, Vaughn, Miss., says: "For several months I suffered with a severe cough, and consumption seemed to have its grip on me, when a friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. I began taking it, and three bottles effected a complete cure." The fame of this life saving cough and cold remedy, and lung and throat healer is world wide. Sold at G. S. Darling's and Jas. E. Dillon's drug stores 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

HAVE COOL DINING-ROOM.

Apartment May Be Kept Pleasant with a Little Care.

A cool dining-room is one of the greatest blessings one can possess in summer, but if one's room is not cool on account of its location it can be kept cool with not a great deal of difficulty. Air the house thoroughly in the morning before the sun gets hot and then close the windows to the very bottom and pull the shades all the way down.

Close the door leading into the kitchen to keep the odor of the cooking out of the dining-room. If the room despite these precautions gets hot and sultry wring some cloths out of cold water and hang them in front of the window, which you have partially opened, and allow the breeze to blow through the wet cloths until they are dried. Quickly close the windows and place a dish or pail of cold water in the middle of the room. As soon as the water becomes warm remove it from the room.

Even on the most sultry, muggy day this method will seldom fail to cool and refresh the air of the room. Adding a drop of two of oil of lavender to the water will give the room a delicate, indistinct odor and will drive away any flies which chance to be there.

How Uncle Sam's Forests are Protected From Fire.

Nothing could better call the attention of the thinking people to the necessity for the preservation of our natural resources than the great forest fires which have been so widely distributed throughout the country and have played such havoc this summer. It is doubtful if the losses of 1908 will ever be fully known, but a conservative estimate by Dr. W. J. McGee, Erosion Expert, Uncle Sam's Department of Agriculture, places the aggregate loss in all parts of the country during these months of conflagration at $1,000,000 a day.

In nearly every instance, probably every instance, devastating fires might have been prevented if the various state had provided an adequate number of men to patrol the woods and arrest all such fires in their incipency, and if lumbermen and other users of the forest were careful to dispose of brush after logging so as to prevent the spread of fires.

Uncle Sam has had a lot of work to do on his National Forests in the fire-fighting line this year, but his work has shown good results. Exclusive of the salaries of forest officers, the work of putting down fires on the National Forests for the year has cost the government $30,000. This means protecting approximately 168,000,000 acres. The value of the timber destroyed will not be known until the fire reports are made at the end of the year, though it is estimated that it will be larger than last year. But it will be insignificant when compared with the appalling fire losses outside of the National Forest an unprotected areas, or with destruction which would have come to the timber in the National Forests had they not been protected.

These results have come through the increased efficiency of fire patrol and methods of fighting fire and through the co-operation of settlers and users of the forest who understand that the forest are their property and that a loss from fire is a personal one. By posting fire notices and giving advice the government has secured co-operation from the outside, which may be said to be as important an agency in reducing the loss from forest fires as is the perfection of machinery for fighting these fires.

After timber is cut, the regulation required brush to be compactly piled at a safe distance from living trees. Sometimes this brush is burned under direction of the forest officers; but even if it is allowed to stand, no fire started finds fuel by which it can spread.

The National Forests are constantly patrolled by a picked force of ranger and guards. The present summer force of such rangers and guards, whose main duty is fire patrol, is 1,351 men; the average area that each is required to brotred is 121,500 acres. It is fully understood that this area is altogether too large, and just as soon as funds are available to permit of the employment of a larger force of men the area will be reduced.

In order to provide rapid means of travel between the various parts of the National Forests and to facilitate the massing of large forces of men to fight fire, as well as to furnish vantage points from which the fires may be fought successfully, 160 miles of road and 3,300 miles of trail were built during the last fiscal year. In several cases firebreaks from 16 to 100 feet in width have been constructed, from which all timber and inflammable material is removed, to furnish obstacles to the spread of fire, or straight lines of defence in fighting fire once started. Several miles of such fire-breaks now exist on the National Forests in southern California, where it is especially important that the forest cover on the watersheds of important irrigation streams be protected.

Telephone lines have been constructed connecting ranger stations with the headquarters of the forest, in order that fires may be reported and promptly extinguished. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1908, 3,500 miles of telephone lines were constructed in the National Forests.

Just as rapidly as possible, each National Forest is supplied with shovels, axes, and other tools, which are distributed over the Forests and cabins, and tool boxes are placed at points where there is the greatest danger of fire and where they can be easily reached by trail. Field glasses are also furnished, since their use in discovering distance has proved very helpful.

Upon the basis of the Forest Service experience on the National Forests on which the total administration per acre, including fire patrol, amounts to only one cent, the whole forest area of the United States could be protected from fire at a total cost of less than $3,000,000. This would save an annual loss of $20,000,000 for timber alone, to say nothing of the enormous loss of life, the loss to new tree growth, the loss of soil fertility, the damage to river courses and adjacent farm country, and the depreciation in forest wealth and land values.

Would Mortgage the Farm.

A farmer on rural route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd by name, says: "Baeklen's Arnica Salve cured the two worst sores I ever saw: one on my hand and one on my leg. It is worth more than its weight in gold. I would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it." Only 25c at G. S. Darling's and Jas. E. Dillon's drug stores.

Paris Bothered by Vicious Flies.

Paris is suffering from a plague of curious flies, known as St. Marc's Bifrons. They are not poisonous, but are very ugly, being over half an inch long, with enormous heads, and feelers like cockleflats. Nobody knows where they come from, and, curiously enough, the plague is confined to Paris, and has not reached the country.

When Life's Brightness Leaves.

The setting of a great hope is like the setting of the sun. The brightness of our life is gone. Shadows of evening fall around us, and the world seems but a dim reflection—itsself a broader shadow. We look forward into the coming lonely night. The soul withdraws into itself. Then stars arise and the night is holy.

Abandon Ancient Festival.

The Plymouth (Eng.) town council has decided to abandon the annual festival of the "Flishyngé Feast," which has been carried on for more than three centuries "to the pious memory of Sir Francis Drake."

Farms Miles in Length.

President Hawks, of the Detroit & Mackinac railway, says that the company is planning to operate a continuous farm along its right of way next season. It is proposed to cultivate the land each side of the tracks, planting a diversity of crops.

The company will also operate a 40-acre model farm at Emery Junction.
