TAWAS CITY, MICH., Oct. 30 1908

Remember that if by your vote on next Tuesday you help to elect Fred M. Warner and the republican state ticket that you endorse the loan as Glazier.

The democratic county candidates have been greeted with large audiences at almost every one of their meetings during the present campaign, and have been assured of liberal support by the voters.

Albert Widdis, the democratic candidate for prosecuting attorney is making a most favorable impression among the people of the county in his canvass for that office. He is demonstrating that he is a deep student of public questions and a most able speaker.

The old cry of "let well enough alone" and "stand pat" are again being put by the republican press and speakers of this state. Well if the voters of the state think that it is well enough to allow the looting of the state treasury to continue for another two years the best thing they can do is to "stand pat" and vote a republican ticket next Tuesday.

Robert J. Whaley, of Flint, candidate for state treasurer on the democratic ticket, is a prominent officer of the Maccabee fraternity and widely known throughout the state. Wherever he is known his reputation is unassailable. He is honest, he is a thoroughly capable business man; if elected he will not go crazy nor make away with the money of the people. Robert J. Whaley ought to be elected.

The Michigan democracy has this year selected as its candidates for state officials one of the most competent and honorable set of men that was ever presented to the electors of any state by any party. Their personal history shows them to be able and everyone to be men of business ability and citizens highly esteemed by the people of their home localities. The voters of the state will make no mistake by voting for them.

LEWIS P. COUMANS

If the voters of the tenth congressional district will on next Tuesday elect Hon. Lewis P. Coumans as representative in congress they will be represented by a man who will command the attention of that body by his ability, honesty of purpose and statesmanship. Mr. Coumans is a man who has by his own efforts raised himself from a common laborer to the honorable position of one of the most able and successful attorneys in this section of Michigan. He comes from the Michigan people and if elected will represent the common people in the halls of congress.

Fred Powell for Senator.

Fred Powell of Gladwin, candidate for state senator, of the 25th district on the democratic ticket, is in the hardware business at Gladwin. Mr. Powell came to Clare from Genesee county in the fall of 1883 and taught school in Harton for one year. He then went to Merdita where he followed the same occupation for four years. In 1897 he engaged in the hardware business in Beaverton and in 1901 he removed to Gladwin.

Mr. Powell has always been a democrat and is widely known as an honest upright gentleman. He is an enthusiastic worker and is honest in his convictions, that the common people should be as close as possible to the state government.

Primary reform initiative and referendum emanation of graft and election of U. S. senators by direct vote are the principles upon which he is making his campaign.

Mr. Powell has a wide acquaintance in his district and will poll a good vote, though the twenty-eighth district is largely republican.—Clare Courier.

"Republican Prosperity."

In the popular mind "prosperity" is associated with the republican party. Republican editors have dimmed the warning or threat that once boasted republican prosperity could vanish with a fortnight after the election of Bryan in our ears so long that if we don't actually believe we do vaguely fear it. If this is so, it is a remarkable admission that indicates a remarkable state of affairs. If republican prosperity is such an airy, volatile thing it can be founded on the best rock of right and justice; it can not be built upon the wealth of mine, and forest and farm and factory. It argues something economically wrong. If Bryan is elected, will there be fewer fishes in our lakes and rivers; fewer dollars in the nation's coffers? Will our countless acres shrivel up; the millions of cattle on our pasture lands perish as if by plague; will our factories and furnaces vanish? Will prosperity flee from this great country? Will there be fewer hands to labor; fewer mouths to feed; fewer backs to clothe? The threat that prosperity will cease with republican rule is either a bogaboo with which to frighten the faithless, or it is a confession of the most stupendous wrong the world has ever seen, and in either case it is the most contemptible and demagogic for the man who plays upon the fears of the people is surely a demagogue, or if he has the power to back up his threats with results worse still a traitor who ought to hang higher than Haman. Republican brethren, do you know that when you breathe this "scare talk" industrial pirates; do you know that to assert that hard times would follow Bryan's election is the most terrible arrangement of the republican party that can be made? Taft's defeat can not take one jot or tittle from the natural resources of our country; it will not make fewer by one hand of willing workers, nor lessen the legitimate needs of the people by so much as one loaf of bread or one pair of shoes. His defeat could affect the natural sources of wealth, the supply for the products of man's skill, and therefore if the assertion that Bryan is elected means anything it means that the beneficiaries of republican rule would not be satisfied with an equitable division of profits, and so would point and bring on hard times, in which they might do since they have absolute control of the means of production. If this be "republican prosperity," the sooner we substitute socialism for republicanism the better.—From the Apollon (Minn.) Press.

Stephen D. Williams for Lieut. Governor.

Stephen Douglas Williams, of Detroit, the democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Michigan, is an eminently fit running mate for Lawton T. Hemans, head of the ticket. He is a native Michigander, being born on a farm in Livingston county, in 1861, attending the public schools and taking a literary course in the Fowlerville high school, followed by a similar course at the state normal college, at Ypsilanti. That the young man was an earnest and faithful student, and one who fully appreciated the advantages of a well trained mind, is shown by the fact that he persisted in his studies until he graduated from the Michigan university law school in 1891.

For the term of 1887-9, Mr. Williams was county commissioner of schools for Livingston county, and for the past six years he has been in close touch with a very large number of Michigan people through his connection with the Modern Educator, of which he has been editor for that period. The value of his services in that capacity earned him professional recognition by the national fraternal of his press section, to the office of which important position he has given that serious attention and intelligent effort which characterize his work in every direction.

In Mr. Williams, the democrats have a candidate who adds dignity and strength to a ticket which is in all other respects an exceptionally good one. His life has been spent in the state of his birth, he is thoroughly familiar with its history and its requirements, he has by persistent and many efforts, which so commend themselves to the American people, made for himself a prominent position in life, and is a splendid type of what is known as the "self made man," risen by merit from very humble beginnings. Incidentally he is a fine public speaker, a man upon whose character there is no reproach, and his personal habits are those of a clean and upright citizen. As a presiding officer he has few equals, and he is in every way fitted to occupy the high position for which he has been nominated.

Some Startling Facts From Hemans' Speeches.

These are startling facts Lawton T. Hemans is stating in his speeches about the state. Curiously enough, the democratic candidate usually has the facts, but thus far they have not reached and changed enough persons to make much difference in the vote. Ferris had the facts about primary reform when Warner was opposing it. Kimmeler had the facts about the inadequate security of the state funds in Glazier's bank, when Warner was calling those facts campaign slander. Today Hemans has the facts regarding the astounding extravagance of our state expenditures, while Warner again stands off with the non-committal statement that "There is a well defined feeling among the people generally in this state that state expenditures have reached the limit of present judicious requirements."

But Lawton T. Hemans is showing how that "limit" was reached, and he insists that "a prodigal state legislature can do us infinitely more harm in Michigan than a bad congress in Washington." In the 71 years that Michigan has been a state $78,000,000 has been collected from the people for the support of the government, and one-fifth of it has been collected in the four years that Fred M. Warner has been governor. In all the years that the state was building the capitol, the university, the normal school, the asylums at Pontiac and Kalamazoo, the state prisons, the agricultural college, the industrial school for boys and the school for the deaf—at the same time sending the sum of $18,000,000 to help fight the war of the rebellion—the amount collected and expended was never even remotely approaching the amounts collected and spent today. In analyzing this increase in expenditure, Mr. Hemans traces it to their causes. Take first the legislature. There are 100 members in the house and 32 members in the senate, and for half a century the pay has been the same $3 a day. Yet in 1879 the legislature cost the state $790 each day it was in session, while the last session, with the same number of members and the same pay per diem, cost the state $1,009 a day. Why? The 32 senators have 62 lockeys to wait on them. The senators drew $19,000 in their salaries; the lockeys who cleaned the cuspidors and waste paper baskets, drew $32,000. There is one leak. In the state tax department eight years ago when Plingree was governor, 85 clerks at $1,000 a year took care of 152,000 descriptions of delinquent tax lands—cost $85,000. Last year it required 111 clerks at $1,000 a year to take care of 67,000 descriptions—cost $111,000. In other words, it cost $23,000 more last year to do one-third of the work formerly done. Now on the business end of state administration, Mr. Hemans makes some telling points, and points well worth bearing in mind, but he himself realizes that it is not the money loss that counts for most, but the moral weakness which this condition of things generates among state employees.

Mr. Hemans attacks the Warner administration at several other vital points and hands telling blows. He shows up the executive in his well-known weak, vacillating public character. He shows the drifting, don't-care-and-if-the-people-were-a-never-ending-source-of-money-supply. If the business of the state did not have the right to tax the people bankrupt long ago, in fact is bankrupt now because of the injudicious deposit of $655,000. And this deposit was increased from the $365,000 which was on deposit after Kimmeler had spread the alarm that the security was inadequate.

The figures are eloquent of the advisability of a cleaning up at Lansing. Not that the republican party is any worse than the democratic party would be after prolonged power and a sense that the state is owned by it, not that the democratic party is composed of angels, but only because a new broom sweeps clean; a new man is anxious to make a creditable record; a new administration is eager to show results. For this reason doubtless many disgusted republicans will throw their support to Hemans this election in the hope slight though it may be, that something can be done to shake the security of the bunch that has held the capitol so long. And, as Mr. Hemans observes of the attitude of the republican factions, "If the good people of Michigan would believe one-half that each said about the other, I would get all the votes."—Detroit News, Rep.

The increase in the price of paper has been a factor in forcing another one of our magazines to increase in price. The Woman's Home Companion, preparing to give its readers a bigger and better magazine, will raise its price from 10 cents to 15 cents a copy, and from $1.00 to $1.25 a year in a few weeks. This advance is in part due to the increased size and value of the magazine, and in part to the increased price of the paper, which is affecting every publisher in the United States.

Would Mortgage the Farm.

A farmer on rural route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd by name, says: "Bueken's Arnie Salve cured the two worst sores I ever saw: one on my hand and one on my leg. It would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it." Only 25c at S. Darling's and Jas. E. Dillon's drug stores.

Davison Still In The Race For Sheriff.

To the Voters of Iosco County: As a number of my friends in this county who stood by me to secure my nomination for sheriff at the republican county convention and failed, believe that the action of that convention did not meet the approval of the taxpayers of the county and have insisted on my coming before the people for their decision at the polls in November, and believing that the taxpayers thoroughly understood the situation, I have decided to bow to their request, and respectfully appeal to all the citizens for the support at the polls in November.

While I have not had twelve years experience around the court house to fit me for the office of sheriff, neither do my friends who know me best consider that I need that kind of training, and I can assure them that I will be thankful for four years around the court house and promise them a clean and careful administration during that time. And after that time will gracefully leave the space for their next choice, as Iosco county has scores of men who are perfectly competent to fill the position. DAVID DAVISON.

Croom, the widely known proprietor of the Croom hotel, Vaughn, Miss., says: "For several months I suffered with a severe cough, and consumption seemed to have its grip on me, when a friend recommended Dr. Kings New Discovery. I began taking it, and three bottles affected a complete cure." The fame of this life saving cough and cold remedy, and lung and throat healer's world wide. Sold at G. S. Darling's and Jas. E. Dillon's drug stores 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Ganderbone Forecast for November.

A table and a pitcher,
A tumbler and a stand,
A man in dandy-breasted clothes,
And merrily to hand;
A last appeal to reason,
A crowd with cheering draft—
Some folks think it's Bryan,
And others think it's Taft.

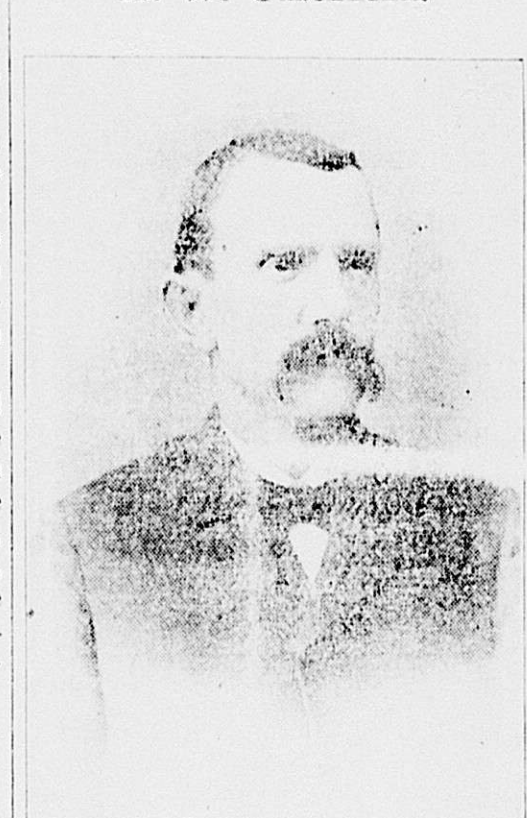

The flower for November is the chrysanthemum, which signifies that Japan received our fleet without starting anything. The moon will be full on the 25th.

Alcona County Politics.

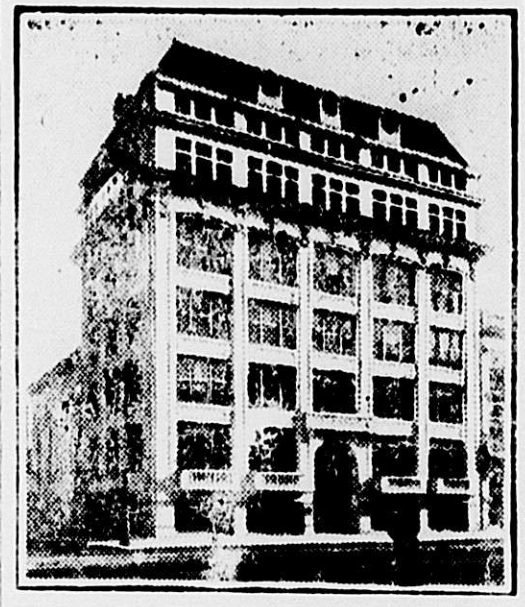

The political situation in that county is very interesting, there being "slip" candidates for three of the county offices against the regular nominees. There is only one ticket in the field, the republican. At the primaries John A. Stewart, a young attorney, was nominated for prosecutor over John H. Killmaster, and the present incumbent, O. H. Smith, by a plurality of 23. Mr. Smith is running on slips. George Rutson, who held the office of county clerk for the last 32 years, was defeated for re-nomination in the primaries by W. R. Barber, a young school teacher, by 35 votes. Mr. Rutson thinks he ought to have it again, and is also running on "slips." To make things more lively still, M. J. Somers, of Lincoln, last week announced his candidacy for sheriff against John Greenfield. At the primary there were seven candidates, Mr. Greenfield getting the nomination, and Mr. Somers being second in the race.

Along about the 29th The Duke of Abruzzi Will get it all fixed up that he Shall wed his tootsy-tootsy; And Elkins pore will dance a jig And dream of wedding cake, While everybody else makes bets On weather it will take.

E. W. CLARK.

Democratic candidate for State Legislature, Your vote solicited.

The new building of The Detroit Journal is the most artistic in the whole business district of Detroit. The basement is of Bedford stone and the walls of white enameled terra cotta. The roof is tiled. One of the most striking features is the arched entrance, with its gilded colored ceiling, its marble steps and wainscoting its mosaic landing, and the large windows in the sides, giving a full view of the press room in the basement, where three big Hoe presses run off the papers at the rate of 48,000 an hour each. The floors are of hardwood and the interior fittings of mahogany finish. It is the lightest, airiest, most commodious newspaper building in the country.

The frisky colt will snuff the air and hear the whistling quail, and the festive call will indicate the zenith with his tail. The frost will paint the forest with a deep and redder dye, the lured man will shuck the corn, the pumpkin vine will pie, the politicians will hit up their office holding feud, and the modest maple tree will blush and come out in the nude.

And then the presidential race Will hold its royal sway, And everyone will exercise His liver, anyway He'll bounce it up and down between His pancreas and gizzard, And waltz it trough his inner works From A around to Izzard, And even though his present race May prove to be in vain, He'll have the health and strength to run Sometime, perhaps, again.

At any rate the candidates will dash into the stretch, and both Bills-o'-the-Wisp will make themselves quite hard to catch. They'll spurt in spirited response to many wild arrouses, and fan the dust up with the snick downhanging in their trousers. They'll come to sight exhibiting a score of fancy paces, and only hit the trembling earth in four or five high places. The air will darken with the flight of gravel, dirt and sod, and the crowd will sound its battle cries and give and offer odds. And Teddy mean while will wedge in quite close beside the track, with something that he has concealed within a paper sack, and when his entry charges down, hot footing like the wind, T. R. will hang a hornet nest upon him down behind.

And then there will be doings on This agitated sphere— The earth will pitch and buck to beat A frenzied Texas steer. The sun will spin around and round And blow up once or twice, The moon will turn a very dark And bloody ball of ice, And no one will remain to see Who won the race for vice.

The election will be held on the 3d, and the trusts will hold an all night prayer meeting on the 2d. Mr. Bryan will cast his vote for Mr. Taft at Lincoln. Mr. Taft will return the courtesy at Cincinnati, and Mr. Rockefeller will receive the news at Cleveland. The quadrennial ass who wheels another quadrennial ass through town on a wheelbarrow will start from the postoffice at 10 o'clock on the morning of the 4th, followed by 90 boys and the foolkier. The complete returns will be in by the 15th. The annual show-down between city and country life will be complete by the 20th, when the farmer will have his cellar stocked with potatoes, turnips, kraut, honey, nuts, hams, salsenaut, souse, popcorn, pickles, pigs' feet, applebutter, lard, sweet potatoes and sorghum, and the city man will enter the cellar stocked with ten tons of hard coal and two gas meters.

The man who made election bets, Relying on his knowledge, Will write a sad note to his son, Withdrawing him from college. The football season will wind up, The class room claims its braves, And the faculty will order flowers, And decorate the graves.

A double fleece line coat of hair will come in style for dogs, and the farmer will put on the pot and kill the fat-tended hogs. The air will teem with shots and squeals and sundry flavors sweet, the good housewife will render lard and scrape the pickle feet, the spared old hen will get a note of terror in their cacklings, and the children will refresh their tumms with good old-fashioned crackings.

Mr. Roosevelt's annual proclamation advancing the price of turkey 10 cents a pound will be issued about the middle of the month. He will urge us to give thanks that 55,000,000 cubic feet of earth were excavated at Panama in October.

DEATH'S HARVEST

The Silent Messenger has Brought Sorrow to an Unusual Number During the Past Few Days

DR. GEORGE S. DARLING.

At his home in this city, on Monday morning, October 26, 1908, Dr. George S. Darling, the pioneer physician and druggist of this city, passed to the great beyond. For the past year Dr. Darling has been suffering from what developed to be a cancer of the throat. He has grown steadily worse and four weeks before his death he went to Harper's hospital, at Detroit for treatment, but without avail. He was brought to his home in this city on Thursday night of last week, where he lingered until death came to his relief at 6:50 Monday morning.

George S. Darling was in his 63rd year, having been born Mar. 18, 1846. He served several years in the hospital service of the regular army, afterwards entering the medical department of the University of Michigan from which he graduated in 1875. He was united in marriage with Miss Phoebe Larabee at Davison, Michigan, April 13, 1875. Upon his graduation from the U. of M. he came to Tawas City, in 1875 and practiced his profession continuously until a few weeks before his death. With two exceptions he was the oldest living business man of this city.

He is survived by the widow and one daughter, Mrs. Hosa H. Funk, of East Tawas. Two other children, George and Lottie, died in childhood. Two sisters, Mrs. Minnie J. Moore, of Howell, Me., and Miss Ida, of this city, and a large circle of relatives and friends are left to mourn his death.

The high esteem in which Dr. Darling was held by the citizens of Iosco county was eloquently attested at the funeral services which were held from the home Wednesday afternoon, and were attended by a large concourse of people from every walk of life. Dr. Darling was made a Master Mason at Flint May 23, 1879, becoming a member of Genesis Lodge No. 174, and retaining his membership there thro life. The funeral was held under the auspices of that fraternity, and Mr. C. T. Durand, of Flint, was the personal representative of his lodge. Rev. C. Wendling Hastings was the officiating clergyman. The remains were laid at rest in the family lot in the Tawas City cemetery.

MISS CHLOE A. FRENCH.

At her home in East Tawas, on Saturday last, occurred the death of Miss Chloe A. French from valvular heart trouble from which she has suffered for some time. The deceased was born in Brooklyn, Ont., August 16, 1845, and has been a resident of East Tawas for about forty years. For many years she had been a faithful and active member of the Methodist Episcopal church of that city, and was held in high esteem by large circle of friends. She was also a member of the Order of Eastern Star. She is survived by one sister, Miss Estella, of East Tawas, and three brothers, L. A. French, of LaGrange, Ill., Albert E. French, of Pennsylvania, and John W. French, of Portland, Oregon.

The funeral was held from the home last Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Martin officiating. Interment in the East Tawas cemetery.

MRS. THOMAS VIGRASS.

Mrs. Selma Vigrass, wife of Thomas Vigrass, died at the home of her son, Thomas, at Rose City, Monday afternoon. The announcement of her death came as a shock to her many friends in the Tawas. She had been ill for a couple of weeks, but was much better and considered out of danger, when her unexpected death came as above stated. The deceased was born in London, England, and was 66 years of age. The family have been residents of East Tawas for many years. Besides the husband she is survived by four daughters—Mrs. Fred Haskins, of Ionia, Mrs. James Napier, of Traverse City, Mrs. Charles Lameroux, of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. Thomas Dean, of Sturgeon Point—and two sons, Thomas of Rose City, and Fred, of Port Huron. The funeral will be held from the East Tawas M. E. church this Friday afternoon.

WILLIAM J. ROBERTS.

Died at Saginaw, Oct. 22, 1908, William James, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts, of Greenbush, Alcona county, after a lingering illness of 13 months.

William J. Roberts was born at Tawas City, Dec. 4, 1880, in this city his early boyhood was spent. In 1891 his parents moved to East Tawas and a few years later to Bay City where on Feb. 26, 1900, he was united in marriage to Miss Alice Jackson, of that city, who with his parents and brother survive him. In 1907 in hopes of benefiting his health he removed to Alcona county, but that dread disease, consumption had already seized upon him and two months ago he went to Saginaw for medical treatment and died there on the above date.

His remains were taken to his parents home in Greenbush accompanied by his wife and mother and a number of relatives and friends from Bay City and this place.

The funeral was held from the M. E. church, at Harrisville and his remains were laid to rest in Greenbush cemetery.

The hour of his departure came. He heard the voice that called him home.

He left this world without a fear and all his friends without a tear.

MRS. MORRIS G. NILES.

Janetta, wife of Morris G. Niles, of East Tawas, died last Saturday evening. The deceased was born in Ontario, Ont., and was 51 years and 15 days of age. She is survived by the bereaved husband and two brothers, A. W. Howell, of Avoca, Mich., and J. P. Howell, of Rockland, Ill. The funeral was held from the home at 10 o'clock Tuesday forenoon. Rev. Martin and Rev. Brown were the officiating clergymen. Burial in the East Tawas cemetery.
