James Hopper, of Alpena, 22 years old, was found dead in bed Friday by his father, Arthur G. Hopper. He had been in poor health for several months. He was a graduate of Alpena high school and a student of the U. of M., but did not go this year on account of sickness.
Elmer E. Wilhelm, traveling agent of the D. & M., has resigned to accept the position of general freight and passenger agent of the Erie & Michigan Railway & Navigation Co., with headquarters in Chicago. The appointment is effective January 1.—Bay City Tribune.
"You can remove rust stains from a white dress completely by soaking the dress in pie-plant juice, secured by boiling the pie-plant in a quantity of water," says Woman's Home Companion for January. "It makes the dress pink at first, but this comes out at the first washing, and the stains will be effectually removed."
A merciful man is merciful to his beast, and a well blanketed horse when left on the streets shows that the owner is not only a merciful man, but a man of common sense. The horse is your best friend and his comfort is a matter of dollars and cents to you. A well cared for team will give you fifty per cent more service than a poorly cared for one.
T. G. Winnott, general freight and passenger agent of the D. & M. railway, has just been chosen president and general manager of the Erie & Michigan Railway & Navigation Co., with headquarters in Chicago. The latter company has three boats engaged in the lake trade, and has just ordered a new locomotive and some cars for its railroad.—Bay City Tribune.

Word from Gladstone announces the marriage of Edward VanHorn and Miss Alice Olson, on Dec. 22. The Herald unites with Ed's many friends in extending congratulations.
Married, on Christmas day, by Rev. C. C. Henning, Julius Rhode and Miss Nellie Holloway, both of Tawas township. The Herald unites with their friends in extending congratulations.
Martin, the ten and a half months old son of Rev. and Mrs. Carl C. Henning, of this city, died yesterday morning from pneumonia. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of all in their hour of sorrow.
Eleven deaths and nine births were reported to the secretary of state from Iosco county during the month of November, while the total number reported in the state was 2,742 deaths and 4,027 births.
The present supply of Michigan Farm Laws is getting low and those of our readers who want one should not delay in securing it. These books are meeting with the highest approval of all who have secured them and are worth much more than the price asked.
Collins & Furgeson are now the publishers of the Alpena Argus, T. J. Furgeson the well-known printer having purchased a half interest of James Collins. Jim and Tom ought to make a team that will make things move in the old Argus office. Here's wishing them success.
No farmer can start off the New Year better than by getting a copy of the "Michigan Farm Laws," which the Herald is furnishing to all its subscribers. Thirty-five chapters, all on farm subjects and business forms for everything. See picture of the book and our splendid offer on another page of this paper.
At the University of Michigan a new system has been instituted, whereby the first-year students in the Literary Department are placed under faculty members who act as their advisors in all matters. This system makes it certain that each new student is properly looked after at a time when he most needs aid and advice. Several other universities possess the system, and the adoption of it by the University of Michigan may well be a significant step in the university's history.
Another of the advantages of the location of the Michigan Cereal Co.'s elevator in this city has developed during the past few days. It is supplying a market for several thousand cords of stove wood. This is a big thing for many of our farmers this year, as the fires damaged much timber which must be put on the market this winter or become a total loss. The elevator has proven a mighty good thing for the business men of our city, and Manager Murray is the right man to look after the varied interests of the business.

On January 1 the Michigan Bell Telephone company will take over under purchase the Northeastern Telephone company's system north of Bay City. The Northeastern system has been operated by the Bell under a lease. The system has 600 miles of wire, 4,000 telephones and 100 toll stations east of the Mackinaw division of the Michigan Central.—Bay City Times.
Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Shien went to Detroit yesterday. Mr. Shien will go to Lansing to assist in closing up his part of the business of the state land commissioner's office. Mr. Shien has held the position of state trespass agent for the past eight years and during that time has made a record for honesty and careful discharge of his duty that places him at the head of this branch of the state service, and it is with much regret to his many friends that he must make way for someone else.
Mrs. G. S. Darling.
The Tawas were shocked Christmas eve by the announcement of the sudden and unexpected death of Mrs. Phoebe A. Darling, widow of the late Dr. George S. Darling, of this city.
Mrs. Darling, accompanied by her brother A. S. Larabee, left her home in this city about 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon to drive to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hosea H. Funk, of East Tawas, where arrangements were being made for a family Christmas gathering. On the way up she complained of feeling ill, but before arriving informed Mr. Larabee she was feeling all right again. She got out of the cutter and walked into the house, where she sank into a chair and died before help could arrive. While she has not been in good health for a couple of years, and especially since the death of her husband two months ago, her death was unexpected and came as a great shock to her family and friends.
Phoebe A. Larabee was born at Goodrich, Genesee county, July 13, 1850, and was united in marriage to Dr. George S. Darling, April 13, 1873, at Davison. She was the mother of three children, two of whom, Lottie and George, died in childhood, the other, Mrs. Hosea H. Funk, of East Tawas, survive her, also two brothers, A. S. Larabee, of Bay City, and F. S. Larabee, of Flint, and one the younger, died about two years ago.

In 1900 Mr. Crandall was elected to the office of register of deeds, and has been re-elected for five successive terms, each time leading his ticket. Had he lived he would have entered upon his fifth term to-day. As a county official he was without a peer—always courteous, prompt, and efficient. He was a man whom men loved to honor. Up-rightness and honesty seemed to be his guiding star. A kind and affectionate husband and father, a dutiful and loving son and brother, his loss, while felt by all, is irreparable to his immediate family. Besides the bereaved widow and son, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. L. Crandall, and three sisters, Mrs. Rowland Goldie, of Pontiac, and Misses Mabel and Nina, who with the mother are in Colorado.
The funeral services were held from the home Monday afternoon under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity, of which he was an honored member. Rev. N. Dickey, of Bay City, preached the sermon. The remains were laid at rest in the family lot in the Tawas City cemetery.
Edgar A. Crandall.
Register of Deeds Edgar A. Crandall died at his home in this city last Saturday, of Bright's disease, from which he has suffered for a number of years. The deceased was one of the best known and most highly respected young men in the county, and his untimely death is sincerely mourned by all who knew him.
Edgar A. Crandall was born in Tawas City August 22, 1872, and with the exception of about a year, his entire life was spent here. He was a member of the first class to graduate from our city high school, and for a number of years thereafter he was employed in this city, and afterward as a locomotive fireman on the D. & M. Ry., until forced to retire about ten years ago because of the disease which caused his death. He was united in marriage with Miss Mabel Murchison, in 1896. Of this union two sons were born, Harold,

Estray Heifer.
There came into my enclosure, in Grant township about Dec. 1, last, a red yearling heifer, which owner can have by proving property and paying charges. Harry Van Patten, R. F. D. 2, Tawas City, Mich.
