INTEREST INCREASING

Several Candidates Make Good Gains During the First Week's Balloting, and Some Surprises May be Looked for Next Week. Candidates are Getting Busy. Mrs. Hurford, of Whittemore, in the Lead.

The contest for the three beautiful watches is now on and the interest is increasing daily. The indications are for a lively fight. Every candidate should endeavor to get the lead and then keep it. Ask your friends who are not now subscribers to the Herald to take a year's subscription as every new subscriber will give you one thousand votes.

Clip every coupon and ask your friends to do the same. The few votes you now miss by neglecting this now, are the few that may make you a winner in the end. Miss no opportunity. A little hustling now, may land you in front at the end.

Get the new subscribers now, before someone else gets them. Neglect no chance to advance your standing.

Nearly fifty thousand votes are now out, and undoubtedly many of these are in the hands of people who are not interested in any particular candidate. Why should you not secure some of them.

TAWAS HERALD

LEN J. PATTERSON, Proprietor. Published every Friday and entered at the Tawas City, Michigan, postoffice as second class mail matter.

TAWAS CITY, MICH., March 12, 1909

That the United States government has gone into the job printing business is evident from circulars that have been received by many patrons of the post offices of the country. The printing fraternity should protest against such a movement on the part of our government entering into direct competition with private enterprises. The government purchases its stocks of paper in quantities that no private concern could begin to think of purchasing and are able to furnish the envelopes printed at a cost that the small newspaper man or job printer cannot buy the raw material at. It is an injustice to the printing fraternity of this grand and glorious country to have to compete against such prices as the government is charging. It looks like a case of the big fellow eat up the little fellow, which will surely be the case when the government comes out in open competition with the small city and country printer.

Regard for Others' Opinions.

At the present time, with the people of Losco county, through our newly organized Board of Trade, making an effort to advance and improve the business and agricultural conditions, the following editorial from Sunday School Times is worthy of our careful consideration.

Good men who are more interested in getting together on a working basis than in having their own way can find a better way than any one of them would have discovered alone. Much of the wheel-greasing disagreement among workers in any cause is due to emphasis upon one's own opinions, and too little regard for the opinions of others. It is all well enough for us to be positively in favor of our own opinions, but it might be an encouragement to our co-workers and a lubricant to the wheels of progressive if we were now and then positively in favor of other folks' opinions. If co-operative is to be done at all, the sooner men find out what they can do heartily together, and forget what each one would prefer to do if alone in the work, the better it will be for that enterprise.

The Training of a Girl.

"I have two daughters, not yet in their teens, and they both know how to cook," boasts a proud father, a man who is at the head of a great business institution and whose home is in California.

"My wife and I are going to make it safe for our girls to marry poor men. I hope to leave my children well provided for when I die, but that is always uncertain. If our girls can cook they are practically independent of property inheritance. They are certain to find husbands and they will be cherished by their husbands, for the wife who knows how to cook rarely fails to find domestic happiness.

"Everything else being equal," this thinking father continued, "we will prefer to have our daughters marry poor men. It has been our observation that the poor boy makes the best husband. He shows his strength and courage when he contracts the great responsibility of taking care of a wife. He looks upon his wife as an actual life partner. He appreciates her efforts to do her share. If she can't cook she is a failure at the start."

That's sound sense, isn't it? Fortunate girls to possess such parents! Fortunate boys to have in prospect such wives!

How many mothers and fathers, especially of the cities, are much concerned about their daughters' education in the domestic arts? Some, but not many. The daughters of the rich are inclined to elevate their eyebrows at pots and kettles. Poor girls pass from grammar school into the shop or office. Many of the latter follow, in later life, the natural domestic tendency and learn how to cook, but too many hope to marry a man who will be able to employ a cook or pay board for two.

Almost every girl has an opportunity at some time or other to learn to cook and acquire other accomplishments of a domestic nature.—Saginaw News.

A "Dry" Testimonial.

During the meeting of the editorial association the editor of the this paper made inquiry of the members present from dry counties, as to the effect on business local option had had in their counties. Without an exception the verdict was that business was never better, bills were being paid more promptly or were not being submitted, after the year's trial, greatly increased majorities for prohibition would be the result.—Charlevoix Courier.

RANDOM SHOTS

SOME ARE ORIGINAL, SOME ARE NOT. Little drops of water Little flakes of snow Made inauguration Look like 30 cents.

Some people who became squeamish at the killing of a mouse will not scruple at stabbing a reputation.

Old Ben Franklin was about the wisest product this country ever produced and he never said anything much better than that the best way to find money is to earn it.

A fellow wrote to us last week to "suspend the paper," but as it is a good business proposition and as there is no law against running it, we have decided not to do so.

A new one cent piece with the head of Abraham Lincoln upon it will soon be in circulation. This is interesting because it is the kind of money we all expect to handle.

There is but little doubt now in the minds of the people of Michigan that Governor Fred Warner means to make good on his recent threat, and make the fourth race for governor. The other day he signed a woman's suffrage petition.

Political rumors credit Governor Hughes with an ambition to succeed Senator Depew. Inasmuch as this office has been set aside for Mr. Roosevelt when he shall have completed his African hunt, republican leaders are greatly agitated.

The government has been taking a census of the horses of the country, and reports that there were over 20,000,000 horses and nearly 4,000,000 mules in the United States. This is a greater number of horses by several hundred thousand than were reported previously. The "horseless age" is evidently not yet in sight.

California's famous grove of big trees has been made a national forest reserve. If any groves of Michigan's big trees are left it would be a good idea to make forest reserves of them, so that the coming generation may be able to show its children the kind of woods Michigan used to have in plenty when grandpa and grandma were children.

When members of the legislature presented their salary warrants to the state treasurer Tuesday they were confronted by a treasury box with but 33 cents in it. Auditor General Fuller says that the state will be broke in all departments before August 1, and will have to borrow a quarter of a million of dollars to tide it over. Good head work some place.

The home paper is one of the most telling and forceful advertisements of a home institution. It speaks for the enterprise of the place, and to strangers it illustrates the spirit and enterprise possessed by the people. It is always well to bear in mind that seekers for homes and for business localities never pick out dead towns. A small town where the people are enterprising often holds forth to the progressive settler greater opportunities than do the larger cities.—Ex.

FRAUD AND FORGERY FOR THE SALOONS.

READ ARTHUR EVANS' STATEMENT.

The above is the caption of a bulletin issued by Hon. Perry F. Powers, of Cadillac, in which he states that the bills which have been distributed about the state, entitled "What Leading Wexford County Business Men Think of County Prohibition" are a gross misrepresentation—filled with forgery and falsehood—and that "the business men and leading citizens of Cadillac and Wexford County protest against the use of such disreputable means to accomplish the purposes of the distillers and brewers and saloon leagues of Michigan." One of the forgeries is as follows:

"Prohibition in Wexford County is an absolute farce. The people are paying hundreds of dollars for a vague dream, but I am confident that they are beginning to wake up. The law has driven young men who never drank whiskey before to be toppers, and at the next election the voters will throw out County Prohibition root and branch. The freight offices in Cadillac have almost been swamped with whiskey shipments since the Prohibition Law went into effect."

I. L. METHENY, Mayor of Cadillac,
And Local Agent for the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad Co.

How does the Mayor's true true statement look by the side of that false one? This is what he really said:

"The statements credited to me in the circular sent out by some whiskey people and written up by their representatives in this city some time ago were not made by me. They were not in accordance with the facts. The assertion that the freight houses are loaded down with shipments of whiskey is of course ridiculous. The shipments of whiskey and beer into this city are not more than 20 per cent—what they amounted to when this was a saloon town. Some business has been hurt—the saloon, cigar, hotel, probably, are not doing so well as though we had the open saloon, but along the lines of groceries, shoes, dry goods, clothing, the absolutely necessary lines, I guess it is a fact that business has been helped. I will freely admit that where one person has been injured in a material way by local option, one hundred have been helped.

E. L. METHEANY, Mayor of Cadillac,
Agent for G. R. & I. Railroad.

Arthur Evans, well known in the Tawas as a former resident, says local Option is effective. We read:

"The cry before local option was adopted here was that the law could not be enforced. The past nine months have made it evident to all fair minded people that this is not true. There is absolutely no comparison between the quantity of liquor being sold now and the quantity sold before May 1st last, or between the number of arrests in this county now and before the new law became effective. The so-called blind pigs endeavor to exist, but are being rooted out, and will be kept out.

W. ARTHUR EVANS, Sheriff of Wexford County

We might quote the words of many citizens of Wexford County to the effect that the people are more than pleased with local option, notwithstanding the guilty fabrication of those who are trying to deceive the people. The Prosecuting Attorney and City Alderman speak as follows:

"I am convinced beyond a doubt that the local option law has resulted in decreasing criminal prosecutions in our county. Prior to May 1st, 1908, prosecutions for intoxication and disorderly conduct caused by drunk were numerous, since that time they have been rare indeed. Prosecutions of all kinds traceable to the liquor traffic have materially decreased in the entire county since May 1, 1908. After a trial of ten months I am satisfied that the law is a splendid thing for our county.

W. H. YEARN, Prosecuting Attorney for Wexford County.

"For over nine months the local option law has been thoroughly tried out here in Cadillac. Its success has been phenomenal. Men who were afraid of the experiment because it introduced such a radical change; men who opposed it for fear of an abridgement of personal liberty; men who were bitterly against it because of the force of the drinking habit fastened upon them through years of indulgence; men of all shades of opinion now unite with its early champions in acknowledgement of the congratulation over the success of the new movement. There is indisputable evidence of a great social, moral and financial benefit to the community through the operation of this law."

GEORGE D. VAN VRANKEN, Alderman Second Ward, Cadillac.
