In checking up the postmaster's books at Metz, Presque Isle county, a post office inspector, it is said, has found a shortage of about $2,000. Judge of Probate Theodore Hardies is postmaster. At the time of the big fire at Metz last fall a shortage of $600 was found, but this was repaid, and nothing further done about the matter, but this time it is likely the post office department will take action.

The Tawas City Entertainment Association met Monday evening and elected F. F. Taylor president, and M. E. Valentine secretary and treasurer for the ensuing year. G. H. Hadwin, W. B. Kelly and J. M. Wuggazer were selected as members of an advisory committee to work with the executive officers. An excellent selection of four entertainments were chosen for next winter, providing sufficient encouragement is received by the sale of season tickets. The committee will call on our citizens within a few days and it is to be hoped that they will have no difficulty in securing sufficient subscribers to assure the course.

Through the kindness of General Passenger Agent MacEdwards, of the D. & M., we have had a glimpse of the official program of the 11th annual outing of the Michigan Freight and Passenger Agents Association, which will be held at Tawas Beach June 15, 16, 17. If the program is any criterion the boys will certainly get their money's worth while here. Besides the regular business sessions an elaborate program of sports have been arranged, including a ball game between the freight and passenger men. On Wednesday evening June 16, a dance will be given at the Pavilion to which a cordial invitation is extended to the people of the Tawasos, and all who accept are assured of an enjoyable evening.

Dedicate Their New School.

The committee appointed to arrange for dedicatory exercises of the new school building at East Tawas have practically completed their arrangements.

It has been decided to hold the exercises on Friday, June 18, the day following commencement exercises. This, it is thought, will be a much more convenient day than any other during commencement week.

The entire day will be given over to the exercises. In the forenoon the new building will be thrown open to the general public, and every one who desires to do so will be given an opportunity to examine the structure and note what has been done by the board in the way of providing an up-to-date, commodious building to house the schools of the city.

In the afternoon a literary and musical program will be rendered in the high school room. Local speakers will take part in the exercises and a part if not all of the graduates of the high school, class of '09, will deliver their graduating essays. It is expected that a program of music, both instrumental and vocal, of more than ordinary merit will be given.

In the evening the alumni of the schools will have charge of the exercises and will provide something that will not only be of interest and profit to the several alumnus in attendance, but also to everyone interested in the schools. It is expected that every patron of the school will attend these exercises and make the day one of pleasure and profit.

Here is The New Highways Law

The Senator Fox highway bill, which passed both houses, is the longest bill introduced in either house this session. It makes 187 printed pages. Also it directly concerns every farmer in the state.

There are today over 100 laws on the books relating to country roads. Some were enacted a half-century or more ago, and some contravene each other. The Fox bill repeals them all and re-enacts the best of all of them, that are not obsolete. In addition there are many new provisions. The most essential ones are:

All country roads are placed on a uniform system, and must be surveyed and marked with monuments every 80 rods and recorded in the permanent record in the town clerk's office.

Farmers are forbidden to drain their fields into the highways where the drainage would be likely to cause washouts. The highway commissioner is empowered to acquire by condemnation proceedings, gravel pits for building roads.

Where there is a dispute over a road that is the dividing line between the township and a municipality, provision is made for settlement by the highway commissioner and the mayor or president.

Where a street of a municipality extends into a township, the township must make the road the same width as the street.

All roads hereafter laid out shall be of uniform width.

All bridges and culverts hereafter built must be strong enough to carry 12 tons.

Rural delivery letter-boxes must not be placed nearer than 15 feet from the center of the road.

Townships are allowed to have one to four overseers, to spend the repair tax, the township to definitely determine the number.

At the option of the overseer of highways a taxpayer may work out his road tax.

Township boards of fence viewers shall comprise the overseer of the district, the highway commissioner, and two justices of the peace.

In the spending of highway money, the township board and the highway commissioner must work in harmony with each other.

Woman's Home Companion For June.

Perhaps the most noticeable feature of the June Woman's Home Companion is the wealth of fiction. There are ten stories in this issue—not heavy, psychological diagnoses of world-worn minds, but breezy stories of love and fun that are suitable to the season. Among the writers in this issue are Edward Everett Hale, Maude Radford Warren, Cyrus Townsend Brady, Marion Hamilton Carter, Mary Hastings, Ernestine Winchell, Georgia Wood Pangborn, Frederick M. Smith, Marion Hill, Annie Hamilton Donnel and Rosa Naomi Scott.

Naturally, much is said about weddings in this June issue.

In addition to the lighter, joyous preparations, there are some serious articles handling that most serious of subjects, marriage. In a very clever way the Companion demonstrates how marriage should be a success if conducted on a business basis and if the "Junior Partner" does her share.

In connection with this, there is a particularly bright article by Katharine Eggleston, pointing out some great dangers in our present methods of teaching girls.

But the entrance into marriage is not neglected, and there are in this issue stories of weddings, the inexorable laws of fashion regarding them, and suggestions for charming original and inexpensive weddings.

The regular fashion department, children's pages, girls' pages and puzzle page are as complete as usual. The embroidery department is especially attractive, with designs and ideas to make fingers fly in the long summer days.

If your stomach, heart or kidneys are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the stomach, nor stimulate the heart or kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is a thing druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. Sold by C. H. Prescott & Sons.

Excursion to Bay City.

Via D. & M. Ry. Sunday, May 30. Excursion train leaves Tawas City at 9:11 a. m., round trip rate $1.00; proportionate rates from other stations; children between 5 and 12 half fare. Tickets good only on excursion train. See hand bills and D. & M. agents. League base ball, Saginaw vs Bay City.

D. & M. Ry. Party Fares.

Commencing May 17 party tickets for ten or more passengers will be sold at stations as follows: For one way movements 2 cents per mile; for round trip movements one fare for round trip, tickets limited to day following date of sale. This arrangement will prove convenient to base ball clubs, etc. See D. & M. agents.

Home Rule Bill Passed.

After a spirited fight in the house, the Hally home rule bill, although greatly amended and changed from its original draft, passed and is now up to Gov. Warner for his signature. The bill, when it came up for final passage, passed with but eight votes against it.

The opposition to this bill was the section which provided that cities may condemn property outside their limits for purposes of disposing of sewage and obtaining pure water. The tide in favor of the bill, however, was turned when attention was called to a clause in the constitution which gives cities and villages the absolute authority to go beyond their boundaries with condemnation proceedings in the interests of health and safety.

Quaker Oats Griddle Cakes

Try them today!

The family that hasn't eaten Quaker Oats griddle cakes has a delightful surprise coming to it. Besides the delicious flavor, there is the pleasure of knowing you can eat all you want, and the more you eat the better for you. The best of all foods for anyone wanting more strength and vigor.

Hundreds of thousands of packages of Quaker Oats are consumed in Germany annually and almost all of it is eaten in the form of Quaker Oats griddle cakes. In the New York cereal restaurant of the Quaker Oats Company these griddle cakes are very popular.

Here's the best recipe for making them:

2 cups Quaker Oats (uncooked); 1 1/2 cup flour; 1 teaspoonful salt; 1 teaspoonful soda—dissolve in two tablespoonfuls hot water; 1 teaspoonful baking powder (mix in flour); 2 1/2 cups sour milk or buttermilk; 2 eggs beaten lightly; 1 tablespoonful sugar; 1 or 2 tablespoonfuls melted butter (according to richness of milk).

Process: Soak Quaker Oats over night in milk. In the morning mix and sift flour, soda, sugar and salt—add this to Quaker Oats mixture and quantity of melted butter; add eggs beaten lightly—beat thoroughly and cook as griddle cakes—they make your mouth water for more.

Electric Bitters

Succeed when everything else fails. In nervous prostration and female weaknesses they are the supreme remedy, as thousands have testified. FOR KIDNEY, LIVER AND STOMACH TROUBLE it is the best medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain in congestion, pain in blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and he proves it has created a little pink tablet. The tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop the unnatural blood pressure.

Ganderbone's Forecast For June.

(Copyrighted by C. H. Reich.)
The brimming pond full of boys,
The springboard and the slide,
The sly beet-chopper on the job,
And the pants are already tied,
The dripping and the salt-tale hair,
The scurry home at noon,
And then what Daddy gave the drum—
Not yet, not June.
The wedding and the wedding guests,
The presents and the raiment,
The father proffering the bride,
And the much embarrassed claimant.
The dinner, and the shoes and rice,
The dear old honeymoon,
And Love's young dream until they wake—
Not yet, but June.
The end of school, the joyous shout,
The essay and oration,
Some samples of bad grammar by
The Board of Education.
All standing singing "Auld Lang Syne"
Or some such fitting tune,
And two young men and thirty girls—
Not yet, but June.
The picnic and the happy kids,
The dinner in the shade,
The scream when little Johnny Smith
Falls in the lemonade.
The soul-mates strolling hand in hand,
Not married yet, but soon,
And the little red-bugs at the bat—
Not yet, but June.

June was dedicated by the Romans to love and marriage, and was therefore named for Juno, whose experience was thought to more nearly typify that of the average married woman than anything that had happened up to that time.
Juno married Jupiter, one of the best and most exemplary of gods, giving him her simple trust and all the rope compatible with a reasonable enjoyment of liberty though married. Nevertheless, they had not been married long enough even to feel sure that they were suited to each other, when the bride made the terrible discovery that the co-winner of her wedding presents and the man who was to flag the family breadwagon had an affinity.

Fortunately, though it had proven to be with gods as it is with men, it was not with goddesses as it is with women. Juno had a come-back coming to her, and she got busier than a mother robin rustling worms. She turned her husband's affinity into a heifer, and set Argus to watch over her as shepherd. Argus had a hundred eyes, and do what he could, Jupiter could not catch him asleep all around and steel the heifer away from him. As a last resort he sent Mercury to slay him. After trying everything else, Mercury told him that Bryan was elected, and he fell dead. Juno took the eyes of Argus and set them in the tail of a peacock, where we may see them any fine morning in the country to remind us of that oldest of domestic tragedies inseparable from the history of June.

The wedding march will fill the land,
And the quail will get to pipin',
The Muse will rouse the village band,
And Patten's wheat will ripen.
The old self-binder will come out
And sing a few sweet stanzas,
And the college graduate will shout
And hit the trail for Kansas.

Come out with us at harvest time, when the sickle sings at mowing, when the rose is blooming in the field, and the breath of June is blowing when the golden harvest ebbs and flows in undulating billows, and the water boy is fast asleep down where the grass is green and deep beneath the shady willows.

There's nothing like it anywhere upon the earth or over, the air is fresh and fragrant with the sweet breath of the clover, the birds are singing operas, and the poultry is as-sunning, and the old familiar dinner bell sets everybody running. There may be men in Marathons that run a mile a minute, but it is a question if St. Yves or Longboat would be in it if he were working in a field, though many times a winner, and a bunch of twenty harvest hands knocked off to go to dinner.

It's simply wonderful the way
A harvest hand gets going—
You look at him one instant and
You see him calmly mowing.
You wouldn't think if forty bells
Should ring that he would hear them,
Or if ten banquets beckoned him
That he would venture near them.
He looks as whipped out as a rag,
and dead to all attraction—
But you want to hear the dinner bell
To see his triple action.
You want to see him double up
As if he had the colic,
And tear the field up setting out
Upon that little frolic.
It is as if the fumes of beans
Had reached him, or the vision
Of chicken had appeared to him,
Or else that some Elysian
Mirage had shown him corn cakes, pie,
Fresh biscuits, or food such as Gods eat teased him, keeping just Outside his eager clutches.

The meadowlark will chirp and sing,
and the bumblebee will bumble, the colt will do a Highland fling, and the tumblebug will tumble, the calf will buck and jump for joy of simply being loose, the droll grasshoppers sit around and spit tobacco juice, the luckless tramp resume his march and the bulldog chase and bite him, and the horse-fly irritate the mule, and so ad infinitum.

It is hard to forecast tariff phenomena at Washington, but the prospect is that when the dust of conflict settles this time we, instead of the trusts, will be found to be the goat. Mr. W. H. Taft will continue as president, and Mr. Theodore Roosevelt as hunter to the Associated Press. Messrs. Morgan and Rockefeller will divide the money. Mr. James Schoolcraft Sherman will furnish the silence. Mr. Joseph C. Cannon will run the country. Mr. Nelson W. Aldrich will be the villain, and Mr. Albert J. Beveridge will be the young lady hesitating between two loves.

June will be notable in astronomy. There will be two eclipses—a total eclipse of the full moon on the third, and a central eclipse of the sun on the seventeenth. The eclipse of the moon will be visible generally in North America, except the northwestern portion, and the eclipse of the sun will be visible as a partial eclipse in the United States and Canada, except south of a line drawn from San Francisco through Tucson, Arizona, to Corpus Christi, Tex. The effect of these phenomena will be to make fishing better than it has been for years. Subscriptions to the fund of $10,000,000 which Prof. Pickering is raising for communication with Mars will be received up to the fifteenth. Country newspapers forced to send wood need not feel embarrassed. Many of the large city papers are only giving advice. And then July will come again.
When the warlike boy and skittish Will fill his little brother full
Of what we gave the British.

Commencement only four weeks away.
Review is the order of the day all along the line.
Junior class busy preparing a surprise. What? Wait and see.
Several of the high school girls accompanied the ball team last Saturday.

This is the time to hustle in order to remove any "coons" that may have accumulated during the year.
At the Decoration Day exercises Kathryn Sands and Grace Laidlaw will recite and a chorus of high school girls will sing several songs.
Yes, we lost the game last Saturday out our boys showed the true spirit when they played the game out allowing the AuSable boys only four runs to our three during the last 8 innings. Here's to grit like that!

ATHLETIC NOTES.
We are negotiating for a game with Omer for tomorrow, Saturday.
Don't forget that the Seniors serve ice cream and cake in the building south of Prescott's store on June 5. All are invited.
Our schedule as made out is: May 29 open, May 31, T. T. at D. & M. grounds; June 5, Oseoda at home; June 12, AuSable at home; June 19, open; June 26, Oseoda at Oseoda.

We play the Tawas Tigers Monday, May 31, on the D. & M. grounds. The game begins at 3 o'clock local time. Take the train to East Tawas, admission 15c. All turn out and see the Tigers and our high school battle to break the tie. Everybody welcome.
Yes, we went to AuSable last Saturday. Did we win? Well, don't tell anybody, but we didn't. It is a sad story but only as to one inning. The rest was a pitchers' battle and Maller held his own. But that first inning. The first ball pitched was a hit. After that was a procession of hits, errors, and runs, ten of them. Then the boys settled down and played ball. Three in one inning and one in another was AuSable's pile. We got one in each of three innings making the score 14 to 3. If it hadn't been for that first inning. But it is over with now and we can only wait until the 12th of June for our revenge.
